

THE GIRLS IN GRANDMA GROSSMAN'S BIG FAMILY EXPERT WITH NEEDLE

By Marie Schneider

Dawn Lynn Rinehart of 614 So. Mechanic Street, Jackson is six months old today, Thursday. She is the fifth generation of women in the family of her great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Fred Grossman of Manchester.

Four of the five were born on the 11th of the month. Mrs. Grossman, the former Lydia Staebler, is 89 years old and was born on Sept. 11. So was her daughter, Mrs. Lowell (Alta Lydia) Parr of Manchester, born on her mother's birthday.

Mrs. Parr's daughter, Mrs. John (Lucille) Bevier of Brooklyn was born on Dec. 11. The only one without a birthday on the 11th is Mrs. Jerald (Linda) Rinehart, of Jackson. Her birthday is October 27. Little Dawn Lynn Rinehart was born Aug. 11, 1964.

All of the women have the letter "L" beginning their first or middle name.

Dawn Lynn has 11 grandparents, besides Mrs. Grossman and the Parrs. There are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ehnis of Brooklyn and Mr. and Mrs. Seward Bevier of 615 Harris, Jackson, great-grandparents, and Mr. and Mrs. Norval Rinehart and Mr. and Mrs. John Bevier all of Brooklyn, grandparents.

Dawn's great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Grossman, has two children and so do her great-grandmother and her grandmother.

Mrs. John Bevier, Dawn's grandmother, finds herself in a unique position on the family tree. She is a granddaughter and a grandmother at the same time.

The family is closely knit and Mrs. Bevier likes to recall some of her early life with her grandmother Grossman, who at 89 is still active and alert. Mrs. Grossman lived nearly all her life in the Manchester area. Her husband, Fred died last March. They had been married 67 years and until his death she kept house at their farm home.

"Grandmother's shiny old wood stove kept the big kitchen cozy and she used it until she left the farm last spring to live with her son and daughter," Mrs. Bevier said.

There was the pantry where the big loaves of bread were kept and the cookies. The sugar was in a big wooden firkin on the pantry floor. That firkin had been her mother's and she told Mrs. Bevier that some day she could have it.

Mrs. Grossman's rocking chair with the high back has been in the family a long time. It has been used by daughter, granddaughter and great-granddaughter. Mrs. Grossman remembers well when her father brought it home for her on top of the wagon when she was only 4 years old. The 85-year-old chair will be refinished soon and passed along to Dawn.

Mrs. Grossman's four granddaughters all played with her childhood doll with the beautiful painted china head and leather body. They made a doll bed from the wooden box that covered Mrs. Grossman's sewing machine. A granddaughter still does her mending on that same machine.

Mrs. Grossman still crochets "for her girls" and at Christmas time some gay red and white potholders decorated their kitchens, which were made by Mrs. Grossman. Many of her old German Christmas cookie recipes are used every year.

There was a grand big bedroom upstairs at the Grossman farm with all its treasures. There was a big trunk with all the bustle dresses and fur trimmed capes "to play dress up" with. There were old pictures in the family album to be wondered about. Yes, and there were other things like the sausage grinder, lard press and a sauerkraut cutter—all stored away.

Grandma's gas lights are remembered with awe. They hissed and gave off a bright light. She even had a gas iron which she would light and let granddaughter iron dish towels. There was a little bag of bees' wax to rub on the bottom of the iron to keep it from sticking.

The Grossmans had no electricity long after everyone else in the country did. This was because the "electric line" didn't go past their home. A carbide plant in the barn supplied the gas lights which were bright and steady.

It was at grandma's that Mrs. Bevier baked her first cake. She used sugar from the firkin in the pantry, sour milk from the milk pans in the cellar and a "pinch of salt" from the salt box hanging on the wall by the stove. The cake, chocolate marble, was popped into that old wood range and turned out perfectly. Many exacting recipes today give disappointing results compared to grandma's.

memory recipe with a "pinch of this and a handful of that."
The homemade methods have been passed along to each succeeding generation and the Grossman sewing machine especially started a family tradition.

All of the dresses worn in the picture with this story are "home-made." Mrs. Lowell Parr made her mother's and baby Dawn's dresses, as well as her own. Dawn's soft blue dress has tatted insertion and edges. Her white tatted booties were made by her great-grandmother.

The Parr sewing machine has been busy for four generations. Mrs. Parr made all the clothes for her two daughters, from baby dresses to wedding gowns. Her four granddaughters all had beautiful white baby dresses trimmed with her hand made tating.

Mrs. Bevier's sewing machine was purchased with the money from her first job and she hasn't had to buy a ready-made dress since her daughter Linda was a baby. She too, made all of her daughter's clothes and is now busy sewing for her granddaughter.

Although Mrs. Rinehart has little free time, she manages to do a little sewing. She works in the abstract office in the Jackson County Courthouse. But she is "following the pattern" and recently purchased a sewing machine and is spending what time she can learning to sew.

Mrs. Bevier says that she is very certain that "a grandmother can be a wonderful and very important part of any little girl's life."

SPECIAL SERVICES

The Rev. Miss Elsie Johns, pastor of the Clarenceville Methodist Church, will be the evangelist for special services at the Manchester Methodist Church beginning Sunday, February 21 with the 11 a. m. service and continuing each evening at 7:30 p. m. through Friday, Feb. 26th.

The Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church Men's Chorus of twelve will give special music in the evening service Sunday, Feb. 21st. The Men's Quartet of Clarenceville will be the special music on Friday, Feb. 26. Other special music will be a part of each service. The public is invited to attend all services.

The exterior of the building will be of 1890 decor of brick construction. This will be in keeping with the general appearance of the community.
This was all part of the preliminary plan submitted to the council.
The plan met the approval of the council and members said that they will take action to get the groundwork for the rezoning underway at once.
Mr. Limpert has been in the construction business for some 18 years and in business for himself for the past 10 years. He has been specializing in remodeling out-dated buildings for up-to-date use in several states, including Spiegels, Aldens and several other manufacturing firms, commercial and business buildings.
Mr. Limpert said that at Clawson, near Detroit, a similar unit was built in the business district which has proved to be very successful.
Of interest is that here in the area in question there will be room for 20 to 24 cars in the paved lighted area.

Flint College exhibit gets Oldest Chevrolet Known to Exist

The oldest Chevrolet known to be in existence—a 1912 touring model—is destined for an honored place in the city. It was produced in Flint, Mich. and was purchased by the Industrial Mutual Association for donation to the Alfred P. Sloan Panorama of Transportation in the city's College and Cultural Center. Seated in the car (l. to r.) are Allen J. Dillon, IMA president; Dr. Roger Van Bolt, Sloan museum director; William Crick, IMA managing director; and Gregory Fauth, a Flint insurance man and antique car buff who located the car.

VILLAGE COUNCIL REVIEWS BUDGET

At Monday Council meeting the budget for next year was reviewed. Total disbursements will total $94,770. The biggest change will be a $7,000 appropriation for Railroad right of way to be purchased by the village.

It was pointed out that there will be a $1,000 gain in tax revenue which is due to new homes being built in the area.

A public hearing has been scheduled for March 15 to re-examine a part of the Limpert property in order to erect a five unit apartment by D. E. Limpert.

Mr. Limpert said these will be one bedroom efficiency apartments.

Plans call for two apartments on the first floor and two on the second floor. The size of the apartments are to be 18 x 24 feet down stairs and 18' x 37.5 up stairs.

Mr. Limpert says that there will be air conditioning, hot water heat, tiled bath, living and bedrooms carpeted, draperies, stove and refrigerators and disposals furnished.

The exterior of the building will be of 1890 decor of brick construction. This will be in keeping with the general appearance of the community.

This was all part of the preliminary plan submitted to the council.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. for William A. Widmayer, aged 92 years, at the Jenter Funeral Home.

Mr. Widmayer died Wednesday afternoon at the Colonial Manor Nursing Home at Chelsea. He had been a patient there since May 8, 1964.

Mr. Widmayer was born Nov. 23, 1872 in Manchester Township the son of George and Christina Fritz Widmayer. He was married to Otilie Naumann on April 10, 1902. She died on January 16, 1952.

For many years he worked for the Hupp Motor Car Co. of Jackson and his first job was working as a clerk in his brother's store. This type of work he did until he retired.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Anton (Ada) Walker of Wolfe Lake; two grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Emma Sloat of Detroit.

On Feb. 19 the South Bridge-water Home Ec. Group will meet at the home of Mrs. Alfred Wheaton at 117 Washington St., Clinton.

SUPERVISORS SLATE SPECIAL MEETING

A special meeting of the Wash-taw County Board of Supervisors will be called for 7:30 p. m. Feb. 23 to reconsider setting an election date for the annexation of the 241 acres of Pittsfield Township to Ann Arbor.

The special session was asked by 13 board members, mostly from Ann Arbor, according to Board Chairman, Curt H. Will. The supervisors had tabled the matter by a vote of 17 to 16 in the regular session.

The next scheduled board meeting is March 12 which is too late to place the annexation on the April 5th ballot.

The annexation is being sought by the G.V. Airey Building Co. which plans to develop the land which is adjacent to its Lansdown subdivision.

The motion made to table and apparently eliminate the possibility of an April election was supported largely by supervisors from rural townships and townships bordering Ann Arbor. City supervisors largely opposed it.

Whether the board will change its action and set a date will depend on the makeup of the members attending this special meeting. Expense of holding the special meeting will not be great as many of the supervisors will be at the Ninth District of Michigan State Association meeting in Monroe County that same day and can be paid only one $15 a day sum anyway.

JUNIOR HIGH CHEERLEADING HONOR SQUAD

Tryouts were held last week to select the best cheerleaders from the entire group who had been participating in the basketball season.

At the beginning and during the regular basketball season any seventh grade or eighth grade (girl) could participate as long as she remained eligible by maintaining good grades. These are the same rules that the boys must follow.

The Honor Squads are chosen at the end of the season in order to be ready for the Junior High Basketball tournament, which is being held this week at the Manchester High School gym. A trophy is presented to the best cheerleading squad at the tournament.

The Senior Varsity Cheerleaders from the High School were invited to be the judges for the try-outs last week and selected the following girls:
7th Grade—Cecilia Fielder (captain), Nancy Davis, Kris Creason, Debbie LaRock, Gloria Grossman, and Vickie Gorney. Susan Pratt is substitute.

Eighth Grade—Andrea Koda is captain and on the team are Kathy Randall, Sue Blanchard, Kathy Feldkamp, Mary Wurster and Linda Spiess. Stephanie Stevens is the substitute.

Jody Raffaelli is the Junior cheerleader for both groups and Mrs. Phyllis Hamilton is the Jr. high physical education instructor and the sponsor for the group.

The Beacon Light Extension group will meet at the home of Mrs. Duane Haselschwerdt on Wednesday, Feb. 24 at 8:00 p. m.

FEB. 19th WILL MARK 88th BIRTHDAY OF ED DRESSELHOUSE

Edward C. Dresselhouse of 308 S. Macomb street will celebrate his 88th birthday on February 19. A retired local businessman, Ed is still very much interested in the town and anxious for it to prosper.

"Of course, I'm in favor of an apartment unit being built at the rear of the Limpert property. Why not? But, I didn't know about it until this evening," Ed commented.

Ed Dresselhouse wasn't the only one who didn't know that D. E. Limpert submitted a proposal to the Council on Monday night asking if the Council approved his idea of building a five unit, two story apartment building at the rear of his three Main St. stores. Limpert has already cleared away the old buildings which cluttered the area.

Although Ed Dresselhouse retired in 1957, after being in the hardware and implement business for 55 years in Manchester, he is always ready to promote the town. He pointed out that housing is creating a problem and anything which can relieve some of the pressure in this direction should be considered carefully.

Limpert and his wife and family moved here three years ago from Detroit. He has been in the construction work for 18 years and in business for himself for ten years. He specialty is remodeling buildings for up to date use.

Mr. Dresselhouse is more than a little interested in this particular area of town because for 35 years the Dresselhouse & Davider Store was right next to the property in question. He would like to see the heart of Main Street be improved.

"I hope we can keep the buildings we have," Mr. Dresselhouse said. He had never commented, according to his wife, when the Union Savings Bank decided to tear down the Dresselhouse & Davider Building which they bought. This was done last fall to make a parking area for the bank.

It was easy to see that Mr. Dresselhouse was more anxious to see buildings erected than to see them torn down.

Although his hearing is somewhat impaired, his memory is keen. He was born in Sharon Township, the son of John and Amelia Davider Dresselhouse. Until he was twelve years old they lived on the place which is now a part of the Tom Walton farm. Two of his early classmates are living, Henry Kemmer and Fred Kuhl.

Because of his mother's failing health they left the farm and moved to the Barless house on West Main Street. That frame house was later moved to Adrian Street and is known as the former Ora Logan home, recently purchased by the Albert Gages. This is one of the oldest houses in town.

Mr. Dresselhouse graduated from Manchester High School in 1895 and taught at the Silver Lake rural school for 4 years. His 35 students in the range in age from 6 to 17 years. His salary was $18 a month in the spring and fall and $24 a month for the winter term. All the other rural schools opened in September. But the Silver Lake School started in October. The reason was to give the pupils a chance to help husk corn longer in the fall. He liked teaching school but thought it would be more interesting to have a store.

He went into the hardware business. His uncle Otto Davider, joined him and they opened their store in 1902 in the location of the Widmayer Hardware store. Davider was only four years older than his nephew.

"You might say, we were ruined out of that store," he laughed. Then explained that the roof leaked so much that they looked around for another location and three years later moved to the Arbieter Building across the street.

This was ideal for the business. Although there were several steps to the front door, the basement was on ground level at the rear and this was fine. They were in the buggy business—along with the hardware store. About 75 buggies could be stashed away and easily taken out when wanted. Later the Arbieter Society brought some of their frame buildings from Abieter Grove to buggy storage back of the store.

"One year we put up more than twenty windmills and even more hay tracks. About 75 percent of the farmers had windmills. Now, they are a thing of the past," Mr. Dresselhouse said.

In 1920 they moved across the street to the store next to the Union Bank Building. This was the store he retired from in 1957. After Mr. Davider's health failed Dresselhouse was joined in the business by Otto's son, Royal Davider.

Ed Dresselhouse recalls that one time he wasn't sure if he'd be left on the village council or not. He wanted paved street along Main. Several on council at the time didn't feel the town could afford it.

"But we got the pavement," he grinned. He served on council for 12 years and when he looks at the street signs along village streets he remembers that it was his idea to erect them on pipes. Four different types were submitted. But his was chosen. The same ones he designed are used today.

Mr. Dresselhouse was also a member of the school board and for many years was a member of the Emanuel Church Board, church council and superintendent of the Sunday School. After he retired from all this he was named chairman of the church building committee for the Emanuel Church Hall.

Looking ahead to the progress of the community he can see no reason why the proposed apartment project won't help Manchester.

ECUMENICAL MEETING AT EMANUEL CHURCH

By invitation of the Emanuel United Church of Christ, an ecumenical meeting was held in Emanuel Church Hall Sunday, Feb. 14. This was the first meeting of its kind in Manchester and was held to provide a get acquainted hour and fellowship for all of the Manchester area churches.

Six of the churches were represented by their pastors and key church people and their wives or husbands, with the exception of the Baptist Mission Church which had previously scheduled church services.

Unable to attend the meeting which he planned was the Rev. Ralph Kuetner, pastor of Emmanuel, Manchester's largest church. M He and Mrs. Kuetner were called to Merrell, Wisconsin because of the sudden death of his sister, Mrs. George Gruetzmacher. Max Walter, chairman of Emanuel Council, greeted the guests.

Community singing was led by Roger Morrison with Mrs. Morrison accompanying at the piano.

Refreshments were served by the hosts before and following the informal meeting. A guided tour of Emanuel church started the program which included the introduction of the Rev. and Mrs. Jesse Epps of the Methodist Church and the representatives, Rev. Fr. Raymond Schlinkert of St. Mary's Catholic Church and his church board and heads of organizations.

Rev. and Mrs. John Price of Sharon Evangelical United Brethren Church and Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Mannel of Bethel United Church and their representatives. Rev. Thomas Hicks of Iron Creek Community Church was unable to be present but sent representatives.

This meeting was held to better acquaint churches with the ways that their neighboring churches function and what the duties of the different organizations are.

It was the beginning of what spokesmen for the churches hope, can become an important and worthwhile part of Manchester community affairs.

How quickly can you spot the changes 11 years have brought to Michigan's automobile license plates? Most noticeable is the enlarged slogan. The 1954 plate, above, held by Charmagne Kitzmann, Automobile Club of Michigan travel counselor, was the first to use "Water-Wonderland." The new plate is shorter by one and a half inches—the present 6 by 12 size having been adopted in 1956 in a national move to make all state licenses uniform. Did you get these other changes since 1954? Main letters and numerals have been reduced a half-inch; the dash-break between numerals has been eliminated; Michigan is shortened to Mich., and the year to 65. The year's position also is moved toward the center. There is one similarity with 1965 and 1954—the maize and blue colors. The 1954 plate is now a collector's item, but plenty of the 1965 variety are available. If you don't have yours yet, Auto Club suggests you act at once—the deadline is Feb. 28, but the last day of sale is Saturday, Feb. 27. A reminder—You don't need your title this year, just your registration.

STENOGRAPHERS SOUGHT

An announcement has been made by Miss Mary K. Ruwart, civilian Navy employment representative in Michigan that applications are currently being accepted for civil service positions in Washington, D. C.

According to Miss Ruwart stenographers and typists are urgently needed to fill vacancies now; seniors can apply now for acceptance in June after they graduate. No experience is necessary. Starting salaries are excellent and lead to promotions to higher positions, some overseas. Colleges in Washington offer evening classes for government employees.

PUBLIC INVITED TO ART EXHIBIT

Fifteen members of the Brooklyn Art Association are exhibiting oil and water colors at the Manchester Township Library. Also on display are a half dozen pictures from the Manchester Art Class.

The art work represents two of Mr. Howell Poucher's classes in the area and has been well received by library visitors.

For those who have not seen the exhibit, library hours are every week day from one to six and on Wednesdays until nine in the evening.

On Sunday, February 28, the last day of the showing, the exhibit will be open to the public from three to six and coffee will be served. Mrs. Dan Boutell, vice president of the library board, is chairman of the event.

CENSUS BUREAU WANTS DATA

Information on the arrangements made by working mothers in the United States for the care of their children will be obtained in the Bureau of the Census February Population Survey, according to Director Hobert A. Yerhey of the Bureau's regional office in Detroit.

The questions on child care will supplement the regular monthly inquiries on employment and unemployment obtained for the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The information will be collected during the work week starting Feb. 15 from selected households in this area as well as other sample areas throughout the U. S.

The child care survey, which is the first made since 1958, is sponsored jointly by the Children's Bureau of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor. Working mothers in the survey will be asked for such information as:

Who usually looks after your child while you are working? How old is the person who does your baby sitting? How many hours a week was the child cared for under this arrangement?

Did the arrangement cover all the time you were away at work? If not, who looked after the child the rest of the time? How much did you pay for the care of the child?

Census Bureau interviewers will visit families in this area in February. Sarah Goss of Jackson will have charge of this area.

MEASLES IS DANGEROUS

Far from being the harmless disease it is sometimes thought of, measles is dangerous to children, Oliver McGillicuddy, MD, president of the Michigan State Medical Society, warned in launching the Society's extensive public-service campaign for immunization against this widespread childhood illness.

The intensive statewide campaign starting March 1 and running for six weeks, will inform parents of the dangers of measles and encourage them to consult their physician regarding measles vaccination for their children.

"The eradication of measles is now one of the prime targets of the medical profession," Dr. McGillicuddy said in announcing the war against measles.

Exploding the widespread myth that measles is a harmless disease of childhood, Dr. McGillicuddy pointed out that practically every child is susceptible to measles by the time he is nine months old, and nine out of 10 will have measles.

"In fact, of those who suffer," he stated, "one child in six will develop a secondary reaction, and, in one case out of 1,000, measles triggers the dreaded encephalitis, inflammation of the brain, and in some cases it even kills."

The situation can and should be corrected and measles can be virtually wiped out by use of vaccines available to physicians.

"With the likelihood that 1965 will be another year in which measles are widely prevalent in Michigan, we urge all parents to take advantage of the vaccines now available for immunization of their children."

"We have the means of wiping out measles almost completely," the doctor added.

MERIT SCHOLARSHIP TEST TO BE GIVEN

Fifty students at Manchester High School plan to take the 1965 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, Chester Kocesi, principal announced.

The test will be administered at the school at 9 a. m. Tuesday, March 9. All students who wish to be considered for Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1966 should take the test at that time.

The NMSQT is a three-hour examination of educational development. The test is the first step in the eleventh annual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and by sponsoring corporations, foundations, colleges, associations, unions, trusts, and individuals.

The number of scholarships awarded in any year depends upon the extent of sponsor participation. In 1964, 1962 Merit Scholarships were awarded; 1146 were provided by 227 sponsors and 507 by Merit Corporation. There are 4880 Merit Scholars attending 485 colleges in the current academic year.

The test scores of students who are examined in March will be reported to their schools before May 15. The scores are used by counselors in many high schools to help students make decisions about college attendance and field of study. Many students who do not expect to win a scholarship take the test in order to learn more about their individual strengths and weaknesses in the areas measured by the test.

More than 14,000 Semifinalists the highest scorers in each state, will be named early next fall.

Names of Semifinalists are published in a booklet which is distributed to all colleges and to other sources of financial aid for undergraduates. Further, their names and test scores are sent to the two colleges and order of preference is not shown.

Approximately 38,000 additional students, selected on a national basis, receive Letters of Commendation for their high performance on the qualifying test. Their names and test scores are also sent to their first and second choice colleges.

Each semifinalist will be asked to take a second examination. Those who repeat their high performance and meet certain other requirements will become Finalists in the competition. Winners of Merit Scholarships will be selected from the Finalist group on the basis of school records and recommendations, test scores, extracurricular activities, leadership ability, and accomplishments outside the classroom. Each Finalist is awarded a Certificate of Merit attesting to his outstanding performance.

All Finalists are considered eligible for Merit Scholarships financed by NMSC and sponsors. The National Merit Scholarships provided by NMSC are awarded on a basis of state representation and without special individual criteria of any kind. Many sponsored Merit Scholarships include additional criteria such as the Finalist's relationship to an employee of the sponsoring organization, his residence in a certain area, his college preference, or his career intention.

The scholarship stipends are based on financial need. The minimum award is $100 and the maximum is $1500. The average stipend awarded to freshmen Merit scholars in 1964 was $757 annually, or about $3,000 for the four years of college. Supplemental grants are usually made to the colleges that the scholars attend. Each scholarship constitutes a form of educational insurance, since the stipend may be increased at any time if the student's financial situation changes during the four-year term of the scholarship.

POEM

THE LAST DANCE

All this night I have been sitting, waiting for my secret beau. He has danced with all the others and soon we will have to go.

Now he's dancing with Betty Jane, but now that Leo's cutting in, he and I are just not dancing.

The last dance now begins. Oh, Oh, he's turning to the chairs. Please give me just another chance!

Just turn around and look at me. And ask me for the last dance. Well, he did these things that I had asked, we're best of friends, which is fine. Oh, yes! I did forget one thing. Now we two are Valentines.

DUTCH FOILED BY REDSKINS

The Manchester Flying Dutchmen bidding to climb back in the Lakeland C. Conference race were damped by the Clinton Redskins 96-78. It was a close game in the first half, but the Redskins opened up a twenty point lead midway through the third quarter. The Dutch tried in vain in the last quarter, but just couldn't close the gap.

John Basinger and Bill Jedele led the Redskins in scoring with 25 and 28 points respectively. The Dutchmen were led by there two high scorers Don Mann and Jim Fildner. Don ended the game with 25 points and Jim with 18.

By Ron Panches Rick Krueger Mike Lowery

Miss Koebke, who has been teaching Kindergarten at Manchester for many years is coaching the girls' Junior Varsity and Varsity Basketball teams this year. The Varsity squad has won one game and lost two. The Junior Varsity team has won only one game.

Dear Simon, I like this one boy and he once liked me. He wrote me some notes and some of my friends read them and some now he found out. He stopped writing to me and doesn't like me now. I still like him. I see him every day. I wrote him a note but he won't answer it. What should I do?

Forgotten. You should make him come more to you by having a crowd of girls around you and make him see you and then.

Dear Simon, I like this one boy and he doesn't like me. I keep getting these letters from other boys who say they like me. I keep writing letters to the boy I like and he doesn't answer them. What should I do?

Heartbroken. Dear Heartbroken, if he doesn't bother to answer your letters, I don't think he's worth writing to.

You said other boys write you notes so why not take one of them as your guy. They can't be all that bad.

Simon

STUDENT'S POEM I think that I shall be a B. An B is lovely as a B, A B whose rounded form is pressed Upon the records of the blessed; At B corner easily, and yet It isn't easy to forget: B's are made by fools like me, But only God can make a B.

Senior Skip Day

February 3, 1965 is a day all of us Seniors will remember. At 7:00 A.M., we met at the K of C Hall and enjoyed a very delicious pancake and sausage breakfast cooked by a few of our wonderful mothers. Then we left for the big city of Detroit, and divided up into two groups to tour different banks. One group toured the Federal Reserve Bank and the other group saw the Manufacturers National Bank. At the bank we had a cafeteria style lunch and then went to our buses.

Next, we went to see "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World." We then had a little free time to go shopping. Finally, we went to the Metropole Super Club in Canada and had a very appetizing meal. We were entertained by a Cuban singer, some dancers and Joey Powers.

Then we left for the big city of Detroit, and divided up into two groups to tour different banks. One group toured the Federal Reserve Bank and the other group saw the Manufacturers National Bank. At the bank we had a cafeteria style lunch and then went to our buses.

Next, we went to see "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World." We then had a little free time to go shopping. Finally, we went to the Metropole Super Club in Canada and had a very appetizing meal. We were entertained by a Cuban singer, some dancers and Joey Powers.

February 3, 1965 is a day all of us Seniors will remember. At 7:00 A.M., we met at the K of C Hall and enjoyed a very delicious pancake and sausage breakfast cooked by a few of our wonderful mothers. LT. COL. HOWARD ZINDEL TO PARTICIPATE IN ORIENTATION TOUR

Lt. Colonel Howard C. Zindel, USAF Reserve of 641 Kensington Road, East Lansing, arrived here Feb. 6 to participate in the Air Force Chief of Staff Overseas Orientation Tour for key personnel of the Air Force Reserve and the Air National Guard.

A college professor in civilian life, Colonel Zindel's AF Reserve assignment is Commander of the 9510th AF Reserve Recovery Squadron, Lansing, Michigan.

Colonel Zindel and twelve other key Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard officers are learning first-hand the role of the U.S. Air Force in Europe as a member of the fifteen nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Colonel Zindel and his group received briefings in the Paris area at Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers, Europe (SHAPE) Headquarters of the U.S. European Command (US EUCOM), and at the Porte Dauphine Headquarters of NATO. Their medium of briefings at Headquarters United States Air Forces in Europe at Wiesbaden (Germany), and at the Ramstein (Germany) headquarters of the 4th Allied Tactical Air Force and the 12th Air Force.

During these planned trips the group will observe how the European free world frontiers, from the Mediterranean to the Arctic, are constantly covered by a vast radar and electronic communications network; how any flying object penetrating these frontiers is identified and questioned within seconds, and when high speed computers cannot immediately identify the object as "friendly" data is flashed to a screen where intercept controllers direct NATO pilots to pin-point interception.

Colonel Zindel and his group are the 90th such orientation group visiting NATO bases under the Air Force overseas orientation program. Upon completion of the tour they will return to their homes.

BASKETBALL TOURNEY STARTS WEDNESDAY

The 8th grade basketball team was anxiously awaiting the opening of the tournaments at the local High School. The 8th grade team had lost only one game - which was a tough fast moving game.

Try-outs for cheerleading were held Feb. 4 with everyone very nervous but all candidates did their best. Unfortunately only six girls make up the squad.

The judges, girls from theVarsity Cheerleaders, marked on a point system which included neatness, rhythm, pep and extra skills.

These six include: Andrea Koda, captain, Kathy Randall, Sue Blanchard, Kathy Feldkamp, Linda Speiss, Mary Wurster and Stephanie Stevens - as the substitute for the eighth grade.

PROPOSED APARTMENTS BY D.E. LIMPERT

The Village Council chambers at 120 S. Clinton St. will be a busy place on Mon., March 15, 1965 for it is at this date that a hearing will be held for the rezoning of the property in the rear of the D.E. Limpert's Stores.

Complete details of this rezoning can be read in the Village Notice. The rezoning of this property would enable Don and Rita Limpert, who have made Manchester their home for the last two years, to have the "go-ahead" with their proposal for plans to construct an apartment building on the lots directly in back of 115 E. Main St. The brick building will have an iron wrought facade which will lend an 1890 flair and blend in with the surroundings.

The interior of the one bedroom efficiency apartments will be modern and contain stove, refrigerator, garbage disposal, draperies, and will be air conditioned. There will be off the street parking for approximately 26 cars.

It is Mr. Limpert's idea that this type of building will alleviate some of the housing shortage in Manchester, and provide an ideal home for semi-residential citizens, such as school teachers, but he maintains, it will be excellent for retired couples, and young married couples who are just starting out.

Anyway you look at it, it's a good idea and will be a great addition to the town.

SOCIAL SERVICES HOLD 6th ANNUAL MEETING

Thought for social action and then social action beginning with medical care for the aged were the messages in a talk on "The Psychology of Poverty" which highlighted the sixth annual banquet of Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw County which was held last week Wednesday at the Michigan Union, Ann Arbor.

The services of the agency are extended to anyone living in Washtenaw County, irrespective of racial, national, religious, social, or economic background.

The staff of men and women are trained in the practice of social casework. The goals are to strengthen family life, to facilitate adjustment to problems experienced in everyday living, and to preserve physical and mental health.

Fr. Raymond Schlinkert of St. Mary's at Manchester gave the invocation. Only two others were present from Manchester in the ballroom which was filled to capacity. Mrs. George Kodas and Marie Schneider.

The speaker was Sister Mary Emmit-HM, president of Marygrove College in Detroit. She spoke to an interested audience and began:

"Let us begin by thinking, and when we have discovered by thinking what we can do—regardless of how small that might be, even as small as a letter to our congressman—let us do that."

The president of Marygrove said she didn't have the answer to the question, "What shall I do to fulfill my responsibility to do all they can to relieve suffering people in a world where people need not suffer."

In calling for support for medical care programs for the aged, Sister Mary said she appeared before the group, not as a Democrat or a Republican, "but as one who has read 'Pacem In Terris' (an encyclical of the late Pope John XXIII). She described such medical care as being "among the basic rights of man."

"When are we responsible?" she asked, and then answered it. "Socially, as well as individually—and in our day, socially and politically rather than individually—we are responsible for social action when we can see the common good is not being obtained."

In commenting on the annual report which was distributed to the audience Miss Marguerite Parrish, executive secretary, executive secretary of Catholic Social Service of Washtenaw County said the organization was increasingly children-oriented. In the report which was passed out to those present, it was stated that 1,028 families were served by the agency in 1964. These represented 2,356 individuals including 670 under the age of 18 directly served.

88th BIRTHDAY

There will be off-street maximum parking for 20 to 24 cars and a paved lighted parking area. The building will be designed in a 1890 brick motif to match the other buildings and harmonize with them. Downstairs units will be 18 x 24 ft. and the two upstairs apartments will be 18 x 37.5 ft. The units will be air conditioned and have hot water heat. There will be garbage disposals, stove and refrigerators furnished.

"Yes, it seems to me that this would be a real addition to our Main Street picture," Mr. Dresselhouse concluded.

Mr. Dresselhouse married the former Emma Grossman on March 7, 1906. Their only son, Donald lives in Los Angeles, California.

MAIN STREET

And the big snow came! The weatherman had predicted heavy snow warnings. So everyone should have been prepared. Just how much preparation should be made for 11.8 inches of snow is debatable. The weatherman hadn't said there would be that much snow. We doubt if anyone would have believed him anyway.

But early Wednesday evening the storm started. Just a fine snow that fell silently and then the wind started. By morning, well, that is another story. The few who managed to shovel their cars out and made a brave attempt to get to work, didn't go far.

The heavy, deep snow was whipped into drifts seven and eight feet high by winds up to 35 and 40 miles an hour. Manchester's snow plows were busy cleaning the streets. Of course the village doesn't have the necessary heavy equipment needed for such an emergency. Main Street looked like a ghost town. Allen Schaffer, president of the Schaffer Lumber Co. was called. He took a cool look at the situation and personally took command of the clean-up operation. Some of his heavy equipment lumbered up Main Street and the "big push" was on. Two front end loaders were in town.

Just what do you do with such an accumulation of snow? Manchester is lucky. The River Raisin runs right through the town. What could be more handy? You guessed it. They just pushed the piles of snow into the river. At one time in the clean-up the snow was piled up to the second story windows in front of Mike Wolf's shoe store. There were very few cars around to hamper the progress of the removal operation.

Our publisher and Ron Jenter were out snapping pictures and next week we'll have some in the Enterprise. As far as we were able to find out Thursday was the first time in the history of the post office that there wasn't any mail delivery into town. Friday morning a very small amount of mail was brought in by an Ann Arbor city carrier about ten o'clock. The regular mail truck came in early in the afternoon.

It was a boom day for the school kids. They made the best of the situation and shoveled snow. Many made more than a few cents working during the day.

The School system was closed. In fact all of the schools in Washtenaw County were closed except the University. Wednesday there were 10 teachers home sick, along with 62 high school students and 70 in the grade school. Supt. Swartz said that if any more teachers were taken sick they would have to close the schools because of lack of teaching staff. All ten substitute teachers were working. But Mr. Swartz didn't have to make the decision. The weatherman made it for him.

Before we forget it, the sauer kraut supper originally planned for Thursday night at Emanuel Church Hall has been postponed to next Thursday, March 4.

Double A Products Co. closed for the day on Thursday but Friday about 150, or about half of the employees managed to get in to work. Eugene Walter rode in on his tractor. It was the only way to travel safely on his road.

Did you ever know it to fail. Just when everything seems to be tied up the fire department gets a call. Out at the George Boomer farm at 11770 Burneister Road, the chimney caught afire and the volunteer department raced out the three miles. Anyway it seemed to them that they were racing. Doug Schaffer drove the "Euclid" ahead of the department to clear the country road. The trip took 45 minutes. The Boomers had managed to put out the fire before the department arrived.

Village president, Gene Bentschneider said he was very glad that the area in front of the village hall (where the fire-fighting equipment is kept) was cleared and ready for the emergency. Snow had been hauled away from the post office, business district and fire hall shortly after noon Thursday.

Village crews had all streets in town cleaned by Friday noon/ They had to work into the night Thursday to accomplish it. Snow piled high in front of driveways can't be helped.

Walt Lewis, Supt. of the Washtenaw County Road Commission, said Friday that 90 percent of the paved roads are open. Four plows, three on tractors were assigned to George Goodell, foreman in charge of the Manchester area. The two front end loaders from Schaffer Lumber Co. were also used. This equipment was necessary to dig through drifts more than eight feet high on the Scio Church Road. This, according to Lewis, was the hardest road to clear.

Three of the plows were stuck in drifts over night. The county had 56 pieces of snow removal equipment on the road plus the foreman's pick-ups. Crews worked all night Thursday and expect to have to work all night Friday. Lewis said he expected to have the secondary roads opened by Saturday and that he is staggering his work crews to keep the equipment on the move.

Two trucks managed to get in to the IGA from Jackson Thursday. Jay Lantis, store owner said that although business was good he decided to close at 6:30 p. m. because of the road condition. He lives out on West Austin and said one drift near Heimerdinger corner was 7 foot high and 30 feet across. Some drift!

Willard Mann, at the E. G. Mann Mill, noted that in his 25 years at the mill—Thursday was the only day that not a single bag of grain was brought in!

There was a real struggle to keep the roads in the area open for the snow kept blowing and drifting. Traffic was at a snail's pace. Even the "Law" couldn't move. The police car was at a stand still in front of Tibb's Chevrolet until they brought out some chains for the tires!

Stores in Ann Arbor and Arboland were closed. Radio reporters announced that J. L. Hudson and Montgomery Ward Stores were closed. The Detroit News didn't publish. Neither did the Manchester Enterprise. Pressman, Harry Macomber and your gal Friday couldn't get in to work.

This was the first time in the history of the Willow Run airport that it closed.
