By Mary Whitman
The "donkey game" is a party standby.

No one seems to know how long youngsters have been pinning tails on donkeys at birthdays. If you're new to the game, here's how it goes. A picture of a donkey is mounted on the wall or door at the children's arm level. Paper donkey tails are provided, usually numbered 1 to 24. Each child is blindfolded, is turned around once or twice, then goes unsteadily to the picture to pin the tail. The donkey tail closest to the right position wins — but most turn up pinned to the ears, the body, or the clouds in the sky in the picture's background.

Party-givers will find that variety stores now have an extra large boxed donkey game with many advantages. The picture — a soft-eyed Mediterranean donkey bearing flowery baskets — could become a permanent wall decoration. It's 28" x 22" in size, can be mounted on corrugated cardboard for the game, then framed to brighten the play room between birthdays.

"Another bright spot — especially for those giving parties for the first time — is the booklet of games enclosed in the box," points out game editor Mary Hill of Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wis. "The donkey tails can be used for party stunts and fortunes. Each child takes a numbered tail, and the hostess reads 'assignments' and fortunes from the book."

Other games are suggested, too, for small-party festivity. For instance, five party games can be planned around a pound of peanuts in the shell. Children can play peanut carry, peanut toss, peanut blow, red-hot peanuts and peanuts in the bag — and eat the peanuts later. "Red-hot peanuts" is a variation of musical chairs and hot potato. Peanuts are passed around a seated circle until the music — radio, record player, or piano — stops. Peanut holders are out. The last child to stay in the circle without a peanut wins. Rules for other games such as Who Am I, Stop Thief and Make a Break are here, too. So are tips on magic tricks.

The next party could be the easiest with helps like these.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Yes, the dance project was successful. This community did a wonderful job of supporting the benefit for Melvin "Red" Lamb.

The cooperation of the committee received was outstanding and words cannot express our deep gratitude.

Through the efforts and support of many people the amount of approximately $5,500 was raised from this particular part of the benefit.

We wish to express a special thanks to the bands, the fine party and to those who donated the food, refreshments, supplies, facilities and equipment.

We extend our appreciation to those who helped at the refreshment table, sold tickets and every one who helped the benefit in any way.

A sizeable amount was also contributed to the fund by the wonderful Father's Day Breakfast held by the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary. There was very good food, it was well organized, and the wonderful community spirit showed on the faces of all those who enjoyed the breakfast.

Although these two big projects are now completed, we urge you not to forget the fund set up in the Union Savings Bank which will remain open. The money raised at this time is only a small portion of what Red's expenses will be.

He will need medical help regularly for the rest of his life. He also needs our prayers and help to help him to a speedy recovery. Again we say "thank you" to the Dance Committee.

WIVES CELEBRATE JUNE BIRTHDAYS

by Marie Schneider

More than seventy relatives including children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren were present Sunday to help Mrs. Charles (Anna) Wyer of Grass Lake, 90, and her sister, Mrs. Ralph Kimble of Manchester, 81, celebrate their birthdays. Mrs. Kimble's daughter, Mrs. Robert Weisbar of Michigan Center, standing behind her sisters are (l to r) Mrs. Amelia Kemner, Manchester, 84 on March 2; Albert Wollpert, Manchester, 82 on Sept. 8 and Mrs. William (Clara) Lutz of Jackson, 86 on January 24.

With them to help them celebrate were their sisters, Mrs. Amelia Kemner of Manchester and Mrs. William (Clara) Lutz of Jackson and their brother, Albert Wollpert of Manchester. They are the only living children of the 13 in the family of Jacob and Adericka Wollpert of Sharon Township where they were all born and attended the Craft School.

In those days it was necessary for them to go to work at an early age. Their parents were poor and even in the summertime their school was out they worked for farmers in the area, helping with at housework and in the fields. Mrs. Kemner remembers that her first job brought her 75 cents a week and room and board.

"We had to work, too. It seems that now days everyone tries to help children and see that they don't have hard work to do. But it wasn't true when we were little. No one would ever think of helping children to carry water the distance we had to water plants in the garden. Apparently that hard work didn't hurt us any," she laughed.

When Albert was about 10 one of his jobs was to drive cattle for a farmer from one field down the road to another field twice a day. He said that every day he watched a melon patch as he walked by. One day as he was returning from driving the cows to pasture one of the melons looked so good he couldn't resist picking it. He said he looked around and saw no one. Just as he was climbing the fence someone called to him.

"I figured I was going to meet my Waterloo and I was plenty scared," Mr. Wollpert recalled.

"The farmer was a kindly man and when I got over to him he told me that as long as I was going to take a melon he thought I'd show me how to pick out a ripe one. The one I had wasn't very good. That was the best lesson that anyone ever taught me. He didn't scold or point out that I was stealing. But that was something I never forgot. I never took a melon again either," Wollpert said.

Mrs. Lutz has a twinkle in her eye when she tells about the time that one of her schoolmates insisted on teasing her on the way to school. Anyway, she said, she took it about as long as she could and "I just took my dinner pail and hit him over the head with it. I guess no one ever thought I'd put up much of a battle because I'm such a little girl. But I didn't have any more trouble."

After an older sister married and lived in Chicago, Mrs. Kimble moved and worked there for five years before she was married. She liked the big city but would rather live in a small town.

Ninety-year-old Mrs. Wyer looks back to some Christmas times when the family was young and money was scarce. "I don't know how children would respond today if they had a Christmas like one I remember. Santa Claus suits were unheard of and came in with a sheet over his head so we couldn't see who it was. He had a square box filled with animal candies and one orange for each of us. That was Christmas as far as gifts were concerned," she said.

Her brother and sisters nodded. But they agreed that it was a happy time, made so because each one put something in to it like the day pleasant for the rest. "They wonder if, perhaps things were not made quite so easy for children, they might be better prepared to meet the problems of the day. No one wants to hurt them. I don't mean that they

Australian Girl Tells of Congress Aims

by Marie Schneider

A student from the University at Sidney, Australia, here to attend the Lithuanian International Youth Congress scheduled for the July 4th weekend in Chicago, explains some of the aims of the event.

Ramune Zinkas, an 18-year-old blond, who is studying veterinarian science traveled some 18,000 miles to meet with other displaced Lithuanians. About 500 stopped at the Lithuanian Camp west of Manchester before going into Chicago.

Ramune said that these young people and their parents have been planning for more than five years to hold the International in Chicago. She pointed out that this meant a great deal of sacrifice on the part of many people to be able to bring this about.

"Chicago was picked 1st, because it is in the United States; 2nd because there are the facilities necessary for such a large group; and third, there are many Lithuanians in that city. 'Somehow, we do not want our people forgotten by the rest of the would have to be hit over the head with a dinner pail but sometimes things are made too easy," Mrs. Lutz said.

Mrs. Wyer has one son and four grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren; Mrs. Kimble has one daughter and two sons and five grandchildren. Ten of Mrs. Kemner's 11 children are living. She has 27 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren. Mrs. Lutz had one son and a grandchild. Mrs. Wollpert's wife died several years ago. They had no children. The four sisters are all widows.

Coming the greatest distance to the party were the Paul Harbeck of Bad Godesberg, Germany. Their little son Paul is the great-grandson of Mrs. Kemner.

MANCHESTER TO JOIN SALINE IN CELEBRATION

Caravanners to Manchester on Saturday, July 9 will parade through town and then congregate at the Mann's Mill for a street dance.

It is expected that some 200 to 400 cars will be in the caravan. Leading will be old cars and possibly horse drawn carts.

The Manchester Fire Department has been challenged by Saline David Baker at Eastern Michigan.

David Baker of Manchester High School is one of 30 participants from 21 states attending an Advanced Study Institute in Geography at Eastern Michigan University, financed by a National Defense Education Act grant.

world. Although our country was taken over by the Russians more than 25 years ago, many of our relatives still remain there under the domination of the Iron Curtain," she said.

The congress is made up mostly of University students. She also said that most of them would be wearing their native costumes, singing their country songs and speak the Lithuanian language. There will be an exchange of ideas on ways to help oppressed relatives. One of the very important things to discuss she said will be ways in which Lithuanians can help their adoptive countries.

The visitor said that there is much concern about Argentina and the delegation from that country is worried about their families that they left behind — just to come to the congress at Chicago's Conrad Hilton.

She noted that her family in Sidney seldom hears from her grandmother behind the Iron Curtain.

The visitor said she believes that this type of international congress is the only way to "get our people, or representatives of our people together so we can work out some of our mutual problems."

She explained that the tension that the people are under at times is almost impossible to stand.

Asked how the money was raised to pay for the trip for these people, she explained that in many communities the Lithuanians held dances, bake sales and asked for donations to raise the funds. They went about their money raising project much the same as people in this country do.

Ramune said her parents escaped to Germany 25 years ago but her grandparents were taken to a forced labor camp in Siberia. Her grandfather died 2 years ago. Ramune was born in Germany.

We cannot express adequately our thanks and appreciation to the countries that have opened their doors to us. There are between two and a half million and three million Lithuanians in the free world and a million behind the Iron Curtain."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FOR THE ENTERPRISE:

Because of the aroused interest in the Manchester anti-poverty program, I have done some research and have come to the conclusion that most citizens are inadequately informed about this anti-poverty grant.

The intent of congress was that the funds would benefit education and economically deprived areas, such as those who live in ghettos and who do not have access to accredited schools or certified teachers. If this program is initiated with the approval of the Board of Education, the board should explain the existence of the educationally deprived child, particularly when the voters have never denied requested operational millage.

The enrollment list shows that the qualifying factor of being "economically deprived" seems to have been very loosely interpreted at the least. It would be interesting to know how many of the families involved would have been able to pay for a read program.

It is my understanding that Manchester "qualified" for this aid because of those on "Aid-Dependent-Children" (ADC) of 1962 and the 1960 census. It isn't logical to conclude that the enrollees are ADC recipients. But they aren't.

Because this is a federally funded program (money from all taxpayers) those parents who don't and would pay for extra help for their children, they must go to neighboring communities to find such help.

The benefit of going to a baseball game is open to all. There are few children who must be convinced that something is fun, if it is. Could we carry the "school is fun" concept too far? Would there be "under-achievers" if good study habits and the need for effort on the Student's part is stressed more? Learning arithmetic reading is more difficult for . . . but shouldn't we learn to turn the ball game in order to achieve these things?

Besides ball games, there are donated funds for dental care, sociological testing, psychiatric and meals, to mention a few. In closing I would like to quote an article in the U.S. News and World Report of June 27, 1966 entitled, "Why U.S. Gold Goes Abroad and Stays there".

"Foreigners hold more than 29 billion dollars in US bank deposits other short term investments; those dollars can be presented to the U.S. Treasury for gold at a time." (there is less than 14 billion now in Fort Knox).

The main criticism of the Johnson Administration by Europe's bankers centers on the failure to use more fiscal restraints. The failure of the U.S. and some other key countries to use budget controls has been a primary factor in hoarding of gold.

Lack of federal fiscal responsibility is manifest even in affluent Manchester, Michigan.

I understand the school board is willing to meet with interested parents who may want more information on this anti-poverty program.

Sincerely,
John B. Cole

CEREAL LEAF BEETLES ON INCREASE IN STATE

A recent survey of oat fields in Washtenaw County indicates cereal leaf beetles are on the increase. Dr. Al Dowdy, Michigan State University Extension Entomologist and Don Johnson, County Extension Agent surveyed twelve fields in six townships.

The insect was found in the larvae in ten of the twelve fields and one in the adult stage. The number varied considerably between fields, the largest number were found in fields in the southern part of the county.

Farmers wishing to check their fields should look for a small like larvae, black in color ranging in size from pin head to 1/8 inch long. The larvae feeds on the leaves only and leaves the skeleton of the leaf. The leaves look white in color where the feeding has taken place.

No field checked warranted a spray program, however, Dr. Dowdy predicted in 1967 infestation could be such to warrant a spray program. By 1968 with normal weather conditions, the insect will likely become an economic threat to the county's cereal grain crops.

MICHIGAN BELL HAS CAMPAIGN ON CRANK CALLS

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company has launched a campaign against obscene and harassing phone calls.

Nicholas J. Prakken, manager, said Michigan Bell is deeply concerned with the increase in the number of obscene, harassing or crank calls and that the company is stepping up its efforts to protect customers against them.

In a concerted attack on the problems, Prakken said, the company is using new equipment and developing new techniques to identify the calling of numbers of anyone making obscene, harassing or crank calls.

Among the new devices is one which has the capability of "locking in" on a call. In some cases, it can lead to identification of the calling telephone line even after the person who made the call has hung up.

In addition, Prakken said, the phone company has set up new procedures for all handling of complaints of such calls at each of its business offices throughout the state. In each office especially trained service representatives have been assigned to handle the complaints.

The Detroit metropolitan area, a centralized Annoyance Call Bureau has been established. These specialists will coordinate action by the company's security people with the customer and police agencies.

MICHIGAN POLICE

HOPE FOR A SAFE 4th

The Michigan State Police are primed to have their "eye in the sky" traffic watch in full operation to augment the department's July 4th weekend holiday patrols, Col. Frederick E. Davids, reports.

The three State Police planes will team with patrol cars for traffic law enforcement in selected hazard areas according to plans to make this a regular operation.

Though police patrols will be intensified over the holiday, Colonel Davids emphasized that individual motorists must co-operate fully in accident prevention efforts if Michigan is to realize a reduction in death tolls which numbered 43 for the recent Memorial Day weekend and 23 in the July 4 period last year. Both were 78 hour weekends as is the coming holiday.

THE LANSING REPORT

Senator GIL BURSLEY

It has been my pleasure this week to host the 95 student musicians in Musical Youth International for a public concert at the State Capitol in Lansing.

Many of you are familiar with this outstanding group of high school students from southern Michigan and neighboring Ohio.

They have diligently rehearsed and perfected their musical ability each Saturday afternoon for many months in the attractive setting of Saline's modern High School.

This has all been done under the inspiring direction of Lester McCoy, Conductor of the University of Michigan Musical Society and the Director and Founder of Musical Youth International.

These talented young musicians are departing this Thursday for a musical tour of several western European countries where they will give a series of concerts. I was particularly delighted therefore to have them in Lansing just two days prior to their departure.

We arranged for a band concert on the front steps of the Michigan State Capitol and then for some singing by the Chorus in the Capitol rotunda under the great dome.

Legislature members, supreme court justices, secretaries and capital employees alike all appreciated the opportunity to be Musical Youth International in action. I hope in turn that the students derived some pleasure from seeing their state government.

They had the opportunity to visit the Senate and the House of Representatives to meet Lt. Gov. Milliken, Gov. Romney was aware of the visit and had a long standing engagement with the Conference of State Governors that took him outside of Michigan.

Fortunately I was able to attend many of my legislative colleagues who had students from their districts in the group. Thus some of the Senators and Representatives were able to meet and greet student musicians during the noon hour.

I personally offered a special trophy to be given this fall to the student who writes the best essay describing how the Musical Youth International serves as ambassadors of Good Will for the United States of America in whatever country they may be visiting.

I wish the entire group, Director Lester McCoy and the staff and accompanying parents a most successful and inspiring tour of Europe. I think the city of Lansing is to be complimented for having this organization so effectively during the winter months.

SERVICEMAN WRITES HOME

Pvt. Ray Wurster writes to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wurster from Germany: May 29, 1966

Dear Mom and Dad: Guess the only way to write this letter is to give you a step by step account of the trip.

Thursday, May 26 We got up at 4 a. m. Between 4 and 5 a. m. we turned in our linen and ate breakfast. At 5:45 a. m. we left to be checked out for the last time.

We arrived at the airport at 7 a. m. and checked out at 8:15 a. m. for Philadelphia, Pa. We flew over the Indianapolis Speedway but couldn't see much because of the altitude. We were flying at 15,000 feet. Arriving at the airport at 11:30 a. m. we took a bus to Fort MeGuire Air Force Base in Wrightstown, New Jersey.

Friday, May 27 We left the McGuire Base at 1 a. m. Flying at 34,000 ft. we didn't have much of a chance to see London for the clouds. They said the temperature was 75 degrees below zero and the plane was traveling at 600 MPH.

We arrived at Frankfurt, Germany at 7:05 a. m. your time which is 1:05 p. m. here. We are 6 hours ahead of you! It took an hour to claim baggage at the terminal. And about midnight we got to bed. It takes sometime to get our linens etc.

Saturday, May 28 We got up at 5:30 a. m., not much sleep. Hanau is about an hour from Frankfurt. Both the Chaplain and the Major gave us a talk. They actually served us coffee and donuts. We had a good conversation with the major and a sergeant once the lecture was over.

After chow we left for Wildflecken, one of Hitler's strong holds. This is where he trained his storm troops. This is the strong hold that Patton never realized existed until he was fifty miles past it. Patton was down in the valley when he went by and it was very well camouflaged. The hooks in the roof that were used to hang the camouflaging can still be seen. This place is known as "The Hill" and is situated on a hill. The scenery from this point is beautiful. Now I can see why this is called God's Country--looking at the scenery, that is what it is.

Went to the EM Club and there was some good entertainment. This included a band and a floor show that was pretty good. They had all kinds of mixed drinks and beer. Both are cheap compared to prices back home. Before this we ate chow and got acquainted with the post. It isn't big, but we still didn't get to see it all.

Tuesday we process and after this we get a permanent company. To make sure that I wouldn't forget anything I took a few notes. As you can see by this letter I arrived safely with no problems whatsoever. After Tuesday I hope to have a permanent address. I will write to you as soon as I find out what it is. I am in need of sleep and hope to get some tomorrow. There isn't much to do until Tuesday. I'll want you to send my German book as soon as I find out what the mail service is.

Sunday, May 29 I didn't get up until noon. It seemed good as I needed sleep. I looked around the post in the afternoon and went to the 6:30 p. m. show. After that we went to the EM Club and listened to the band until it closed at 10:45 p. m. Will write more tomorrow.

Monday, May 30 Here it is early afternoon. No, I didn't just get up if that is what you are thinking. But I did sleep until shortly before 10 a. m. For the present there isn't much else to do. But all this will change on Tuesday and it will be a welcome change. This is getting a little boring.

Tuesday, May 31 Today we went to personnel to find out where we were going and what we are going to be doing.

The one sergeant said he would like to know if I would like to get into maintenance and I told him that I would as it is working with trucks and wheeled vehicles in one section and in the other you work on heavy equipment. I don't know yet if this is what I'm going to be doing as they sent five of us to D Company which is located at Badnauersfeld. This to us is interesting because it is within 10 miles of the Czechoslovakian border.

If everything works out right I'll be a maintenance man down here. I hope this is what I get, as the work seems as if it would be interesting or should I say that it is the type of work I think I would like.

By the time this letter reaches you I'll be back as we have a 26 day training period up there. This will be about the same that we had in AIF. Thought I was out of it temporarily. Ha! Ha!

Wednesday, June 1 Happy Birthday, sister. Thought that I would forget, didn't you? Well, I didn't. Feels that a surprise!

Today they issued us most of our equipment and tomorrow we start in the field for 20 some days. We stay in the barracks at Wildflecken. They told me today that I was to get on the job training as a mechanic. This includes both gasoline motors and engines. Funny thing about the army, they train you in one thing and then put you in something else.

On this field trip we take almost everything that we have. About the only thing you don't take is your dress uniform and we are even taking one pair of dress clothes.

My address is: Pvt. Ray E. Wurster, US 55867331 Co. D, 54th Engr. Bn. APO, New York 09171

I'll bring this letter to a close. This will be the first and last time I'll write until I return from the field. Write, when you can even if I don't as I'll receive your letters when we are on the field.

Love, Ray

LAMB FUND HITS 7,000, MARK

At this time $7,009.92 has been collected by residents of Manchester and Chelsea to help Melvin Lamb family defray expenses involved in a kidney transplant operation.

Melvin "Red" Lamb and his Jeanette are at present staying in an apartment across from the Cleveland Clinic while he awaits word that a possible kidney will be available.

He is at the top of the list for transplant.

According to his sister, Mrs. Melvin Wurster, who spent the weekend with the Lambs, he is in good spirits. In a telephone conversation with him Wednesday night he said he was suffering from heat. This, she said, causes him to perspire and his blood pressure to go down. At this time doctors have ordered more liquids and small amounts of potato chips to help intake to increase the blood pressure.

It had been hoped that Lamb might receive a kidney this week following an accident in which a year-old boy died, but the parents refused to permit the transplant, Mrs. Wurster said.

The Union Savings Bank here had been set up for the 31-year-old Manchester resident, the father's vice president, Dan Boutell stated that the fund now stands at $6,367.92. A similar fund has been set up at the Chelsea State Bank which reports a total of $1,000 at this time. Chelsea has had a concentrated fund raising effort Chelsea bank officials said.

The largest fund raising project of the kind held at the High School by the alumni classes of 1944 and 1955 of which Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lamb were members.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. W. Wab who were co-chairmen of the committee the dance netted $600. Next largest contribution came from the community breakfast sponsored by the local Legion Auxiliary and to which the churches of the area contributed help. According to Sutton, Legion Chairman, breakfast netted $1,001 with an additional $15 to be added.

According to Rev. Ralph Stermer of Emanuel United Church, who is treasurer of the fund and instrumental in launching the campaign, the rest of the money raised was from civic organizations and firms and private donations.

Results of a dance held in Sewater are not available at this time.

Lamb's two children are presently staying with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Layer, of Bethel Church Rd. Their parents are in Cleveland.

Lamb's condition is the result of childhood illness. He had been having trouble last October and since that time was hospitalized at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor and later moved to the Cleveland Clinic where his kidneys were rechecked Friday, May 27. Since that time he has had to use the dialysis machine twice a week.

GLASS BLOWING AS A HOBBY

Have you ever watched a glass blower at work? There is something very fascinating about that tube of glass that expands to form all sorts of fragile ornaments. This uncommon art is practiced by Ronald Stermer of Saline, who does it as a hobby.

During the summer months he spends his weekends at Stage Coach Stop in the Irish Hills on US-12 blowing glass to the wonderment of those who chance to pass by. Stage Coach Stop is owned by F. Bahlauf of Jackson.

Stermer's hobby is responsible for all the dainty vases, candlesticks and tiny animals and birds which decorate the what-nots in their Saline home.

But this is a by-product of his profession for Ron is a glassblower specialist in industrial research. He is the guy who blows those intricate test tubes with all sorts of big glass bubbles scattered around on them.

Close to 400 cars are expected to come in a caravan to Manchester Saturday, July 9 and parade through town. Pictured are some of the Bridgewater Belles and Beaux. Seated left to right are: Mrs. Maxine Burkhardt and Mrs. Pearl Wild. Standing are (l to r) Rolland Layer, Russell Hughes, Mrs. Rolland Layer, Rusty Wilson, Mrs. Dorothy Hertler, Russell Burkhardt and Leona Sanderson. Russell Hughes is Bridgewater township supervisor. The visitors will be wearing costumes of a hundred years ago in recognition of the Saline Centennial. They are expected to arrive here about 7:30 p. m. The events will include a tug of war, barrel rolling and conclude with dancing in front of the E. G. Mann Mill. There will be music by the Bridgewater Mule Skinners.

For them it was "Old Home Week" and class reunion combined and a chance to rekindle old friendships.

This year there will be four lines of charcoal pits totaling 300 feet, thus assuring faster service and a continuous flow of delicately broiled chicken to the serving lines.

The Manchester Broil, the most famous event of its kind in Michigan, is conducted under the general direction of the Michigan State Poultry Department and the personal supervision of Dr. Howard Zindel, head of the department.

The slow-broil method, in which the chicken is basted with butter and never bumed or blistered was developed by Michigan State especially for community events. The largest committee presides over the pits, where 100 men do the broiling and basting. There are subcommittees to preheat a ton or more of charcoal and deliver it to the pits. The chicken is taken from the truck to the grid, turned and basted. The chicken is tested for finish and the cooked chicken is delivered to the serving lines.

Again this year there will be two ticket lines and a special line for take-outs. There is a large number of hosts to show guests to tables seating twenty five hundred people at one time, and to clean up places for newcomers. There are committees for coffee making, ice cream, soft drinks, and bringing out potato chips, radishes, and buns, for cutting slaw and bringing it to the serving tables. There is an audio committee, to announce distinguished guests and advise the waiting diners of the chicken supply.

Side attractions this year are two softball and speedball games. Visitors agree, though, that the main attraction is the broil itself, with 3500 chicken halves broiled at one time over 300 feet of charcoal pits.

Sponsors are the Optimists and Jaycees, and all proceeds go to the youth activities in the area. Prices are the same as they were when the first Broil was held 13 years ago: $1.50 per ticket.
