Christmas! Shop First in Manchester

t seems to be a widely held impression that a onsumer can save money by shopping either in Tackson or Ann Arbor. We don't know how this ale started, but a quick look at the facts will show how ridiculous it is.

Each time you drive to Ann Arbor or Jackson costs you $4.64 round trip. This is based on an article in the July issue of Northwestern Muual in field notes on car expenses. It costs an average of 10.1 cents per mile-life for ownership and operation of an automobile. This is ased on a report from the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, on a new car purchased in 1961 for $2900, with 12 years and a 100,000 mile life.

In addition, neither Ann Arbor or Jackson offer the free parking that is found in Manchester. So multiply your shopping time in either of these owns by 10 cents per hour.

This Christmas the Manchester Merchants are out to make some lucky people presents of $25, $10, and $15 gift certificates by having XMAS DAYS starting Friday, Dec. 6th. The merchants will give a ticket with every $1.00 purchase. These bonus tickets may be deposited in the basket in front of the Union Savings Bank. The drawings will be held on Wednesday night, Dec. 11 and again on Wednesday, Dec. 18 at 9 p.m. In these two drawings $100 in prize certificates will be awarded to the lucky winners.

Remember these facts: it costs you money to travel out of Manchester to shop. Furthermore, keep in mind that local merchants are in keen competition with prices found elsewhere. They cannot long survive if they arn't competitive. Along similar lines a merchant depends almost 100 per cent on local patrons and therefore his guarantee and service after purchase have to

Your local businessman pays taxes to support local schools and local civic activities. He has a genuine interest in this community.

You are urged to "Christmas Shop First In Manchester", and elsewhere ONLY when you can to park their cars at the high not find what you want here. This will amount to a real saving for you.

Athletic Boosters Meet Wednesday

96 YEAR No. 49 Manchester, Michigan

December meeting of the newy organized Manchester Athlet-Boosters Club will be held Wednesday, Dec. 11, at 8 p.m. in the high school gym. Program committee has planned a basketball clinic. Ron Mc Nally, head basketball coach.

will conduct it.

Members of the Varsity squad will participate in demonstrating the play situations. Rule changes for 1963-64 basketball season will be explained and demonstrated, if need be. Booster members, basketball fans and other interested citizens will find this clinic to be informative. If you are doubtful about different play situations this clinic will give an opportunity to have questions answered. Women are welcome. The film of the Manchester-Clinton basketball game played at Clinton, on Dec. 3 will be shown, if it is available. Business meeting will follow the clinic. Refreshments will be served by committee during Athletic boosters pointed out that women of the community should be on the various comm ittess listed. Library Celebrates 125th Anniversary Open House to be Held Sunday

By Marie Schneider

A soft light filtered through the old glass windows of the township library in the late, crisp December afternoon. This oldtime glass makes tinted reflections and has not been replaced by clear modern glass. The librarian, Mrs. Roger Hardenbergh, tells us that when a pane is broken (which is rare) it is replaced from windows at the rear of the building. In this way the New England type glass remains the same at the front of

The last of a group of students doing reference work has filed out of the building and the librarian sets everything in order for the open house, Sunday, Dec. 8 when interested people from far and near are expected to stop in from 3 to 8 p.m. to browse through the rooms housing the township library which is celebrating 125 years of continuous service to this township.

The building is the former home of Dr. James A. Lynch and Mrs. Lynch (nee Short) whose nieces are Mrs. L. P. Wurster and Mrs. Peter Scheurer of East Main Street. The building itself has nearly reached the century mark-built in 1867. It is well constructed and houses some 6,000 books, not to mention newspaper files, pictures and maps of the town from the beginning. To the west of the library is the Martin Keasal home and beyond the rectory and St. Mary's Catholic Church. To the east, across the street, is the Methodist Church and parsonage, and directly in front is the village park. This is a quiet place to stop, reflect and study.

It is in close cooperation with the state and which swells the average number of volumes used here to about 8,000. An all time high was reached in July when slightly more than 1,000 books were circulated and 817 people made use of the library.

This is the second oldest unit in Washtenaw county to give continuous service since its organization. Ann Arbor is first. Ypsi lanti slipped out of second place because of a break of service. The schools began to be organized in 1837 the same time as

Up in the second floor historical room is the little book that recorded the proceedings of the township board of school inspectors and tells that on Sept. 20, 1852 the township board and school inspectors met to work out a plan for weeding and cataloguing the township library and to sell discarded books, Known as the "Family Library"- in all 172 volumes. These were sold at not less than one half their appraised value which averaged 32 cents each. The township clerk kept the catalogue on file. Names of some of these books for sale included: Expedition to the Dead Sea, War with Mexico, Camp Fires, Wild Scenes of a Hunter's Life and Charles Lamo. The sale money from the books was credited to the library fund. Twenty books for twenty dollars swelled the total number of books to 517 in

The township spent from $25 to $50 a year in that period for books and the library in the township clerk's office was opened for a two hour period every Saturday afternoon. Books were ior high and senior high students in an enclosed case mounted on a long table. A black walnut

Auxillary Says Thanks

This is a copy of the letter which the local Legion Auxiliary sent to the Red Cross relative to their recent VOICES FROM HOME project.

Manchester. Mich Dear Mrs. Julian,

The American Legion Auxiliary Community Service Committee wishes to thank the Red Cross VOICES FROM HOME project for making the program available to Manchester. When the Auxiliary discussed the idea of this service, it was met with much enthusiasm. We located and contacted 11 families of service men. Three families particiapted, three servicemen will be home, six families for varied reasons refused the opportunity and one family was unavailable. The participating family reactions were gratifying. We were fortunate in obtaining the American Legion Home (Emil Jacob Post #117), which afforded the desired privacy. We feel it was a successful program andmuch of the credit was due to the publicity of the Manchester Enterprise and all of our local church bulletins. The good feeling it gave us in helping was well worth our time

Thanks again, Joyce Gill Evangeline Ludwick Community Service committee
