CHURCH PLANS ANNEX WORK TO BEGIN IN FALL

Bethel United Church of Christ in Freedom Township voted last Sunday to carry out a plan to provide for a sanctuary annex, an addition to the dining hall, six classrooms, plus a church office. The new facility will be housed on two levels, corresponding to the floors in the present stone structure. The main building is now approximately 80 by 40 feet, and the new wing will extend 50 feet westward, with a width of 40 feet. Only one of the smaller stained glass windows will need to be moved to make the addition possible. It is hoped that the front part of the new building can be faced with the same cut granite which distinguished the older structure. Some of those who voted for the addition were present when the congregation voted to build the present church in 1909. At that time the field stone was brought on horse drawn "stone boats" which was cut on the building site. More than 2,000 loads of stone were used. Plans were worked out with the Bridgewater Lumber Company. The addition, without educational furnishings, will cost about $49,000. Work is expected to begin by early fall. Theodore Parker of Lima Center Road is chairman of the Building Committee. A canvass of the membership of the church, conducted recently brought in pledges of nearly $35,000 and the congregation has $11,000 in a savings fund, earmarked for building purposes. The Rev. T. W. Menzel has been pastor of the Bethel Church since 1943.

SURVEY RESULTS

The attitude survey conducted by the local Jaycees in a door-to-door campaign January 31, 1963 caused a lot of comment by interested persons who have wondered why there was no follow-up to the survey. A total of 470 survey blanks were filled out and returned Feb. 7, 1963. This represented 622 people—some husbands and wives answered on one survey blank. This is about 85 per cent of the number eligible to form an opinion. On the original committee of Jaycees were Richard Kuntz, Stan Wynn, Keith Doelker, Tom Marshall, Ron McNally, Ray Tirb and Richard Way. Prior to this time there have been no results printed. No one has watered down the results or camouflaged them. The results have been read by the Jaycee committee, village president, Eugene Bentschneider and three University of Michigan adult education personnel. Richard Kuntz said that he was amazed that people in Manchester have expressed so much interest in the project and that everyone was anxious to "put down on paper their thinking on this attitude survey". Mr. Kuntz said that this positive attitude is very healthy. Survey results analysis is published under the supervision of Howard McClusky and his associates at the University of Michigan who are experts in the field of community analysis. There will be a public open meeting, tentatively scheduled for the third week in May to discuss the survey results. This meeting will be sponsored by the Jaycees but will be conducted by McClusky and his associates. High School survey results will be published next week and the written answers to the likes and dislikes of the village also will be published. Fifty per cent of those answering the survey believed that the following categories are adequate or very good: water supply, garbage collection, electricity, telephone, postal service, law enforcement, street lighting, access to hospitals, legal service, traffic regulations, fields for children, parks and picnic areas, library facilities, equal opportunity for political parties, newspapers, television and radio, fire protection, recreation for children, public meeting places for large groups, primary grades, staff, educational program, and buildings and equipment. The same applies to the Junior High school. More than 50 per cent believe there is cooperation between local organizations. Some of the fields which citizens believed were inadequate include: streets - repair and maintenance, medical and dental service, public transportation, recreation for teenagers, adults and older people, meeting places for teenagers, swimming, golfing, bowling, hotels and motels, shopping facilities and job opportunities. It is to be understood that this was the thinking of the town as of Feb. 7, 1963.

Life in Bombay, India Told to Church Group

-by Marie Schneider
A native of India, visiting here since last August, told the members of the Women's Society of Christian Service something about her life in Bombay.
Miss Lola Fernandes wore a lovely silk saree (dress) when she spoke to the women. Miss Fernandes told the group that her coat looked "American" because it is. She bought it in Ann Arbor. No one has a coat in India. They aren't deeded because the temperature in the summer is about a hundred degrees and in the winter it drop to 68 degrees.

Schools have three languages English, the language of the native state and the national language.
Although the cast system still exists, Miss Fernandes says she believes it is breaking. Boys and girls go to separate schools. Girls never date, so there is no teenage problems such as there are in this country, she said. Parents still decide on marriages—but the children are consulted some. Girls usually marry in the early twenties and the men are usually ten years older, well established and ready to make a home. In the lower classes the girls marry at 16 and at this time she said that some of the girls are marrying into higher casts.

In the schools the best education is obtained by those who attend the Catholic Schools. The Hindu recognizes this and many of their children are sent to the Catholic Schools.
She said that Goa was a protectorate of Portugal until 1961. The roads were very poorly constructed and everything was taken from the poor.
Her family left Goa in 1935 and went to Bombay where Salaries range from $16 to $200 a month. When asked how people could live on $16 a month, she said simply, "They manage."

There is milk for everyone and people line up to get at specific times during the day.
The cows in our country are sacred, the speaker said. "It seems as if there are almost millions of them roaming the streets and countryside. No one wants to kill them. They are different - a different breed from any in this country. They have to be able to stand the intense heat in the summer. Your cows could never stand the hot weather. Really, the cows are not cared for as they should be."

"The milk is not refrigerated as it is here. There is plenty of milk for everyone and the people line up every morning and evening to get it after the cows have been milked. Everyone knows just the time to be at the stations to get it."
She said that the country is not highly mechanized and the people are careful to see that it doesn't become that way because it would throw the farm laborers and domestic help out of work. She said that the people want to work and support themselves and they have so much man power they must utilize it.
Most of the girls' ears are pierced when they are four-years-old and many of the Hindu people still wear rings in their noses. Hindu women wear a spot on their forehead to show they are married.
Chicken is considered a Sunday meat and she said one of the foods she will miss most when she returns home is the American ham. There is no pork in India and of course no ham. Foods at home she said is more highly spiced.
Families in the lower casts live mostly in wheat lentils—which is made into a bread. Rice is the other staple food. A small loaf of bread costs about a cent in American money. Milk costs 25 cents a quart. From her observation the living conditions here are much healthier than in India.

One of the big exports of the country is carved wood—hand carved out of sandal wood and also ivory. Sugar is another big export.
Miss Fernandes said that the children start school at 7 years and go for 11 years, beginning in the first grade. She attended a convent school, took a commercial course and is an accomplished pianist. Most of the girls in the upper casts are now taking commercial courses in schools. Only those who do not complete their schooling are entering the nursing field. Their salary is about $16 a month and room and board at the hospitals for an eight-hour day. But the work is hard she said. Some of the girls are specializing in Home Economics courses now.
India manufactures small cars, the Ambassador, Fiat and the Standard. Roads are being improved to meet the demand, now that more people have cars.
Miss Fernandes plans to leave early in August for London where she will marry a doctor on August 15. He is presently studying in London. They plan to stay in London a year before returning to India where the doctor will continue his surgical practice.
She concluded by saying she cannot over emphasize how thankful she is to the American people for all the things they are doing for India and how very much the people of her country appreciate the help.

her father owns the Ferns Ship Supply Company. She explained that when the ships come into the port they refuel and get their supplies from her father's company. Before coming to Ann Arbor last August, Miss Fernandes worked as a secretary in one of her father's offices. She says that although it gets very hot in the summer her family doesn't seem to mind, because they go to their summer villa in the mountains where it is much cooler. No one has any kind of heating system because it wouldn't be needed. In the winter they have an apartment in the city. No one in Bombay has a home. Housing is all by apartment buildings, because of lack of space and the dense population.

Believe it or not...
FROZEN FOODS ARE FRESHER THAN FRESH

Yes - believe it or not, frozen foods are actually fresher and more nutritious than most of the fresh foods you buy in the store. Experts tell us that as soon as crops are harvested, chemical and cellular changes begin to take place within the food. These changes are actually a process of deterioration which would spoil the food if allowed to continue unchecked. Since fresh foods at the market have usually been harvested at least 48 to 72 hours before, this deterioration has permitted much of the original nutritive value to disappear. But frozen foods, harvested at the peak of their ripeness, are frozen within a few hours, locking in the nutritional values that are so important to good health. So - for better tasting and more nutritious meals, always use frozen foods. And for the best in frozen foods depend on

COLLISION FATAL TO MAN, 62
After a head-on collision Sunday, a Pittsfield Township man, who stepped out of his car to talk to State Police, collapsed and died of internal injuries.
Rennie Jones, 62, of 5236 W. Michigan was pronounced dead at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor.
The driver of the second car, Howard W. Townsend, 73, of 13860 Sheridan Road, Manchester, is reported in fair condition at the same hospital with facial injuries, fractures of the left wrist and two ribs and an injured right knee.
The accident happened at 12:57 p.m. Sunday afternoon on Michigan, east of Carpenter road in Pittsfield township.
Jones, going west on Michigan, apparently had been driving to the left of the center lane, since there was no evidence that he had swerved or lost control.
His car left 45 feet of skid marks, all in the left lane, troopers said.
Jones got out of his car after the wreck, they said, and had no external signs of injury. He suddenly collapsed just before an ambulance came.
Death, according to an autopsy held Monday, gave the cause of death as intra-abdominal hemorrhage.
Relatives of Mr. Townsend said he has a broken nose, left wrist, bridge of his mouth is broken and the extent of other injuries could not be determined immediately.

STATE POLICE ISSUE WARNING
Because child molesting increases sharply in warm weather months, parents are strongly urged by Sgt. Carl Anderson, commander of the Clinton State Police post, to warn their youngsters of the possible dangers in contact with strangers who offer gifts of candy or money and want them to go for rides or walks.
This again is the annual warning by the state police.
Sergeant Anderson advised parents to report all molesting incidents to police with as many details as possible. This helps officers take necessary to apprehend offenders and to prevent recurrence.
He pointed out that names of minors involved and their parents are not being used in the press, radio and TV except in emergencies of abduction and murder. Reluctance in reporting thwarts police action and also hides the true total of these incidents.
Last year the State Police investigated 520 sex offenses complaints, which include child molestation.
As in other years complaints were most numerous in summer. August was high with 64, July next with 62 and June third with 52. May and October had 50 each while April and September each had 47. The other five months had totals under 40.
Sergeant Anderson suggested that parents instruct their children to follow these rules:
1. Don't go for rides or walks with strangers and avoid being tempted to do so by candy or money gifts from them.
2. Have companions with you when you play outdoors and possible when going to and from school, on shopping errands, or to the movies, fairs and carnivals. Avoid playing in isolated areas and vacant buildings.
3. Don't loiter in or near public rest rooms as these are danger spots.
4. Report to your parents, police or teacher anyone who tries to get you to break these rules or when you have any question concerning your safety.
Sergeant Anderson added that children can help curb molestation incidents by remembering features about suspected or actual molesters, such as approximate height, weight, age, color of eyes, skin and hair and unusual things such as a mustache, and tattoos, scars, jewelry, and physical defects.
If there is a car involved, details about it also should be memorized or marked down somehow.
He pointed out that anyone investigated because his presence near children arouses suspicions should not be offended if he has proper explanation for his activities.

DOLLAR FOR DOLLARS' AFTER FUNDS

The Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of Manchester is in need of more dollars to help provide scholarships for deserving students in need of financial assistance. The number of students that year depends on the generosity and interest of all people in the Manchester School District. The Foundation is asking the support of the schools, churches, labor and business, industrial and government leaders and social clubs.

"Dollars for a Scholar" makes one a patron of education for the school year. Help Manchester youngsters continue their education, send your contribution to Mrs. Thel Griffin, treasurer of the Citizen's Scholarship Foundation of Manchester.

Last year the Citizen's Scholarship Foundation of Manchester gave financial assistance to four Manchester High School graduates. The school has been informed that one of these students made the honors college at Michigan State.

VETERAN TEACHER RETIRES

A veteran Clinton teacher has announced she will retire in June after 41 years in Wash-tenaw County Schools.

Mrs. Helen A. Monaghan has been the fifth grade teacher at the Saline Intermediate School since 1959. Before that she taught at Dexter School and at Bridgewater Station School.

For the last 25 years Mrs. Monaghan and her husband, John, have lived in Clinton. He is employed as the village marshal there.

Mrs. Monaghan will be honored at a reception Sunday, May 10 by the Saline Teachers' Club.

This survey pretty much tallies with the adult survey except in the school analysis where only 46 per cent of the 470 people who answered the survey believed that the high school teaching staff is adequate. The adult survey represents 622 people.

It is well to note that this survey represented the thinking of the people of Manchester February 7, 1963, but the results are just being made available by the Jaycees.
