CLERK ERRORS IN COUNCIL NOTES

Correction to last week's notes from council proceedings: President Bentschneider's appointment to the Manchester Planning Commission should have read-- Allen Schaffer, Fred Leeman, Millard Uphaus, Edward Galloway, L. V. Kirk and Douglas Higgins, not Douglas Schaffer. The report from village hall to the Enterprise was incorrect. Lyle Widmayer, Clerk

KODA'S KORNER

We always wonder what makes the business of politics so touchy, especially in a small town. Any issues raised start people to thinking you have a personal axe to grind, or that the publisher is working toward some ulterior motive, this is not true. We have only stood for our rights as any decent newspaper would have done. We have heard many comments, such as "Shake them up, they need it." or "When you get through there you can start on the", etc. Lets shake them all up, but give credit where credit is due. It has been ten years or more since any council has published a financial statement. A financial statement can be examined on page 3, and it is through the efforts of the council, after many long hours, and an audit that a complete financial statement can be printed. Hats off to our village council for their diligent work on this project.

We cannot speak for everyone, but we feel this is certainly a step in the right direction, for upon looking over the report the public will know how their tax dollars are being used. More negotiations are on the way to find a solution to the printing of the disbursements with the council proceedings, we hope in the near future to be able to answer this also. There are a few who say we have been approaching this problem in a off-beat manner but who can dispute the great amount of interest that has been generated, and made the Village Council just as IMPORTANT as a teenage driver and his license.

MAIN STREET

Where are you Hiram? That is the question that a number of people in Manchester are asking. Another one is, "Who is Hiram?" We too are wondering. We know who he is--and where he is but our big question is, "Where is that letter that he promised loud and clear to write to the Enterprise?" Hiram, we are anxious to hear from you. But at almost press time there was no more communication from our friend.

If you have decided that you don't want the space in the paper--which will be given to you (free of charge) why don't you tell us! We do wish that people would not confuse the issue that the news paper has with council. Our problem is this--we want the council to print the disbursements in the paper along with the council notes. That is the fault we are finding with council.

Some of you tell us you were glad to find them back in the Enterprise last week. Well, folks, they appeared because the Enterprise staff went to council to get them. They were not printed because they came from the council. The council notes which were given to the Enterprise are in this week's paper. They appear a week late as usual. It hasn't been the custom of council in the last months to give out the council notes the same week as the council meeting. Most of you are well aware of this because the Enterprise has been accused of holding them back. This isn't true. We print them when we receive them. That is all we can do.

We want to make this clear to our readers. We have no power to hire or fire anyone on the village payroll. We don't know who they hire or fire until someone calls our attention to this. We are sure that a check with the village council will confirm this. Some one told us that they were sure the Enterprise was responsible for this type of action. Nothing could be further from the truth. Something which council probably knows by now is that the people of this community read their weekly paper. We want to take this time to thank every one of you for your loyal support--it would be impossible to write you all notes of thanks but we are glad that you approve of what we are doing.

There are so many things to do at this time of year and so little time to do them that we don't wonder that sometimes we forget. Something funny happened Monday night. The school board was meeting and called a short recess when the fire whistle blew while they raced outside to take a look around. The automatic lock was on and as the last member went out he pulled the door shut. Lucky someone had a key!

Also on Monday the Optimists voted to give their profits from the Athletic Booster's banquet to the Booster Club. Trust our George, he went off to the club meeting with out his camera and told us later the best picture of the evening went unnoticed. It seems that Ron Jenter was preoccupied and went to set down a salt shaker--without looking. He placed it carefully--in a glass of water. The publisher said he really ought to thank the friends who managed to see that he had a way from place to place Monday night, without walking. He was without a car, or even a bicycle for transportation. His wife had the car at the BPW meeting and his daughter had the bicycle.

* LETTERS TO THE PUBLISHER

Dear George: With great interest I have been following your attempt in recent issues of the Enterprise to stimulate the economic growth of our fair village. I admire your courage in tackling such a task but am sorry to tell you that you are off on the wrong foot. To criticize the actions of a more or less passive government, for no members were actively campaigning in seeking the posts to which they are elected, to write angry words about existing organizations and to offer only destructive criticism, will not bring about any great revolution in the economic growth in our community. This type of sentimental slush might arouse a nostalgic populace, but the only results will be that one fine day a group of fanatic enthusiasts will spend the entire day tearing sheets into long strips only to have an equal number of depressed conservatives spend the entire following day sewing these same strips back together again. Alas, "something" has been done.

No, George, in order to have economic growth, two basic conditions must first come into existence. I do not believe that either of these conditions exist in our community, today and is the main reason for our stagnancy. The first of these conditions is that there

PLANNING COMMISSION GETS UNDERWAY

The first Planning Commission in the history of Manchester held its regular meeting Monday May 10 at the village hall, with all members present. Guest were Donald Limpert, George Hurrell, director of the Jackson County Planning Commission and Robert Carpenter Washtenaw County Planning Commission. Mr. Hurrell explained there are no known short cuts to planning such as package deals. Every community is different in their aims, need and wants. To begin with, there must be participation from cross section of the community, such as businessmen, professional people, school and most of all - the people of the community.

Federal grants, such as a 701 grant, are available. The government will pay 2/3rds and the village will pay the remaining third. Surveying and an estimation of what is needed for a community such as Manchester, will be under the supervision of the Federal Commission.

Mr. Carpenter went on further to explain some of the action taken in the eastern part of Washtenaw County, and made some suggestions: have a good planning organization. Look at the standing resources in Man-

ADVANCES IN EDUCATION

A computerized typewriter has been credited with radically improving the communication skills of children suffering from autism, a severe form of childhood schizophrenia. And it may become a useful tool in the public schools' reading program.

The machine, developed at the Thomas A. Edison Laboratory West Orange, N. J., consists of a computer the size of a spinet piano with a typewriter keyboard in front. It has a speaker and a frame above the typewriter for printed matter.

As the child presses one of the standard typewriter keys, the character is printed in large type. At the same time, a soft voice automatically identifies it through the speaker.

When a letter is selected by a recorded voice, all the remaining keys are locked. The machine waits indefinitely until the child hits the right key; then the computer automatically calls for the next one. The leaders lead to words and words to sentences. Sentences lead to stories.

Dr. Campbell Goodwin, who has used the machine with a number of children at Imogene Bassett Hospital, Cooperstown, N. Y., says that the withdrawn, schizoid child is unable to communicate satisfactorily with other human beings and that the "talking" typewriter offers no disturbing challenge or threat.

In his experience, Dr. Goodwin found that once the children were able to communicate with the machine, something seemed to unlock in their minds, apparently enabling them to carry out further normal mental activities that included them earlier. One nine-year-old, who could only make infantile sounds when he began punching out gibberish on the machine last April, can now read sentences. He had been considered a virtually hopeless case.

POPPY DAY FUNDS AND NEEDY CHILDREN

Contributions received by the American Legion Auxiliary volunteers who distribute memorial poppies here on Poppy Day, May 21 and 22 will go into the Auxiliary Rehabilitation and Child Welfare funds, says Mrs. Harold Alexander, Poppy Chairman of Emil Jacob Post, Unit of the Auxiliary.

Yearly these funds are the principal source of support for the work of the Auxiliary Unit for disabled war veterans and needy children of veterans. Most of the money remains in the treasury of the local unit and is spent here.

"We are hoping for generous contributions on Poppy Day, because we have constant need for funds in the Auxiliary's work for veterans and now that they are getting old they require special help. Children found in need must have emergency aid until permanent support can be provided for them. The poppy funds, administered by experienced volunteers, go far to solve the problems we are constantly encountering. I do not know what we would do without them," Mrs. Alexander concluded.

MAY 20 IS FINAL DATE FOR WHEAT CERTIFICATION

May 20 is the final date for wheat certification. Carolyn Stamp, Office Manager of the Washtenaw ASC Office reminds producers that this is the final date to certify for the 1965 Wheat Diversion Program. Producers who do not certify by the above date will be ineligible for program payments.

The county office will remain open the extra hours on May 19 from 9 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. and Tuesday through Thursday May 18, 19 and 20 until 8:30 p.m.

MEATKEEPING ATTAINS NEW FAHRENHEITS

Don't beef if the meat you put in the refrigerator doesn't keep. Chances are you don't have a good "meating" place. Keeping meats fresh and tasty is a snap today if your kitchen has the right equipment. The zero-degree frozen food compartment of a refrigerator-freezer can preserve meat for months.

Frozen meat keeps best where the temperature is zero or lower. Ice cube compartments are not recommended for keeping meats for long periods.

Many of the new electric refrigerator-freezer models on the market today have "meat keepers" where temperature is maintained at 28-32 degree F. These will hold meats up to seven days without freezing or loss of quality.

Storage times of frozen meats vary considerably. The U. S. Department of Agriculture says beef and chicken may be stored from six to 12 months; lamb and veal six to nine months; pork and turkeys three to six months; sausage and ground meats one to three months and cooked meat one month.

Some meats, such as perishable smoked hams, should not be frozen. These should be stored at refrigerator temperatures until used.

Before freezing ground beef it is a good idea to make individual patties and separate them with waxed or frozen paper so they can be used as needed without thawing out the entire quantity.

SCHOOL NOTES

FROM THE DESK OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

The Manchester High School Varsity Choir left Monday morning for a short concert tour. They will appear before the student bodies of three high schools on the western part of the state. It is, indeed, fortunate that more high schools will not be able to hear this talented group of students. Their work is almost professional in quality and presentation, and the people of the Manchester School District can well be proud of this fine group. As I have stated many times I am most impressed with the fine young people that make up the high school student body. They are among the finest anywhere, and the fourteen students on this tour will acquaint others with this fact. Armed with this lovely talent for singing, great poise, and radiating a genuine friendliness, these young people will bring great credit to the Manchester School District and all who are connected with it.

If we are completely honest with ourselves, however, the school can take very little credit for any honors or distinctions this group brings us. Each youngster brought their gift into the system with them. The voice or musical talent was there, thanks to the parents and the home environment. Also, thanks to those outside the school system who have contributed to this talent over the years.

Among this group you would find the church choir directors, the private teachers, the family and friends who offered encouragement and praise. We don't intend to, and in fact, we cannot deny the musical opportunity the school has afforded through the years. Much can be said for this fine program. We do, however, want to raise a question. What about the child interested in Art? What about the child interested in an enriched Agriculture-Farm Shop Program? What about the physical scientist interested in advanced scientific opportunities? What about the students interested in any number of areas where the school must provide adequate space, proper equipment and excellent instruction? These are items of great concern to educators and interested lay people. We don't mean to detract from our fine Varsity Choir or use them as a soap box from which to preach a program, but some great things can be accomplished with very little. With other things it takes a little more.

CAMPGROUND NEAR HERE TO BE DEDICATED

The new Sugar Leaf Lake campground in the Waterloo Recreation Area near Chelsea will be dedicated at 11 a.m. Monday, May 17 as part of Michigan Week.

Formal dedication of the 500-000 campground will be made by Warren Shapton, Region 111 Manager of the Michigan Department of Conservation, and the Exchange Mayor of Chelsea at Michigan Week, Ross Lower of Sargis.

The dedication ceremonies will be taped by Radio Station WPAG and broadcast from their mobile studio which will be in Chelsea on the afternoon of May 17.

The campground is located on Sugar Leaf Lake off Loveland Road in the Waterloo State Recreation Area deriving its finances by the sale of park motor vehicle permits. It is the most modern of all the State park and recreation area campgrounds.

Construction of the campsite began in the Spring of 1964. The location was in rugged terrain and thousands of yards of soil were removed but the many mees were spared.

A water and sewage system has been installed and all electrical wiring placed underground. All that shows above the ground is the electrical box at each of the 157 campsites.

Toilet, laundry and shower facilities were also constructed. Special septic tank disposal units are also at the campground. A boat launching area and a small natural beach are other amenities in the area. The headquarters for the campground is under construction and will be ready for the public opening on May 24.

FIRE LEVELS MANCHESTER WAREHOUSE

A 30 x 80-foot warehouse at the Manchester Country Market burned to the ground and all contents were destroyed in a fire shortly before 9 p.m. Monday.

Fire Chief James Kensler of the Manchester department said this was the second time firemen had been called to the market within a year.

He said the fire was caused by burning rubbish which blew onto the tarpaper structure. The fire earlier this year involved burning rubbish, he said, which was too close to the building.

Firemen managed to keep the fire from spreading to the market about 20 feet away. There was no damage estimate.

SIX CASES OF HEPTAITIS IN COUNTY

In a report from Dr. Otto K. Engelke, director of the Washtenaw County Health Department there are six cases of infectious hepatitis in the county in the last two months, five of these are in the last two weeks.

In checking a rumored hepatitis epidemic in the Whitmore Lake area Dr. Engelke has checked with all doctors in the area and with school personnel.

Engelke said that although the total cases are higher so far this year than last year for the entire county, the level of cases at this time does not represent an epidemic.

The health department stressed the importance of safe sewage disposal, preferably by means of a public sewer or septic tank system in public standards of personal cleanliness in prevention of hepatitis.

Dr. Engelke said that strict quarantine for people with known cases of hepatitis is not emphasized because many contagious cases of the disease are so mild that they are not seen by a doctor and not diagnosed. Because these sub-clinical or mild cases of hepatitis in the community outnumbered the diagnosed cases it is useless to quarantine or close schools or institutions, he said.

There is no vaccine for the prevention of infectious hepatitis but gamma globulin injections may be recommended by physicians only for family contacts of the persons having hepatitis or curtail an outbreak of the disease.

HIGHER TAX ON BREAD WOULD HIT CONSUMER

The present version of the Administration's farm bill puts both farmers and consumers over a barrel, Armin Haessler, Washtenaw County President announced. "Proposals in this bill, now before Congress, would raise the price of wheat and rice products to the consumer. It masquerades under the banner of shifting more toward an emphasis on the market system, which, in fact it does not."

"Actually, it would be very destructive to the market system," Haessler said. "The new proposal would use a processing tax to raise prices to our consumers. It would use government surpluses to fix ceilings on the market prices received by farmers. It would make farmers dependent on government payment and would permit the Secretary of Agriculture to determine support prices, payment rates, and the percentage of the crop that is to be eligible for payments."

"Consumers are being asked to pay $300 million in higher bread and rice prices in order to continue to make the farmers subject to the whims of the Secretary of Agriculture," Haessler said. "Consumers should not be misled into thinking that this is a new approach to the farm problem. There is need for action to help farmers get better prices in the market place, but it is quite another thing to ask consumers to pay higher food prices to continue a program aimed at keeping producers dependent on government handouts," Haessler said.

At a session of said Court, held at the Courthouse in the City of Ann Arbor, Michigan on the 10th day of May, 1965.

PRESENT: Honorable James R. Breakey, Jr., Circuit Judge

On the 19th day of November, 1964, an action was filed by Colonial Builders And Supply Co., Inc., plaintiff, against Edward F. Randolph and Maybelle P. Randolph, Husband and wife, Defendants, in this court to foreclose a mechanics' lien which was duly filed on the premises described below.

Upon showing by affidavit that personal service could not be made on said Defendants after diligent search and inquiry, It is Hereby Ordered that the Defendants, Edward F. Randolph and Maybelle P. Randolph, shall answer or take such other action as may be permitted by law on or before thirty (30) days from the last publication of this Order, and that this Order be published once each week for four (4) consecutive weeks in the Manchester Enterprise, a newspaper of general circulation in Washtenaw County. Failure to comply with this Order will result in a judgment by default against such Defendants for the relief demanded in the Complaint filed in this court.

must be a common feeling of want. It is simply a fact of human nature that you do not get what you want, and you do not work for what you cannot imagine. No person will work diligently, will go without, in order to save something he does not want. And, furthermore, you cannot goad him into a desire of wanting by ridiculing his weaknesses and criticizing his omissions. This, George, can only be accomplished by the simple formula of sell, sell, sell, and sell again. If you felt that the purpose of the Enterprise is to raise the economic growth of this village, then by all means get together a planning committee and start a sales campaign to convince the village that such a growth is what they want. I have a feeling that, at the present time, the people of this village prefer status to economic development and set more store by traditional privilege and customs. As long as such a feeling exists, economic development is an impossibility.

The second condition which must exist, and this, George, is even harder, is that the people of this village must be willing to risk their saving in any such venture. I say this is harder because there is no clear-cut formula for success.

Our economists can point out to us many pitfalls which must be avoided to escape utter failure, but no where will they certify that certain steps will lead to absolute success. Thus, any venture is clouded with risks and people will have to be sold on accepting such risks. To be sure there is occasionally private enterprise which might be willing to risk their capital, but to base your entire economic growth on waiting for such people is also utter folly.

Only when these two conditions are a reality, George, can you then proceed with any kind of a plan for economic growth. There are many splendid writings by known economists which can guide anyone in a plan for economic growth, and these must be read and digested in order to guide the populace. A good one to start with is "The Rich Nations and the Poor Nations" by Barbara Ward, from which most of the above was taken. If you really feel, George, and heavens know you have a better understanding of the people of this village than I have, that there is a desire for this village to grow, then by all means, let us pursue it to the utmost. Let us get a planning committee of which the members commit themselves to become students in economics. Let us have courses offered in the High School to acquaint us with economic principles. Let us find a group of people dedicated with the desire to help the village grow. But, above all, let us first learn, learn, and then learn again. Let us not be satisfied by hiring an outsider to lead us, but let us be willing to study and learn and be at least able to understand what he is saying. Keep your campaign going on this level and you will find in me an admirer and supporter.

Sincerely, Fritz Schiller

Dear Fritz:

Once in a while we believe it is in the best interest of everyone to answer a letter in the same issue in which it is printed.

After reading your letter five times we felt there is a lot of food for thought and sincerely hope that the planning commission will give it time to digest.

We go along with your thinking in the reasoning. You have put well, the two steps necessary of economic development, but we feel that you missed our point. Before any steps can be taken on selling anything, there must be a line of communication. This line of communication must be used to its greatest advantage.

Here at the Enterprise we feel that it is our duty to let everyone know that this line of communication is open and anyone who tries to suppress this communication is only hurting the community. The days of passing news by word of mouth went out with Paul Revere.

Thanks for the interest you have shown by writing us. As we have said before constructive criticism is a service, not only to us but the community which we serve.

Sincerely, George M. Koda

Seven Steps To Stagnation

- 1. We've never done it that way.
2. We're not ready for that.
3. We're doing it all right without it.
4. We tried that once before.
5. It costs too much.
6. That's not our responsibility.
7. It just won't work.

For your business or for the planning any one of the seven steps are sure.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ANSWERS CALL

The Manchester fire department was called Tuesday to the Verrill Schill residence. Grass caught fire from sparks as old cars which Neil Baggett had brought from Schill were being cut-up. There was no serious damage.

THE SAFETY SENTRY BY JANE DAVIS Director of Consumer Services Sentry Insurance

BBQ Safety

The thought of mouth-watering steaks, hamburgers and chicken over hot coals is enough for any family to roll out the barbecue grill.

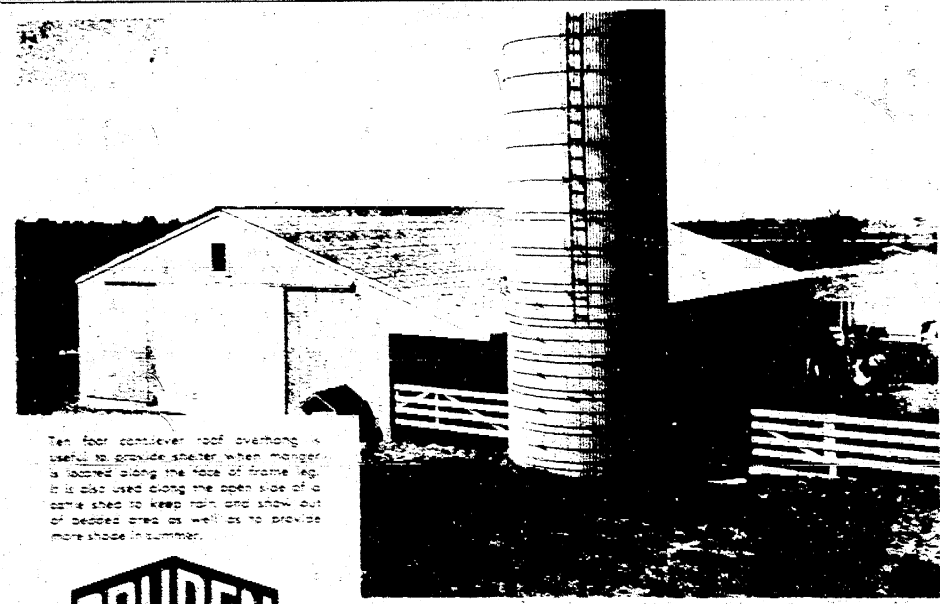

With the flavorful meals these grills prepare, unfortunately, come dangers of burns and gas poisoning. Sentry Insurance suggests these safeguards in using barbecue grills:

- Use the grill in a well ventilated area. Grills meant for outdoor use should never be used inside unless there's a flue, allowing deadly carbon monoxide fumes to escape. Never bring the grill into closed quarters during a rainstorm. Even small hibachi grills, used at cocktail parties, have been known to emit enough carbon monoxide to asphyxiate a roomful of guests.
Never use kerosene, gasoline or lighter fluid to start the fire. The best bet is electrical fire starters which carry the UL safety label.
If you prefer one of the liquid fire starters on the market, add the liquid before—never after—the fire is ignited. Keep the liquid away from children and never allow them to start the fire.
Keep small children and pets away from the barbecuing area. They could burn themselves or push the grill over onto someone else.
Wear clothing with no dangling shirttails or frills that could easily catch fire. The chef should wear a large, fairly heavy apron.
Use proper grill equipment. Heavy gloves and a bottle full of water should be on hand to spray on coals when fat drippings cause flames.

KODA'S KORNER

The council faces a crisis based on the fact that it has to acquaint itself with a community of bewildered, disillusioned and newly awakened citizens. It seems to us fair to say that the business of the town council is to provide its citizens with a dependable and comprehensive picture of the community in which we are living today. The Manchester citizen wants this understanding of the community. He wants it desperately. We do not believe that council is aware of the extent of disappointment and resentment it has created by its failure in this regard.

As matter of fact, it is probable that the citizens' demand for knowledge will be increased if council keeps on giving unrelated and uninterpreted items for the citizens to digest with no regard for the consequences. The trouble spot begins with communications. Problems are present now they should be brought out NOW! How can the citizen render an intelligent opinion when he is enlightened weeks too late - and after council discussed the problems in question and already arrived at a decision.

If it is impossible for council to change its thinking, then the only thing which would justify its continued existence in our society would be to keep on just as we have for the past twenty years... doing business at the same old stand and in the same old way.

We say, let us become sociable... but let us also get at the root of our problems. Don't you agree that the citizens should have a good idea as to what we will be shooting for in the near future.

The "good" people who resent our policy, should not confine their objections to after dinner conversation or to an occasional chat with the neighbor. Write us a letter... We'll welcome it. George M. Koda

ENTERPRISE REPORTS ON VILLAGE COUNCIL

What can be done with streets to repair them after a poor seal coating job? This is a question before the Manchester Council. Richard Van Valkenburg of Ogden Center told council at Monday's meeting "Slurry Seal of Michigan is bankrupt." Van Valkenburg told council that he is now employed with Slurry Seal of Toledo, Ohio. He had previously worked for Slurry Seal Company of Michigan. Also present at the meeting was Vernon Harder of the Toledo firm.

Harder told council that after checking the streets which had been "Slurry Sealed" last fall he did not believe that patching the streets which have many chuk holes is the answer. He would only approve of tearing out the present job and resurfacing it. The original job cost between $16,000 and $17,000, according to Basil McGuire, council chairman of the Public Works Committee. Village attorney, Stanton Roesch, was instructed to contact the New York bonding company before any action can be taken. McGuire said the job was guaranteed for a year.

Gale Koebbe suggested that Bruce Daniels, Supt of Public Works, run a test on the existing well that is a trouble spot, and make sure that the pump is not defective. Council's problems could be lessened if the pump is proved defective.

In other business council was told that the survey stakes along the roadside to Hoover Ball Plant had been plowed up by an area farmer. The total survey job cost about $664.00. Council approved a variance for erecting a house on Sunset Drive by Richard & Mary Knouse with signed letters from property owners involved approved the building. This project has been under consideration since early in the year.

In discussion of the Gamman residence on Clinton being converted into a three apartment building, Mr. Roesch said that it would not be necessary to have the property rezoned as it is already in a C2 area. The exterior of the building will not be changed to any great extent.

Council discussed setting up an assessment district for sewer on Sunset Drive. James Pratt's application for city water and sewer connection was approved by council. Pratt said he had approached village officials over a year ago for their approval to connect to the existing mains. By letter Monday he said he would approve future allegation of council.

Bruce Daniels said every effort is being made to flush hydrants in various areas every Friday to help procure better water facilities. Hearing on the water budget was set for June 7 at 8:00 p.m. Possibilities on a dump site was under discussion and also the possibilities of extending the usefulness of the present dump were considered.

A hearing on the petition of Eugene and Rose Kaupp to adopt a resolution for vacating Buchanan St. has been set for June 21. Council OK'd payment of the following bills but the funds they are taken from are not listed:

DOUBLE A BOOSTS FUND DRIVE-H. H. Upton, Vice President and General Manager exchanges a check for $100 for certificate of membership from Mrs. H. C. Ayres, representing Dollars for Scholars, in the annual fund raising campaign.

PRESIDENT PURCHASES FIRST POPPY-Eugene Bentschneider buys the first poppy here from Miss Poppy, Linda Walter. She is the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Walter and member of the Junior Auxiliary. Bentschneider is village president.

MAIN STREET

The red carpet was out Monday to visiting James Wood, mayor of Marine City, city manager A. J. Westrick and their wives and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Flemming. Due credit goes to the committee Joe Fitzgerald and Ted Roberts.

The visitors went directly to the Roberts home where they were greeted by Lucille and Ted who were joined by the Donald Dorffs in showing the mayor and his party around town.

After a luncheon at Schumms they toured the Chrysler Proving Ground. Returning to Manchester they were off for a tour of the schools and greeted by Supt. Robt Swartz, Cher Kosciak and Luther Klager and treated to cookies and coffee. They stopped off at the Double A, Manchester Plastics, Manchester Tool and Die and Hoover Plants.

After a round of meeting business people of the community they were hustled off to the Joe Fitzgerald home where the ladies were given a chance to freshen up and the men met the council members who were in town at the time. Pat and Joe Fitzgerald were joined by Ica and Allen Schaffer for the round of visiting.

And everyone was whisked off to the Knights of Columbus hall for a steak dinner at 7 p.m. L. V. Kirk, on behalf of the Businessmen presented a transistor radio to the mayor and the Optimists and Jaycees pooled their efforts for a lawn lounge and chair and set of glasses which were presented by the emcee, Ted Roberts. The visiting city manager told Fitzgerald he had attended seven exchange programs but none compared to the one in Manchester.
