seems that there were many cracks in the black top. The only way to stop or arrest these cracks so that they won't cause real break-up in the spring thaw is to put on a coat of tar. That would fill the cracks. But just who wants to flounder around on a tar-top street. It just wouldn't work, we are told. So they put down some crushed stone to adhere to the tar. The surplus has been gathered up and we have a finished street. If you are complaining about the dust you can remind you of the good old days. We were just reading about Main Street back in the 1890's. Council appropriated some fifty dollars to have a fellow sprinkle the street during the summer because the dust was so thick you couldn't see across as the horses galloped by.

Tuesday morning Eugene Bentschneider and Ted Statz joined John Niemann, chief engineer from Universal Die Cast in Saline and others from Hoover Ball's plants in Fowlerville and Saline to see the latest in tools. They boarded the Hoover Ball plane and were off to Chicago where they not only took in a Fool Show at the Chicago Stockyards but managed to spend some time at a second tool show in the city.

Seems a little early for the frost to be on the pumpkin but the early temperature at the airport at Willow Run was 31 degrees at 7:00 a. m. on September 27. This set an all time record low at the U. S. Weather Bureau as the earliest frost on record. The previous low was 36 in 1957. But once again the mercury is climbing back again to where it should be for this time of year.

We were interested to learn that the Lorenzo Steele's have their '62 Falcon back. It was stolen from their residence on Sept. 1.

Last week they were informed that it had been picked up in Chicago parked on Willis Street. Ticketed for being a hazard to traffic and later towed off to the police pond. There it was discovered that it was stolen and Dennis and his father, Lorenzo drove to Chicago to pick up their car which they reported to be in good condition except for being dirty.

Carole Alexander, daughter of the Harold Alexanders is, we believe the first local girl to graduate from an airline stewardess school. She graduated last Friday from Atlanta, Georgia in the Delta Air Line Service and is based out of Chicago. Her parents flew to Atlanta for the graduation ceremonies.

CHANGE MEETING DATE

The date for the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary has been changed from the 13th to the 20th of October.

Village Hall? Township Hall?

Manchester's village hall on Clinton Street is getting a new garage door. This is in preparation for the fire department's new truck which will be delivered, probably around the first of the year. The new piece of fire fighting equipment couldn't get through the old door. Someone made the statement that the building was the village hall and was quickly corrected by a longtime resident who insisted that it was the township hall. It is true that the fire department's equipment belongs to Manchester township. Also, the Township's elections and meetings are held in the building.

Likewise so are the village elections and the village council meetings held in the same building. A check with Clayton Parr, Manchester township supervisor indicates that he had read how the village and the township were to share the building. He consulted the township files to see if there was any appropriation of funds to erect such a building. Somewhere he remembers reading how the fire fighting equipment belonging to the township was to be housed in the building and many rules governing the use of the building. At this time no one seems able to put their fingers on that information.

Village president, Eugene Bentschneider would like to know the answers. Like everyone else he has heard a number of varied stories. The plaque in front of the brick building reads "Village Hall 1888". The village owns the ground it stands on. It is not on the tax roll of the township.

In the old council minutes of June 8, 1886 council approved buying the George Nisle property, size 35 ft. by 66 feet for $600 for the purpose of erecting a village hall or engine house. This resolution gave Nisle the privilege of removing any buildings on the premises. This was in block 4 and the money was taken from the "General Fund" payment.

By May 24, 1887 council received a petition signed by 67 citizens asking that the building not be erected on that property. This request was tabled. But it wasn't tabled long, for on July 19, 1887 council appropriated another $500 to be added to the building fund. There must have been some controversy concerning the erection of the building—if it was a joint venture because in the files of the Manchester Enterprise (local newspaper) dated May 8, 1884 was this item: "It is probable that the township board will pay back to the village the $1,500 paid in toward the town hall. If they do it, good-bye town hall." At various times in the minutes of the village council there were appropriations of money for the hall and on March 6, 1888 council ordered the special committee to finish the hall.

In the township notes Mr. Pam found that on May 26, 1883 the township considered submitting to the electors the question of raising by tax the money for securing a site and building a town hall and appointing a site committee. By August 25, 1883 the township adopted a resolution "to appropriate money for construction of a hall and defining and stating the rights of and the interests of the village of Manchester if the hall was constructed. By November 1883 the township transferred a sum of $900 from the townhall fund to purchase lot 8 block 3 on Clinton street.

Regardless of the details the old hall was built. The lovely desks and chairs of solid walnut which grace the council rooms today are the very same that were first put in the council rooms. It was interesting to learn from retired librarian, Miss Jane Palmer that these chairs and desks were built by Howard Clark and his brothers and copied like those in the Ann Arbor office at the county seat.

When Bentschneider was first on the council he remembers that the council room was redecorated and a new ceiling and lights installed.

In his first session as president of the village it became necessary that the old bell tower on the building be removed. This was about 1958. The reason was that it was considered a hazard to public safety. Some were afraid that it would topple off sometime and someone would be hurt.

And that is about the extent of the improvements. But it still leaves a few questions in some people's minds. Is it a village hall or a township hall? Of this the village is certain, when the repair work is done, it is the village who picks up the tab. This time the bill is for approximately a thousand dollars.

Board Of Education Introduces Three Phase Program

Monday evening, October 4, saw the presentation of the Board of Education's plan for new buildings. A capacity crowd heard plans for a three phase program which over the next three years would take care of the school district's needs for at least ten years. Phase one of the program as proposed by the Board is an addition to the Senior High School which would make this unit a complete and adequate facility for 550 students. This addition would include a new library, a new music room, ten classrooms or instructional areas, expanded gym lockers and shower rooms, and corridor space which will accommodate approximately 600 wall lockers. This first project will be presented to the voters on December 16 of this year.

Phase two of the proposed program is the recommendation to build a new elementary unit in the village area to house kindergarten students through fourth grade. This will be presented to the voters in 1968.

Phase three would be the conversion of the Nellie Ackerson Building and the Intermediate Building to a middle school unit to house grades 5 through 8. This part of the program would be accomplished at the time the new elementary building would be occupied and with little additional cost.

In presenting such a program the Board of Education indicated it was meeting the needs of the district in order of the urgency for new facilities, and in a manner which would be most economical to build and operate. Mr. Dan Boutell, treasurer of the Board of Education, stated that the amount of millage necessary for this high school addition is a most reasonable amount and one that most people should be willing to support.

Luther Klager, Board president, outlined the board's responsibility in presenting a concrete proposal to the citizens of the district after analyzing the results of the last election.

"Your Board of Education has retained the basic needs of the new unit as outlined by the citizens' committee but has modified the plan and the cost," Klager said. He continued, "We as a board, are charged with the responsibility of furnishing adequate facilities for youth now and in the future. We cannot afford to get behind in this area. Because our need is still as great as it was and will continue to get more critical, we are asking for a bond referendum as

DUTCHMEN JUST MOW 'EM DOWN

It was the same story Friday night: consistent ground-gaining by a stable of backs, an aerial hot-line from Pat Wallace to a flock of receivers and another Manchester victory.

The game was never close after the kick-off as the Dutchmen raced out of an 18-0 lead over Grass Lake with three quick scores Jim Fielder and 21 yards to half-back Jim Sloat. The junior quarter back, who hit on 12 of 20 attempts tossed of 23 and 25 yards to end Friday night.

Plant Expansion Hearing Set

Manchester Council met in regular session Monday night. Eugene Bentschneider told members that the building inspector had rejected the request of Double A Products Co. to expand their facility because it does not meet the zoning ordinance. In a communication to council the Double A Products Co. filing for a building permit and application for variance under the zoning ordinance in order to build an addition to the south side of its present building. The addition would cover 22,500 square feet and the approximate cost has been estimated to be $250,000.

Council has scheduled a public hearing for Monday, October 18 at 7:15 p. m. in the council rooms. If built, the understanding was that the addition would come within three feet of the company's property line.

Don Dorff read a letter from its planning consultants recommending that the village hold on to its property recently purchased from the New York Central Railroad Company. It was pointed out that this land could be much more beneficial to the community for possible use in street construction or rights of way than the amount that would be gained by the community by getting it back on the tax roll. Council approved the suggestion of the consultants and will retain the property.

Of prime concern seemed to be the final steps of the village council in working out the details of the final application for the 701 grant. This is the grant which the village hopes will be approved by the Federal government to obtain funds to enable the community to hire planning consultants at this time.

A more complete detail of this 701 grant and what is to be hoped for in the way of village planning will appear in next week's Enterprise. Cont. Page (10)

NO ITS NOT HALLOWEEN LOCAL BOYS UNCOVER INDIAN SKELETON

Doctors at the University of Michigan who examined a human skeleton found at the sand pit near the Schaffer airport in Manchester Saturday identified them as those of an Indian.

"It's an Indian, but it could have been a murder victim," Dr. Donald Huelke of the University of Michigan said of the skeleton unearthed Saturday.

Dr. Huelke indicated that the skeleton of the Schaffer Airport should have been called the Schaffer Airport before moving the bones.

"It had been a murder victim, much evidence could have been destroyed," Huelke said.

The skeleton was that of an adult female Indian in her late 20's or 30's, Huelke said. The bones indicate she was about 5 feet, 5 inches tall.

The skeleton was very well preserved, Huelke said, probably because of the sandy soil in which the woman was buried only about two and a half feet below the surface.

The doctor said this was not an uncommon depth

First, let's take time to thank those who came forward with any information on our question, Who owns village hall. We'll have more on this at another time.

It was a great job that the Jaycees chalked up Sunday in "sweeping" the old dead trees and brush out of the Raisin River. Maybe they could have used more help. But the wrong help would have only added to the hazards. Maybe they would have been bugged down along with the heavy Schaffer equipment in the marshy area near the Duncan Street bridge.

Like Keith Doelker, retiring president said, "We might as well face it. This is a job for the young and strong men of the village. This is real work." And we could add, with the "know how" to get things done. This includes the know-how to acquire the necessary equipment, too.

Some raised the question of this for a Sunday project. No one was asked to miss a church service. The Raisin River Beavers had to work when they could get both men and equipment—for free. For those who might not know the membership of the Jaycees is made up of working men. A Saturday operation like this would have been lacking in both men and equipment.

Now that the river is beginning to look a little more as if someone cared, the Jaycees are going to

ARCHITECT FOR COLLEGE TO BE NAMED SOON

Within the next ten days the Washenaw Community College trustees expect to select an architect for the new college, according to Ralph Wenrich, board vice president.

The board wants to have an architect so he can assist in evaluating several proposed sites which are under consideration.

Beginning next week the office hours at the community college will be from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily. The college office has been moved from the Y-M-YW to the former Chamber of Com-mmerce Building at 204 E. Huron, Ann Arbor. The phone number is the same 761-1411.

College president David H. Penitz and his administrative staff will be housed in the office after November 1. At that time he will take over the full time position. Mr. Penitz has been spending several days in work sessions with the Board members.

He points out that the college will offer some technical program by next fall and that this will be an open door institution which accepts students regardless of their academic background. "Aggressive recruitment" of students from culturally deprived and minority group backgrounds, extensive counseling to help them succeed and recruitment of teachers, experienced in their fields and really interested in teaching, not research.

While in Ann Arbor, the new college president visited the superintendents of each high school in the county to sound out the thinking of the high school heads and possibly their suggestions regarding the college. According to the Board president, Samuel T. Harmon.

The college will get underway in temporary facilities it is believed by next fall with limited facilities in order that students will be given a chance to attend. In developing the first year's courses which will be taught in these facilities the administration will have to determine if there are some technical courses which can be offered in a day program as well as in evening classes.

Points stressed the importance of providing recreational instruction on varying levels such as electronics the technician who requires a full two-year education to be able to translate information from theory to practicality and the person who wants to learn wiring repairs and maintenance of electrical equipment through short courses.

It was pointed out the college board should consider the use of citizens advisory groups in determining needed curriculum and equipment facilities. He pointed out that often schools teach students things which are obsolete before they are out of high school. Handprinting was one of the things mentioned. Then students are obsolete before they start.

He wants to check with other community colleges in the area to be sure that expensive laboratory facilities need not be duplicated. A student desiring a program which which there is not much demand at his local college could be sent to the area college in that field.

Penitz said that Michigan colleges have requested $42 million this year for technical equipment and the state appropriation is only $12 million.

Next year Washenaw might receive some reimbursement for salaries of vocational instructors, but not much for equipment, and the board will welcome donations of equipment if it is appropriate for teaching purposes and not obsolete. The board wants to know of buildings which might be available for temporary sites.

The new president said that "the assumption that students will clock to industrial and technical courses is false and poses one of the great challenges to the new college."

"We will have to develop a new program quickly for high school counselors, students and parents to show what can be done for the student."

Board Chairman Harmon asked if the college should be open to anyone who can benefit regardless of high school record or cultural background. The president said "the community college is an open door institution. Some students may be ready for honors work and some will need remedial work. Once they are inside we can expect the students to be motivated to do the work and we will take responsibility for helping the students to be successful."

HILLSDALE MAN WINS THREE AT SPEEDWAY

Don Earles of Hillsdale was a triple winner at the Manchester Speedway Saturday night by winning the first heat, the Pursuit and the feature race in the stock car events.

John Mooneyham of Manchester won the second heat, and Dick Bump of Hillsdale won the fourth. Pittsford's Dick Carr won the third heat and the semi-feature event.

In the late-model stock car races Jim Kawsinsky of Jackson won the first heat.

Don McCovery of Troy won the late model stock car race with Jackson's Ed Todd second.

SUPERVISORS TO ADOPT BUDGET THURSDAY

The Washenaw Board of Supervisors will adopt its 1966 county budget and determine the operational millage needed to support the budget Thursday.

A public hearing is on the agenda and will follow the presentation of the budget by the board's ways and means committee at 10 a. m. After the hearing formal action will be taken. A copy of the budget is available for review in the office of the county administrator on the County Building first floor.

For the first time in history the county board will determine its own millage allocation up to a limit of 5.5 mills ($5.50 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation). This is the first year that the 18-mill fixed allocation of millage to the county, townships and schools has been in effect replacement.

CHANCE MEETING DATE

The date for the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary has been changed from the 13th to the 20th of October.

The valuation on which the millage rate is assessed has gone up this year to $733,836,400 from $691,648,000 last year. Last year's appropriations totalled $4,134,910 with the general property tax providing $3,319,910 of the total. It is expected that the board will not use its allowable millage with the higher valuation but will keep the millage for 1966 at approximately five mills. There will be a few committee reports on the agenda for the meeting in the supervisors room on the second floor of the county building.

Three Phase Program

soon as we legally can, in order that the facilities will be available as early as possible.

Robert Swartz, school district superintendent, outlined the three phase program and pointed out the enrollment projection and the needs of the district based on this projection.

In discussing the cost of the high school addition Dan Bontell presented the following facts. First, he reviewed the districts' present bonded indebtedness of $169,000.

"This amount is all that remains of an initial levy of over a million dollars starting with the present high school building ten years ago.

Bontell said, "This is the school district's shining light for a very few districts have a more enviable debt record."

He outlined the cost of the high school addition. The total cost of the addition including some remodeling of the present building, site development and furnishings would be $520,000. The millage levy for such an amount on a 29 year schedule would be 1.85 mills or $1.85 a thousand on the equalized valuation. On the assessed valuation this would amount to $3.48 a thousand in Bridgewater Township, $4.03 per thousand in Freedom Township, $4.05 per thousand in Manchester Township, and $6.30 per thousand in Sharon Township.

The Board indicated that the millage for the building facilities was kept as low as possible because of the operational millage.

in the area and we need every cent to build the school.

Kluger indicated that the Board of Education was in complete and unanimous agreement on this enrollment program. He also noted that the Board was soliciting help in supporting the new plan, and asked for assistance from individuals and community organizations to help assure a successful election.

At the conclusion of the Board's presentation a discussion period followed. A most favorable reaction toward the plan was indicated by the patrons present. A general feeling of acceptance was noted. Kluger said that another public meeting will be held sometime prior to the December election.

Present for the Monday night presentation of plans were W. H. Phillips, Ed and Fred, Carl Pedersen, Jim and Leona, Pam Benson, and Luther Kluger. Also present were members from the King Scott Architectural Firm and the School administration.

VISITS IN BRIGHTON

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Schiel were in Brighton Sunday for the day with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richmond and Cathy. Mrs. Florence Richmond of Brighton returned with them for a week's visit.

LOCAL BOYS UNCOVER INDIAN SKELETON

On the way back from the library I had a thought that land belonged to Mr. Schaffer and we ought to report the find to their office. But there no one believed me. The man in charge said, 'Alright! So you found a human skull. Dig it up and bring it over!' Jan said.

No one believed the boys and they called the local police number and were told they should talk the matter over with their parents, first, the boys said.

With permission from the Schaffer Firm the boys dug carefully and filled their pails. Jan said that the skull had apparently rolled down the hill in a cave in. The boys reasoned that there might be more at the top of the bank and "sure enough we found the bones."

Most of the prescriptions written today are for drugs and vaccines unknown 15 years ago.

Others who helped were Swan Mester, 12, Scott Mester, 5, Robert Huber, 5, Mark Chapin.

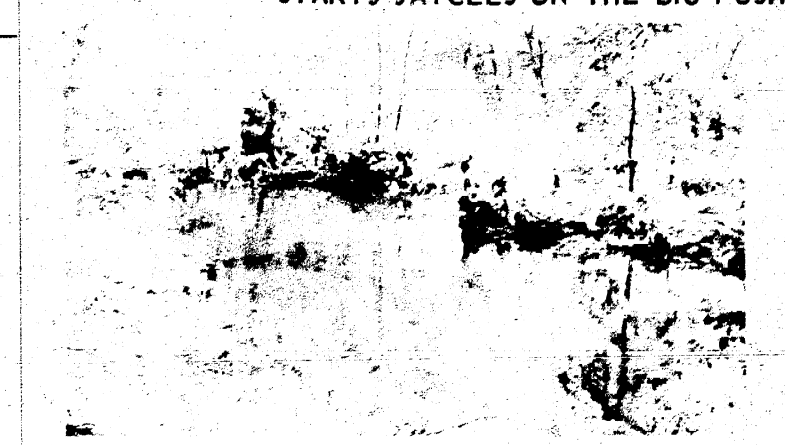

It didn't take Joe Fitzgerald long to summon the police chief and in short order the State Police, Dr. D. M. Peterson, a Manchester osteopath and others were viewing the bones. Dr. Peterson identified the bones as a human skeleton and said it was probably that of an Indian. The skeleton was complete except for hands and feet and had a complete set of teeth--no cavities. Only one tooth fell out the doctor said.

At the suggestion of another Manchester physician Dr. William Purfield the bones were taken to Ann Arbor's U of M for the study.

Dr. Robert Hendrix, medical examiner and pathologist at the University assisted with the investigation.

RIVER CLEAN-UP PLAN

STARTS JAYCEES ON THE BIG PUSH

Sunday was a bright crisp day and just cold enough to keep the local Jaycees on their toes at their annual River Raisin Clean-up. The good word from the boys is that another one might be slated later this fall to finish this part of the river. About twenty of the membership headed by Ron McNally manned the borrowed equipment. Some brought their own, and the 'big push' was on. Three others, Don Limpert, Art Williams and Harry McComber joined in and their help was greatly appreciated. It was a big day but shows a fine job of work well done and --community spirit!

Interested people watched the production team at work and their interest helped to encourage the guys wading in the river and hauling logs. The 'River Beavers' manned their own traffic detail during the operation and Old Sol smiled down on their hard efforts. Beginning at 10 a.m. the last of the workers trudged away at six o'clock, just as the sun started to sink. Some of the businessmen whose equipment is making this volunteer work possible include: K & W for their huge truck, Schaffer Lumber for end loader and trucks; wench saws from the fire department and a much needed wrecker from Tibb Chevrolet. Ron Walters operated his father's tractor in the clean-up chores.

A Clothes Dryer does much more than just replace the clothesline

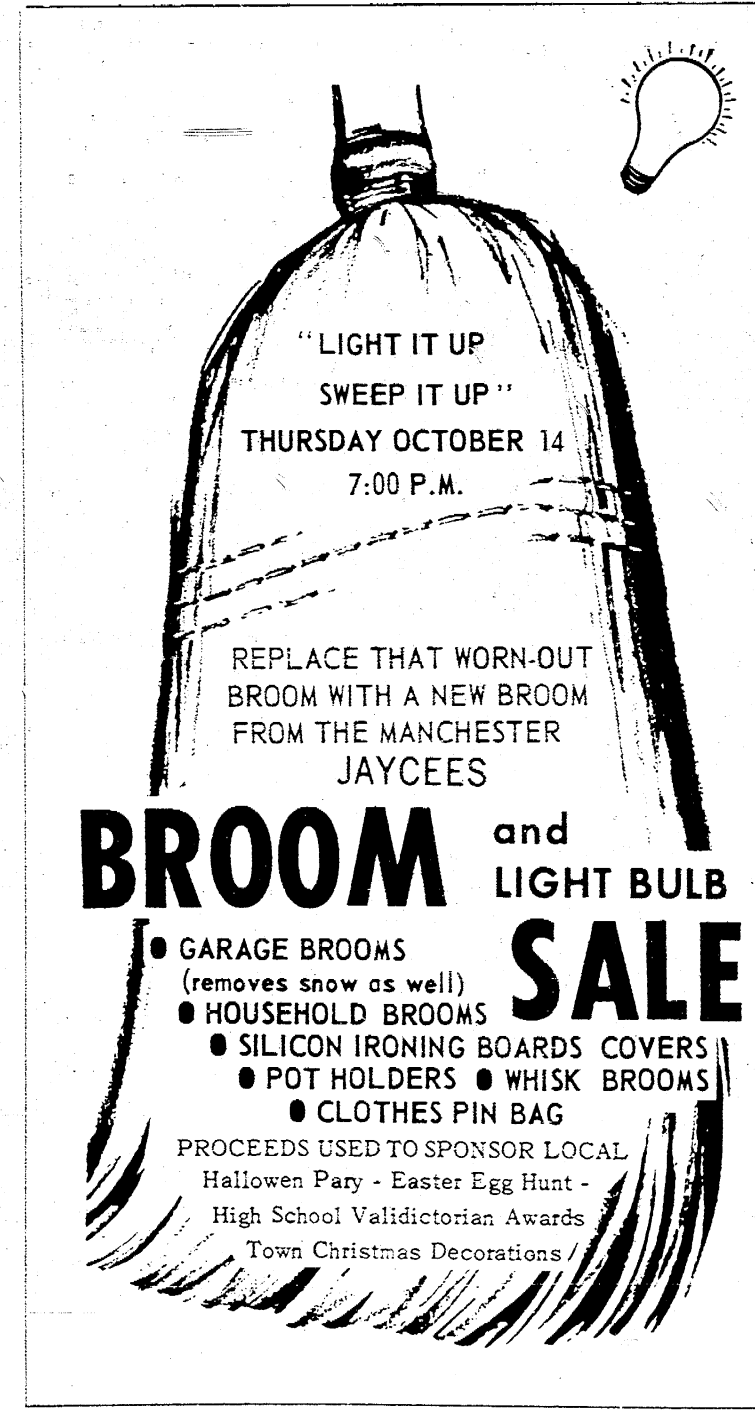

IN ADDITION TO ENDING LIFTING, LUGGING AND HANGING CLOTHES ON WASHDAY A WORK-SAVING CLOTHES DRYER WILL DO ALL THESE EXTRA JOBS

- VALET SERVICE—wrinkles can be removed from corduroy, velveteen or wool garments by placing them in dryer for short tumbling period with damp sponges or bath towels. Place sponges or towel in dryer before putting in clothing to build up steam. Use medium heat setting. Bath towels leave lint on dark cottons, so damp, colorfast sponges are best. There must be moisture to release wrinkles and prevent shrinkage. Remove garments before completely dry and hang on wooden or plastic hangers until completely dry.
- FLUFFING OR DUSTING draperies, chenille bedspreads or other articles that need airing. Place in dryer on "no heat" setting and allow to tumble for 5-10 minutes.
- REMOVING MOTHBALL ODORS from clothes that have been stored. Use "no heat" setting and short tumbling time.
- BATHING SUITS & SNOWSUITS can be dried in pre-heated dryer with bath towels (which have been in dryer during preheating). Dark towels are advisable with dark fabrics.
