JAYCEES PERFORM COMMUNITY PROJECT
Last Sunday, under sunny skies and with perfect weather, 23 Jaycees and three interested citizens began to beautify Manchester.

With hip boots, chain saws and enthusiasm the river cleaning project began. Beginning with the area between the Main Street bridge to Duncan Street bridge, the work was flowing.

The Jaycee "Corps of Engineers" cut trees, removed debris, brushed and removed truck loads of trash and anything else that was where it did not belong.

This once beautiful area has existed for a long time for a face lifting. The Jaycees realize that they are far from completed and hope that a small part has been reached, but an attempt has been made.

All persons present would like to express their appreciation to Ed McCully, Ted Stautz, and the Walters for the fine assistance given to the Jaycees. Also included in this group is Max Walters who loaned his equipment which was very necessary for this project.

The Jaycees say that the weather was fine, and available equipment helped determine their next move. There are definite plans being made to help make this project present eye-sore, a place of pride.

96 YEAR NO. 39

OCTOBER 1, 1964 MANCHESTER, MICHIGAN

10 CENTS

Celebrates 125th Anniversary

By Marie Schneider

Manchester Methodist Church will celebrate its 125th anniversary beginning Friday, October 9 with an all-church banquet and special services on Sunday, October 11th when Bishop Marshall R. Reed will be the guest speaker at the 11 a. m. service with the Rev. Joseph Edwards assisting. Pastor at the church is the Rev. Jesse Epps.

Reservations are necessary in advance for the banquet Friday. Women of the Sharon Evangelical United Brethren Church will serve the dinner. To make the month of October a celebration month, the pastor has arranged to have the services broadcast every Sunday at 11 a. m. live over radio station WPAG, Ann Arbor. Every effort is being made to have the services of general interest to the public. Sunday afternoon the former pastors are being invited in and will have an opportunity to bring greetings.

A total of fifty ministers have served at the church with an average of two and a half years. The first twenty years had 17 ministers and in the past 35 years there have been only seven.

Earliest records of the church in this area states that in 1851 there was a Tecumseh Circuit and this included Manchester, Adrian, Ann Arbor, Jackson and as far west as Coldwater and all the "area that lay between". To travel the entire round required some four hundred miles, taking four weeks and twenty-seven preaching places.

Washenaw County was on the verge of the wilderness with no railroads and hardships on every hand. In June 1832, the first church society was organized in a log house in Sharon at the home of the Gilbert Rowes. At this time the county was so new that some idea of its "newness" can be gathered from the history of the Rowe family. They came from Sharon, Connecticut and the township got its name from their old home. The place was called "Rowe Settlement", and the family lived in the area for many years. The Gilbert family also settled early in the area.

They tell in the history how their water for cooking was drawn in a barrel two or three miles away, before the well was dug in the spring. Snow and ice furnished the rest of the water supply. Wolves howled around the house at night. Deer and wild turkey was very common. There was plenty of wild honey and cranberries.

The Indians often visited the early families and sometimes they let them sleep by the fire side overnight without fear. In the spring the fires sometimes run over the dry grass and burned up fallen patches of wheat were springing up. Also there was plenty of fever and ague—which comes with the first plowing of new soil. As the new settlers came to think that Michigan was a pretty hard place, their thoughts turned more and more to churches and asking for God's help.

Rev. E. H. Pilcher formed the first Methodist class in Sharon when services were held in the log cabin. It was known as the "Rowe's Corner", now Evangelical.

In 1831 Amasa Gilbert donated a beautiful "burr oak" grove as a site for a Methodist Church but the building was not erected until fifteen years later. This was known as the "Gillett Church", sometimes called the "West" church. The building known as the "Sharon Center" church was built by the Congregationalists in 1848, and later purchased by the Methodist society. This building was used until destroyed by a cyclone on June 7, 1917 when many of its members joined the Manchester Methodist Church.

The first Methodist Church in Manchester was organized in 1839 with Rev. George Bradley the pastor and Samuel Doty, class leader for the nine members. This is the event that is being celebrated. This was the founding of the local church 125 years ago.

The first Quarterly Conference was held November 3, 1860. At that time the pastor received $555 a year and $50 for the presiding elder. Of this $400 was assessed to Manchester and $200 to Sharon.

The first meeting house was erected on Beaufort Street in Manchester at the cost of $1,600. The church was brought "piece meal" from Rowes Corners, Sharon Township in 1854. It has a gallery to the west and at the rear addition, Bishop E. O. Haven of Ann Arbor preached the sermon. It was decided that concentration should be on the one Methodist Church in Manchester rather than three that were located in the township—one in the Gillett neighborhood, one at Sharon Center, and one at Rowes Corners. This was under the direction of Brother Wm. Judd, and in time absorbed all the churches in Sharon.

August 9, 1859 the trustees decided to build a number of horse-sheds on the north side of the church. They were built and owned by private individuals and 14 were subscribed for. An addition was built to the church about ten years later for $1,600.

In a report of the church in 1866 the salary of the minister was $1,000 with two churches—one in Manchester and one in Sharon. Valuation of Manchester church was $8,000 and the parsonage at $2,500. The valuation of the Sharon Church was $3,000. In 1868 Rev. J. W. Scott suggested that it would be better to divide the two and make Manchester a church station. The location of the church on Beaufort street is the present site of the Paul Eisele home and the original parsonage is the present home of Mrs. Edith Holley.

The first pipe organ was bought in Adrian for $1,200 with $500 donated by "Aunt Polly Gould". Mrs. Cedeelia Torrey-Bassac was the first organist.

Pews, or slips, as they were called, were rented by parishners. Fifty-two were rented and 12 were free. Receipts for the pews totaled $1,000. There was a Sunday School library of 665 volumes and 92 subscribers for the church periodicals.

By January 1876 the average attendance at Sunday School was 98. The Beaufort street church was used until 1892 when the frame work of the church was so deteriorated that services were held in the Presbyterian church and in 1893 the Methodists bought the Presbyterian church. The pastor was Rev. D. H. Yokum.

An interesting note is that the bell that rings in St. Mary's Catholic church once hung in the Presbyterian church and was sold to St. Mary's when the Methodists purchased the church building. They had no need for the bell for they brought their bell from the old Methodist church. The bell that called Presbyterians to church for forty years was bought for St. Mary's when John Moran circulated a subscription to raise the money for the bell which was blessed by Fr. James and still rings each Sunday before the Masses. This friendly feeling between the churches in Manchester exists today the same as it did in 1893.

The present parsonage was built in 1904, the first resident pastor was Rev. E. L. Moon. Seven of the 15 pastors who lived here are still living.

In 1928 a new pipe organ was given to the church by three of Dr. W. H. Bassac's grandsons in his memory. The gift necessitated the remodeling of the rotum to harmonize with the "oak" of the organ. This last year, the console has been changed from manual to electric and chimes have been added. Many gifts have been made to the church in the form of memorials. A new church addition in 1958 was made possible by $18,000 gift from the George and Ardath Gott estate.

Two members of the church have become ministers, Addis Leeson and Densel Fuller. Methodist men's organization was started in 1956. The ladies society of the church dates back to August 1866 when they helped the church treasury by having "socials". One, an oyster supper netted $2.50. Through the years these small groups of women carried a very important part in the smooth functioning of the church. Their home missionary society has been very important until through the years. There was no foreign missionary society until the Methodist churches merged in 1940. Now the separate groups make up the "Women's Society of Christian Service. This, according to church women, causes them to operate on a much broader basis.

Today, the church which began with only nine families, has a total of some 200 families and a Sunday School of 215, and every one is taking an active part in the month-long celebration.

DE KALB SALES AND SERVICE CLINIC

Dr. Robert Strode, population geneticist, explains the massive DeKalb testing programs. The test crosses in this cage house are evaluated for all the major economic factors: production, livability, feed efficiency, long lay, egg quality and shell strength.

Sales and service from De Kalb's network of agent hatcheries across the United States and Canada learned that they continued to be an average sales increase of 17 per cent each of the last three years when they attended a recent sales and service clinic in DeKalb, Ill.

More than 100 attended the clinic. David Little from the Klager Hatcheries in Bridgewater, Michigan took part in the intensive program on September 22, 23 and 24.

The increased responsibility of DeKalb sales personnel to provide service was stressed by speakers. This responsibility stems from the decrease in number and increase in the size of the egg farm and hatchery operations in North America.

"It is an essential part of the poultry salesman's job to provide service help throughout the growing and laying period," said Ray Nelson, vice president in charge of the poultry division, in summarizing up the three-day meeting.

"The hatchery organization must stand ready to accept this important responsibility," Nelson continued. "Agent hatcheries represented at this meeting are in an enviable position because you have been growing with DeKalb and your market. You have a momentum established for further expansion and progress in 1964 and 1965."

Welcoming the group on Tuesday morning was Dr. E. E. Schmeidler, director of poultry research for DeKalb. Dr. Schmeidler outlined recent developments

COUPLE WED IN METHODIST CHURCH

Josephine Roberta Valencich and David Justin Gurk exchanged wedding vows Saturday, Sept. 26 at 7:30 p. m. in the Methodist church here.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Raymond Valencich of 14731 Schleiss Road, Manchester and Mrs. Mildred Gurk of 4945 E. Ellsworth Rd., Ypsilanti and the late Mr. Gurk.

The Rev. Jesse Epps read the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a simple gown of white satin brocade with a fitted bodice and high scoop neckline. The draped skirt fell into soft pleats which extended into a chapel train. A headpiece of seed pearls and crystals held her hair in a tip veil of French illusion and she carried an arrangement of white carnations with red roses.

The honor attendant was Mrs. Carol Coleman of Ypsilanti.

Jack Haynes of Pinckney served as best man. Guests were hosted by Donald Gurk of Drayton Plains, Michigan, brother of the bridegroom, Peter L. Valencich, Manchester, brother of the bride, James M. Dexter and Robert J. Ravas, Jr. of Ann Arbor.

A reception followed at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Manchester.

After a week's trip through the southern states the couple will reside at 4040 Washtenaw Road, Ann Arbor.

The bride is a graduate of Manchester High School and is employed as a medical secretary in Ann Arbor. Her husband is a graduate of Ann Arbor High School and is employed at the Ypsilanti plant of the Ford Motor Company.

Committee Director Wyeth Allen and Robert Harrington are meeting with state education and legal staffs to work out the machinery for the election under the new law pertaining to community colleges.
In a citizen's survey of the Washenaw County Community College facilities evidence shows that the number of seniors interested in sufficient to warrant post-high school programs in: nursing training, pre-professional and liberal arts, business education, electrical and electronics technology, laboratory technology, drafting and design technology and commercial art and design.
Graduates with no type of education beyond high school, indicate that 20 per cent would have been interested in a community college and 42 per cent would have been interested in an advanced technical or trade school.
These opportunities had been available at a low cost within the county at the time of graduation.
Washenaw County employers in general indicate that new high school graduates are not ready for employment with their firms, except in jobs at the unskilled or semi-skilled levels.
There seems to be a measure of agreement among Washenaw County employers that there is a significant shortage of semi-professional and technical level personnel in the county. Twenty per cent of the applicable firms responding, said they had not been able to find enough persons to fill jobs in these categories. More than half of the applicable firms (those employing personnel in these classifications) say that they resort to one or more of the following practices:
"Pilfering" these persons from other firms, recruiting them outside Washenaw County, or recruiting them from out-state.
Forty-seven percent of all responding parents indicated they could either definitely or probably send their child to a community college if it were located in Washenaw County and if it offered a wide variety of academic and occupational programs.
A site of between 150 and 200 acres will be necessary to provide for campus facilities and to accommodate a commuting community college enrollment part of whom will be adult workers attending part-time.
For the last three decades, population has increased at a faster rate than for the state as a whole. During the last decade while total county population was increasing 28 percent population has 5-14 years increased by 73 percent.

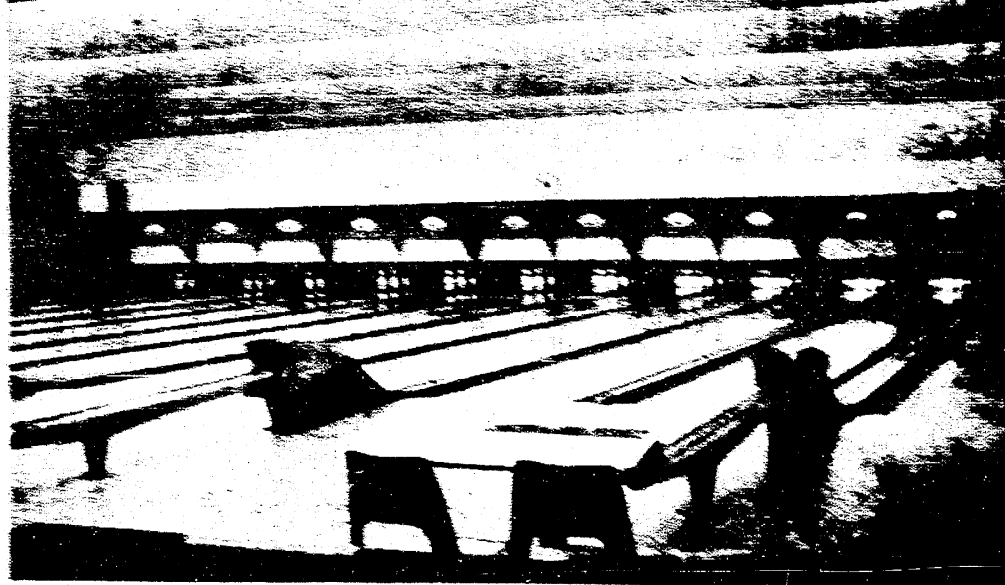

THIS...is a weekly newspaper

It's a yellowed clipping in a Bible telling the birth of a baby who smiled but a little while otherwise remembered only by the parents and God.
It's your life history, and the life history of those you know.
It's your joys and sorrows, and those of your neighbors, recorded by the only news medium in the world that cares about you.
It's your conscience joined with others to form a giant against injustice by government.
It's the difference between a lie and being an informed animal or a human being knowing and being an informed human based on facts made available to you easily, quickly and truthfully.
It's the support from which you seek and on the strength of many in furthering the welfare of your own world-your community.
It's the only medium that shows the future that your footsteps were once made on the shifting sands of time.
It's the beginning of your birth, your marriage, and the birth of your children, and tells the best for you as you begin the long journey.
It's your servant, waiting for your pleasure to be read—today, tomorrow or next week.
It's a record for you to read, to keep to read again, or to discard not a word but a picture for an instant and time gone forever.
It's the receipt of news things, not merely a carrier only of the communication on the market place.
It's the record of the day when a Federal Government of glory descended on your house for all to remember and those who come after to know.
It's the handful of garbage that brings pain and food smiles to the members of your children and grandchildren when the stars eventually say they have done what they can for you and yours.
It's your first day of school, and to your graduation.
It's you as a little boy a neighborhood, and a friend.
It's you as a little girl, a bride, and a radiant mother.
It's the record you go proud and so you.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE PLANS TO CONTINUE

Washtenaw Community College implementation committee divided itself into three area groups and named persons to head the information drive in each school district at an organizational meeting in Ann Arbor.
The Ann Arbor group headed by Mrs. J. Goudron will organize elementary school districts in the two-year college proposal. Leaders in the eastern section of the county will be Frederick J. Goudron, Jr., Ypsilanti School District; G. Wayne Spike, Willow Run School District, and a representative to be named for the Lincoln School District.
The third unit composed of six school districts will have as leader William J. Hamilton, Manchester; Mrs. Florence Mayer, Chelsea; Dr. Arthur J. Cox, and John Jones, Milan; Allan Grossman, Saline; Charles W. Appleton, Whitmore Lake and Paul H. Bantley, Dexter.
Three persons and their top aides will be meeting in units during the next month to launch the drive in each area.
Plans are to circulate petitions November calling for an election on the establishment of the college with an election tentatively set for late January.
Committee Director Wyeth Allen and Robert Harrington are meeting with state education and legal staffs to work out the machinery for the election under the new law pertaining to community colleges.

BLOOD DONORS NEEDED TO REPLACE BLOOD BANK

Blood requests have been unusually heavy for the Manchester Red Cross Blood Club the last four months. Sixty four pints have been used since the Bloodmobile visit in June. At that time Manchester was in debt twenty pints to the Red Cross Regional Blood Bank in Detroit.
Since the donors in the area had given 94 pints at the Bloodmobile in June, this leaves 10 pints to the credit of Manchester.
The minute man will be Lauren Koengsters, package reporter, Mrs. Edwin Haussler, women's committee, Mrs. Edwin Homing and Mrs. Alfred Kuhl and the recreation leader is Mrs. Armin Kuhl.
These statistics make it all the more important that the clinic at the American Red Cross headquarters in Ann Arbor every month on the second Friday, October 9, be attended by local donors for the Manchester Club.
The hours of the clinics are 2 to 5 and 6 to 7:30 p.m. A donor should call 662-5546 and make an appointment if possible. At the clinic donors are asked to request that donations be credited to the Manchester Blood Club.
A donor may give five to eight pints a year. The need for transfusions is almost always unexpected. The individuals who have had to have 2 to 18 pints this past summer were unaware of their impending need. They urge their friends and relatives to assist with blood donations at the Ann Arbor clinic now as well as at the Bloodmobile here in March, 1965, so that others may be served as they have been without the club going into debt so far this time.

VILLAGE PRESIDENT BOOSTS ANNUAL DRIVE

This week, some 150 men and women of the Manchester area will begin the annual Manchester Area United Community Fund and Red Cross-Drive to raise money for human needs.
"Those of us who have watched the Drive develop, year by year, feel a justifiable pride in Manchester's unusual record of success. Year after year, goals have been set. Year by year, the goals have been met—sometimes with a surplus," commented Manchester village president, Eugene Bentschneider.
He continued, "This record says words for the conscience, the understanding, and the spirit of the men and women who live here."
"Community Fund time is a time of outgoing, a time to think

BLOOD DONORS NEEDED TO REPLACE BLOOD BANK

Blood requests have been unusually heavy for the Manchester Red Cross Blood Club the last four months. Sixty four pints have been used since the Bloodmobile visit in June. At that time Manchester was in debt twenty pints to the Red Cross Regional Blood Bank in Detroit.
Since the donors in the area had given 94 pints at the Bloodmobile in June, this leaves 10 pints to the credit of Manchester.
The minute man will be Lauren Koengsters, package reporter, Mrs. Edwin Haussler, women's committee, Mrs. Edwin Homing and Mrs. Alfred Kuhl and the recreation leader is Mrs. Armin Kuhl.
These statistics make it all the more important that the clinic at the American Red Cross headquarters in Ann Arbor every month on the second Friday, October 9, be attended by local donors for the Manchester Club.
The hours of the clinics are 2 to 5 and 6 to 7:30 p.m. A donor should call 662-5546 and make an appointment if possible. At the clinic donors are asked to request that donations be credited to the Manchester Blood Club.
