JUST TO LATE as Dick Fielder makes a valiant lead to break up the pass to Don Hammond. Ed

Always a bridesmaid but never a bride, this could hold true for the Manchester Dutchmen as they went down to defeat to the Clinton Redskins last Friday night.

Though the big one got away, let say at this time thanks for another thrilling season of football. For in the six years of running the paper, this team that Manchester has put on the field is the best we have seen in our humble opinion.

IN THE blood-letting at Fridays nights game the Clinton Redskins stifled the Dutchmen's hopes for the second year in row of being Champions in the conference.

The most dramatic segment came in the final minutes of the last half as Pat Wallace, a crafty quarterback, passed to Jim Sloat to the Clinton four yard line.

With four yards to go on the first play from scrimmage, the Dutchmen were called for off-side penalty, turning to the air, Wallace called four straight pass plays, one was blocked, another batted down in the secondary and on the final effort, Wallace was hauled down on the 16 before he could throw by Pardee and Baker.

Both teams noted for high scoring teams, but it was stout defensive play that made the difference. Both of the teams boasted defense.

Butch Hoelzer was the big factor of the Skins, scoring the winning touch down with a little over three minutes to go on a 22 yard dash. Also passing for the first score.

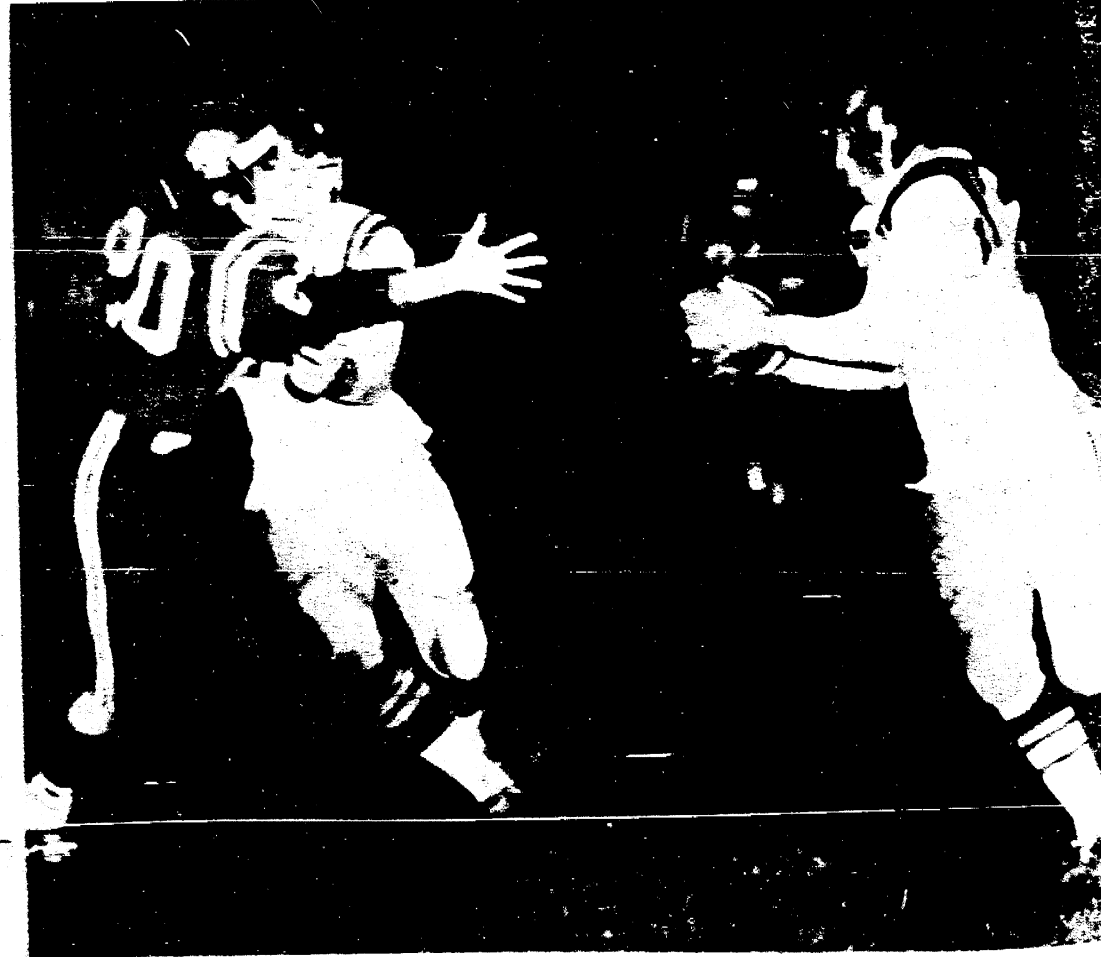

Dutchmen's rally came in the last quarter on a toss from Wallace to Rich Pniwski, the play covering 25 yards.

THANKSGIVING TIME FOR GIVING

-by Marie Schneider

All who spent time canning this summer in the Manchester area are not women, some were men and one was past ninety. Can you 150 cans of fruit and vegetables-for charity?

For many years about Thanksgiving time members of Emanuel Church have the ingathering of foods for the Old People's and Children's Home in Detroit. For the last few years there has been a noticeable decrease in the amount of canned goods. This is quite understandable because people in this area are doing more freezing of foods.

Carl Wuertmer, who was 92 on October 28 and a life-long member of Emanuel offered his home as a central place where people could bring tomatoes and fruits for canning. Then these articles were distributed to other members of the Sunday School class.

John Fuller, 82 years, who still drives his car gathered quart jars for people who were willing to donate them. Other years the De-Home has sent out empty jars.

But Fuller proved to be a good errand boy and Wuertmer did his share of canning. He lives alone and during the summer he canned 150 quarts of tomatoes.

The friends weren't just buying peaches, they were going to pick fruit. Standing beside a tree with branches hanging almost to the ground he decided to pick a few.

"It took very little time and I had picked a bushel. It took much longer to can them but when I was finished I had 25 quarts. Most of them went in the truck this week. I did save a few quarts for myself, Wuertmer said.

As the Sunday School members canned they kept bringing their canned products to Wuertmer's. There were bushels of potatoes and jams and jellies, along with canned goods. Both Wuertmer and Fuller the "errand boy" who doesn't care to can, believe that their class has done a lot to promote this canning project. Their pleasure is shared by the Rev. Ralph Kuestner, pastor of the church.

ASSESSMENTS HIT AT MANCHESTER

The Village Council decided to review the formula used to determine special assessments for a new sewer on Sunset Drive after residents of the street complained about the assessment roll inequities at a public hearing Monday night.

Councilmen said they will meet with the special assessment committee to see how the figures were set up for the project's assessment roll, and then reopen the hearing at the December 7th council session.

The council approved an amendment to the village zoning ordinance to establish new regulations to govern building size and land uses. The amendment will become effective after publication.

Also involving the village sewage system was the decision to hire George Laughton Sr. of Kalamazoo as a part-time operator of the sewage treatment plant.

The Council also tentatively awarded a contract for construction of road work from Austin Road to the Hoover Ball and Be a Ring Company to Mel Faulhaber for $6,870. The award will be made permanent after a meeting between councilmen, the village engineer and when the contractor determines he has included all the work in his bid.

Still under study is the 20th Century Club's proposal to install plastic baskets containing artificial flowers on the business district light poles. Councilman John Althouse is to meet with club representatives to go over the details of the plans. The letter to council from the club was signed by Mrs. Stanton Roesch and Mrs. Tom Marshall.

A petition from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams to close and vacate Waterlane and Cowens St. in the Auburn Street area was discussed. A public hearing was set for December 20th and council will agree to the request of the Williams if there is no objection.

Council meeting which is set for December 6th has been moved to December 7th at 7 p.m. because of a conflict with the Optimist Lady's Night.

Bids were opened for bids on the 2 ton dump truck. There were two bids. Tib Chevrolet's bid of $2,789, was accepted over Tom Marshall's bid of $2,800.

Richard Way reported to council that his son had been hit in the face with an air rifle and noted that there has been several cases of vandalism in the Main Street area and it would be well for the Councilmen to discuss this problem with the merchants in town.

CONFUSION, CHAOS, & COMEDY are the three major themes of the Senior Class play this year. "WHAT A LIFE". The original play was written by Clifford Goldsmith, whose central character, Henry Aldrich was later developed into a movie and television series.

Under the direction of Mr. Ed. Hill, the Senior Class has worked many hours to bring about a fine play for perspective audience. In "WHAT A LIFE", Henry Aldrich, a student who can't seem to do anything right, is about to take Barbara Pearson to the big dance when his mother brings up one objection. He has an upcoming Roman History exam which he has to pass with the highest grade in his class - - OR ELSE!

Misunderstandings, Mayhem, & Comedy follow in close pursuit, making for a fine play, complete with many surprise moments. In the role of Henry Aldrich is Mike Hawker and playing Barbara Pearson is Sandy Kryyaniak. Also in key roles are Rich Pniwski, Jeff Schaffer, Rita Jacobs, Penny Nickerson, Phil Spike, and Larry Goodell. Also in supporting roles are Mike Koda, Karen Jenter, Margaret Sannes, Gary Wallace, Tanya Hannewald, Janet Kemmer, Dale Fisher, Deniece Steele, Roselyn Pfau, and Cindy Alexander.

The play will be presented on this Friday & Saturday, November 19 & 20 at the Civic Auditorium. Tickets are .50¢ and .75¢, also available from many Senior Class Members. CURTAIN GOES UP AT 8:00 P.M.

MANCHESTER AMERICAN LEGION SPONSOR LOCAL STUDENTS DINNER

Last Tuesday was a big day for twenty-four boys and girls from Manchester. They were selected by instructor Clifford Elliott to represent the Senior Class at the annual Washtenaw County Boys-Girls Government Program.

The program was initiated in 1953 and is sponsored by the Washtenaw County American Legion. The tab for sending the 24 local students, including their dinner is picked up by the local Legion Post Manchester Legion, Emil Jacob Post has been sponsoring this program for the last several years.

This event has proved to be very helpful in giving the students a first hand account of how the county government operates. Mr. Elliott said that the students on the whole enjoyed the chance to see for themselves how the different departments in the county function.

The students are hand picked by the teacher, not on their scholastic ability alone, but often based on their interest in government or because he believed that such an experience might be beneficial to them.

Government is a required subject for the senior class but funds are not available to send the entire class--nor would there be room--because each school is represented. Over the past years (12 years) 5,237 people, not including special invited guests, have received immeasurable benefits from the program.

This was "County Day." The local group was accompanied by Legion members, George Merriman and Jack Weir.

Three members of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Nelson Jose, Mrs. Max Walter and Mrs. Jack Weir went along to help serve the dinner at the American Legion Home at noon.

The first stop was at the Ann Arbor High School for orientation, then there was a tour of the county building prior to their visitation in the respective offices which they represented.

The buses left the County Building for the American Legion Home for luncheon at 11:20 and following that the classes boarded the buses again for a Circuit Court jury trial at Ann Arbor High School.

James R. Breakey, Jr. was the presiding Circuit Judge and the program is endorsed by the County Superintendent of Schools, Julius W. Haab and Herbert J. Schaff, County Commander of the American Legion.

Mrs. Luella M. Smith, County Clerk, is secretary of the County Committee working out details of the annual event.

REINHARTS TO CELEBRATE TWENTY - FIVE YEARS On Sunday, Nov. 28th Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Reinhart of 207 Riverside will be feted at open house at the Fellowship Hall of the Manchester Methodist Church from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Arranging the affair are their children, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reinhart and Dennis and Janet Reinhart.

LOCAL GIRL CHOSEN FOR MYI TRIP

A Manchester girl has been selected as a member of the Musical Youth International. She is Brenda Eames, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry F. Eames. Rehearsals will be held every Saturday in the Seaside Area High School. The MYI tour group is composed of 24 outstanding student-musicians from 20 neighboring high schools. Their summer tour will include Scotland, England and West Germany.

A non-profit membership association organized to foster good international relations through combined experiences in the arts and family living. Last July the first tour group appeared in five major cities in Mexico and gave 34 concerts in 32 days to audiences of over 110,000 people.

Messages of good will and appreciation are still pouring in voicing repeatedly the warm reception these refugees received in their host country.

SKELETON RETURNED TO MANCHESTER TOWNSHIP LIBRARY

by Marie Schneider

"Welcome home, Umma," is certainly a fitting salute to the new addition to the Manchester historical room in the Township Library. Umma is the affectionate name dubbed the Indian maiden unearthed by Jan Huber in the Schaffer sand pit early last month. It was a toss-up whether to call her Minnie Ha Ha (which isn't quite fitting) or Umma. That was what was printed on the end of the box which housed her when she arrived here. Of course it stands for University of Michigan Museum of Anthropology too, maybe that was what they meant. But to the folks out here it seemed a likely name to call her.

So few had a chance to see her before she was whisked off to the University to find out just who she was that it seemed she should be allowed to come back for a visit. After all this was her home for a thousand years, add or subtract a couple of hundred.

Jan had told a local reporter that he wished the museum would send the skeleton back so his friends could all get a chance to see it. It seemed like a logical request. The reporter said the 'd' check and followed the whereabouts of the skeleton in the different departments until it appeared that it was going to rest under the watchful eye of Dr. James B. Griffin, Director of the Museum of Anthropology. Richard G. Wilkinson and John Halsey, of that department hunted over. They searched around and found additional bones and a fragment at the burial site. The department was liberal with information concerning their findings.

"Why don't you come over to the museum. You'll have to be instructed on the care of this skeleton. I'll list the reasons why it should not be returned to Manchester and explain why it should stay here. We'll show you around the museum, the good Dr. Griffin explained patiently over the phone. Then you'll be given a chance to tell us your reasons for wanting it brought back to Manchester."

The reporter assured him that wouldn't be necessary. There was only one reason for bringing the skeleton back and it would be done as an interview to tell. There are 1,100 children in the local school system who probably wouldn't have an opportunity to visit the museum in Ann Arbor—but they would go to the Township Library to see Jan's find. They go to the library anyway and it would give them a bit of first hand history of this community which is tucked off in the southwest corner of Washtenaw—and even that is a good Indian name.

Dr. Griffin said there would have to be a glass case. At the moment the only one the reporter could think of was the one used for baked goods at the community fair. Finish the thought of using that. Every FFA mother would have chills. But she promised that a member of the library board would go over and maybe the librarian could get away for instructions. That would be their department but.

But before anyone had a chance to go to Ann Arbor, someone was knocking at the library door and there was Umma escorted by Richard Wilkinson and another from the University.

They went over to the sand pit and brought back sand, to make her feel right at home. She will be staying a while—could be a month or even six. She's in a glass case. The library of increased youngsters to view her makes everyone realize it was worth the effort to bring her back. And even the reporter was sent a hearty type article which explained in detail the findings of the University. It titled "A Burial from Manchester, Michigan" —by Richard Wilkinson.

So kids, stop by to see. You better beat a path to that library, either to the time of the Del-Tone or Marble Double Diner, to see that Indian maiden buried so long ago at the Schaffer sand pit. And we bet most of the older folks will wind their way up the stairs to the historical room to see Umma.

Then when she returns to the University and is packed over in that new clearly marked DNA, she'll smile with that nearly program set of teeth as she looks up at Dr. Griffin and be able to say "What you could have gone back home with me. I really had a blast."

Warning of curling of glass material is caused by exposure to water or heat. The solution is to use an exterior siding which sheds water and is not affected by heat, such as mineral fiber shingles.

Some Owners Cultivate Roof That Goes to Seed

Some roofs can really grow on you, especially if they're sod.

A few sod roofs have recently popped up (literally) atop some homes in the West, where they originated. Sod roofs recall frontier days when settlers built their meager homes into hillsides so that the earth formed the roof, back and even part of the walls. Besides taking advantage of the local raw materials, these homes afforded defensible positions against Indian attacks.

But sod roofs had a serious drawback. They leaked when it rained — and for a few days afterwards, too.

Today the sod roof is little more than an oddity. The modern sod roof fancier, attracted by the novelty of growing lush grass and bright wildflowers on the roof, solves the problem of leakage the same way most other homeowners do — with asphalt roofing. In the case of sod roofs, built-up waterproof asphalt roofing is installed between the sheathing and the soil.

The modern homeowner doesn't have to grow flowers on his roof to give his house a dash of needed color. Asphalt roof shingles, used on most residential roofs today, are available in a wide assortment of colors, including forest colors, pastels and blends. Heavyweight shingles also come with written guarantees up to 25 years. Unlike sod, asphalt shingle roofs don't have to be raked, mowed, weeded, watered or fertilized, to be kept in good condition. For that matter, they rarely need any other care either.

Sod roofs, unlike asphalt shingles, require constant maintenance, such as periodic mowing. To prevent leakage, sod roof fanciers usually install built-up asphalt roofing between sheathing and soil.

1965-1966 MANCHESTER COMMUNITY FUND REPORT

The Manchester Community Chest Board has received the report of the 1965-66 United Community Chest and Red Cross Drive as reported by Luther Klager, campaign chairman.

It is without parallel in Manchester history, the most effective campaign every held. Klager, who is no amateur in civic projects, is to be congratulated for this outstanding success. He modestly states "Manchester Business Men and Double A Products Company and employees should receive a major part of this praise as well as campaign co-chairmen in all divisions-I had a good team and plenty of help from industry."

Good team, good chairmen, good industry and good neighbors all make up a good neighborhood that the Chest Board calls "The Manchester Area."

At the meeting of the Board it was announced that the cost of the campaign was $137.80. The next meeting of the Board will be in January, the date to be announced later.

In the chart below it is indicated that every Division of the United Fund Drive exceeded its goal and it is evident that the entire community responded with increased donations and that the solicitors gave more time and effort.

With such team work it seems superfluous to attempt to thank any one - or any one particular group of people--it was everyone who helped!

Dear Editor:
I wish to thank the Manchester Enterprise and all of my friends who sent cards while I was in the hospital.

I am out now and hope to stay out. It isn't any fun to be in the hospital. So thanks an awful lot to everyone for their well wishes.

Yours truly,

We were glad to learn that Janet Kemmer won the State Food Nutrition Award given by the 4-H club for her excellent work and plan to have a report of this for next week's paper.

The school dance held last week sponsored by the Optimist Club was very well attended. Members of the Club who worked on the committee were impressed when disc jockey Tom Wight of radio station WPAC told them that the Manchester students who attend the dance always seem to have a good time and that it is a pleasure to play for them.

The flu bug hit the office last week and we are behind with some of our stories, so if you are one who wonders why you were interviewed for a story which is not being used, take heart! We haven't forgotten but these things all take time.

Never should have come in at all last week. In the story about the Christmas Club at the Bank, we goofed! It seems that the powers that be can't see it the way we printed a tally of returns. For those who pay in $5.00 a week the bank will give you back $250.00 at the end of 50 weeks. We skipped down a line and our report indicated that for $5.00 a week for fifty weeks you'd get $500. It was a good return. Funny, they can't see it that way! We are sorry--more ways than one.

Mrs. Roy Lowery could use a little help. If you know of a person in service from any of the four townships, Manchester, Sharon, Freedom and Bridgewater, give her a call. If you know their address or could get it so much the better. Here's a hard job to do alone and if the MOMS are to send each boy a Christmas gift she will have to find out who to send them to and she can't send them by carrier pigeon either. So give a hand. A check with the Red Cross indicated that they don't have an available list either.

If you are interested in making a recording to send to your loved one in service, "Voices From Home" will be recording records until December 10th. This year the recordings will NOT be made in Manchester as they have been for the past couple of years. You must go to Ann Arbor. Further details may be obtained by calling Mrs. Del Ludwick.

ASSESSMENTS HIT AT MANCHESTER

The Jaycees are planning to put up the Christmas decorations on December 5th according to a council report.

John Holland of McNamee, Porter and Seeley, consulting engineers, was present for the opening of bids for Sooten Road. Faulhaber's bid was for $6570 and Union-Construction Co. of Manchester was for $8,280.

Mr. Holland discussed the proposed 12 unit apartment unit now under consideration by D. E. Limpert. It seemed to be Mr. Holland's opinion that the looking on to the existing sewerage system would not cause any overload. It was pointed out by the councilmen that there already is an existing problem in that area of town when there is heavy rain, thawing of snow, etc. The present system cannot adequately meet the demand and that the churches and most homes in the low area have installed sump pumps to avoid flooding the basements.

Councilmen expressed concern that adding more strain to the already seasonal overload might result in having residents more disturbed over a problem which arises now seasonally. Holland said he did not know that there is the overload currently and that adding to it certainly would not be the answer.

MISSIONARIES IN DIRE NEED

Picture in front of a "Mesob" which is a table hand woven by the Ethiopians are Mrs. Miller, holding a piece of fancy work made by the natives and son John holding a hand carved cross. Rev. Miller has a goat skin Bible.

Back in the states after a five-year period as missionaries in Ethiopia the Rev. and Mrs. Robert J. Miller tell of the dire need of missionaries in that part of the world. Shortly after his ordination the Rev. Miller decided he wanted to spend some part of his life helping these people. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Miller of 10955 Hieber Road, Manchester. His aim was two fold: to help them in every way possible as well as bring them the Christian religion. He was there a year before he met the missionary nurse, Lillian Gerring from Luana, Iowa, who later became his wife. It was a fatality from the Fairview Hospital in Minneapolis where she had worked for two years. The graduate nurse said that for one year she was the only white person at the Medical Clinic which belonged to the American Lutheran Missionaries. She was sent there to lay the ground work for the clinic at Waldia. In her spare time she studied the language of the people she served.

Mrs. Miller says there is no comparison to the clinic there and those in the states. There was no doctor and she was assisted by the Ethiopians called "dressers".

TURKEYS BY CHRISTMAS

Mr. Bentschneider, spokesman for the group, says that they were aided with the study by consulting engineers from Ann Arbor to help analyze the physical problems and have enlisted the help of a Detroit firm as to possible means of financing. Although no decision has been reached at this time some action will have to be taken soon if Manchester is to "solve" its water problem--and not be involved in a complete breakdown of water service.

The Macomb Street well has had a history of being a poor-producing well. It was "acidized" in 1963 and again "jetted" in 1965 in an effort to restore its productivity. But Boutell pointed out, nothing helped. It is producing only 90 gallons per minute at this time and this is a very inadequate amount.

The next step was drilling a test well on the Macomb Street site but this too was not a good producer. This caused the village to drill another well on village property, near the stand pipe. This well checked out as showing a very adequate supply of water available and tests indicated it can pump approximately 750 gallons a minute. The village consumes about 300 gallons a minute.

Engineers told the Water Study Committee that they believe it would be useless to try to reactivate the old Macomb Street well and that the new well should be brought into production. This will require new pumps, filters, piping housing, connecting mains, etc.

Further study indicates that the storage system is inadequate at the present time for both capacity and pressure. If Manchester is to grow in population this facility must be enlarged. It was pointed out that fire regulations and prudent thinking require a large storage of water.

Legal advisors said that Manchester cannot finance water or sewer improvements out of General Obligation Bonds. General Obligation Bonds are those which are sold on the basis of an increase in property taxes. Water and sewer improvements can be paid out of a Revenue Bond issue. In other words the cost of the improvement must come out of the earnings of the utility. This cannot come about by an increase in property taxes. This would mean an increase in water and sewer rates.

The water committee estimates that the cost of the new well development program could be met by an increase of about 40 per cent in water and sewer rates.

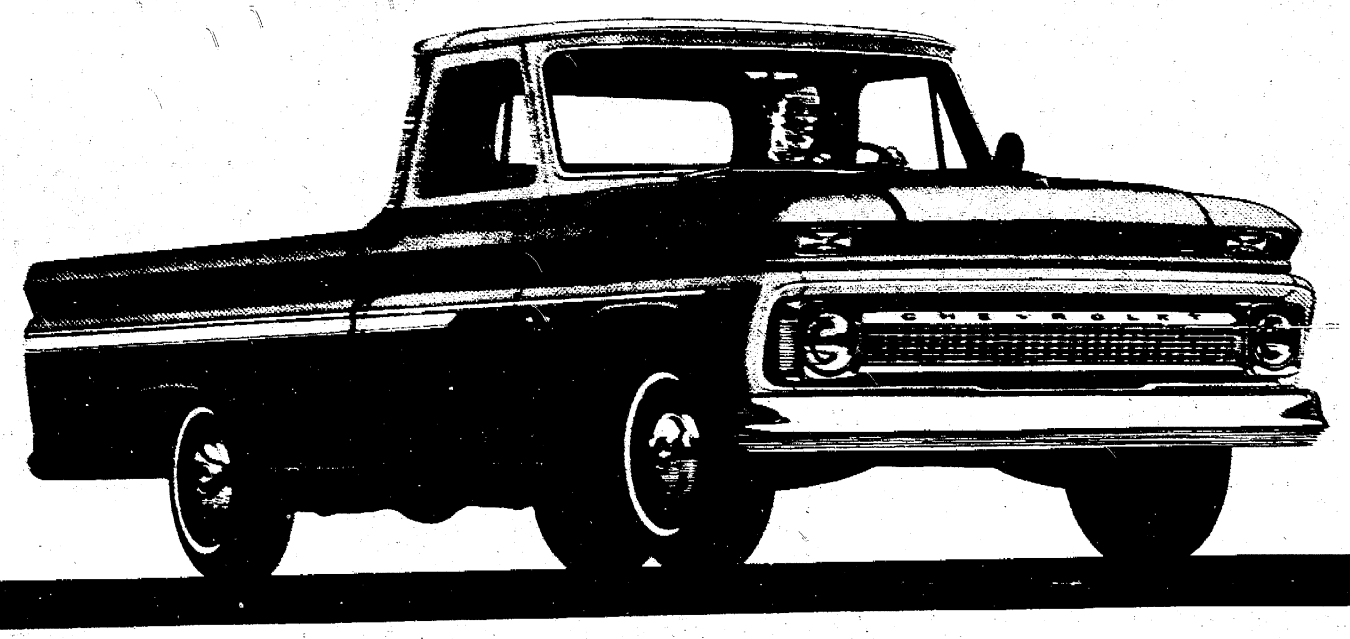

In summing up the problems and possible solutions, Mr. Boutell suggests that the village take "immediate steps in order to insure use of a continuing water supply and to avert water failure which could come upon us at any time because of our antiquated and inadequate system here."

The estimated cost of a workable water program will be in the neighborhood of $215,000.

There are 568 water users in Manchester. Well No. 1 is pumping about 90 gallons per minute and the No. 2 well is operating without a gauge to measure the exact amount it is pumping but together the two pumps are supplying about 300 gallons per minute. This village official says is hardly enough--especially if there should be a need for extra water.
