

VARSIITY

by B. Grothe, E. Huber, and C. Marshall

Jim, Ron, and Dick—these are three Fielder boys who are fine examples of Manchester Dutchman football players. Although the three didn't play varsity football together all year, they did play in one game together. They not only played on the same team, but had a chance to run together in the same backfield. This is truly a rare occasion to have three brothers playing together as they did. Of course, it will not happen again next year because

Ron is a senior and will graduate this year, but Jim and Dick will be back next year to carry on the Fielder "Dynasty."

Both Ron and Jim, a sophomore, played regularly with the varsity. Ron played halfback; Jim played end and fullback. Dick, a freshman, played halfback on the junior varsity team until the last game of the season on Nov. 2 with Roosevelt when some of the JV's were put in the varsity game.

The Fielder boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fielder of 127 Macomb Road.

Jim Sloat (57) heads for a touchdown with Richard Pniwski (66) not far behind.

Jim Fielder (50) tackles an Ypsilanti ball carrier with Roger Kappler (61) and Mike Nickerson (73) coming to help.

COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS

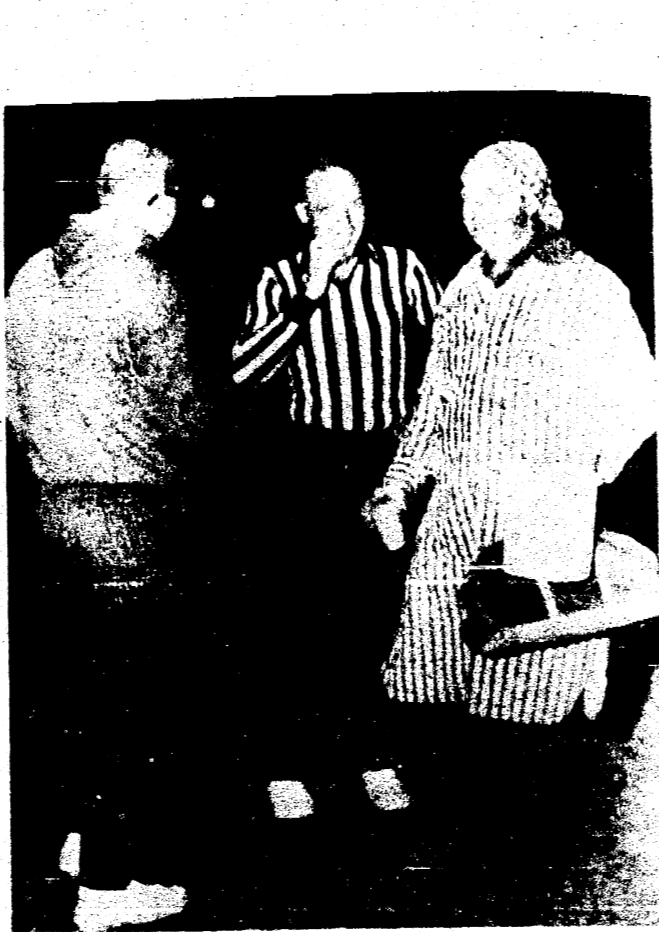

Senior students at Manchester High School are eligible to apply for nearly 400 four-year scholarships offered by General Motors at more than 200 colleges and universities. There is no restriction on course of student carrier. Stipends range from an honorary award of $200 to a maximum of $2,000 per year, depending on demonstrated need.

Participating colleges have full discretion in the awarding of the scholarships. Their scholarship committees review the applicants' high school academic records, available entrance test scores, participation in extra-curricular activities and leadership traits. Interested students should see their high school counselors for details and write to the directors of admissions at any of the participating colleges.

Any secondary school senior or graduate who is a citizen of the United States is eligible for consideration. The initial awards are made to entering freshmen and may be renewed through the normal four undergraduate years for those with satisfactory records.

The participating institutions include 131 private and 76 public colleges and universities in 50 states, District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

KODA'S KORNER

Television and newspapers are prominent than ours, have given first hand accounts on the timely death of our late president, Friday, Nov. 22 in Dallas, Texas, as he rode in a motorcade. We feel we must at this time say something about this man of our times—John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

We are grieved to think we have lost a certain destination in history, when this great man was snatched from us. It is certain that never has there been a man so well groomed to fit his dedication to country and God. Yet it is only now, after death, we see in him the greatness that would have been possible.

Looking to the people of the foreign nations, they not only grieve with us in our loss of our president, but more, that they have lost the warmth which was associated with him. For John Fitzgerald Kennedy was an American Champion and leader of destiny to them.

It has been said that the president had trouble with his back but, they added, there was nothing wrong with his backbone. What grieves us most is that such a talent should be put out of the game so early. For who knows what the score might have been with him pitching all the way.

By no means do we feel that we are a prophet—these are only our convictions and feelings.

We were setting here in the office trying to write some short editorial which would benefit our late president, when our seventh grade daughter sallied in from school and dropped her hand written note in front of us. "What do you think of this, dad? This was the note:

What Events of Last Weekend Means To Me It was a late Friday afternoon. Everything seemed normal in school until the tragic news of our former president's death was announced. The last bell rang, and stunned and shocked pupils filed out of the classroom where they had heard the unbelievable tragedy.

To me, President Kennedy was an exceptionally good president. He was a bold, courageous man who gave this world new ideas. He was loved and respected by many people. Mrs. Kennedy was well liked and respected too.

To the world, President Kennedy was a great leader, a friend and as we Americans say, "a nice guy to know." We all loved and respected him.

Taken From The Files

Nov. 20, 1913

Local items from the Enterprise:

We will probably have cold weather before thanksgiving. The weather has been springlike the past few days, with ample rain. Highway Commissioner Logan is graveling the road east of town near Webb Logan's. ... Sparring fish is great sport and people are out on the ponds nearly every night. ... Lonier and Hoffer shipped a carload of flour from here and a carload of hay from Bridgewater, this week. Bridge on Furnace street has been strengthened by under-trusses, the roadway cemented and structures painted. ... When country roads are gravelled they are good—neglected ones are muddy. ... Someone wrote to the Civic Club in Clinton about having the Manchester poultry show held there. We guess the show had better stay at home, we want it here. ... A football game between Adrian and Manchester teams has been arranged for Thursday, Nov. 27 on the athletic grounds. In the evening a dance will be held at Arbieter hall. ... People are making preparation for Thanksgiving. We don't suppose that every family will have a turkey, we wish they might, if they prefer to, but hope the past season has been sufficiently prosperous so they can give thanks for whatever bounties they may possess.

Three water powers in this village are worth a good deal. Power No. 1 is owned by Lonier & Hoffer and their mill is one of the best in southern Michigan and draws farmers from many miles around. Power No. 2, the Schmid power has been out of use for some time but it should be put in repair and made to yield an income. Parties have looked it over with the object of buying it, but care should be exercised that it does not fall into the hands of some electrical company, as we will need that power in the future. Power No. 3 is owned by the village and operates the electric light dynamo. ... The catholic bazaar and entertainments given at St. Mary's were well attended. Rev. Ryan was unable to come Thursday. The orchestra furnished some excellent music and G.W. Kramer sang two fine solos. Goods which remained after the bazaar were auctioned off. ... Postmaster Urges Early Holiday Mail

"Mail early for Christmas and often," urged postmaster Geo. Merriman in his "Mail Early For Christmas" campaign this week.

The Postmaster urges residents to get their Christmas card and gift lists up-to-date to be sure each address includes full name, street address and number, city, state and zone or zip code number. The postmaster adds, "Good preparation is half the battle. Let's all work together to get every gift and Christmas card delivered by Christmas Eve."

Postmaster Merriman says it is best to use the colorful tree stamp on cards and letters. Sent by first class mail, the cards may carry written messages and will be returned to the sender without cost, if necessary providing the return name address and zip code number are put on the envelopes. Also, they will enjoy priority of dispatch and delivery, plus forwarding, if needed. "Use the handy LOCAL and OUT OF TOWN labels which may be secured from the Post Office or the letter carrier to separate Christmas cards into bundles that will expedite handling," the postmaster advised.

Postmaster Merriman predicts 1963 will break all records for Christmas mail and says that early mailing is imperative if gifts and cards are to arrive before Christmas. Mail for distant points should be sent by Dec. 10 and gifts and cards for nearby addresses should be mailed at least a week before Christmas.

Keep Salt Off New Sidewalks

Any Manchester residents who have had sidewalks installed during the last year in front of their homes are asked by the local Public Works Department NOT to put salt on it. Salt penetrates the cement and permits water to seep into it. When extreme cold weather comes the moisture freezes and cracks the top or causes pock marks. There are chemicals on the market which are safe for ice removal; however, sand serves the purpose.

It is important to remember that salt must not be used on cement walks until the cement has had sufficient time to cure—at least 18 months or two years.

Police Chief Warns On Safety

Chief of Police, Jules Van de Ginste, who worries about next month's busy traffic, like the rest of us worry about next year's budget, today explained a unique characteristic of winter driving hazards.

It is clear to most drivers the chief said that winter driving involves many of the same danger factors that are with the drivers all year around—such as, other drivers missing their signals, kids running into the street, and jay-walking pedestrians.

He noted that people forget that winter weather robs the driver of the best asset in coping with these hazards because it is so hard to keep a sharp lookout and when danger looms.

"Both of these vital defenses against accidents—looking and stopping—can be rendered ineffectively by the twin winter hazards of sharply lowered visibility and reduced road traction," he explained.

"Lowered visibility results from darkness, falling snow, frost or snow that has not been carefully cleared from car windows. This makes it entirely possible that we won't see trouble as soon as we should. And then what happens? A fast stop may be out of the question—no matter how good our brakes are—if the roadway is glazed by ice or packed snow."

Even if a driver is moving at a speed below the normal, legal limit—say 20 miles an hour—it will take some 60 feet to bring his car to a stop on loosely packed snow and close to 200 feet on glare ice, the chief warned.

"This fact has been clearly demonstrated in scientific tests by the Committee on Winter Driving Hazards of the National Safety Council and it has the endorsement of the International Association of Chiefs of Police," he said.

"These two terrible hazards—poor visibility and poor traction are going to have a lot to say about our safety record in the months ahead," Chief Van de Ginste predicted. "Drivers who have had accidents may talk about bad luck—but accidents aren't caused by bad luck as often as they are by taking chances. The dangers of winter driving could be pretty well neutralized by guarding our two best defenses: our ability to see and our ability to stop."

The means by which winter safety capability can be maintained are neither new nor difficult, the chief observed. For seeing they include adequate defrosting equipment, a few minutes of scraping windows clear of snow and ice, effective windshield wipers, and properly aimed lights. For reasonably quick stopping they include balanced brakes, good tires and reinforced tire chains.

"We mention these things because they can contribute so much to a good winter safety record," the chief said, "but I also want to point out that the men of this department have a personal interest in this. When they're out directing traffic on a wintry night, it means a lot to them that drivers can see THEM in plenty of time to stop safely."

United in Church Rite

Emanuel United Church of Christ was the scene of the wedding of Helen Marie Eckles and Robert Wm. Nickerson. The couple exchanged their vows in a double ring service read by the Rev. Ralph Kueher on Friday, Nov. 8.

Mr. and Mrs. William Eckles and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. V. Nickerson all of Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fortney of Ypsilanti were the attendants. For her wedding the bride chose a white wool sheath with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and stephanotis. Mrs. Fortney was attired in brown wool with matching accessories and a bronze mum corsage.

The couple are making their home at 401 Adrian Street. Both are graduates of Manchester High School. The new Mrs. Nickerson is employed at C. I. T. Loan Co. of Ann Arbor. Her husband is employed at the Daniel Young Construction Co. of Ann Arbor.

Prior to the wedding a miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Kenneth Brokaw and Mrs. Gerald Bivins at the later's home in Clinton.

Wednesday, Nov. 27 school will be dismissed at noon for the Thanksgiving holiday. There will be no school on Friday.

"Voices From Home" Recorded In Manchester

Red Cross sponsored project of making recordings by parents or near relatives of servicemen who will not be home for Christmas will be done in Manchester for a first time this year.

The recording unit will be brought here from Ann Arbor for Sunday, Dec. 1 where Mrs. Arthur Gill and Mrs. Del Ludwick will take charge of the making of the recordings at the Legion hall all day Sunday.

They are asking that Manchester people contact them for appointments at 428-8468 and at 428-2471.

The reason Manchester has been picked for making recordings in town is because it would be next to impossible for people who would be working to manage to get in to Ann Arbor before their closing time of 5 p.m.

The recordings are made in private and are played back to those recording them. It takes nearly an hour to complete each recording including a few minutes preparatory and the time necessary to play the record back, Mrs. Gill said.

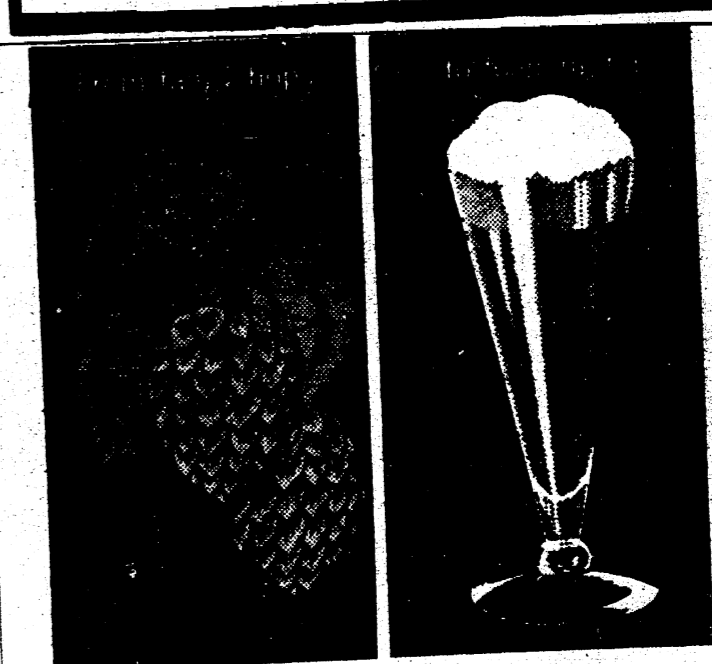

Beacon Light Ext

Twelve members responded to roll call when the Beacon Light Extension met at the home of Mrs. Floyd Parr. When the roll was called each responded by giving favorite herb recipes.

Mrs. Ellis Pratt and Mrs. Lawrence Kruse gave the lesson. The lesson was one of a "Know your Country" series and dealt with the proceedings of the friend of the court.

The December 14 meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. with a planned potluck with the husbands as guests. Hosts for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. David McCormick.

Phone Books Being Distributed

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has started the distribution of the new Ann Arbor Ypsilanti area directory in seven communities Tuesday, Nov. 26. The announcement was made by Nicholas J. Prakken, manger for the company.

Some 122,000 copies will be distributed in Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Manchester, Dexter, Whitmore Lake, Willis and Ypsilanti. In addition to the above communities, three others also are included in this directory: Milan, Saline and South Lyon.

Prakken called attention to the change in numbers to be dialed, for information, time and repair. The new numbers will be found inside the front cover of the new directory.

These same pages, Prakken said, instruct Ypsilanti customers to dial "1"; preceding the called number on long distance calls. The inclusion of Ypsilanti in the dial "1" toll network is effective December 3, 1963 and will make the need of dialing the numeral "1" on long distance uniform throughout this area.

Prakken urges all telephone users to pay particular attention to the emergency numbers section on page 1 of the new book. Here, the telephone company has provided space for writing in local fire and police department numbers, and the number of the family doctor.

"In emergencies it is most helpful to have these numbers readily available to all members of the family," Prakken said. "In addition," he explained, "Michigan Bell's operators are trained to handle all kinds of emergency calls whenever OPERATOR is dialed. "Our operators enjoy a long-standing tradition of coming to the aid of persons who have dialed O in emergencies," he added.

Christmas! Shop First in Manchester

It seems to be a widely held impression that a consumer can save money by shopping either in Jackson or Ann Arbor. We don't know how this tale started, but a quick look at the facts will show how ridiculous it is.

Each time you drive to Ann Arbor or Jackson it costs you $4.64 round trip. This is based on an article in the July issue of Northwestern Mutual in field notes on car expenses. It costs an average of 10.1 cents per mile-life for ownership and operation of an automobile. This is based on a report from the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, on a new car purchased in 1961 for $2900, with 12 years and a 100,000 mile life.

In addition, neither Ann Arbor or Jackson offer the free parking that is found in Manchester. So multiply your shopping time in either of these towns by 10 cents per hour.

This Christmas the Manchester Merchants are out to make some lucky people presents of $25, $10, and $15 gift certificates by having XMAS DAYS starting Friday, Dec. 6th. The merchants will give a ticket with every $1.00 purchase. These bonus tickets may be deposited in the basket in front of the Union Savings Bank. The drawings will be held on Wednesday night, Dec. 11 and again on Wednesday, Dec. 18 at 9 p.m.

In these two drawings $100 in prize certificates will be awarded to the lucky winners. Remember these facts: it costs you money to travel out of Manchester to shop. Furthermore, keep in mind that local merchants are in keen competition with prices found elsewhere. They cannot long survive if they aren't competitive.

Along similar lines a merchant depends almost 100 per cent on local patrons and therefore his guarantee and service after purchase have to stand up. Your local businessman pays taxes to support local schools and local civic activities. He has a genuine interest in this community. You are urged to "Christmas Shop First In Manchester", and elsewhere ONLY when you cannot find what you want here. This will amount to a real saving for you.

Basketball Game Pinckney - Home

Athletic Boosters Meet Wednesday

December meeting of the newly organized Manchester Athletic Boosters Club will be held Wednesday, Dec. 11, at 8 p.m. in the high school gym.

Program committee has planned a basketball clinic. Ron McNally, head basketball coach, will conduct it.

Members of the Varsity squad will participate in demonstrating the play situations. Rule changes for 1963-64 basketball season will be explained and demonstrated, if need be. Booster members, basketball fans and other interested citizens will find this clinic to be informative. If you are doubtful about different play situations this clinic will give an opportunity to have questions answered. Women are welcome.

The film of the Manchester-Clinton basketball game played at Clinton, on Dec. 3 will be shown, if it is available.

Business meeting will follow the clinic. Refreshments will be served by committee during the business session.

Athletic boosters pointed out that women of the community should be on the various committees listed. Those is the village who would like to be on one of the committees are asked to contact the chairman of the committees for appointment: Membership-Ed Galloway; Publicity-Keith Doelker; Project-Rollie Grossman; Refreshments, Roger Morrison; Programs, Chester Koveski; Parking, George Goodall.

Athletic Boosters will start the basketball season Friday, Dec. 5, and every home game after that by helping the citizens to park their cars at the high school.

How do you tell who these new Boosters are? They will be wearing a hat that was created just for the Boosters.

Everyone is invited to come to the meeting on Dec. 11 and join the group, get a special hat and help cheer the high school kids to a victorious season.

Mr. Doelker suggests, "Come on out to the game this Friday night at the high school. Let's pack that gym to the rafters and show the boys we are behind them not just when they are winning but one hundred per cent of the time."

Library Celebrates 125th Anniversary Open House to be Held Sunday

By Marie Schneider

A soft light filtered through the old glass windows of the township library in the late, crisp December afternoon. This old-time glass makes tinted reflections and has not been replaced by clear modern glass. The librarian, Mrs. Roger Hardenbergh, tells us that when a pane is broken (which is rare) it is replaced from windows at the rear of the building. In this way the New England type glass remains the same at the front of the library.

The last of a group of students doing reference work has filed out of the building and the librarian sets everything in order for the open house, Sunday, Dec. 8 when interested people from far and near are expected to stop in from 3 to 8 p.m. to browse through the rooms housing the township library which is celebrating 125 years of continuous service to this township. The building is the former home of Dr. James A. Lynch and Mrs. Lynch (nee Short) whose nieces are Mrs. L. P. Wurster and Mrs. Peter Scheurer of East Main Street. The building itself has nearly reached the century mark—built in 1887. It is well constructed and houses some 6,000 books, not to mention newspaper files, pictures and maps of the town from the beginning. To the west of the library is the Martin Keasal home and beyond the rectory and St. Mary's Catholic Church. To the east, across the street, is the Methodist Church and parsonage, and directly in front is the village park. This is a quiet place to stop, reflect and study.

It is in close cooperation with the state and county libraries which swells the average number of volumes used here to about 8,000. An all time high was reached in July when slightly more than 1,000 books were circulated and 817 people made use of the library.

This is the second oldest unit in Washtenaw county to give continuous service since its organization. Ann Arbor is first. Ypsilanti slipped out of second place because of a break of service. The schools began to be organized in 1837 the same time as the townships.

A booklet entitled LIBRARIES IN MICHIGAN—AN HISTORICAL SKETCH on file at the state library pinpoints the beginning of this house of books. In the year of the Golden Jubilee of the American Library Association by G. M. Walton, Michigan Library Bulletin, published Bi-monthly, supplement to Vol. 17, Lansing, July-Aug. 1926, page 10:

"The Manchester library had a long season of vicissitudes. Early in 1838 there was a small circulating, tax supported library."

Up in the second floor historical room is the little book that recorded the proceedings of the township board of school inspectors and tells that on Sept. 20, 1852 the township board and school inspectors met to work out a plan for weeding and cataloguing the township library and to sell discarded books, known as the "Family Library"—in all 172 volumes. These were sold at not less than one half their appraised value which averaged 32 cents each. The township clerk kept the catalogue on file. Names of some of these books for sale included: Expedition to the Dead Sea, War with Mexico, Camp Fires, Wild Scenes of a Hunter's Life and Charles Lamo. The sale money from the books was credited to the library fund. Twenty books for twenty dollars swelled the total number of books to 517 in 1854.

The township spent from $25 to $50 a year in that period for books and the library in the township clerk's office was opened for a two hour period every Saturday afternoon. Books were in an enclosed case mounted on a long table. A break walnut
