TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

This was the beginning for the trio and they have worked together since that time.

Because of their community spirit several Manchesterites thought it was about time the Community let these three know just how much the town thinks of them. A committee comprised of representatives of every organization banded together to form one big committee to iron out the details for the banquet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday after the open house at the Stamping Plant.

Bentschneider is currently village president and has been for five years, although not consecutively. He has also served as councilman for five years. He organized the Athletic Boosters Club and was its first president. For several years he was chairman of the United Fund Drive and was industrial chairman of the Community Chest.

Along with Fielder he is parade marshal at the Community Fair, a joint post they have held for several years. He has been active in the Emanuel Church council and as a Sunday school teacher. Bentschneider is secretary-treasurer of Manchester Stamping and vice-president of Manchester Tool & Die. He is married and has two sons and a daughter.

Stautz is primarily concerned with the Community Fair. On its board since 1960 this is his fourth year as president. While many small communities have discontinued having fairs the local fair increases in size every year and boasts the support of the community under the careful eye of its president.

But Stautz doesn't confine his efforts to the fair. He serves on the volunteer fire department with just as much zeal. He joined in 1955. Also a member of Emanuel Church, he is in his third year as a Church Council member. Having two sons and a daughter he has eked out time to work for several years on the Boy Scout Council and as a manager of the Little League baseball team. Stautz is active in the newly formed Chamber of Commerce. He is president of Manchester Stamping and secretary-treasurer of Manchester Tool & Die.

Fielder is president of Manchester Tool & Die and vice president of Manchester Stamping. Father of nine children, he is concentrating his efforts in school where he is currently on the advisory committee for the high school vocational program. He served on the school board four years and worked on the Washtenaw Community College Planning Committee. He is a Community Chest past president, a trustee on the Family Social Service committee, church board member at St. Mary's, member of the Ushers Club, Athletic Booster vice president, member of the village recreation committee for the children, member of the Building Committee for the Knights of Columbus and a Past Grand Knight.

Interested and active in athletics, Fielder played softball more than 20 years until taking over management of The Klager Children's softball team in 1963-a team which took the Class A District Championship in 1965.

Tool & Die now has two apprentices. Ron Fielder apparently is following in his father's footsteps. The other apprentice is Tim Grosbeck.

The new stamping plant is a two mile jaunt from the Tool & Die plant. It is located outside the west village limits at 17951 Austin Road. It is of concrete block construction and contains 3,000 square feet of space. Six to eight persons are employed and plans call for expansion. Raw material is made into fabricated parts, such as automotive retainers, door latches, parts for heaters for cars. Then there are mops, mop handles and rug scrubbers.

The public is invited to tour the new plant from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Manchester Family Service Reviews Project '74'

Mr. William Pierce, chairman of the legal committee of the study program, Project 74, and a professor in the Law School of the University of Michigan presented the findings of the committee thus far at the first annual meeting of the Manchester Family Service Agency Tuesday night.

Twelve organizations were represented at the meeting and three board members were elected to the board.

Clarence Fielder, Mrs. Paul Kappler & Mrs. Franklin M. Reck were reelected and Mrs. M. C. Brisbin was voted in to fill the one year vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Eugene Bentschneider.

Project 74 is a study of the juvenile court problems and needs being made through private funds by the Citizens Advisory Council of the Washtenaw County Juvenile Court. Another report will be ready in September.

With the impending flow of population into this entire area the study of the local courts is of immediate importance. By 1967 there will legally be a second juvenile court judge in the county and this will be some help. Other trained personnel, court rooms and office space must also be forthcoming. This involves a financial burden which citizens of the county should be aware of and start studying now.

Mr. Pierce's maps of the county depicting the area that the court cases come from; the location of families who receive under $5000 income; of people whose education stopped before or at 8th grade; of those on welfare; of those on ADC and the areas in which all social agencies are working were very revealing.

The speaker discussed the fallacy of the position now in practice in which the single judge is forced to be in a position of both judge and prosecutor as well as provider of foster homes and children for adoption.

He pointed out the fact that delinquent children should not be confused or combined with dependent and neglected children.

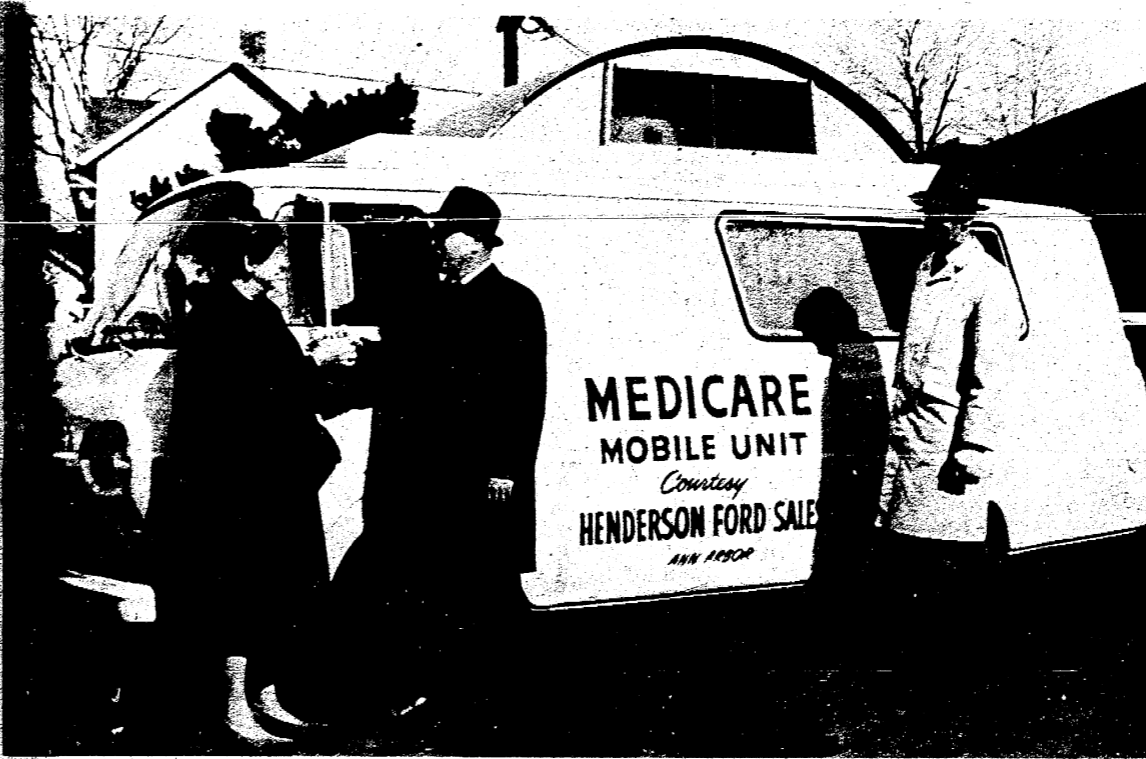

The county facilities are now doing this because the Juvenile Home is not capable of serving the needs for which it is being used. These and many other problems will come to the attention of Washtenaw County people this coming summer and fall and it will be necessary for everyone to be informed.

In the Family Service annual report given at Tuesday's meeting families assisted during the past year totaled 41. There were a total of 78 children in these families with some 172 individual contacts made by committee members.

Volunteer motor corps furnishing transportation at the request of a County Social Agency or by an individual without and unable to get transportation for medical, social service or "mercy" trips totaled some 75 trips for a total of 3,673 miles.

The Family Service also gave assistance -along with the Red Cross and Salvation Army to two families that were burned out during the last year.

The Manchester Family Service board elected the same officers for the coming year at the meeting which followed the annual meeting. They are: Mrs. Reck, chairman; Mrs. Brisbin, secretary and Burrill Hansen, treasurer. The next meeting of the board will be announced in late May or early June.

MOBILE UNIT TO VISIT MANCHESTER FOR MEDICARE

Nearly everyone 65 or older can get Medicare. The deadline for this sign-up period is March 31 and the program will start July, 1966. You don't have to have a medical examination. You don't have to have worked under social security, and you don't have to be retired! If you have not yet signed up contact Medicare Alert, 502 West Main Street, Ann Arbor, phone 665-8864.

The Washtenaw County Office of Economic Opportunity in conjunction with the County Board of Supervisors are setting up the County Medicare Alert and are making funds available to carry on the project. According to Mrs. Sheta Ling, project director, Washtenaw is doing everything possible to see that every senior citizen signs up for Medicare.

The Social Security Office, in this all out effort to reach the people involved, is sending out a mobile unit into the various townships of the county where people can go and sign up and ask questions. In Manchester Township the mobile unit will be at the Emanuel Church hall from 1 to 3 p.m. Thursday, March 17. It will be at the Sharon Township hall from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday, March 16; in Bridgewater at the Township hall from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, March 18 and on the same date it will be at the Saline Savings Bank from 7 to 9 p.m.

The mobile unit will be at the Pleasant Lake School in Freedom Township from 1 to 4 p.m. Wednesday, March 23; at the Lodi Township hall Tuesday, March 22 from 1 to 4 p.m. Although the unit has been in Chelsea it will make a return trip but the date has not been set. Anyone can go to any of the places regardless of whether you live in that particular township or not. Which ever location best suits the individual is the one he should choose.

"This is the best bargain for senior citizens that has ever come down the pike. I cannot over emphasize the importance of people signing up. There is no charge to people over 65 for the hospitalization part of the program; it is paid for through social security and other taxes. Everyone is eligible whether they are on social security or not," Mrs. Ling said.

"But people who are not under social security must sign up in order for them to receive benefits. If you were 65 before March 31, 1966, if you want your doctor bills covered by medicare when it starts in July, you must sign. You will not have another chance to enroll until October 1967 and then your protection will not begin until July 1968 and will cost more each month than the $3.00 a month if you sign up now," Mrs. Ling pointed out.

She said that this part of medicare must be signed for-even if you are covered by social security or railroad retirement benefits. You must apply for it if you get it. It is as simple as that. It will cost you $3.00 a month and the federal government will match it.

To date about 12,000 have signed up in Washtenaw County with about 15 per cent still unsigned. A new type of application has just been received at the local office. These are for people who will not be able to sign up in any of the locations when the mobile unit arrives. These special forms can be obtained by calling the Social Security office at 665-8864.

Mrs. Ling points out that many people say they are not retired at 65 years. This does not matter. You don't have to be retired. You have to be 65 by March 31. You don't even have to be a citizen-you can be a registered alien.

Persons who are 65 and under social security are automatically enrolled in the hospitalization phase of the plan which is two-fold.

The second part of the two package deal covers medical insurance. Many people wonder what it really pays for? She explained,

"It goes something like this-If you have this medical insurance you pay the first $50 of your medical bills each year. Medical insurance will pay $4 out of every $5 of your physician's bills and many of your other medical bills for the rest of the year.

IMMUNIZATION OF WASHTENAW COUNTY HIGH

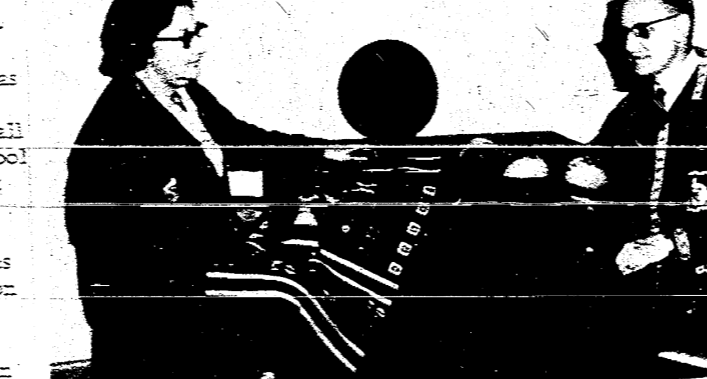

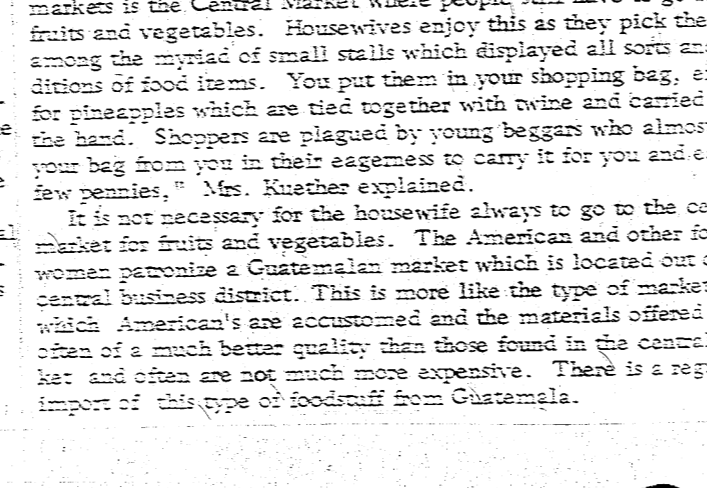

Manchester Area School District does not require its teachers to take any physical examinations. Neither does the Intermediate (Washtenaw County) School District and neither does the state.
It boils down that there are no mandatory health requirements of any kind for Michigan School teachers above the nursery school level although some individual school districts demand them. But school bus drivers, on the other hand, are required to take a physical examination every year-by state law.
After tuberculosis was discovered in a Garden City nursery school, Dr. Orr M. Engleke, County Health officer and his staff checked the twenty some nurseries in the county and found that all teachers had had physical exams and some had gone further to take the TB and x-ray tests, which are optional.
Dr. Engleke said that immunization of children in Washtenaw is high and includes about 90 per cent of the children. This is because doctors and pediatricians recommend early immunization and this is supplemented by an annual program sponsored by the County Health Department and Medical Society.
This year's "booster" for diphtheria, tetanus, small pox and polio in the junior high schools has been postponed until fall.
Dr. Engleke pointed out that all children entering elementary school or entering colleges must present an accounting of their status of health and immunization and boosters are urged except in cases where parents object to "shots" on religious grounds.
Dr. Engleke said he doesn't remember a case of diphtheria in Washtenaw although he has been health director for many years but there was a contract in an outlying area about eight years ago.
With grades and all adult school personnel are offered "Mentor" tests and more always teachers and staff take them. Last year there were 40 "reactors" among children but no cases.
The doctor pointed out that it is a good idea for people who have an extraordinary amount of contact with children to have periodic checks on their health condition every year or two years. They should have checked in particular the diseases that might spread to children.
Another interesting type of merchandising by the Guatemalan men is the bringing in of huge bundles of beautiful embroidered hand woven materials and finished articles of clothing made from the same which they sell door to door among the Americans and representatives of other nations who are living and working in Honduras.
He pointed out that the odor of the market cannot be described, neither can it be completely forgotten. The foodstuffs is taken home and washed with soapy water, rinsed and dried before being used. A person having been at the market feels the need of similar treatment the Kuetners said.
The type of beggars have changed over the years they found. Now there seems to be a type of syndicate which operates downtown, teaching the children to beg and then taking their earnings. Mothers were chaperoning little children as they begged in the streets and cathedrals and the visitors couldn't help but be sorry for the youngsters.

Kuetners' Note Changes in Thirty Years

by Marie Schneider

A Manchester minister and his wife have returned home after a trip to Honduras where they visited their son and wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Gustav Kuetner and little Scott, missionaries in San Pedro Sula, Honduras.
The Manchester couple made a similar trip thirty years ago. "Things have changed. Thirty years ago it took four days to get through Customs and travel by train to San Pedro Sula. This time we left home shortly after noon one day and were through Customs and at the mission by three o'clock the next day after spending four hours on the plane from New Orleans," Rev. Kuetner said.
He pointed out that this is winter time there with temperatures in the seventies and only varying about ten degrees from day to night. Road signs for control of traffic and work crews were new to the Kuetners as they rode the ten miles from the airport into town.
"At the railway station we were held up for a while by our old friend the narrow gauge railway which still runs first and second class coaches. New and modern buildings are set among the old ones. The signs of growth were evident when we arrived at the mission and saw two new school buildings which have been added to the compound—a primary school and a combination high school and normal. Now there are two new and modern type homes for mission staff," Rev. Kuetner said.
The downtown area of the mission contains a new church in Spanish style, the size of any in Manchester and a new building for general church school and organizational use. This houses the book store operated by the Department of Communications.
One of the things which has not changed is there is no twilight and no dawn. There are twelve hours of day and twelve hours of darkness. Improved electric service makes for better street lighting so it is safer to walk out at night than it was thirty years ago.
The closer one came to downtown the thicker were the groups of people standing in the streets and walking together. They roam until late at night with some sleeping in doorways, or in their push carts which would be ready for business the next day. Down town streets are paved but there are still dirt roads filled with ruts and streets in the outer areas. There is no drag racing there. Cars are in evidence although the American type car usually indicates a well-to-do businessman or official," the Manchester minister said.
Bananas were the chief product years ago. Today beef and cattle as well as sugar are being exported. The auto salesrooms were large and light. Usually there were samples of heavy equipment as well as cars and trucks. These and good department stores were interspersed with less attractive shops. The banks are new and modern but the post office was unchanged from former years. A person goes to the post office to buy one or two stamps but if he wants a quantity he goes to the book store and buys them by the sheet.
There is no mail delivery so the mission has a post office box and each evening one of the staff takes a truck to go after the post class mail which is picked up from a corner of the inner office, usually several armfuls.
"A few blocks from the better stores and two quite good super markets is the Central Market where people still have to go for fruits and vegetables. Housewives enjoy this as they pick their way among the myriad of small stalls which displayed all sorts and conditions of food items. You put them in your shopping bag, except for pineapples which are tied together with twine and carried over the hand. Shoppers are plagued by young beggars who almost take your bag from you in their eagerness to carry it for you and earn a few pennies," Mrs. Kuetner explained.
It is not necessary for the housewife always to go to the central market for fruits and vegetables. The American and other foreign women patronize a Guatemalan market which is located out of the central business district. This is more like the type of market to which American's are accustomed and the materials offered are often of a much better quality than those found in the central market and often are not much more expensive. There is a regular import of this type of foodstuffs from Guatemala.

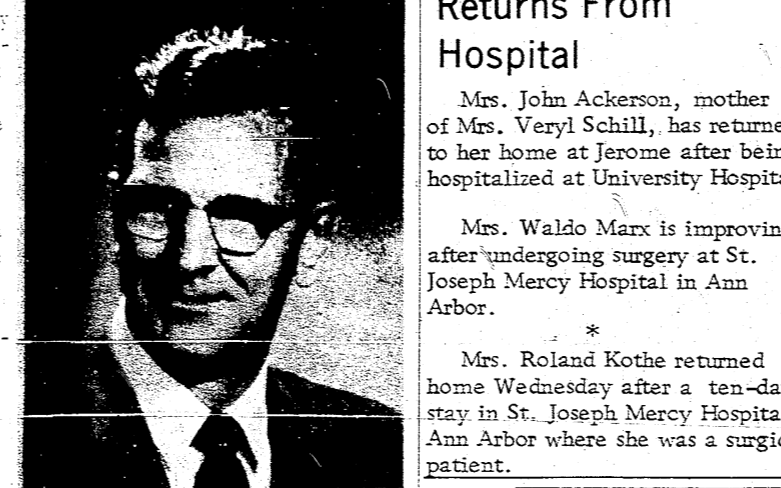

America, Kuetners found an interesting mixture of old and new, both in the business and residential section. There is a real combination of simple homes, filth and squalor and also fine shops and department stores which compare favorably with those in the United States today. Flowers abound and are often used to decorate the fence which is a necessary part of the better homes and is used to keep out intruders—often backed by a trained watch dog.
"Thirty years ago the Evangelical Mission was the only protestant one in San Pedro. The Cathedral faces the central plaza and the downtown church of the mission is just a few blocks away.
Other churches and chapels are found scattered throughout the city. Now there are many denominations which have chapels and services for the Honduran nationals, indicating a growth in the number of people being won to the Christian cause. The pattern seems to be that the Sunday morning worship service is for the members of the church and the evening services are of an evangelistic nature and are attended by the curious, the seekers, and those making up their minds to become full members through baptism and a new way of life," Rev. Kuetner said.
Educational opportunities have come a long way since the mid-thirties. The government has patterned its system in schools after that introduced by the mission and bids highly for teachers trained in United States Colleges. There is compulsory primary education in Honduras, but no enforcement of the law. There are two large boarding schools for Roman Catholic high school students. The one for boys is supported by the Christian Brothers and the girls' school is sponsored by the Society of St. Vincent de Paul which also runs a primary school in the central part of the city. Kuetners did not see the schools in operation because of winter vacation when they were there. They did see the pre-registration at the Mission Schools where three young people are denied admission for every lucky one because the demand is so great.
"Transportation has developed. Thirty years ago the port city was reached by train only. Now there is a highway. Outstations were reached only by mule back—now there are roads of sorts. The mission uses only trucks and jeep type vehicles because the roads are rugged. There are regular bus routes within the city and for 12.5 cents you can travel anywhere in the city up to the "avenue", above that the fare is double. But you have to learn to say "no" unless you want to be overwhelmed by a whole group.
On the streets in the neighborhood of the Mission Kuetners found the people to be very friendly. But the closer one came to the heart of the city, the less friendly they seemed. Kuetners said it might be that they felt less at ease when they came into the area that was filled with people of all types.
But they said that the warmth and friendliness of the people in the churches they visited made them feel that there is a close bond of brotherhood between Christians of all lands whether or not they can make themselves understood in words.
Heart breaking incidents happen every day at the mission. But one which stood out to the Kuetners was when the compound lost one of its jeeps. A dentist from the States was there for a short time donating his time to take care of some of the dental needs of the mission. He and several nurses drove off to take care of the natives. They had to come across a river and the jeep was mired. The river started to rise at the rate of 6 inches in 15 minutes. They managed to get to safety by the jeep was swept away, even though they had tied it to a tree. The dentist lost all of his equipment and medicine. Then there was the five mile hike to a little church to get help and reversal more miles of walking.
Kuetners pointed out that missionaries learn to accept these things as a part of their sacrifice.

Area Oil Man Celebrates 25 Years
Mr. Gelm S. Robinson of 322 South Macomb Street, Manchester was recently honored by Shell Oil company upon completion of 25 years of service.
Supervisor Pipeline of the Company's Wolverine Maintenance Crew at Manchester, Mr. Robinson was presented with a diamond studded service emblem and an engraved watch.
Starting with Shell as a Maintenance Laborer at Mansfield, Mass. he later served as a leader, terminal operator, pipeline and inspector.
In 1953 he was transferred to Jackson, Michigan, and later assigned to Toledo, Ohio, as Terminal Man. Mr. Robinson was subsequently assigned as Delivery Station Operator and Truck Driver at Manchester prior to assuming his present classification.

On the streets in the neighborhood of the Mission Kuetners found the people to be very friendly. But the closer one came to the heart of the city, the less friendly they seemed. Kuetners said it might be that they felt less at ease when they came into the area that was filled with people of all types.
But they said that the warmth and friendliness of the people in the churches they visited made them feel that there is a close bond of brotherhood between Christians of all lands whether or not they can make themselves understood in words.
Heart breaking incidents happen every day at the mission. But one which stood out to the Kuetners was when the compound lost one of its jeeps. A dentist from the States was there for a short time donating his time to take care of some of the dental needs of the mission. He and several nurses drove off to take care of the natives. They had to come across a river and the jeep was mired. The river started to rise at the rate of 6 inches in 15 minutes. They managed to get to safety by the jeep was swept away, even though they had tied it to a tree. The dentist lost all of his equipment and medicine. Then there was the five mile hike to a little church to get help and reversal more miles of walking.
Kuetners pointed out that missionaries learn to accept these things as a part of their sacrifice.

OVERMILKING reduces milking efficiency, encourages mastitis, and may be detrimental to milk production. Prolonged milking leads to cell injury which provides entry for infection and mastitis. To prevent overmilking avoid milking by routine and don't try to operate too many machines. This allows you time to give fast milkers individual attention and to keep up with the machines. Also, set up your schedule so other jobs are held to a minimum while milking.

GRAIN BIN CAPACITY. Do you have some corn or soybeans in storage you want to sell but aren't certain how much you have? Here's a way to estimate it: Round bin—1/2 diameter x 1/2 diameter x height = volume in cubic feet. Rectangular—length x width x height = volume in cubic feet. To get bushels, divide volume by cubic feet in 1 bushel of grain. Corn measures 2.5 cubic feet per bushel and soybeans measure 1.35.

STOMACH ULCERS IN SOWS are being reported with increasing frequency. Ulcer outbreaks are during late pregnancy or at farrowing because of the added stress at that time. Severity ranges from loss in weight to death by bleeding. To reduce ulcers keep sow movement and ration changes to a minimum before farrowing. Any sudden change creates stress. Keep sows quiet, visitors away, and don't even change managers.

FLOW SIZE a tractor can comfortably handle in average soil conditions can be estimated by this rule of thumb: Figure one moldboard bottom per 15 rated pto horsepower. Thus a 60 pto horsepower tractor should pull a four-bottom plow. Adjust this up or down for light or heavy soil.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing will be heard on March 7, 1966 at 7:30 P.M. in the Village Chambers at 120 So. Clinton on the proposed budget of the general fund of the fiscal year ending February 28, 1967

VICE PRESIDENT MEETS DISTRICT STUDENTS

Congressman Weston E. Wytman expressed great pride and pleasure in the outstanding performance of forty-four student representatives from high schools throughout the Second Congressional District during their press conference with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on Monday, Feb. 7 at Pease Auditorium on the campus of Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti. Chosen by their schools on the basis of leadership and scholarship, the members of this youthful "press corps" included 16 student council presidents, five senior class officers, and two school newspaper editors, as well as many active members of the National Honor Society, Future Farmers of America, and 4-H groups.

Among those representing high schools in Washtenaw County were: Maynard Blossom and Phillip Spike of Manchester, Ted Nichols, Ann Arbor; Duane Schroen, Chelsea; John Peck, Dexter; Glen Viers, Ypsilanti; James Horton, Milan; Donald Calder, Roosevelt High, Ypsilanti; Thomas Berarducci, St. Thomas, Ann Arbor; Gary Girbach, Saline; Tom Wall, University High, Ann Arbor; Gerald Donner, Whitmore Lake; Terese Klingler, Willow Run High School, Ypsilanti and Craig Atchinson, Ypsilanti High School.

After each student formulated a question on a topic of national or international concern, the group as a whole then voted on the ones they considered most important to ask the Vice President.

Presenting one of the questions selected by students from Washtenaw County, Phillip Spike, representing Manchester High School, asked, "Do you think that Red China will increase its role in the South Viet Nam war?"

In reply, the Vice President said that while such an increase was a possibility, he doubted that it would occur, though he admitted that the Red Chinese "will try to get by with what they can without getting hurt."

Thus far they have given technical assistance, he said, but "there is no evidence of organized military units there." The aim of the United States in South Viet Nam, the vice president continued, "is not the destruction of North Viet Nam or China, but to make the cost to the aggressor too high to indulge in" and to insure that "the rule of the jungle will not become the rule of international law."

The power of the United States, he added, "is so massive that it has to be limited in use. Statesmanship must avert or avoid situations in which world war would follow or become inevitable."

Later Steven Laiffay, representing St. John the Baptist High School in Ypsilanti asked, "With the new prime minister of India, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, can you foresee any changes in World or U.S.-India relations?"

The Vice President replied that, if anything, our relations with India "will improve."

Having met Mrs. Gandhi personally, he said, he found her to be an "experienced, able politician" and leader and a friend of the United States.

Other student questions concerned: surplus food and foreign aid; federal aid to private and parochial schools, the effect of the war effort abroad on the amount of money available for the war on poverty; the small amount of federal budget allocated to education by comparison with that for defense; the recent suggestion proposing a guaranteed fixed income for all families of at least $3,000; and President Johnson's message on new international education program.

When he was informed that the time scheduled for the press conference was up, the Vice President, obviously impressed by the students' knowledge of, and interest in, the variety of problems facing the country, quickly indicated his desire to continue saying, "They've (the students) been waiting a long time," a reference both to his late arrival, due to weather conditions, and to the fact that the press conference had originally been planned for his previously scheduled visit to the Second District at Adrian College last October.

After the Vice President had fielded several questions, a student spokesman for the group concluded the press conference with the traditional words, "Thank you, Mr. Vice President." Then Mr. Humphrey walked across the stage to shake hands and speak with each of the students.

During a speech on the high school dropout problem preceding the press conference, the Vice President, addressing many of his remarks directly to the students seated on stage opposite him, also expressed his interest in them as representatives of their generation. Stating that every young person should have the "opportunity and encouragement to secure the best education possible," he said, "we need every single American operating at full performance" because the "only margin of security in this world is ability, talent, and brainpower." Noting that if the present school dropout rate continues, there will be 32 million adult non-high school graduates in the potential labor force by 1975, he emphasized that the nation "cannot afford this loss of resources" and urged the students to encourage their friends to stay in school.

The importance of education, the theme of Vice President Humphrey's visit to Michigan, was admirably demonstrated by the 44 students representing the Second Congressional District. Their perceptive and stimulating questions during the press conference clearly illustrated the Vice President's statement that "knowledge, intelligence, and understanding are the new wealth."

Sunday Visitors

Mrs. Dorothy Bus, Mrs. Geo. Knouse, Mrs. Vernon Dresselhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boettner, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kleiser and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kotke and family were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Kotke.

JOBLESS RATE HITS NEW LOW

Unemployment rate in Washtenaw County decreased to an unprecedented monthly average low of 1.7 per cent last year, Robert Simpson, local manager for the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported.

The county's labor force increased from 102,400 in December 1964 to 108,500 in December 1965, Simpson said.

He said that last October unemployment was only eight-tenths of a total labor force, the lowest in the state. The Ann Arbor office of the Employment Security Commission placed 5,113 applicants in jobs last year.

Brooklyn Spoils 'Dutch' Perfect Bid

Brooklyn spoiled Manchester's hopes of finishing unbeaten in the Lakeland C Conference Friday night by handing the champion Flying Dutchmen a 74-72 setback at Brooklyn.

Manchester posted a 11-1 conference record and 14-3 overall slate. Brooklyn tied for second with Clinton at 9-3 and is 11-5 on the season.

Brooklyn's well balanced scoring attack overcame a 40-point effort by Manchester's Jim Fielder. Bob Borchardt sank 19 for the Golden Eagles and Rusty Peterson 16. Brooklyn had 11 of 12 players score.

Brooklyn led 41-28 at halftime and then fought off a last minute comeback by the Dutch.

Charity Pin Titles

Bob Cox and Marilyn Turner won the Jaekoen area rolloff Sunday in the third annual bowlers Charity tournament at Bowlorama Lanes.

They'll lead six Jackson bowlers to the state tournament Sunday at Alpena.

Cox won men's honors with 622-54-676, one pin better than runnerup Charles Randall's 585-90-675. Ken Soule was third with 598-51-649 for the last state qualifying spot.

Turner shot 553-123-682 to lead the women. Irene Wurster, 544-90-634, and Marisa Davis, 448-186-634, tied for runnerup honors. Cox and Turner earned new bowling balls and trophies. Randall, Davis and Wurster also received trophies.

A FACT!

Basketball is now the nation's number one spectator sport—and small wonder! It's a fast-paced, high-scoring, exciting game. Wilt Chamberlain holds the individual scoring record—100 points scored in one game. The Boston Celtics claim the team record—173 points in one contest.

Re: Manchester, Michigan
 Sewers
 Dated: February 15, 1966

On Friday, February 11 Mr. Limpert, resident of the Village of Manchester, called at our office to discuss the possibility of his constructing apartment units in the area north of Washington Street in the exbow area formed by the Raisin River.

The nearest sanitary sewer to his development is the 8-inch sewer in Washington Street which extends northerly from Madison. This particular sewer is connected into the Old County Drain system which extends westerly outside the city limits and then runs in through the City and empties into the Raisin River south of Duncan Street. At this point there is a diversion chamber which diverts the dry weather flow into a 12-inch sewer which extends across the River to the pumping station. We pointed out to Mr. Limpert that this old County Drain system periodically floods during heavy runoff from storms and melting snow and that the Village has that trouble with flooded basements in this area.

For this reason in 1961 we studied this problem and come up with recommendation for a series of storm sewers to remove considerable amount of the storm water from the Old County Drain system so that it would not flood. However, these storm sewers cost considerable amount of money and the Village has never proceeded with them.

We, therefore, pointed out to Mr. Limpert that we could not recommend that he be allowed to connect into the 8-inch sewer in Washington with his apartment development, but that we would recommend he be permitted to tap into the sewer in Madison Street near the Post Office. This particular sewer is almost exclusively a sanitary sewer and runs directly to the pumping station so that there should be no problem in flooding or the apartment development causing any other flooding in the area.

We gave Mr. Limpert a copy of our master plan for storm drainage in the area dated June, 1961 entitled "General Plan Southwestern Area." (signed) J. C. Seeley.

All yeas, carried.
 Moved by McGuire and supported by Koebbe that Florence Burch, Joyce Schaffer, Waldo Marx, Mary Ann Fielder and Marjorie Bentschneider be appointed as Election Inspectors for the March 14, 1966 election. All yeas, carried.

Moved by Clark and supported by Koebbe that a public hearing be held March 7, 1966 on the General Fund Budget for the fiscal year ending February 28, 1967. All yeas, carried.

Moved by Koebbe and supported by Lowery we adjourn. Carried.

VISIT MANCHESTER FOR MEDICARE

"This insurance doesn't cover everything. It does not cover prescription drugs. But its benefits are considered to be very good protection by most people in the insurance field. Another thing to remember is that you select your own physician and these home health services help you pay the doctor."

"Home Health services—up to 100 visits each year by nurses if other health workers comes under the plan along with x-ray, pedicure and emergency ambulance service, to mention a few," Mrs. Ling explained.

There are more things covered in the new insurance plan and the insurance companies are expected to be cutting some of these coverages and adding to their new policies—most of which will be ready by the July first deadline and when Medicare takes effect.

"In order to be adequately covered we are urging everyone to sign if they are in the 65-year and older bracket—at least for hospitals. That will cost them nothing. To protect themselves they should sign out the $3 a month medical insurance," Mrs. Ling concluded.

CARD OF THANKS

WE WOULD LIKE TO THANK EVERYONE WHO PARTICIPATED AND GAVE US SUCH A WONDERFUL EVENING AT THE RECOGNITION BANQUET. IT WAS CERTAINLY VERY THOUGHTFUL AND WE APPRECIATED IT TREMENDOUSLY.
