MAIN STREET

Now that the hustle and bustle of this happy season is drawing to a close there is just time to wish every one of our readers a Very Happy New Year!

Looking up and down Main Street we are wondering if young Bobby Trent had a lot of fun showing off the big Santa Claus he won in the guessing game sponsored by the merchants. He did a good job of guessing for he thought there were 331 beans in the bottle and there were 330. How is that for a guess?

Nearly every business place was gayly decorated for the season and the Jaycees did their customary excellent job of decorating the streets. The new roping across intersection of Main and Maccomb adds to the appearance of the village. We missed the music from the loud speakers at the bakery this year.

The judges had no small job judging the lovely outdoor decorations this year but finally settled for -

- 1st place - Chas. Knorpp
- 2nd " - Spike (Allen) Benedict
- 3rd " - Robert Armentrout

Everyone wanted to have a white Christmas! Just a little snow-but a little nevertheless. Well, we had rain on the 24th! Not just an ordinary rain but buckets of rain. It was a good thing that all that moisture fell in rain and not in snow or we wouldn't be shoeled out yet! But it turned cold on Christmas Day and there was snow!

And we ask you - where but in Manchester do merchants take such a real and personal interest in serving their customers? We thought of this so many, many times this year. Usually when you go into a store and ask for an article, the clerk waiting on you just couldn't care less whether you get what you ask for or not. Somehow this doesn't apply in a small village, anyway not in Manchester.

As is our custom, we always wait and give everyone else a chance to shop first. There are a number of possible reasons. First, it takes a lot of time to decide what we want to buy. Second, we don't want to rush the issue. We have to be in the Christmas spirit. Third, we haven't the time to get started and there is plenty of time--like the day or two before Christmas.

This gives you some idea of the background for the shopping trip. Where but in Manchester would the busy merchant tell you to take three or four dresses out and measure them to see if they would be the right size. Where but in Manchester would a merchant offer to let you take out three or four articles so that someone who wasn't able to shop might have a selection? And after you had carefully looked over all of the clever bird feeders offered in one of the local stores you tell the merchant what you really want is one that will fasten to the window sill. Even though it is Christmas week he says that these articles are made for him locally and he will see if he can get one for you. Maybe they could still get one for Christmas.

Where but in Manchester would the merchant call you back and say that such a bird feeder would be ready for you the day before Christmas. And when you went to Widmayer's Hardware to pick it up, it was ready! And gift wrapped. This type of service doesn't exist today, except in a small town--like Main Street Manchester.

Don't forget this year there will be no caucus for village election. We hear that there are two tickets with petitions out for Gale Koebbe running for village president; Lyle Widmayer, clerk; Ed Kirk, treasurer; Russell Widmayer, assessor. On this same ticket those running for councilmen are Robert Clark, Basil McGuire and Al A Gage. Herman Kuebler is the committee chairman for Progressives.

On the citizens ticket we understand that at this time there is a vacancy for office of president. Keith Doelker is running for clerk, Hugh Sutton for assessor and for councilmen are Jim Bauer, and William Bunney. Petitions must be filed with Clerk Widmayer by January 3rd. Joe Fitzgerald is committee chairman.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

THIS IS OUR NEW YEAR WISH FOR OUR FRIENDS

"Give us, Lord, a bit o' sun,
A bit o' work and a bit o' fun.
Give us in all the struggle and sputter
Our daily bread and a bit o' butter;
Give us health, our keep to awake,
An' a bit to spare for others' sake;
Give us, too, a bit of song
And a tale and a book to help us along.
Give us, Lord, a chance to be
Our goodly best, brave, wise and free.
Our goodly best for ourself, and others,
Till all men learn to live as brothers."

MRS. J. BUNNEY TO RETIRE

A well known Manchester business woman is retiring.

The Sutton Agency is planning to hold open house for Mrs. John Bunney from 2:00 to 4:00 p. m. Friday, December 31.

Mrs. Bunney has been office manager for the Sutton Agency for nearly 15 years and prior to that time has been employed in the bookkeeping department of several local business houses.

A farewell party was held in her honor before Christmas and she was presented with a wrist watch in recognition of her years of service.

The open house will be held at the Sutton Agency at 136 E. Main.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Council met in regular session. Prayer was given by Rev. Price. Meeting was called to order by President Bentschneider. Trustees present were Clark, Dorff, McGuire, Koebbe, Althouse and Lowery.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Bills were presented and received from their proper funds.

Moved by Clark and supported by Dorff that bills be paid as read holding check # 3096 for waiver of lein. All yeas, carried.

Moved by Clark and supported by Dorff that alteration permit be granted to Austin Rielly. All yeas, carried.

Moved by Althouse and supported by Dorff appointment of Mr. cont. page (12)

INDIA FAMILY ENJOYING HOLIDAY SEASON

-by Marie Schneider

The Natarajan family is enjoying the holiday season in the States. Although the couple came here in 1963 it was not until last summer that Mrs. Natarajan returned by plane to Chidambaram, India to get their two children, Krishna six and Suba three years.

The children had been staying with their grandparents since their parents left to come to the States after Dr. John B. Burch had asked for someone to be sent over to help in the study of types of snails which might carry parasites. Mr. Natarajan is one of three invited to do the study by the University of Michigan's Museum of Zoology.

She says her children just can't get used to the cold weather and snow. It is a wonderful experience for them she says. Then, too, the idea of Christmas and Santa Claus is new. Although they are of the Hindu religion they are joining in the celebrations here. They have a similar celebration in their own religion which can vary from October to November. This is called Deepavali and is a religious holiday. At that time they place lighted clay oil lamps in the windows and have them for several days. They give gifts to members of the family and prepare a family feast. It is the time that all Hindu women look forward to as a time to go out and buy new dresses. This is a "must" and everyone looks to the time when they can get new finery.

The holiday season is not new to Mrs. Natarajan for she was educated in a Catholic Convent in Madras and through her associations there had learned much about the Christian religion.

"Of course, here in Ann Arbor, we have a Christmas tree and we had a gift exchange. I'm afraid it would be very difficult to explain to our six-year-old boy that there is no gift exchange for us --no tree. All his little friends at the Thurston School are wrapped up in holiday parties, etc. But you can see that we have our problems. Our calendar year isn't the same. So here at New Year we are celebrating another country's feast day--which we don't have. But then again we have a similar one. While we are here we celebrate and do things like the rest of our friends and associates--and that is as it should be. We shall never forget the hospitality of your people," Mrs. Natarajan emphasized.

She said that living here in the United States gives a person an altogether different picture of American women. She had the false impression that here women do very little work. She thought most of them spend much time in the beauty shop, buying expensive clothes and driving around in cars. She blames the movies for these impressions.

"I am surprised to see how much the American woman really works. She has to plan her time efficiently and although she has all the conveniences in her home it takes both time and money to keep them operating. I don't believe that women have any more--or as much free time as we do back home," she said.

"The cost of a permanent is much more expensive here. Back home a good one costs between $1.50 and $2.00," she said.

The Natarajans' visa will expire in May and they are not sure just what their plans will be. The local church group here was intrigued by the beautiful diamond which the Hindu woman wore in the side of her nose. One thing was obvious, whether the women are Americans or Hindu they all love beautiful jewelry and know the value of a fine cut stone when they see one.

MY DREAM ON CHRISTMAS NIGHT

by Charles Benedict
One Christmas night
While I was sleeping,
I heard a loud noise,
That was very screeching.

I ran down the stairs
And looked around,
I didn't see anything,
Or hear a sound.

Then I saw
A big fat man,
That came down the chimney
With a bag in his hand.

I ran to hide
Under our table,
But when I got there,
I was not able.

Our dog was sleeping
Without a sound,
But when he heard me,
He jumped off the ground.

Santa heard me
And came in the room,
Then he told me,
I was a bad prune.

He scolded me
For being up,
But, Oh, Dear Santa!
You woke me up!

He gave me a squeeze
And patted my head,
He said little John
Run off to bed.

And then I awoke
And ran to the tree,
And found all the gifts
That Santa left me.

THE COLORS AND SOUNDS OF CHRISTMAS

by Jan Huber
The colors of Christmas
Make my heart glow
And the sounds of Christmas
Are lovely I know.

When I think of Christmas,
And the things it means,
I almost always think first
Of Holly green.

And the sounds of Christmas
That I like the best
Are the sounds of silver bells
Ringing with zest.

In the season of Christmas
There's the color of white
In the beautiful color of snow,
By day and night.

I suppose red is the color
Little kids like, because
It's the color of the suit
Of old Santa Claus.

ALMOST NO CHRISTMAS
by Cheryl Ervin
Santa was sighing,
And almost crying
Because he had no toys
To give the girls and boys.

The elves had deliberately walked out on him
And left poor Santa out on a limb;

He had no dolls or little trains,
Not even a real moving crane.

He could always buy the toys downtown,
Then he wiped his eyes and
made a frown;

It just wasn't Christmas if they weren't homemade
He then fell down and there he laid.

He went to sleep that very night
Still thinking of the awful night;
What if the children had nothing
this year,
Then from his eyes he shed a tear.

The next morning, all wide awake
Down from the sky fell the first snowflake,
Then all of a sudden in came his reindeer,
Now he knew he had nothing to fear.

For on each of their backs
Were very large packs;
In them were toys
For all the girls and boys.

Now there would be Christmas this year,
This wonderful, wonderful,
wonderful, wonderful,
And as he put his sleigh in high gear,
Away he flew—spreading good
Christmas cheer.

LIBRARY PLANS OPEN HOUSE

An open house at the Manchester Township Library is planned to honor one of its residents, here on a visit.

"Urrua," the Indian collection has been invited to spend some time at the Shary Museum in Jackson during the January Indian display. The open house is planned for January 16 here.

Local historian, Mrs. Burdell Hansen notes that anyone having any Indian relics such as wampum, pipe stems, beads and arrow heads, are asked to contact her at the library. These articles are needed and if you would like them in the display they would be most welcome.

TO CURB ACCIDENTS

Francis L. O'Brien, Municipal Judge, in an attempt to prevent accidents and tragedies during the Christmas holidays, points to a few ways in which numerous accidents can be avoided.

He said that each year it has been his unpleasant task to deal with persons arrested during the holiday season for personal intoxication and drunk driving.

"The obligation of a citizen to protect himself, his family and his community from the danger of drunk driving and other alcohol-related offenses is important throughout the entire year, but it is of special concern during the holiday season. I ask that every citizen practice moderation and responsibility to avoid accidents and tragedies during these holidays," the judge said.

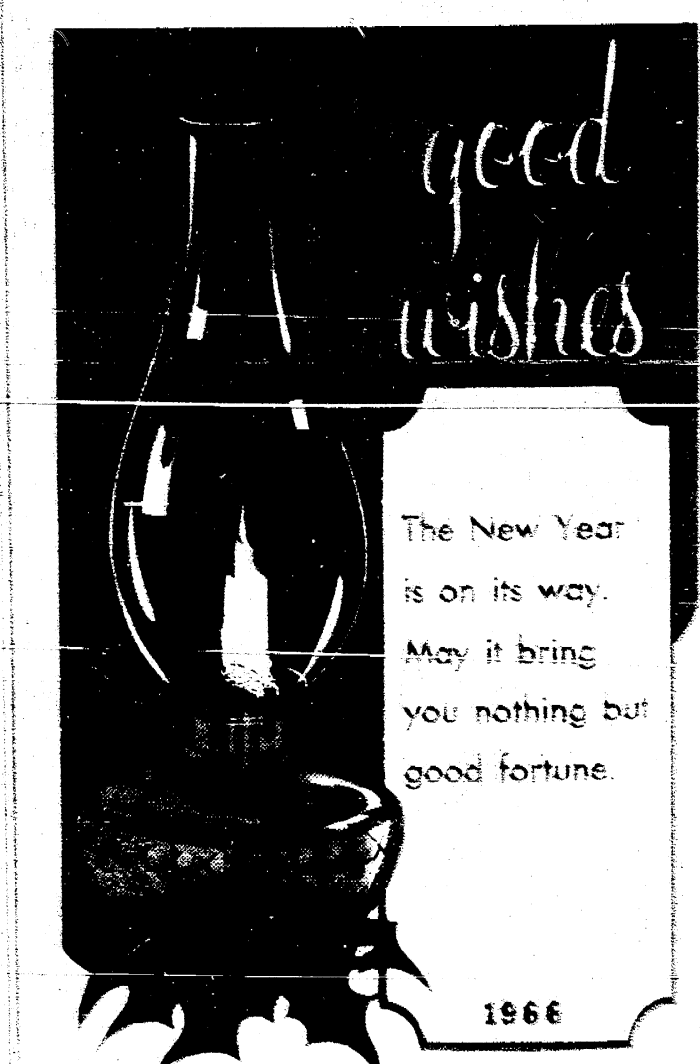

He felt very strongly that people must bear responsibility not to create conditions where employees, friends, relatives and others may find it necessary to drive automobiles following the consumption of intoxicants. He urges that people in these positions plan their social occasions in such a way that tragedy will not befall those who have enjoyed their hospitality.

Judge O'Brien pointed out that convictions for drunk driving carry with them severe penalties including revocation of driving privileges for 90 days or longer. The time to be concerned about intoxication and drunk driving is before it happens. After an incident occurs it is too late and the judge urges everyone to make this a sane and safe holiday.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

Dear Editor:
As we look to a new year for agriculture, we of the Michigan ASC State Committee and the ASCS State Office wish to extend our thanks to you for using farm program information.

By printing this information you have provided the farmers in your area with timely facts. You have also assisted them in making decisions which have benefitted them and their families. By assisting the farm unit you also have helped the entire community because farmers buy automobiles, appliances, clothes, and many other items.

We know that your philosophy is like our philosophy in 1966, "a sound agricultural economy and a prosperous farming community are valuable assets to trading areas."

Again, thanks for your assistance in 1965.

SITE OF WASHTEAW COMMUNITY COLLEGE

SITE SELECTED FOR COMMUNITY COLLEGE

A 235-acre site equidistant between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti was selected Wednesday as the location of the Washtenaw Community College campus...

The property, now known as the Huron Valley Farms, will cost $3,500 an acre, placing the total cost of the land at approximately $822,500.

The acreage is north of Washtenaw Road, south of the Huron River and east of US-24. In addition to the orchard's fruit trees, the campus site also features a natural hardwood forest.

The property is now owned by Jarvis and Pearl Franzblau and the estate of Rose and Pearl Franzblau.

Final agreement on the purchase awaits the completion of final test borings, scheduled this week, to determine the suitability of the land for construction, and approval from the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for a bond issue to cover the purchase cost and preliminary planning.

The Board of Trustees authorized immediate steps to be taken to sell $2,000,000 of bonds to cover the first portion of the cost of the new campus. The preparation of final architectural, educational specifications, and site development plans will entail most of 1966; therefore, the balance of the present bonding limitation can be deferred in hopes of a more favorable bond market.

The new campus, lying approximately three miles east of Ann Arbor and the same distance from Ypsilanti, is extremely accessible from all parts of Washtenaw County. It takes only 30 minutes to drive the 25.2 miles from Manchester to the college site.

The Board released this statement through its Chairman, Samuel T. Harmon, Jr.:

"The Board approached the problem of selecting a site with no preconceived ideas or opinions other than a basic desire to situate the college in a place that would offer the best possible combination of environment, facilities, accessibility and economy. It was the most fervent desire on the part of all to exercise great care and prudence in making the selection and to rely upon the counsel of recognized site selection specialists, in arriving at a final decision."

"The Board of Trustees made its decision to select the Franzblau site after studying a number of reports from impartial land development and architectural specialists."

"In addition to studying the reports of various specialists members of the Board inspected a number of sites on foot, by car, and in some instances, by air. It is usually the case that certain improvements will need to be made on the existing site as well as the surrounding area to provide a pleasing campus. Our conversations with the Board's architect and responsible municipal authorities indicate that these improvements can and will be made."

"The college site will grow in beauty over the years. Natural hardwood forest and existing fruit trees, combined with creative architecture, will provide a lovely campus which the whole community of Washtenaw County can view with pride."

"First buildings on the new campus will be completed in 1968. In the meantime, the Board hopes to find temporary quarters for the purpose of beginning some courses in September 1966. During the coming months, educational specifications will be developed to provide an outstanding college program in technical, vocational, semi-professional and liberal arts programs," Harmon said.

Wednesday's announcement of the site selection culminates a six-month-long study of possible campus locations. The Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission submitted a comprehensive report in June 1965, evaluation of data compiled on 11-mile areas close to Washtenaw County's center of population.

The report, requested by the Community College, rated each of the sites in relation to its highway accessibility, opportunity to receive water and sewer service, value of the property, physical characteristics of the land and present and proposed land use in the area.

After receipt of the report, the college brought in additional professional consultants from Washtenaw County and Detroit to aid in the final evaluations. Three real estate agents served as a planning committee on site visitors and appraisers. John Swisher, Jr. and Ward Newton, Sr., both of Ann Arbor, were elected because of their experience in land appraisal and acquisition for the University of Washtenaw County is generally recognized as having been the first to celebrate New Year's Eve with a party. The celebration was first held in 1840 at the home of Mrs. John W. ...

COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Michigan and Bernard Hughes of Ypsilanti was asked to serve because of his similar professional experience on behalf of Eastern Michigan University.

The three men studied nine sites still under consideration, talked to the property owners and conferred with city and county officials about the cost of sewer and water connections, extension of sewer and water lines and the improvement and construction of access roads.

At its next step, the college Board retained two architectural firms, as well as Johnson, Johnson & Roy, landscape architects, to evaluate specifically four parcels of land.

Among the considerations in the final evaluation were the following: the college should be close to the county's population center in order to make it useful to increasing numbers of people; it should be large enough to provide for future growth, allow adequate parking areas, building space and open area to enhance the beauty of the campus and the surrounding area; it should be located in such a way so as to be identified with all the people of Washtenaw County rather than establish too close a relationship with any one city or any one educational institution; the site should be interesting in its topography and endowed with natural features for an attractive setting and, therefore, not too close to industry or large commercial developments; and the site should be accessible to all parts of the county via safe, yet rapid transportation pattern.

In a statement in connection with the announcement, the Board expressed its appreciation for the offer of free land by the late Dr. Emil M. Isberg and Mrs. Isberg, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chamberlain and Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Schumacher. The Board declined the offer which was for land northwest of Ann Arbor, after serious consideration and an architectural analysis, on the ground that it is not a suitable location for a college campus. Prime reasons for declining: (a) The site is some distance from the center of population and has no convenient access from the expressway system, meaning a substantial increase in the amount of travel time for the college's students; (b) There are no plans for any municipality to extend water and sewer lines to the area and its acquisition would require the college to build a private sewer treatment plant and a private water system. Construction and maintenance of both facilities for an indefinite period would be extremely expensive, the Board agreed.

The Board of Trustees expects to develop educational specifications for the community college buildings at an early date.

Welcome the New, Remember the Old

We come to a New Year. Providence passes to each of us a new, clean slate. We have the opportunity, during the 365 days ahead, to record our own individual achievements. This is the way we paint the New Year—time for a new start, with a clean slate.

Before we make our first marks for 1966, however, let's not turn completely aside from 1965. Let us look backward with an appraising eye. We cannot merely wipe away our uncompleted assignments because the date on the calendar has been changed. The things that needed doing yesterday, if undone, need doing today, or tomorrow. They are still with us. They won't go away merely because we ignore them.

This is as it should be. If we achieve anything in 1966, it shall be due to the fact that our starting point took into consideration all our successes, achievements and failures during 1965. It is a New Year, yet we as individuals are not reborn. We are the same, with the same strength, with the same weaknesses.

So, let us welcome the New Year. Let us welcome the opportunity that it provides. But, at the same time, let us be thankful for the experiences of 1965. We are not starting from nowhere, or from nothing. We have things that need doing in the year ahead.

MR. RAIFORD ACCEPTS SCOUT STAFF POSITION

RALPH RAIFORD, JR.

Ralph Raiford, Jr. of Dexter has been employed by the Portage Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, as a new member of the Council Executive Staff it was reported by the Council Scout Executive, Clarence Doud of Ann Arbor.

Mr. Raiford will report for duty to the Scout Executive by mid-Jan. He will then be assigned for service to Scouting in the Livingston County District which has a current Scout membership of some 1200 registered boys and adult leaders according to the Scout office.

After 2 months of Scout work Raiford will go to the National Training School for Scout Executives at the Schiff Scout Reservation, Mendham, N. J. after which he will resume his duties in Livingston County. Forty-five days of intensive training at Mendham is required of all men entering into full time executive work for the Boy Scouts.

Raiford was a scout for five years, and served as his troop leader and later as Senior Patrol Leader while attaining Life Scout Rank. He was scoutmaster of a troop in Southwestern Michigan Council in 1957 in St. Joseph and has served as Neighborhood Commissioner and then District Commissioner of the Iroquois District of the Portage Trails Council, for the past year and a half.

Mr. Raiford has resigned as Manager of Dancer's Department Store of Chelsea, to accept the Scout post. Previous to 1964 he was employed by Montgomery Ward as assistant Department Manager for 2 years. He has also had business experience in the field of insurance.

He is 33 years of age and is married. He and his wife, Patricia and their 6 children live at 5039 Portage Lake Road, Dexter.

SOIL CONSERVATION MEETING FEATURED

The annual meeting of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District will be held at 8:00 p.m. Thursday, January 6 at the Rural Activities Building on the Farm Council Grounds located at the intersection of Pleasant Lake and Saline Ann Arbor Roads.

Two directors will be elected at that meeting. Candidates submitted by the nominating committee to fill the two vacancies are: Maynard Leach and Don Limpert, both of Manchester Township, Orrin Girbach, Pittsfield Township and Raymond Schultz of Ypsilanti Township. Further nominations may be made from the floor at the meeting.

With the cooperation of the Land Bank and the Production Credit Association, the Soil Conservation District Board has obtained an outstanding speaker for the occasion, according to John Trustdorff, Soil Conservationist. He is Henry Schriver, speaker from Grafton, Ohio. He is considered to be one of American farmer-philosophers. Mr. Schriver offers "food for thought, seasoned with a dash of wit, and served up in rhyme-an exciting, informative and entertaining evening."

Schriver is a dairy farmer by occupation but his "gift of gab" has caused him to be labeled as the busiest spokesman for agriculture in the whole midwest and is known for his true stories of how a farm family and neighbors can work together to get things done.
