CHRISTMAS TIME IN JORDAN

by Marie Schneider

It doesn't happen very often that people here have an opportunity to talk with those who are familiar with the Holy Land -- particularly people who were born and grew up in that area. Such a person is Selma Khammash from Amman, Jordan. She is working on her doctorate in Geography at the University of Michigan and has friends in the Manchester area.

With the story of the first Christmas still fresh in everyone's mind, it is interesting to talk with someone completely acquainted with the area. Miss Khammash has been in Ann Arbor for the past six years, working her way through the University. Last summer she returned home for a visit. Her parents are both living. Her father is a retired lawyer. She has four brothers and two sisters. One of her brothers is at the University of Michigan and her oldest brother is General Chief of Staff of the Armed Forces in Jordan.

One of its prime concerns is protecting the Holy Land, which might seem strange because they are Moslems.

She says there is no resemblance of Bethlehem today and the little hilltop village where Christianity had its start. She believes that many people have been misinformed about the country or have drawn their own conclusions that the area is much the same as it was in the time of Christ.

But all this has changed. A 14-point star of silver marks the site of the manger and this spot has been guarded for many years by the Moslems. The cave still exists under the massive church of the Nativity but there is nothing left of the stable. There are many rich brocades and marble decorating the cave where once the shepherds roamed.

This is the Jordanian said is all changed and many motels, hotels, etc., have been built to take care of the pilgrims who journey to see the Holy Land. The tourist trade is the main industry and last year nearly 30,000 people visited the Holy Land in December. It is only a 10 minute ride from Jerusalem through the olive groves on the Judean Hills to Bethlehem.

Selma said that she and her family have visited the church at Christmas but now the pilgrims have converged on the area in such crowds that those who live in the vicinity are almost excluded and Mass is now celebrated outdoors to better accommodate the visitors. About half of the town's population of 20,000 are Moslems.

There is an air of celebration at Christmas time with firecrackers popping and music from the Jordanian army and a bagpipes' band. There are plenty of shops for souvenirs and people have to have tickets in advance for admission to the midnight Mass and in Shepherds Field, which is owned by the YMCA, worshippers gather to sing carols and the ceremonies there are more simple. There are celebrations in the Holy Land three times a year. And no sooner has the first celebration of December 25 been completed when plans get underway for another celebration. For there are three faiths which share the nativity church--Roman Catholics, Orthodox and Armenian. The Orthodox and Armenians celebrate the birth of the Savior in January, because of their calendar year.

Because of the huge tourist trade the country has prospered and there are fine roads, good hotels and modern motels to add to the convenience of those who would travel to see the Holy Land.

Selma said that the value of money values of her country and the United States is far different. She might go back home with a Master's degree and her salary could be between $120 and $150 a month. That is why, she pointed out, it is necessary for students coming here to work while attending school. There is such a vast difference in value that they could not afford to pay the prices here.

During the six year period she was gone there were many changes. Their standards of living are high but the salaries are low. Food is expensive. Women and girls dress well--infact better, for the most part, than here. This she explained:

"At home a woman would never appear in public on the street without being well dressed. She would never, never appear in slacks, skirt and blouse or other very informal attire. Women dress beautifully at home. It is expected of them and they do. In fact my parents felt that my wardrobe was very inadequate when I returned. Our outlook is different than in this country. Here women are not too concerned about their appearance unless they are going to do something special. But for classes, shopping and the like women here do not dress up like they do at home. Then too, women in Jordan are not completely free. They are protected. In some ways this is better and in other ways not. Women never speak or carry on conversations with men--until recently. I noticed when I was in Amman that women are beginning to work in offices and of course talk to their co-workers. Until very recently women didn't work in public places. But then again we are talking on the American ways. I have the feeling that women are more respected in Jordan. There they do not want to be equal to men. They are held in more esteem over there.

"Some things are better at home and some are better here. Girls have little to say as to whom they marry. But parents do try and select good men for their girls.

"The girls never date a man but even this is changing a little and we are becoming more westernized. Women are being allowed to attend clubs and sports events but they seldom make important decisions," Selma added.

She said that the Jordanians have all the conveniences that Americans have and, "I think our homes are really more lovely than most of those I have seen here. I am enjoying my work at the Space Research Lab here. But it is hard to hold a full time job and also go to school. This is what I have been doing. It would be impossible for my parents to provide me with this money which I need to complete my education but they are approving of my going to school here.

UNION SAVINGS SHAREHOLDERS MEETING

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Union Savings Bank of Manchester was held at the bank on Tuesday, January 18, 1966.

Reports on earnings and various segments of the bank's financial statement were given by the bank's President, James C. Hendley, and the Cashier, Dan J. Boutell.

Well over three-fourth of the bank's capital stock was represented at the meeting.

The shareholders re-elected the same Board of Directors for the coming year as follows:

- Dan J. Boutell
- Henry P. Eames
- Anton Feldkamp
- James C. Hendley
- Alton Homing
- Ira E. Johnson
- Willard Mann
- Stanton G. Roesch
- Frank H. Tirt
- Herbert H. Upton
- Carl F. Wuerthner
- Laurence P. Wurster

The organizational meeting of the directors was held following the shareholders' meeting and all bank officers were re-elected.

President, James C. Hendley Executive V. President and Cashier, Dan J. Boutell Vice President, Frank H. Tirt Vice President, Carl F. Wuerthner

Assistant Cashier, Ed. R. Kirk Assistant Cashier, Harold M. Burch Assistant Cashier, Keith G. Doelker

By unanimous vote of the directors a new position of Director Emeritus was created.

Directors Anton Feldkamp, Frank H. Tirt, Herbert H. Upton, Carl F. Wuerthner, and Laurence P. Wurster resigned from the active Board of Directors and by unanimous vote of the remaining Board members these five men were appointed to the position of Director Emeritus and asked to continue their service to the bank in an advisory position.

The bank's cashier, Dan J. Boutell, reports that the Board of Directors was high in its praise of the five retiring active directors and highly commended them for their many years of service to the Manchester community and its banks. The hope of the Board was expressed that these men would continue giving the bank of their time and advice for many years to come.

MAIN STREET

A fire swept the clothing and most of the furnishings of the Joe Ginter home on Allen Road Monday. From reports coming in to this office the family is in need of clothing. There is a 13 year old girl and a 15-year-old boy of average size in the family. These teenagers, students in the Clinton Schools, need clothing. Some of the articles of clothing didn't burn, but much was water soaked.

When these things were thrown from the building much of it came in the path of the water hose and in subfreezing weather it is a pretty hard job to thaw out water logged clothing--especially if you don't have a stove and facilities to work with. Such is the case with this family. It is understood that they will be living in the Ben Steina-way home on the Manchester-Chelsea road. Just what size is needed to meet the requirements for Mrs. Ginter or her husband could not be established at press time. Continued on page 8

They are very broadminded and want all of us children to be happy and if this is what I want--it is also what they want. The best paying positions are with the government and there is a good retirement plan. Possibly I will teach when I return. I am not sure," she concluded.

COUNCIL MEETING CUT SHORT BY FIRE

An April 16 wedding is planned.

ASSESSORS TO HELP SR CITIZENS

Clayton Parr, Manchester township supervisor and Russell Widmayer, village assessor have announced that they will help persons over 65 fill out their senior citizens tax exemption papers.

Faulhaber, who owns an excavating company, said one of his workmen was using an acetylene torch in the warehouse when the fire started.

Manchester firemen worked for more than two hours to save a garage and car adjacent to the warehouse. Included in the loss were several tools, Faulhaber said. He said the loss was only partially covered by insurance.

Faulhaber said that he couldn't over emphasize the extreme in which he holds the fire department.

"If those boys hadn't got right in and really fought that fire I would have lost the whole thing. I am surely grateful to them. Never mind putting in anything about the fire--just thank the boys who did the work to put it out," Faulhaber said.

In the short village council meeting they approved a revised special assessment spread for a new sewer on Sunset Drive. This item had been in special committee since last November and will spread the cost of $915 among five property owners.

Mrs. Orville Way and Richard Way were at the meeting and contested the assessment spread, which is:

Mrs. O. M. Way $175
Richard Knouse 150
A. E. Patterson 65
Holstein property 150
M. Haselschwerdt 375

The special budget committee Robert Clark, chr., Don Dorff and Basil McGuire met after the meeting to work on the budget.

Mention was made that the new police car has arrived.

ADULT EDUCATION OFFERS BALL ROOM DANCING

Ballroom dancing has been added to the list of subjects now being taught at the Manchester Schools. This new class will be conducted each Wednesday by Mrs. Susan Sizemore.

Come in and take on a tiger!

The only way we could make a Catalina look even better would be to show you its price tag.

Because stretching back for nearly 18 feet behind that dashing front end is everything from a big 389-cubic inch V-8 to one of the roomiest trunks in the field. With an interior in between that's chock-full of nylon carpets, lush fabrics, chromed hardware and floorom. Plus standard safety features like a padded dash and front and rear seat belts. (Be sure to buckle them.) All carried over a set of Wide-Track wheels to make the ride of its long 121-inch wheelbase even smoother. It's all just part of a plot to get you to come running in breathlessly for a peek at that price sticker we mentioned. See you soon!

W. ATKINSON DIED AT FIRE HALL IN CHELSEA

George W. Atkinson, who for 8 years had served with the Chelsea fire department died suddenly Monday evening. He was 58 years. Well known in the Chelsea and Manchester area as "Mr. Parade" he had gone to the fire hall at 200 W. Middle Street in response to an urgent call from the Manchester fire department for an extra nozzle and apparently suffered a fatal heart attack. Elwin Beach and Kenneth Bucholtz discovered Atkinson lying on the floor when they returned to let him know the nozzle had been delivered. Artificial respiration and resuscitator were both applied in an unsuccessful attempt to revive him.

At the time of his death he was assistant fire chief and the immediate past president of the Southern Michigan Association of Fire Chiefs and Firemen. He joined the Chelsea Fire Department in 1928 and had held the ranks of captain, secretary, second lieutenant, first lieutenant and assistant chief. In 1953 he was instrumental in instituting the fireman's accident fund to reimburse firemen injured in the line of duty. He also headed the auxiliary fire fire department, a group of men called for large fires or as substitutes for regulars.

He had served three terms as Worshipful Master of Olive Lodge 156 F & AM in 1937, 1938 and 1939. He was the only person to have served three terms in the post. He presently served the Lodge post as chaplain and had participated in the annual Masonic Lodge banquet on Saturday.

Chelsea Fire Chief James Gaken said that the passing of Atkinson leaves a void in the department which will be next to impossible to fill.

Funeral services were to be held Thursday, Jan. 20 at the Burghardt Funeral Home in Chelsea with the Rev. James Craig officiating. Masonic graveside services to be conducted by the Olive Lodge 156 F & AM with burial in Oak Grove Cemetery in Chelsea.

A George W. Atkinson Memorial Fund is being established to which contributions may be made. Memorial cards are available any time at the Burghardt Funeral Home.

Survivors in addition to the widow include a son, Donald, a student at Michigan State University.

PLEASANT LAKE TELEPHONE CUSTOMERS GET RATE DROP

Peter B. Spivak, Chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission, announced that 145 customers of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. situated within the Berville, North Lake, and Pleasant Lake localities areas which are within the Armada, Chelsea and Manchester exchanges, respectively, will experience a reduction in their monthly rates $6.00 annually.

Spivak stated that this decrease is due to a reduction in the loaded mileage charges applicable to services in the three locality areas. Only urban classes of service are offered within locality areas with the rates for such services being composed of the base rate for the particular exchange plus a loaded mileage charge which is less than the actual exchange line mileage charge.

The Armada exchange is located in Macomb County, the Chelsea exchange in Washtenaw and the Manchester exchange in Washtenaw and Jackson Counties.

Mr. Spivak also is announcing that approval has been given to the application of Rural Telephone Co. to establish the service and rates for a type of Private Branch Exchange service generally applied throughout the industry for Class B Manual Switchboards.

Spivak stated that the Company has not heretofore offered this type of service and that the establishment of the PBX offering and rates are necessary because of the Company's anticipation of a customer requiring such service. The PBX Class B Manual Switchboard will have a capacity of 60 stations, 13 trunks, and 120 stations, 13 trunks. The monthly charge for the 60-station switchboard is $25.00 and for the 120 station switchboard is $35.

The Rural Telephone Company renders telephone service in portions of Ingham, Jackson, Livingston and Washtenaw Counties.

LEARN AND SAVE 4-H CLUB HOLDS MEETING

DOLLAR and SENSE FARMING.

CULL DAIRY COWS that won't pay their way over a 300-day lactation. If you don't have DEFA records of previous lactations as a guide, you can estimate how much a cow will produce. Average production on the 58th and 60th day of lactation and multiply by 230. If the average is 45 pounds for example, you can expect her to produce 10,350 pounds of milk in 305 days. Checked against records of 455 cows in Idaho tests, estimated production was only 12 pounds under actual.

YOU CAN POUR CONCRETE IN COLD WEATHER, but use caution. Buy a fast-setting "high-early-strength" cement Type III to lessen risk of freezing before concrete has set. Mixture should be 50° to 70° F. when poured. To do this you may have to heat the water first. Avoid using sand and gravel that is frozen or contains ice. Cover the fresh concrete with a tarpaulin and at least 6 inches of straw until it has cured.

STEADY TO STRONG slaughter cattle markets will hold through January but some weakness is likely in February. Cattle prices aren't likely to continue to receive the support they have been from hog markets. Furthermore, there has been some holdback of cattle which will likely boost shipments later this winter. Sell cattle when ready except on price breaks. Look for winter prices to average near late fall levels.

A STANDBY ELECTRIC GENERATOR is a good investment where financial loss from a power failure would be high. A generator driven from a tractor pto is most popular and costs the least. Most farms require a 10 to 15 kilowatt generator which would cost from $700 to $1,000.

HONORED AT SHOWER

Mrs. William Hamilton was the guest of honor at a stork shower Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Richard Knouise. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Fred Heinrich at the party attended by friends and neighbors.

Several interesting games rounded out the entertainment and Mrs. Hamilton was presented with lovely gifts which were placed in a white baby bed belonging to the hostess.

Mrs. Heinrich cut the controversial yellow and white frosted cake, cleverly resembling a baby's sweater, bonnet and booties. The yellow and white was carried out again in the ice cream baby buggies and storks.

Be A Safe Driver Here's How By Sam Hanks

SAVE TIRES AND LIVES

In the last two years, the winning car in the Indianapolis 500 has finished the race without changing tires.

When tires will stand up for 100 miles at a 150 mile-an-hour average on the Speedway, it's a real tribute to their staying qualities.

Even if you avoid a blowout, driving under-inflated tires takes thousands of miles off their life. Incidentally, contrary to a popular notion, letting air out of your tires is no real help in getting off ice.

So, if you want to save tires — and possibly your life — check tire pressures regularly.

Another good way to save tires — and lives — is to replace shock absorbers every 20,000 miles with new Monroe shock absorbers or front and rear Load-Leveler stabilizing units.

Worn shock absorbers are dangerous and can cost you as much as 17% in life, roughly about 5,000 miles of travel.

PLAY AS YOU GO

By Mary Whitman

"It always seemed somewhat magical to me to make dimensional objects from flat paper," says artist Lois Ehlert.

So she settled down one day to produce thirty-seven animals that a child could cut from flat paper, fold, and stand up. The result was a substantial play-book called Scissor Shapes, released by Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wis., world's largest producer of children's activity items.

A mobile-making book was another idea she devised, so the child could punch out colored shapes, tie them with yarn, and hang them up to sway in a breeze.

The popular counting book called Animals to See, 1-2-3 came about when she fiddled with torn tissue paper. A colorful zoo took shape to help a child count zebra stripes and leopard spots.

Even a toddler who yields unsteady crayons and crumples and tears for new effects is an artist at work, and enjoying it. His books can give him an appreciation of color, texture and shape that will last all his life.

Any youngster can carry the gains into family living. Boys can use design sense in their simple home repairs or major household buying later. Girls can turn a trained hand to entertaining. For example, they can give a party as the artist does. One of her favorite devices is to make a picture out of food.

Personal art is often more satisfying than anything a child can buy. Early playbooks that engage the eye and hand can go far in adding to youngsters' skills.

We are beginning to wonder if something we learned in school has been outmoded. One of the first and most important things we were taught in school was to be a good sport. It was more important in those days to learn to be a good sport than to be a winner. To learn to respect another's property is part of being a good sport today in it was merely years ago. School principals in Manchester and Napoleon are working to find out who cut the tires on a Manchester school bus and also slashed the top of two convertibles belonging to Manchester. A side mirror was ripped off of a car belonging to Napoleon and the left back tire on his car was also run. Something is wrong and school authorities are determined to get to the bottom of the trouble. Sports used to be a part of the school's curriculum to teach students not only to play a game well, but primarily to develop the admirable qualities of GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP.

There is a new line on Main Street. Wayne Ray purchased the Corner Mobil Station from Neil Baggett last week. Wayne has been employed at the Double A Poolroom for six and a half years before deciding to try some other type of work. We wish him good luck in this venture.

We want to pass along another bit of information. Saturday at least three people from Manchester will be in Ann Arbor taking the Civil Service Exam for the position of Postmaster for Manchester. Just how many others will be vying for this post cannot be ascertained at this time because others in the area might also be applying for the job. Marvin Kink has been acting postmaster here since the retirement of George Merriman.

TORN OUT FAMILY GRATEFUL FOR HELP

A Manchester area family that most of their possessions in a fire that swept the farm house in which they lived on Allen Road, northeast of Manchester, is now living at the Ben Uphaus house on Manchester-Chelsea Road.

Joseph Ginter said he could not begin to thank the volunteer fire department enough for the quick response to the call for help.

People in the area have contributed furniture, clothing and food stuff. Much of this was brought in by the Community Family Service and the Ann Arbor Kiwanis Club. Bob Barden, Kiwanis Chairman helping needy families and Don Butcher, also on the committee invited Ginters to go to their warehouse in Ann Arbor and pick out articles which they could use. A truck from the Burger Building Company brought a refrigerator, washing machine, wardrobes, television, living room chairs, records, books and clothing back to the Ginter home—a gift from the Kiwanis Club.

The big annual Kiwanis sale will be held at the Ann Arbor Armory on East Ann Street, Feb. 3, 4 and 5th. Anyone having articles which they would like to donate can call No. 5-0450 to arrange for pick-up. The Kiwanis Club is well known for its work with youth groups, the Fomey Clement program at the University Hospital, Boysville, Wolverine State and others. It is the biggest fund raising project is the Kiwanis sale next week.

The Joseph Ginter family is anxious to express their heartfelt thanks to the excellent way in which the fire department responded to their call for help when fire destroyed their home last Monday night.

They are very grateful too, to the people of the community for donations of clothing, furniture and food stuff.

Mr. Ginter said that they were very lucky to find another house in the area in which to live. The two children, who had been attending the Clinton Schools have enrolled in the Manchester school system.

So, once again in just two weeks the Manchester Fire Department can take a bow and accept bouquets for their excellent work in their out effort to put out fires in the area.

VARIETY SHOW COMING UP

A variety show is slated for February 1 at the high school at 8:00 p.m. and is sponsored by the Band Boosters Club to raise money for scholarships and uniforms. There will also be a candy sale held in conjunction with the variety show.

The Band Boosters meeting which had been set for January 31 has been postponed to Tuesday, February 8 at 8:00 p.m.

Of particular interest will be the entertainment which will include band members playing solos and ensembles at the meeting. This is in preparation for the Band Festival on February 12 for the Senior Band and on February 19 for the Junior High Band.

SCOUTS AND MORE SCOUTS! The largest assembly of Boy Scouts ever to attend a Scout Optimist Banquet, for a total of 25 scouts set down to dinner at Emanuel Church Hall Monday evening. The boys put their hosts on their toes when it came to introductions following the dinner. Plans called for each scout to be introduced by the Optimist seated next to him. —But there were not enough Optimists to go around. Acting chairman Robert Swartz called on Fine Master L. V. Kirk to do the honors. Fast thinking Chick Kirk conned Ray Tirk and Clarence Fielder to do the honors. But Swartz made one stipulation in his request to Kirk—if Chick passed the buck, the fine master would be fined a buck.

Scoutmaster Robert Armentrout and assistant Ron McNally gave the Optimist's an up-to-date report on the work of the forty boys who are now registered in scouting.

MEDICARE PROGRAM

The Medicare program is having a slow beginning in Washtenaw County. There are about 5,300 eligible residents in the county who have not signed up according to Robert A. Kehoe, local district manager of the Social Security Commission. There are about 8,700 persons signed up at this time and leaves a long ways to go before the end of March—which is the deadline for signing.

William Philippe, assistant district manager of the Social Security office says that there are 10,000 area residents already enrolled under social security and these do not pose a very great problem because they will automatically receive Medicare hospitalization. But if these people want the medical insurance part of the program—the part that helps to pay the doctor bills and many other medical bills they must meet the March 31st deadline. To the person having social security benefits this cost would be deducted from the monthly check. The cost for the medical part of the program is $3.00 a month.

Philippe said that it is the belief of his office that perhaps thereason the 5,300 have failed to respond is because they do not understand the program fully. Some may not want it and still others are waiting to see if their own insurance which they carry might not be adequate to cover the same medical expenses.

Those who do not sign up by March 31 will have to wait until the end of 1967 before they will be given a chance to sign up again and the monthly payments are predicted to be more than the $3.00 a month. If people have further questions they are asked to contact the Ann Arbor Social Security office for help.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Ted Stautz

Manchester Fair Board held the annual meeting and election of officers at which time Ted Stautz was reelected for a fourth term as president of the Board. Other officers also reelected were vice president, Jesse Walker; secretary, Maynard Leach, and treasurer, Lehman Wahl.

Others besides the officers named to the Board of Directors were newly elected Elmen Kopka and James Lyon. They will serve with Ellis Pratt, Lawrence Kemmer Willis Uphaus, Willis Hassett, Lowell Spike and Maynard Blossom.

ADMINISTRATORS APPOINTED FOR COMMUNITY COLLEGE

There are five administrative positions being created at the Community College and two of them have been filled.

The new positions are recommended by President David H. Ponitz to compose a complementary administrative team. They are: assistant to the president, business manager, dean of general studies, dean of occupational education and dean of student personnel services.

The appointees are Lloyd H. Van Buskirk, now director of campus development of Oakland College, as business manager, and David S. Pollock, director of university-community relations at the University of Michigan, as assistant to the president. Study of the formative plans for the study and suggested participants

CLERK NOTES REGISTRATION DEADLINE FOR VILLAGE ELECTION

The last day to register for the annual Manchester village election will be February 11. Lyle A. Widmayer, village clerk will be at Tibb Chevrolet at 131 Adrian Street to register voters at that time. The new law requires that voters be registered at least 13 days preceding the election.

There will not be a primary election here because there was not more than one candidate for each office in each party. Both the Citizens and the Progressives have candidates in the annual village election.

The date for the general election is Monday, March 14. The primary method of nominating candidates replaces the caucus nomination method previously used in village elections. Legislators believed that the primary would make it possible for any citizen, on filing proper nominating petitions, to become a candidate for the village office.

FARM COUNCIL ELECTIONS

Four new board members were elected by the membership of Farm Council at the annual meeting held January 19 at the Rural Activities Center. Named to replace the retiring district members were:

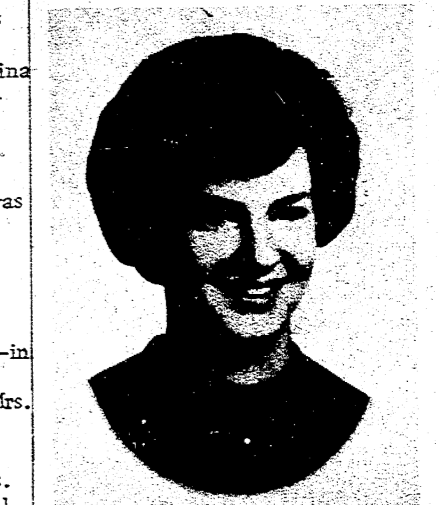

Norwin Lesser, Dexter (Lyndon-Dexter Townships) replacing Dale Lindeman.

Fred Meyer, Ypsilanti (Ann Arbor-Superior Townships) replacing William Macaulay.

Richard Wheeler, Whitmore Lake (Scio-Webster Townships) replacing George Macomber.

Jesse Walker, 7012 Lamb Road, Manchester (Manchester-Bridge-water Townships) was re-elected to the board.
