

A & B MARKET ANNOUNCES 2ND ANNUAL IGA BOYS CONTEST

The local A & B market will again take part in a second gigantic annual "IGA Boys Contest". The announcement was made by Jay Lantis, local store owner. The contest will get underway Monday, April 19 and end Saturday June 12th.

Over 800 boys, age 10 to 14 years, will win a fabulous five-day trip to Southern California. Each IGA store is sponsoring a number of boys who will win this once-in-a-lifetime trip. Winning boys leave for California on Monday June 21st, 1965 and return Friday, June 25. Complete details and contest rules are available at all participating IGA Stores.

Over 900 boys and their sponsors will travel on ten chartered United Airlines planes, plus other special commercial flights, to Long Beach, California, where the fabulous Hotel Lafayette will be headquarters for the 5-day trip. Truly a paradise for young and old alike. Twenty-five chartered buses will take the winners to such places as Disneyland, where a complete day will be spent visiting the fabulous sights of this truly dream world.

Other highlights of the trip include swimming in the Pacific Ocean boat cruises around Long Beach and Los Angeles Harbor, attending major league baseball games, watching such teams as the Los Angeles Dodgers, Los Angeles Angels, San Francisco Giants and others. A trip like this would not be complete without side trips to famous Marineland of the Pacific and world famous Knott's Berry Farm.

All in all, Mr. Lantis, points out, this will be a trip that the winning boys will remember of years to come. He asks that boys and their parents stop in and get the complete details which are available at most IGA stores.

KODA'S KORNER

Let us begin the task, for we cannot wait much longer. At this moment the need of this community is to be able to deal wisely with the ever changing times. As members of a community we must face the questions which arise and we must find the answers... and brother, let us find them fast.

Shall we support the needs of our town such as roads, sewers, parking, housing, etc. Reforms are taking place steadily.

We are in no position to wait as our forefathers did, and let the chips fall where they may. The main difference between the present and fifty years ago is SPEED. Problems must be met and the speed and accuracy with which we face these growing problems will determine what lies ahead for our community.

The answers to our problems just won't wait. The problems cannot be pushed into a corner.

Procastination only makes problems grow more severe. The only logical tool available to people in our community who seek to deal with these problems is knowledge; and the only way for this knowledge to be disseminated is in the pages of the Enterprise..... We accept the challenge of this new opportunity.

Let us pass on a kind warning to individuals and organizations who frequently in the past have perfected their own relations with the press and gave only the information that was favorable to them. Under such conditions complete and accurate reporting of much of the news is virtually impossible. There must be a conscious effort on the part of everyone so that we can present information in a palatable and complete form if people who must make decisions are to benefit from these reports.

The accuracy of our decisions in dealing with present day problems cannot be over emphasized. If we fail to deal wisely our town will slowly deteriorate and the first thing we will know somebody else will step in and "solve our problems" for us.

George M. Koda

IN OUR OPINION

As of "press time," we have received for publication a financial report from the Village Council. We were of the opinion that it did not give a clear and correct picture of all the village funds, disbursements, receipts, salaries, etc.

We are of the firm belief that everyone is not a CPA, auditor, or a mathematical genius, but we would still like to see what has happened to our tax dollar.

We are hoping that in our next issue we can offer for your approval, a financial report that will answer everyone's questions.

NOTES FROM THE COUNCIL HALL

Organization of a planning commission--the first in the nearly 100 year history of the village--got underway Monday at Council meeting with the appointment of nine men to the planning body.

Named from the village at large by Village President Eugene Bentschneider were: Fred Leeman, Leonard V. Kirk, Allen Schaffer, Millard Uphaus, Edward Galloway and Douglas Higgins.

Representing village council on the commission are: Donald Dorff, Village Attorney Stanton Roesch and President Bentschneider.

Terms of office will be staggered from one to three years, but individual terms were not specified at the regular village council meeting.

In other business the council referred the request of Donald K. Sutton for variance in the rezoning of his Duncan Street property to enable erection of an apartment building on the property.

Richard Knoouse in a communication to council asked that they table for another two weeks his request for variance in zoning property on Sunset Drive.

Village attorney Stanton Roesch told council that final negotiations would be completed for the New York Central Railroad property on Wednesday.

Because of the Athletic Booster Banquet Monday, May 3 the council will meet at 7 p. m. Tuesday, May 4.

VILLAGE BUYS RAILROAD PROPERTY

Wednesday morning the village of Manchester completed transactions for New York Central Railroad property. Negotiations for the land was started before Christmas.

A check for $7,500 signed by village president, Eugene Bentschneider and village clerk, Lyle Widmayer, was turned over to a representative of the New York Central in the office of village attorney Stanton Roesch.

The property, known as the Ypsilanti-Hillsdale Branch of the New York Central extends from the east village limits to the west limits on the north side of the town, president Bentschneider said. Most of the stretch is about 66 ft. wide with the exception of a very few areas where it varies to possibly twice that width, the village spokesman said.

He was referring to the land on which the depot had been at one time. At this point near the Bus Coal Company the village would have an excellent approach to their water "stand-pipe" on Ann Arbor Street.

Bentschneider said the newly acquired village property would begin at the tracks north of Duncan street at the village limits.

He noted that the Donald Stockwell residence (formerly Joe Seckinger residence) is the last house in the village on that street. Directly north of that property would be the village limits of the railroad property.

At the village limits at the west the line would be directly north between the Charles Knopp residence in the village and the Brokaw residence (formerly Frank Merithew residence) just outside the village.

Village officials say that this property gives the village the only access it has to the Raisin River. This would be at the Main Street railroad bridge. It also gives the village a right of way for water and sewers without tearing up the streets.

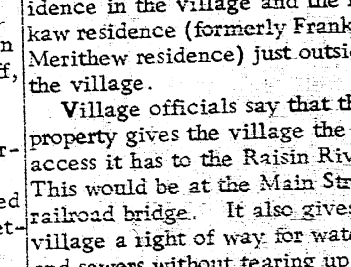

This may become very beneficial to the community when another well for water supply becomes a reality.

ATHLETIC BANQUET SLATED MAY 3RD.

At 7:00 p. m. May 3 the Athletic Banquet will be held at the Civic Auditorium and will be sponsored by the Optimist Club and Manchester Athletic Boosters Club.

Tony Mason, assistant football coach at the University of Michigan Previous to joining the U of M in 1964 Mason compiled a 10 year record of 87 wins, 9 losses and 7 ties while at Niles McKinley High School.

R. C. Sortor, local band director received call from the Shipshewana High School Band director Thursday afternoon.

Shipshewana was in the path of Palm Sunday's tornado.

Thursday the Indiana School officials decided to cancel the Shipshewana School Band's Bus trip to Manchester.

MAIN STREET

We've been asked what happened to Main Street. The Enterprise has had so much news lately that there just wasn't room. Seems there have been many problems. The other day while walking through some of the area that was in the path of the tornado we wondered just how important these problems really are.

Our town was reported to be in the path of that destruction. But we were spared. A line fence--just how far a building should be placed from the edge of a property line suddenly seemed unimportant. When whole towns are leveled in the twinkling of an eye, it is food for thought. We can see how insignificant we are.

Driving along near Onsted enroute to see friends in the disaster area we noticed a large kitchen sink with one end embedded in the earth, next to the road. You couldn't help but wonder how far it had been hurled before it landed by the road. There were no signs of remains of houses nearby.

One thing we mentioned later was, that the people we talked to seemed to minimize their own loss and never failed to mention a friend who fared much worse.

Did you ever see a hill of registered, holstein cows? That is what it looked like--a black and white hill! Twenty cows in a pile. The farmer said he had lost more but it was too dangerous to go farther into the barn to remove them. He predicted more would die. The big barn was blown against the one standing silo. The other two silos were down. It looked as if the whole thing would collapse if anyone moved a board. The farmer was hopeful that the tankage truck would arrive the next day. He wasn't sure. Adrian tankage couldn't take anymore animals and they were being hauled directly to Chicago.

Most of the big farm house roof was gone and it was some four inches off its foundation. But it was a whole lot better than no home at all--even if there couldn't be a fire in the furnace because the chimney was gone. Members of the family said the house had seemed to lift off the foundation, sway around and then settle down. The occupants were knocked against the walls and onto the floor.

Down the road a huge tree fell into the side of the living room where new walnut paneling bowed out into the room. The carpeting had pulled away from the wall and looked like waves on the bent new flooring. Heavy mud covered the bathroom walls and you wondered where anyone would begin to clean up such a mess.

We were told that the farmer down the road wouldn't have to worry about cleanup. Everything was swept away; house, barns and furnishings. Where was everything? God only knows. It was probably scattered over many miles. All of a sudden the clean up at the farm we visited didn't seem so great.

Everyone wanted to help his neighbor-in this the third largest tornado series the United States has ever known. It came pretty close to home.

Do you suppose we should get down on our knees and thank God for what we have and at the same time ask for guidance and help for those whose thankless job it is to keep in operation the forces that control our town?

In spite of lack of space for many things in this week's paper there must be room to congratulate Tom RJordan, our very good friend at the Tecumseh Herald for his magnificent coverage of the disaster in the Tecumseh area. Praise is in order to all on that staff for a job well done.

Former postmaster George Merriman celebrated his 69th birthday April 16th. He noted that the temperature on April 16, 1896 was the hottest recorded April 16th in the history of the weather bureau--when the mercury climbed to 90 degrees.

withheld, tell us so. All you have to do is sign your name and write please, withhold my name. We have to follow your instruction to the letter. This is the policy of every newspaper in the country.

Since this council controversy has been going on, many people have called and stopped in at the office. But we hadn't heard a single word from the city fathers—not until this week. They had given us to believe that no one reads the council notes any way.

They frown on people who try to tell them how to run their paper. They give news—not suppress it. For those who might be interested, a news story can carry a tag line from a town and the article not concern that town at all. Does this information help you? We hope so!

SCHOLARSHIP FUND DRIVE

The Manchester "Dollars For Scholars" Foundation is having a concentrated drive during April to raise funds for their scholarship fund. This money is used for scholarship loans, according to Mrs. William Purfield, president of this non-profit, non-salaried, do-it-yourself organization.

The Citizens' Scholarship Foundation was formed here in January of 1963 by the local Business and Professional Women's Club to help any student in the upper half of his class to continue his education.

Several hundred dollar memberships have been sold here. For these the foundation gives a certificate and the donor can have this amount as a memorial in their own, or in the name of another.

In its short time of existence seven students have been given assistance, including four for $500 and two for $300. The Foundation hopes that in a few years enough reserve will be built up so they won't have to have drives for funds.

The Business and Professional Women's Club donates all the proceeds from their Spring Fashion Show to the Scholarship Fund "Dollars For Scholars."

The student who applies for this money receives it on a point system—the same as other scholarships. The ones with the highest number of points receive the first chance to receive the amount of request—up to $500. They may reapply for as long as four years if they are on a four year college course.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY Joan M. Worden Director PINE CLEANER INFORMATION CENTER

How's your housekeeping IQ? Gallup interviewers took a survey recently of women across the country to find the answers to these questions:

- Q.1. Do you think a household cleaner should also act as a disinfectant, as a deodorant, or both? Q.2. Have you, yourself, changed from a non-pine oil type of general household cleaner or disinfectant to a pine oil brand within the last year or two, or not? Q.3. In buying a general household cleaner or disinfectant, how important to you is it that it contains pine oil? Q.4. Why do you feel that way? Q.5. Do you use disinfectants in your home, or not? Q.6. For what purpose do you use them? Are there any other uses you have found for a disinfectant?

Now how do your answers match up with those of the women in the survey? Here's what they had to say:

- A.1. Three out of four women today think that a household cleaner should also act both as a disinfectant and as a deodorant. In addition, about one woman in six thinks a household cleaner should also act as a disinfectant. A.2. One out of every ten women say they have changed from non-pine oil type of general household cleaner or disinfectant to a pine oil brand within the last year or two. A.3. One out of seven women say that it is "very important" to them that it contains pine oil. A.4. Pine oil gives a cleaner than clean smell, it improves the cleaning power of a cleaner, it kills germs, it makes a cleaner a disinfectant also, and "I like pine oil." A.5. 83% use disinfectants in their homes. A.6. The principal purpose for which a disinfectant is used in the home is to clean the bathroom; the next most widely-mentioned use is to kill germs.

Terry Todd. Mrs. James Willough, county project chairman, assisted by Mrs. James Alder are in charge of the style program/

A showing of the professionally made Morgan Horse film and a discussion of Horses' Gaits by Dr. Ralph Morrow, Michigan State University round out the evening's festivities.

People who buy other big expensive-looking cars get one thing you won't (big expensive-looking payments)

It looks like a big car. And is—by almost any standard you want to apply. It's built? Nobody builds a car as much as one this year. Also made it more stable by widening the wheel stance. Price? That's where Chevrolet's fall way short of the other big expensive-looking cars. But we wouldn't have it any other way. Would you? One last question: How soon can you make a good spring buy on a Chevrolet? One last answer: Just as soon as you can get down to your Chevrolet dealer's.

Dr. Laun, now on furlough in this country, is director of, and surgeon for the 110 bed Evangelical Hospital in Khariar, Orissa. In addition to his duties at the hospital he supervises clinics in nearby villages and participates in a school-building program.
Founded in 1923, Evangelical Hospital serves approximately 1400 in-patients and 1,900 out-patients a year. An additional 7,000 patients are treated in the hospital's dispensary.
Khariar is an important lumber and rice center in Central India and has a population of approximately 5,000.
Dr. Laun and Mrs. Laun, who is also a medical missionary, went to India in 1959 as missionaries for the Board of International Missions of the Evangelical and Reformed Church which united with Congregational Christian Churches to form the United Church of Christ. The Launs served briefly at the Evangelical Mission Hospital in Tilda, India, before going to Khariar.

Mrs. Laun is a laboratory technician and specializes in obstetrics. She also supervises a boys and girls hostel and since 1962 has been in charge of the care of orphans until adopted by Christian families.
Dr. Laun had previously served as a doctor at the Basel Mission Hospital in Agogo, Ashanti, Ghana; and also as surgeon at hospitals in Coventry and Lancaster, England.
The United Church Board for World Ministries under which the Launs serve is the overseas agency of the United Church of Christ. The Board's overseas staff includes more than 500 missionaries—teachers, doctors, nurses, social workers and evangelists. Gus and Sue (Higgins) Kuetner serve on the staff and currently are in Honduras, Central America. OPEN HOUSE SLATED AT STATE HOSPITAL
In observance of National Mental Health Week, Ypsilanti State Hospital has scheduled an Open House for Sunday, May 2nd from 1:00 to 5:00 p. m.
The theme for this year's observance is "Activity, Treatment and Morale". This is the fourth year of a five-year plan to show the institution in segment. The committee in charge of the program is made up of representatives of the Patient Council Congress, Volunteer Service Council and the hospital staff.
Auditorium programs are scheduled for 1:00 p. m. and 3:00 p. m. A slide program will show various activities and areas which will later in the day be open for unguided tours.
Featured in the activities will be the Ward Councils and the Patient Council Congress; how they function and some of their activities; the patient newspaper, "The Ypsi-Times Dispatch"; and selected slides of programs in adolescents, geriatrics and rehabilitation will be shown. Programs of Occupational Therapy and recreational Therapy will be a part of the slide program. Music in the auditorium will be furnished by the St. Thomas High of Ann Arbor, under the direction of Mr. Morris Lawrence.
One of the purposes of this year's program will be to emphasize the potential that there is for additional volunteer programming. Selected wards will have volunteer activities. Only regularly scheduled ward staff will be on duty. York Woods Center will have its own program and open its facilities to the public after each auditorium program. Mr. Worley and Mr. Rice of the York Woods staff are in charge of their program.
It is hoped that many persons will attend the program and see the transitional changes in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lehman formerly lived on Lehman Road in Lima Township where they were engaged in farming. The couple moved to Chelsea in 1962. Mr. Lehman was a member of St. Paul's Church of Christ in Chelsea.

By Mary Whitman
Gold coins are the most beautiful and respected legacy of our monetary past.

Although gold has not circulated as money in the United States since 1933, it continues to serve as the yardstick of monetary values. Gold processed by the U.S. Treasury in the form of bullion is held as a reserve to back up our token or representative money.

Coinage of gold was authorized by this country in 1849 and a total of seven denominations were minted over the next 34 years, says Ken Bressett, numismatic editor at Whitman Publishing Co., Racine, Wis.

These included gold dollars; quarter eagles ($2.50); $3 and $4 coins; half eagles ($5); eagles ($10); and double eagles ($20).

A gold surrender order was issued after price of the metal rose to such a point that it exceeded face value of the coin. Price of gold was then fixed at $35 an ounce, where it has remained ever since.

"As a result, all of our gold coins have three separate values," notes Bressett. "First, the face value, which you would receive if you turned the coin in to a bank; second, the intrinsic gold value, based on 35 an ounce; and third, the numismatic value, which is generally higher than the former two."

While it's technically illegal to own gold coins, collectors are entitled to possess numismatically important pieces. And the government encourages you to sell them at numismatic value, rather than turning them in to banks. Any gold pieces received by banks must be melted down, which can needlessly destroy coins of great value to collectors.

"Gold coins are generally available through coin dealers and do make an outstanding collection," says Bressett, whose firm is the nation's leading manufacturer of coin collecting supplies.

"But premium value is usually not much higher than face value, because of relatively low demand."
A collection of gold coins is more to be prized for its beauty and historical value than its investment potential, he concludes.

Ten Reasons for Measles Immunization

Of the 20 million children who have never had measles, take any ten — and you've got ten good reasons for measles immunization. The illustration above suggests statistically what will happen if a vaccine isn't used. Sooner or later, almost everyone gets measles. And each one who does, according to the U.S. Public Health Service, runs a 1-in-1,000 chance of getting measles encephalitis, or inflammation of the brain.

One of every ten measles encephalitis victims dies. A higher percentage suffer permanent brain injury, with mental retardation and sight, hearing, and behavioral problems.

There are other measles complications, including pneumonia, but danger of encephalitis alone makes physicians wonder why parents subject their children to such a risk.

At a recent national conference of the United Cerebral Palsy Associations in Los Angeles, John M. Adams, M.D., professor of pediatrics at the University of California Medical School, said: "I don't understand this indifference to measles. You wouldn't take that kind of risk in an airplane. And I doubt if you would drive on the freeways with those odds."
Luther L. Terry, M.D., surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service, has pointed out that last year nearly 500 American children died from measles. Measles causes more deaths annually than any other infectious disease of childhood.

Noting that safe measles vaccines are now available, Dr. Terry said: "I urge all parents of children who have not had measles to see their physicians or health departments about measles vaccination without delay. Let's immunize the children of America against their enemy, measles."

In Michigan, after golf beer's the one... for good taste, good fun

After a hard-played 18 holes, it's good to settle down on a soft chair in the club house and add up the score with friends. What better time for the drink that scores with almost every golfer—cool, thirst-quenching beer? Yes, beer's great to relax with, great for refreshment, great for taste. So whatever your sport—boating or baseball—swimming or tennis—relax afterwards with the zestful taste of beer.

KODA'S KORNER

Who has the right to know? Well my friends, we as a free press, and you as tax payers, as voters, as citizens of the community of Manchester have that right. To begin with we as a newspaper play an integral part in the democratic process. These rights are so important... so vital... that they are guaranteed in the Constitution of the United States and in our Michigan Constitution. Cornerstone of this right to know is the community newspaper.

IN OUR OPINION

Thomas Jefferson was wise enough to recognize the knowledge of what a free press could do for government, but why does council put itself above this type of thinking? George M. Koda

LETTERS TO THE PUBLISHER

Sharon Farms Manchester, Mich. April 27, 1965

Mr. George Koda Publisher The Manchester Enterprise Manchester, Michigan

Dear Mr. Koda:

I have read with great interest your most informative articles of the last few weeks. In particular, "Koda's Korner" in the issue of April 22nd is so apropos. Your words, "The need of this community is to be able to deal wisely with the ever changing times" hits the nail on the head. We are not residents of the Village of Manchester but we do consider ourselves members of the community of Manchester. As the Village of Manchester goes, so goes the community of Manchester. We have an interest and a stake in Manchester's future. Congratulations on a fine job of reporting. Very sincerely, Robert T. Ross

TONY MASON GUEST SPEAKER

Tony Mason line coach with University of Michigan will be the guest speaker at the Athletic Banquet on May 3rd. His experiences in athletics have a ten year span, starting with high school and a successful season at U. of M. which included Big Ten Championship of 1964, and Rose Bowl Champ of 1965.

Tony head coaching career at Niles McKinley High School, Niles Ohio could go on record as being phenomenal. Records like 47 wins 3 losses, 6 ties. Four straight undefeated seasons 47 games straight games without a defeat. Probably 1961 was the greatest for Tony when they voted him 'Coach of the Year' in Ohio that year his team also was voted second best team in the nation. With credentials like this we salute Manchester Athletic Booster and Optimist Clubs in bringing such a noted speaker on sports to Manchester. We have no idea what Tony is going to talk about, but from all reports it will interest parents and sport fans alike. Those wishing tickets for the Banquet contact Wendell Reinhart.

SCHOOL BOARD OUTLINE BUILDING PROGRAM

About 100 people were in attendance Monday evening and heard the Board of Education and school officials outline the proposed building program. Luther Klager, Board President, welcomed the patrons and spoke briefly on the obligations and responsibilities of School Board members. "Safety and an adequate education is due each child and this is the prime concern of each member of the Board," Mr. Klager said. He went on to say that now is the time for expansion and improvements to the present system, and to this end the Citizens' Committee and Board of Education have been working.

Robert Swartz, school superintendent, spoke on the historical background of the present high school. He pointed out that the present plans for additional facilities were considered in 1954 and incorporated into the building plans. Mr. Swartz cited the changing needs of education and how the proposed additions would accommodate the more flexible programs of the future. He strongly emphasized the importance of adequately preparing Manchester students in order that they could compete favorably in all areas with youth educated in districts where the expenditure per pupil is greater than it is here.

MAIN STREET

Now that we have had a chance to think things over and compile the facts we're ready to write Main Street. As everyone knows by now, this village has a brand new Planning Commission. We had been promised by the village president that we'd be told when the organizational meeting was to be held. But something happened and the meeting was called Monday without us. That alone was quite a blow. When we arrived at work we found that the boss had been at a part of the meeting. He strolled in by chance. "You know," the boss finally said, "I was somewhat shocked when one of the planning commission members told the group that he had no idea how Manchester was selected by the Hoover Ball Bearing Plant for its new site. And from our boss we got the idea that to this remark the other members must have mumbled a silent "Amen". The boss continued, "I am beginning to wonder just how well we covered the stories on the Hoover Ball Bearing Plant? Weren't the stories clear—or what?" Now, you and I know that the boss was directing his remarks at us—because those stories were ours. If they were not clear enough for a member or all the members of the planning commission to know who was instrumental in bringing in Hoover Ball, we'd in all probability be going down Main Street carrying our head under our arms. We didn't say one word back to the boss. We didn't defend ourselves in anyway. But we started to dig. Honestly folks, it seems as if we are always "digging through the files" for something. But we humbly offer to the boss and to the new planning commission the following: Checking back on September 17, 1964, Manchester Enterprise, we find this, and we quote: "MANCHESTER WELCOMES IN NEW INDUSTRY"—that was the head for the lead story which continues, and we quote: "Only words of praise go out to James C. Hendley, who, with a great deal of team work went into Township, Village Optimists, and Jaycees and top area people who helped to make Hoover Ball Bearing eventually select Manchester etc. Then on September 24, 1964—"Manchester Enterprise"—under a picture captioned "Expanding Manchester" are these outlines— and we quote: "J. C. Hendley, left, local attorney, handed a silver plated shovel to Frank Brittain, Hoover Ball & Bearing Co. vice president, second from left, for the ground breaking cont'd. on page three
