must be a common feeling of want. It is simply a fact of human nature that you do not get what you want, and you do not work for what you cannot imagine. No person will work diligently, will go without, in order to save something he does not want. And, furthermore, you cannot goad him into a desire of wanting by ridiculing his weaknesses and criticizing his omissions. This, George, can only be accomplished by the simple formula of sell, sell, sell, and sell again. If you felt that the purpose of the Enterprise is to raise the economic growth of this village, then by all means get together a planning committee and start a sales campaign to convince the village that such a growth is what they want. I have a feeling that, at the present time, the people of this village prefer status to economic development and set more store by traditional privilege and customs. As long as such a feeling exists, economic development is an impossibility.

The second condition which must exist, and this, George, is even harder, is that the people of this village must be willing to risk their saving in any such venture. I say this is harder because there is no clear-cut formula for success.

Our economists can point out to us many pitfalls which must be avoided to escape utter failure, but no where will they certify that certain steps will lead to absolute success. Thus, any venture is clouded with risks and people will have to be sold on accepting such risks. To be sure there is occasionally private enterprise which might be willing to risk their capital, but to base your entire economic growth on waiting for such people is also utter folly.

Only when these two conditions are a reality, George, can you then proceed with any kind of a plan for economic growth. There are many splendid writings by known economists which can guide anyone in a plan for economic growth, and these must be read and digested in order to guide the populace. A good one to start with is "The Rich Nations and the Poor Nations" by Barbara Ward, from which most of the above was taken. If you really feel, George, and heavens know you have a better understanding of the people of this village than I have, that there is a desire for this village to grow, then by all means, let us pursue it to the utmost. Let us get a planning committee of which the members commit themselves to become students in economics. Let us have courses offered in the High School to acquaint us with economic principles. Let us find a group of people dedicated with the desire to help the village grow. But, above all, let us first learn, learn, and then learn again. Let us not be satisfied by hiring an outsider to lead us, but let us be willing to study and learn and be at least able to understand what he is saying. Keep your campaign going on this level and you will find in me an admirer and supporter.

Sincerely, Fritz Schiller

Dear Fritz:

Once in a while we believe it is in the best interest of everyone to answer a letter in the same issue in which it is printed.

After reading your letter five times we felt there is a lot of food for thought and sincerely hope that the planning commission will give it time to digest.

We go along with your thinking in the reasoning. You have put well, the two steps necessary of economic development, but we feel that you missed our point. Before any steps can be taken on selling anything, there must be a line of communication. This line of communication must be used to its greatest advantage.

Here at the Enterprise we feel that it is our duty to let everyone know that this line of communication is open and anyone who tries to suppress this communication is only hurting the community. The days of passing news by word of mouth went out with Paul Revere.

Thanks for the interest you have shown by writing us. As we have said before constructive criticism is a service, not only to us but the community which we serve.

Sincerely, George M. Koda

Seven Steps To Stagnation

- 1. We've never done it that way.
2. We're not ready for that.
3. We're doing it all right without it.
4. We tried that once before.
5. It costs too much.
6. That's not our responsibility.
7. It just won't work.

For your business or for the planning any one of the seven steps are sure.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ANSWERS CALL

The Manchester fire department was called Tuesday to the Verrill Schill residence. Grass caught fire from sparks as old cars which Neil Baggett had brought from Schill were being cut-up. There was no serious damage.

THE SAFETY SENTRY BY JANE DAVIS Director of Consumer Services Sentry Insurance

BBQ Safety

The thought of mouth-watering steaks, hamburgers and chicken over hot coals is enough for any family to roll out the barbecue grill.

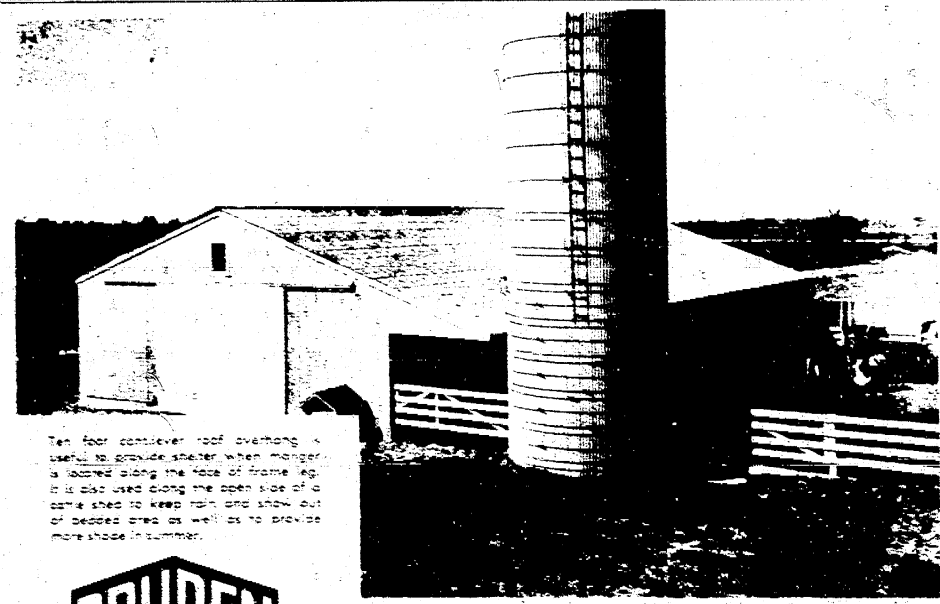

With the flavorful meals these grills prepare, unfortunately, come dangers of burns and gas poisoning. Sentry Insurance suggests these safeguards in using barbecue grills:

- Use the grill in a well ventilated area. Grills meant for outdoor use should never be used inside unless there's a flue, allowing deadly carbon monoxide fumes to escape. Never bring the grill into closed quarters during a rainstorm. Even small hibachi grills, used at cocktail parties, have been known to emit enough carbon monoxide to asphyxiate a roomful of guests.
Never use kerosene, gasoline or lighter fluid to start the fire. The best bet is electrical fire starters which carry the UL safety label.
If you prefer one of the liquid fire starters on the market, add the liquid before—never after—the fire is ignited. Keep the liquid away from children and never allow them to start the fire.
Keep small children and pets away from the barbecuing area. They could burn themselves or push the grill over onto someone else.
Wear clothing with no dangling shirttails or frills that could easily catch fire. The chef should wear a large, fairly heavy apron.
Use proper grill equipment. Heavy gloves and a bottle full of water should be on hand to spray on coals when fat drippings cause flames.

KODA'S KORNER

The council faces a crisis based on the fact that it has to acquaint itself with a community of bewildered, disillusioned and newly awakened citizens. It seems to us fair to say that the business of the town council is to provide its citizens with a dependable and comprehensive picture of the community in which we are living today. The Manchester citizen wants this understanding of the community. He wants it desperately. We do not believe that council is aware of the extent of disappointment and resentment it has created by its failure in this regard.

As matter of fact, it is probable that the citizens' demand for knowledge will be increased if council keeps on giving unrelated and uninterpreted items for the citizens to digest with no regard for the consequences. The trouble spot begins with communications. Problems are present now they should be brought out NOW! How can the citizen render an intelligent opinion when he is enlightened weeks too late-- and after council discussed the problems in question and already arrived at a decision.

If it is impossible for council to change its thinking, then the only thing which would justify its continued existence in our society would be to keep on just as we have for the past twenty years... doing business at the same old stand and in the same old way. We say, let us become sociable... but let us also get at the root of our problems. Don't you agree that the citizens should have a good idea as to what we will be shooting for in the near future.

The "good" people who resent our policy, should not confine their objections to after dinner conversation or to an occasional chat with the neighbor. Write us a letter... We'll welcome it. George M. Koda

ENTERPRISE REPORTS ON VILLAGE COUNCIL

What can be done with streets to repair them after a poor seal coating job? This is a question before the Manchester Council. Richard Van Valkenburg of Ogden Center told council at Monday's meeting "Slurry Seal of Michigan is bankrupt." Van Valkenburg told council that he is now employed with Slurry Seal of Toledo, Ohio. He had previously worked for Slurry Seal Company of Michigan. Also present at the meeting was Vernon Harder of the Toledo firm.

Harder told council that after checking the streets which had been "Slurry Sealed" last fall he did not believe that patching the streets which have many chuk holes is the answer. He would only approve of tearing out the present job and resurfacing it. The original job cost between $16,000 and $17,000, according to Basil McGuire, council chairman of the Public Works Committee. Village attorney, Stanton Roesch, was instructed to contact the New York bonding company before any action can be taken. McGuire said the job was guaranteed for a year.

Gale Koebbe suggested that Bruce Daniels, Supt of Public Works, run a test on the existing well that is a trouble spot, and make sure that the pump is not defective. Council's problems could be lessened if the pump is proved defective. In other business council was told that the survey stakes along the roadside to Hoover Ball Plant had been plowed up by an area farmer. The total survey job cost about $664.00.

Council approved a variance for erecting a house on Sunset Drive by Richard & Mary Knouse with signed letters from property owners involved approved the building. This project has been under consideration since early in the year.

In discussion of the Gamman residence on Clinton being converted into a three apartment building, Mr. Roesch said that it would not be necessary to have the property rezoned as it is already in a C2 area. The exterior of the building will not be changed to any great extent.

Council discussed setting up an assessment district for sewer on Sunset Drive.

James Pratt's application for city water and sewer connection was approved by council. Pratt said he had approached village officials over a year ago for their approval to connect to the existing mains. By letter Monday he said he would approve future allegation of council.

Bruce Daniels said every effort is being made to flush hydrants in various areas every Friday to help procure better water facilities. Hearing on the water budget was set for June 7 at 8:00 p.m. Possibilities on a dump site was under discussion and also the possibilities of extending the usefulness of the present dump were considered.

A hearing on the petition of Eugene and Rose Kaupp to adopt a resolution for vacating Buchanan St. has been set for June 21.

Council OK'd payment of the following bills but the funds they are taken from are not listed:

DOUBLE A BOOSTS FUND DRIVE-H. H. Upton, Vice President and General Manager exchanges a check for $100 for certificate of membership from Mrs. H. C. Ayres, representing Dollars for Scholars, in the annual fund raising campaign.

PRESIDENT PURCHASES FIRST POPPY-Eugene Bentschneider buys the first poppy here from Miss Poppy, Linda Walter. She is the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Walter and member of the Junior Auxiliary. Bentschneider is village president.

Robt Swartz, Cher Kosciak and Luther Klager and treated to cookies and coffee. They stopped off at the Double A, Manchester Plastics, Manchester Tool and Die and Hoover Plants.

After a round of meeting business people of the community they were hustled off to the Joe Fitzgerald home where the ladies were given a chance to freshen up and the men met the council members who were in town at the time. Pat and Joe Fitzgerald were joined by Ica and Allen Schaffer for the round of visiting. And everyone was whisked off to the Knights of Columbus hall for a steak dinner at 7 p.m.

L. V. Kirk, on behalf of the Businessmen presented a transistor radio to the mayor and the Optimists and Jaycees pooled their efforts for a lawn lounge and chair and set of glasses which were presented by the emcee, Ted Roberts. The visiting city manager told Fitzgerald he had attended seven exchange programs but none compared to the one in Manchester.

RECORD 6'5" JUMP MAKES HIM THREAT AT STATE MEET

Gary Knickerbocker of Manchester High School stamped himself a threat to the state Class C high jump record Saturday with a 6-foot-5 effort in the regional at Eastern Michigan University.

His winning performance helped the Flying Dutchmen tie for fifth with Grass Lake and Ann Arbor St. Thomas with 15 points.

Vandercook Lake lead the Jackson area teams with a third on 17 points.

Morenci won with 36. Clinton had 10.5, Addison and Pittsford each 10, Napoleon eight and Brooklyn three.

Knickerbocker's height is better than the Class C state record of 6-3 set by the Centreville's Charles Washington in 1962. In fact only the Class A record of 6-7 3/4 by Ann Arbor's Ken Dyer a year ago is better.

Knickerbocker shoots at the state mark next Saturday at Mt. Pleasant.

Rich Walters won the 100-yard dash for Manchester in 10.3 and was second in the 200.

Vandercook won the 880 relay in 1:36.7 and its mile relay was third. Grass Lake's Jeff Devena was second in the high jump and high hurdles and third in the lows. Grass Lake's 880 relay was third. Clinton's Roger Haft was second in the long jump and third in the high jump. Napoleon's Bob Swezey took second in the pole vault.

Pittsford's Hal Evans won the 440 dash in 52.2 and Addison's Jens Alber won the mile in 4:43. Addison had Jerry Chatfield second in the shot put and Brooklyn's Larry Stump was third.

Case for Casement

If you want plenty of light and air in the kitchen—but are deterred by the awkwardness of leaning over the kitchen sink to open the window—a casement window may be the answer. Casement window units of ponderosa pine can be easily opened and closed without strain, merely by cranking a handle. They are available in stock sizes from lumber dealers.

We Take A Back Seat To No One!

Michigan is a great industrial state. True. But don't forget about us. Who are we? We're farmers. Michigan farmers. And we're part of the largest industry in the United States. Agriculture. Fact is, American farmers buy more, sell more, create more jobs than any other industry. Why, in "industrial" Michigan alone, annual cash receipts from farm marketing amount to over $750 million. Dairying - Michigan's largest single farm activity - accounts for 27% of that total. Over $200 million.

So you see, in Michigan, no one has to take a back seat. Industry and agriculture ride side by side. And we're going places!

DOUBLE A BOOSTS BLOOD CLINIC

Workers at the Double A Products Co. donated 74 pints of blood of the 94 collected in Manchester's second Red Cross Blood Clinic in six months.

Manchester had been in debt nearly 20 pints to the Red Cross. One two-gallon donor emerged after the clinic Thursday, Laurin Leeson.

Those who reached one-gallon donor status are: Ben Creason, Jerry Kirk, Carlton Burkhardt, Joe Fitzgerald, Alfred Strang, Gary Brokaw and Tadeusz Rybak.

The 94-pint collection was the best since 1960 when 102 were collected.

Double A provided the juice for the clinic and Mrs. Rolland Grossman was day-chairman. Canteen chairman was Mrs. William Hamilton. Mrs. Harry Sutton is Red Cross chairman. Staff aides were Mrs. Allen Schaffer, Mrs. Burnill Hanson, Mrs. Webster Schell, Mrs. Frank Spafard and Mrs. Ed Schuman.

COMMUNITY CHEST TO FURNISH BUS FOR RECREATION PROGRAM

The Manchester Community Chest Board approved sending a school bus to the Pleasant Lake School each day there is swimming at Wampplers Lake during the Summer Recreation season.

The bus will pick up all the children from that area who want to come in to Manchester and go on to Wampplers for the Red Cross swimming program.

For sometime some type of schedule has been considered to enable children of that area to take an active part in the summer events here.

A survey was taken to see which time the children would rather join the local play ground activity. The decision was nearly two to one to come for the afternoon swimming instead of the morning playground.

The budget requests will be studied at the June meeting at the home of Mrs. F. M. Reck. President Edward Galloway announced that he will be assisted on the Executive Committee by Clarence Fielder, Louis Vogel, Stanley White, Mrs. James Baker, and Mrs. Duane Roller.

CELEBRATES 90TH BIRTHDAY

By Marie Schneider

A Manchester man who was born in a log cabin three miles south of Grass Lake... For a little fellow, I used to have some pretty close calls. But I was lucky. When I was four, a wagon loaded with 50 bushels of wheat ran over me. The family doctor took care of me. There was no hospital to be rushed to. They didn't think I'd live but I did. The only thing, I have always been able to feel some sharp beads in my left side. When I was a couple of years older I was too inquisitive and crawled under the wagon to see if they had unloaded all of the grain in the bin and they started up with the wagon. No one noticed me and the wagon ran over me but I wasn't hurt to much that time," he said. He had another close call when he came very close to falling off the 3-story old Manchester High School while working on the roof.

Walter Watkins

Mr. Watkins, who lives at 538 Adeline Street says he is happy to still live in his own home and gives much credit to his brother, John, who came to make his home with his older brother. This is because John is very busy and is able to drive the car. His only living sister is Mrs. Fannie Lane of Napoleon. She has some of his experiences as a time fellow. Things were different in those days. His parents came to Michigan from Watkins Glen, New York, which was named for the Watkins family. They are of English descent. His mother was Irish. His parents took up land from the government south of Grass Lake. "For a little fellow, I used to have some pretty close calls. But I was lucky. When I was four, a wagon loaded with 50 bushels of wheat ran over me. The family doctor took care of me. There was no hospital to be rushed to. They didn't think I'd live but I did. The only thing, I have always been able to feel some sharp beads in my left side. When I was a couple of years older I was too inquisitive and crawled under the wagon to see if they had unloaded all of the grain in the bin and they started up with the wagon. No one noticed me and the wagon ran over me but I wasn't hurt to much that time," he said. He had another close call when he came very close to falling off the 3-story old Manchester High School while working on the roof. With such a large family he remembers there was never a dull moment and everyone had their own jobs to do. But it kept the children out of mischief and as soon as they were big enough to hold the handles of the plow each boy had a job. Mr. Watkins didn't like to ride bareback so it was John's job to ride to town whenever mother wanted mail or anything. In those days bread was four cents a loaf and the four cents were hard to come by. "One time we were pretty excited. John was just a toddler and wondered off into the wheat field. We searched all over for him and couldn't find him anywhere. But it never occurred to us but what he was on the farm. No one even considered the thought that he could have been picked up. Things like that didn't happen around Grass Lake. In the morning my uncle went out into a field of wheat and found him sound asleep," Mr. Watkins said. His brother still remembers the incident. Mr. Watkins still has his report cards from the country schools he attended as a boy. They are much like a picture post card in gay colors, signed by the teacher and district superintendent. It gave the date of the promotion. He said that when he was hospitalized last winter some of the doctors could hardly believe he was nearly 90 years old and he had his brother bring over the report cards to show them. He completed eight grades and his brother went through the eleventh. Mr. and Mrs. Watkins moved to Manchester in 1913, the year that many of the rivers overflowed their banks including the Raisin. Mr. Watkins was a carpenter by trade and did a lot of this type of work in Manchester. He likes to tell about moving a building owned by the late Henry Ford. Someone in town "put up a kick" and didn't want the road blocked while the building was being moved past his business place. "We didn't want any trouble. We got it just as near as possible. Then I got it. In the middle of the night when he was fast asleep we went back and moved the building up Amherst hill and by the time he woke up we were miles away. Mr. Watkins remembers going to New York to see the first light bulb which was by Thomas Edison and when he was a young fellow went to Chicago World's Fair for the first time. He has seen several World's Fairs and is only sorry that his money wouldn't permit him to go to New York this year. He and his wife traveled a lot, and took several trips to Calif. The only time before her death they spent their winters in Florida from Miami and taking excursions to many places. He remembers well the phone calls with the car phones and the record disks but now spends much of his time watching television and reading. He is following closely the progress of the moon exploration.

KODA'S KORNER

Manchester hasn't seen very many changes in the past six years, except for some face lifting on some of the Main Street stores. But the industrial scene has changed. Double A Products Co. which deals in Hydraulics is now one of the most progressive divisions of Brown & Sharpe.

Manchester Plastics located in the west end of town and is in operation.

A new Hoover Ball Plant is expected to be in production soon.

But what about the other needs of the community?

We may find some of these answers with our new Planning Commission, which was adopted by the Village Council. How well this planning group will work, will be governed by the amount of participation taken by the citizens of Manchester.

The Planning Commission cannot do the work alone. We as citizens of this community, should not think otherwise.

We can help by expressing ourselves. This means all of us should become involved one way or another.

The Clubs, School, Business and Industry should appoint representatives at their next session to attend the meetings of the Planning Commission.

As a community we must make up our minds to educate ourselves to understand that changes will have to be made.

Let us remember that this community will be just we make it... and what we make of Manchester will be pay for and live for in the years to come.

We must develop a "selling edge" if we are to develop a profitable Manchester. After all, profitable citizens are the only kind we are interested in developing.

The first step in this "selling edge" comes about when all citizens and organizations give of their abilities and sources of information to help the Commission.

They will need help in making surveys, tabulating data and other tasks. Good planning takes a lot of people or lots of money, or both.

There are no short cuts to a good and profitable town.

Let us encourage this Planning Commission by taking an active interest in what they trying to do for the betterment of Manchester. Let us look for the best in everything we do.

To start in this direction our first step should be to take our pencils and honest-

PLANNING COMMISSION

Considering Hiring Village Planner

Manchester's Planning Commission agreed Monday that it will take steps to hire a village planner and instructed their secretary, Millard Uphaus to contact two to speak at the June 14 meeting.

Plans were set up for the commission to go to Farmington on Thursday, June 17 to study the type of planning in operation there. It seemed to be the consensus of opinion that the group wanted to proceed objectively for the good of the community and hoped to be able to project some concrete facts and clear thinking.

The commission is new. It was suggested by Fred Leeman of Double A Products that "taking an engineering approach, first, the commission should state the problems, based on facts; then decide what we have to offer to a development program in --land, people and finances."

Leeman suggested that of prime importance would be the acquisition of a map of Manchester and asked to see one.

President Eugene Bentschneider said there was no such map available. Bentschneider said that, "Manchester is going to see growth and the principle interest in this commission is to see that it is handled in an orderly manner. We want to be able to select our new industries."

The village head also told the Planning Commission that there seems to be good news concerning the water supply of the village but did not elaborate.

Don Dorff cited the lack of housing as an important issue at this time. Others disagreed and said there is no problem.

Allen Schaffer told the group, "People in Manchester are satisfied with the town as it is but our street program sadly needs improvement. Only one street has a storm sewer."

Leeman suggested that it might be well to organize sub-committees to study the problems of the community in various areas and bring in other citizens to work with the Planning Commission on these committees. Action was deferred until the Commission visits Farmington.

Each of the Planning Commission members were given a booklet "A Citizen's Guide to Planning for Southeastern Michigan Municipalities" for their consideration.

This brochure is published in the public interest by the Area Development Division of the Detroit Edison Company.

In this publication is a questionnaire, "Rate Your Town".

George Koda, publisher of the Manchester Enterprise offered to print the questionnaire in the paper in an effort to interest the general public in participating in the work of the local planning commission and to find out the thinking of the community.

The motion was made by Allen Schaffer and supported by Don Dorff to have the publisher print the page "Rate Your Town".
