NURSERY SCHOOL

STARTS SECOND SEMESTER Manchester co-operative nursery started the second semester this week but Mrs. Paul Boehler, the local chairman wants to assure parents that there is still time to enroll children in this program. Mrs. Russell Wolfe is the teacher of the group which meets twice week in the Emanuel Church fall for morning sessions.

Mothers of the children assist the teacher. The school is licensed RADIO STATIONS for 20 children so there is plenty of room for more to attend. It is important that the parents take an active part in the program and fathers of the children are planning a work session next Wednesday.

This is a non-profit organization where parents get together and pledge that all receipts from the school will be used to operate it; alos, incorporation protects them from personal liability for any debts the school may assume.

The members help set up the general policy-the number of children accepted, age limits, membership etc.

Locally, the schools may hav to meet the health and safety standards of the community. How much time the parents are expected to contribute depends on the school. Mothers usually help the teacher in the class room the group the more time individual Marrais, also on the college every week or two. advantages over private nursery schools. It provides the opportuni for parent education. ELVIRA VOGEL WIDELY ENDORSED AS CANDIDATE FOR COMMUNITY COLLEGE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Education of the Manchester Public Schools, the Administration, the faculty and friends of Elvira Vogel are endorsing her as a likely candidate for the Board of Trustees of the County Community College to be voted Friday, January 15. Some 36 have filed petitions for the Board of Trustees.

Supt. of Schools, Robert Swartz notes that selecting six people from this group will be an extremely important job for all voters in the county.

Mrs. Vogel, a college graduate, is no "Johnny come lately" to education. For as long as anyone can remember she has been active in school affairs, doing what was necessary in a most capable and efficient way. Whether it is a menial PTA task which everyone else turns from to a larger which is demanding of time and effort, makes no difference to Mrs. Vogel. With the same sure confidence and quiet dedication she takes each task and the school and communit are richer with the results.

Certainly the people in this part of t epresented on this new board.

A Community College board made up entirely of people from one small geographical area or one group of people with similar nterests would be most unsatisfactory. The members of this board should not only be representative of the entire county, they should be representatives of the people. Businessmen professional men, farmers, housewives and people from industry should be all considered. These people should have a sincere interest of long standing in children and the cause of education.

Mrs. Vogel qualifies on all these points. She is leaenly aware the many problems of education. She has demonstrated time and again her talents and capabilities. She is dedicated to her family, her church, her schools, and she would work with great enthusissm and fervor for the youth of this county and the success of the new community college. It is important that she should represent all of the people. This is important

People here know Elvira Vogel. They have seen her perform. They know her as a PTA supporter, Band Booster, a member of the itermediate School Board, a faithful church worker, the chairman the Manchester Citizen's Committee, and as a friend. They have een her do many things, and everything was done well.

She is endorsed by the school board, administration and facu

ESTIMATED COST OF

On January 15 all registered voters in Washtenaw County will be asked to vote to establish an allounty college district.

"The average state equalizati factor for Washtenaw County is 2.095 or about 2.1," said George Kotishak, equalization director for the county at a meeting with enresentatives of the committe seeking to establish a community college, by vote on January 15. "This equalization factor of .1 would apply to 75 per cent of the dollar value of the county, Kotishak said. While Kotishak was unable to arrive at an average local assessment on a county-wide basis, Walter Labde, tax assessor for Arbor reported that 13,273 improved residences in Ann Arbor were valued locally at $62,777,800 Appearing on the radio tape will for an average of $4730. Lahde stated that the average value of improved residences for the county would be somewhat lower than the figure in Ann Arbor. The equalization factor is a necessary complication in the life of Kotishak. It is necessary because some local assessors value their properties at one-quarter of market value, others at one-third to one-half of market value. The state requires that these differences be eliminated by multiplying local assessed value by an equalizing factor.

The voters, on January 15 will be asked to vote to establish an all-county community college district and to approve a maximum levy of 1.25 mills. The committee estimates that the average home owner will pay less than $12 per year in increased taxes to support the college.

This colorful "party-proof" ware is doing double duty for summerinto-fall entertaining, both indoors and out. The makers of Boontonware, one of the leading brands on the market. have passed along a few timely hints r its care and cleaning.

All dishes made of melamine can be safely and easily washed in automatic dishwashers, as this ware withstands wet temperatures far above the boiling point (all the way to 270°F.) Colors and patterns are molded fade or wear off. Use any soar r detergent you may prefer but do not scrub with harsh pads or with gritty cleansers, use chlorine bleaches that will mar the surface.

vou would any other fine dinnerware - promptly after using -so that food and coffee stains do not adhere to the surface. Staining agents do their worst work on all types of dishes when left to accumulate in the soapy residue that remains after "once-over-lightly" washing. Should coffee or tea stains appear in cups after long use, a piece of soft cloth or sponge dampened and dipped into or-dinary baking soda usually will remove them.

For more stubborn surface stains which can result from careless washing, a very good special-purpose cleanser is now on the market. It is Boontonware Coffee Stain Remover. Recommended also for use on coffee and tea makers, this product may be found at department, hardware and housewares stores almost everywhere across the country.

Comments On Community College Friday of this week, we will oting on the issue of a Comnunity College and also for trustees for this college.

The need for a college of this type in our county is very great, we have students going to Junior Colleges in neighboring counties, which due to increasing enrollment will soon close their doors to anyone outside their area.

We have fine Universities but they do not furnish the type of vocational and technical training that is needed and wanted by many of our High School graduates and many adults. There is an increasing demand for more skilled Industry is becoming more technical every day. Trained and ducated people have better earning power, which will increase their standard of living, increase their buying power and enable them to take their deserved and obligated place in a community.

I strongly urge people to vote 'yes" for a Community College and also I urge people to vote for a qualified trustee who will present our area, we are fortunate to have such a person in Mrs. Elvira Vogel and I hope our citizens will see fit to support her Eugene Bentschneider Village President

15 is an important one! There will e three issues on the ballot. . To establish a Washtenaw County Community College. . To levy 1.25 mills tax to finance the college . To elect six trustees to govern the college. For the past two years studies have been made in the county to determine the need for a community college. It has been establishd that at least forty per cent of the high school youth would be nterested in a special kind of training in semi-professional. vocational or technical programs. and others are interested in a general education of liberal arts. Many persons want and need this kind of special knowledge and they need it at a reasonable cost. Iniustry and business are calling for eople with special skills.

Federal and State Funds are vailable to help in financing the nstruction of a community college, to provide student loans, and to purchase specific kinds of quipment. Washtenaw could be aking advantage of continuing education for persons interested in special classes for upgrading in their jobs, for retraining for those who have been automated out of their present employment, for persons who have been wanting to eceive basics and transfer to a four year program later, and for those who want to develop or imrove skills so that they will have marketable skill or vocation.

This education could be proided at about $250 a year, as compared with costs of about $2000 a year in a state college and $4000 a year in a private college. For those farmers whose children will be interested in agricultural short courses, business or industry, this could be a real advantage. An investment in an more value than funds spent later in corrective action-perhaps financial aid for those unemployed and untrained for other work, or for covering various osts of dealing with juvenille le linquents.

Many persons now realize that the property tax is no longer an equitable one and people must express themselves to the 12 makers if they want action to correct it.

There is a real need to go to the polls and vote on this community college issue tomorrow-Friday.

Don't forget a Community College board made up entirely of people from one small geographical area or one group of people with similar interests would be most unsatisfactory. The members of the board should be representative of the people. It should be made up of businessmen , professional men, farmers, housewives, and people from industry. These people should have a sincere interest of long standing in children and the cause of educa-
