Well Wishes Go to Upton In New Venture

H. H. Upton Jr. has recently acquired ownership of Malloy Lithographing, Inc. located at 5411 Jackson Road, five miles west of Ann Arbor. He has resigned as a vice president and general manager of Double A Products Co. in Manchester.

Mr. Upton said, "It is a challenge for me to own a business. The decision to leave Double A was very difficult to make. I have always had the highest respect for Double A and have enjoyed my associations with the employees. I enjoy particularly working in the environment of a small company. I do feel, however, if I am to go into business for myself it should be now."

Mr. Upton said that he looks for continued growth at the Double A plant which his father brought from Ann Arbor in 1940. H. H. Upton Sr. retired in 1960.

The business executive came to the Manchester operation in 1948 after serving two years in the Navy where he was an ensign. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Business Administration.

Mr. Upton, a director of the Union Savings Bank, says the Malloy Company will be doing its banking in Manchester.

Malloy employs in the neighborhood of fifty people and plans are underway to expand the facility as growth and expansion are anticipated.

Herbert H. Upton Jr.

LIBRARY NOTES

The Manchester Township Library has received a film catalogue from the Washtenaw County Library. These films are both 8 mm and 16 mm. The county will furnish a projector on request.

There is also a list of 8 mm silent films for family groups. This group includes films starring Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin, Lillian Gish and Lionel Barrymore. These films can be picked up in the morning and returned the next day.

The third and fourth grades from Pleasant Lake school visited the library to see the "Fossils in Michigan" Display. Reading materials accompany the display, and is for juvenile young adults and adult readers.

Mrs. Hanks and Mr. Hicks and the children visited the Historical room. Mrs. Hanks told those present that it was through the efforts of Mrs. Burrill Hansen that the Historical room became a reality.

The Library needs someone who has a feeling for history to carry on in Marge Hansen's place.

THE CORNER

IT'S EVERYONES JOB

Manchester area moves into its annual effort to raise funds for the United Community Services with the coming of October. This is the time when all men, women and children work toward a common goal--one gift to help as many people as possible.

This UNITED GIVING helps to make sure no one is forgotten--the lonesome serviceman in far away places, the troubled teenager striking out blindly against society, the aging person with many afflictions that take medical aid and research, the sick little child in need of loving care and families in trouble and facing problems beyond their capacity to control.

UNITED GIVING covers these vital needs. It means giving your fair share to meet the needs for a year and GIVING enough for all.

Council Okays Rezoning Property

At Monday's council meeting the Sutton property on Sooten Rd. was rezoned from R1 to R3.

S & W Builders had requested the rezoning as one of the first steps in clearing the way for the erection of a six-family apartment house on the five acre site.

The Building permit for the apartment house and another for remodeling a house on adjacent property, also owned by S & W were tabled until some agreement is reached for extending a sewer line to the property.

The council had proposed an assessment to property owners in the area who would benefit if the sewer line is extended.

Donald and Hugh Sutton and Norman Walk, partners in S & W Builders were present at the meeting. Council has withheld the building permits pending outcome of the contracts for the sewer installation.

The council agreed to meet with applicants for the position of police chief on Wednesday.

Daniel Singer, who held the post, resigned two weeks ago to work for the new Ford Motor Co. in Saline. He is working on a part time basis for the village.

County Chapter to Host March of Dimes

Some 400 people from across the state are expected to attend a luncheon and tour held Friday, Oct. 14 hosted by the Washtenaw County Chapter of the National Foundation March of Dimes.

Dr. Theodore Phandt, director of Children's Hospital in Omaha, Nebraska will address presidents and others from the National Foundation.

The announcement was made at a meeting last week of the board of the Washtenaw County Chapter at the YM-YWCA.

The groups will tour the U-M Medical Center in the morning and afternoon. Mrs. Hugh Sutton of Manchester will be one of the hostesses. She is also a member of the County Board.

COLUMBUS DAY A LEGAL HOLIDAY

The 1966 Legislature passed Senate Bill No. 34 (Public Act No. 152) with immediate effect. This Public Act declares the Saturday nearest the 12th day of October as a public holiday to be known as Columbus Day and provides that the same shall be recognized, classed and treated as other legal holidays under the laws of this state. In 1966 the Saturday nearest the 12th day of October will be October 15th.

The new law began an attempt by Senator Charles Youngblood Jr. of Detroit to elevate Columbus Day to the status of a legal holiday.

Many objections were raised by banks and others as to the economic ramifications of a legal holiday costing millions of dollars--closing banks, schools, and all public offices.

The stalemate was broken by agreement to give legal status to Columbus Day on a Saturday when most banks were closed anyway or open only part time and schools and public offices were closed.

Thus Saturday, October 15, 1966, will be a legal holiday and it will be necessary for banks to be closed on that date.

AREA TO HAVE NEW FURNITURE STORE

The opening of a new furniture store has been announced by the owners Wes Eisele of Ann Arbor and Lou Vogel of Pleasant Lake. Eisele is a former resident of Freedom Township.

The new firm is to be known as Lodi Town & Country Furniture and is located at the corner of Pleasant Lake and Ann Arbor-Saline Road.

The 7500 square foot building will provide for Early American and Contemporary furniture.

Eisele has been in the furniture business for 25 years with Barrett Furniture. Vogel has been with Montgomery Ward for 29 years including 10 years in the company's Chicago Buying office and most recently with the Martin Haller Co. in Ann Arbor.

HI MANCHESTER!

Manchester, Michigan sends a message of greeting to the city it was named for--Manchester, Eng. A letter of friendly wishes, written by village president, Gale Koebbe was presented to John A. Jarvis of the British Overseas Corporation.

The occasion is the USA Marketing meeting which will be held in Manchester, England October 18 and 19. At that time letters of good wishes will be presented by Jarvis to Alderman, Mrs. Nellie Beer, Lord Mayor of Manchester, England from 23 Manchester's scattered throughout the United States.

In the letter Koebbe extended "an invitation to you and all of the citizens of Manchester, England to one day visit our fair city of Manchester, Michigan. You will be most welcome."

The Marketing meetings are held annually throughout various cities in the world.

COULD YOU BE THE ONE?

Someone bought a blanket filter for a furnace last Saturday from Mrs. Al Gaige at Al's Custom Plumbing.

Mrs. Gaige doesn't know the name of this person but she would be very grateful if he would stop in or even call her.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Wayne (Pat) Paterson of Climax Michigan was killed Thursday evening, Sept. 29 in an auto accident.

He was the Business Agent for the International Association of Machinists & Aerospace Workers of Local Lodge 2190 of which Double A Products in Manchester is an affiliate.

SALINE TRIES HARD TO SAVE RECORD ELM

Medicine by the quart is being poured into one of Michigan's stately giant elms.

This will be an all-out effort to save the city's prize elm which has been attacked by Dutch elm disease and is "already dead at the top" according to City Administrator Mike Strait.

The city fathers are convinced that the tree will be gone come another spring, so when Hubert Beach, owner of the Beach Contracting Service, came along and asked if he might be given a chance to try this unproven method, the officials gave their blessings.

Beach has more than a mere interest in trying to save the tree.

Two years ago he lost a third record tree in his own yard. That was before he had heard of the proposed remedy.

Beach lives at 100 W. McKay Street and that is where the stump of the colossal tree remains.

The record tree is 112 feet high and measures 253 inches around. It has grown some 14 inches since it was measured and tagged as a record tree some nine years ago.

"The tree doesn't look any better than it did before I started," Doc Beach said.

He has inserted three one inch pipe funnels into the tree to which a rubber hose is connected. The tree absorbs about a quart of turpentine every two weeks.

If the turpentine diet fails and the tree dies, souvenirs will be kept. Mayor George Johnson said, "We will cut a cross section and count the rings."

Beach is not encouraging anyone else to try the remedy but feels that it is worth a try where everything else has failed.

Voters, ... here's the record:

No. 1 Senior Citizens:

Congressman Wes Vivian co-sponsored and voted for Medicare and the 7% increase in Social Security benefits to the cost-of-living.

His opponent was ABSENT when the Michigan House of Representatives passed a law to prohibit job discrimination because of old age.

(He failed to vote on over 40% of all roll call votes!)

No. 2 Consumer Credit:

Congressman Wes Vivian is one of the sponsors of legislation in the U.S. House of Representatives to require lenders to state financing charges in simple, easily understandable language.

His opponent was ABSENT when the Michigan House of Representatives passed a state truth-in-lending law. He was also ABSENT when the House voted to give borrowers who are charged illegally high interest rates the right to go into court to recover these payments.

This law would greatly aid hard-pressed families to get the most for their money.

(He was absent on over 40% of all roll call votes!)

Re-Elect Wes Vivian ... your full-time U. S. Congressman!

paid pol. adv. Comm. to Re-Elect Wes Vivian Robert W. Carr, Co-ord.

GROWING TAX BASE LETS COUNTY INCREASE BUDGET

A proposed budget which is expected to total approximately five million dollars will be presented to the County Board of Supervisors on October 11. The 1966 budget total was $4,427,209.

Preparation of a budget which keeps the growth of county government in line with the growth of the county tax base was completed by the Ways and Means Committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

Based on an expected county equalized valuation of $781,413, -800, the budget is expected to require property tax levy close to the 4.98 mills levied for the 1966 budget. The 1966 valuation of the county was $793,836,400.

The county could levy up to 5.5 mills.

The budget increase of about 15 per cent can be accounted for by an increase in tax base and an increase in non-tax revenue which committee members said results from good economic conditions.

The proposed budget includes a minimum five per cent raise for all employees plus hospitalization and life insurance valued at an additional three per cent, salary increases for selected employees and elected officials and addition of 45 full-time and one half time employees. These include two new judges, one for a third Circuit Court and the other for a second Probate Court.

Marketing Leaders Tour Klager Hatchery

by Marie Schneider

Over fifty marketing leaders of cooperative extension from Wayne county made an egg marketing tour of three of southeastern Michigan's top egg production operations last week. This included Klager's Hatchery of Bridgewater, Michigan.

Mrs. Marjorie A. Gibbs, Detroit area Consumer Marketing Information agent arranged the event which gave Wayne county representatives a first hand account of egg production in Michigan.

Luther Klager, president of the hatchery, welcomed the visitors who came by chartered bus. At this time there are 8,000 producers in the United States who control over fifty per cent of all egg production.

"When my brother and I started this hatchery in 1930 in Bridgewater on the family farm we simply hatched baby chicks for farmers in the area. Now it is the largest producer of egg type baby chicks in Michigan. The total capacity is 210,000 eggs. This means we can hatch 50,000 chicks per week. The pullet chicks from the hatchery supply replacement pullets to egg production farms in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois," Klager said.

Many of the visitors had never seen a hatchery and were surprised to learn that there has been a vast change in the industry in the last ten years. At that time the major portion of the hatcheries' chicks were sold to general farmers who bought 100 to 1000 as hatched baby chicks. These were raised on the farm, the cockerals sold for meat and the pullets retained for egg production. Eggs were sold to neighbors, relatives and town people by a weekly route. Larger flocks sold to egg buyers who made weekly farm pick ups. Fifteen years ago some 90 per cent of eggs used on the tables came from flocks of less than 500. Because 85 per cent of the egg production in the state is governed by a few large operators the market isn't flooded. The laying house is temperature controlled in winter allowing no drop in egg production. Scientific feeding of the bird and the use of low cost grain in Michigan where grain prices are competitive, help to keep the price of eggs on an even keel. The egg production industry has never asked for any government support.

Mrs. Gibbs said that the consumers in the southern part of the state enjoy the relatively low cost of eggs because "we are situated geographically in an enviable position."

Twenty of the big laying houses of the country are in southeastern Michigan and yet Michigan imports about 50 per cent of its eggs.

"We are in the center of the population area of the state, and at the same time we are in a grain surplus area, so grain prices are comparatively low. This is again reflected in the cost of egg production," Mrs. Gibbs said.

Klager raised 32 breeds when he started out. Now he concentrates on only one. Where they used to sell baby chicks, now the producers want the pullets ready for the laying house and this means that some farmers raise the pullets under the direction of the hatchery until that time.

Egg consumption is at an all time high. Reasons given were: population explosion, comparatively low cost to the consumer in comparison to other foods and because the buying public is enjoying a high income. This is all reflected in the consumer purchasing power. Klager said that they have contracted with a number of farmers to produce the pullets under their supervision. About 650,000 ready to lay pullets are delivered each year. The mass production does much to keep the cost of eggs down. Klager's largest customer has 75,000 layers. In recent years the number of hatcheries in the state has decreased by two thirds, but by volume and by "going big" prices remain down.

Mrs. Gibbs said she believes that by giving women a first hand account of the operation of some of the largest egg producers in the state, they will have a better knowledge and know better what to look for in their shopping.

She has found that about 18.2 per cent of wage earners income goes for food. In a cross country check she found that Detroit area prices are much lower than the 20 other major cities.

From Bridgewater the "food choppers" went to Hoban and Co. Poultry and Egg farm at Whitmore Lake and then concluded the day with a stop at the Farm Bureau Services, egg division at Brighton. This is the largest egg processing enterprise in the state where Robert Beam, plant manager showed them around the plant.

Mrs. Gibbs takes a representative group from the some 1,000 members of extension on these tours in various areas of farm production.

She said that the labor situation, higher cost of farm equipment, soaring labor costs and the demands from the home maker for more services are the major reasons for the spiraling cost of farm produce. Leaders were told to check the eggs they buy. There are 26 ounces to the dozen—the best suited to the standard egg carton. Strong shells are important for better transporting and a chalk color. Twenty years ago an egg was an egg—good, bad or indifferent. Such things as blood spots and poor interior quality was detected to some extent but in general the quality was pretty much glossed over.

Today, with the premium on quality, with the state regulations and with the development of such programs as "Fresh Fancy" the eggs come under close scrutiny, both inside and out. The good poultryman recognizes the losses from crax and checks, from blood and meat spots and from loss in shipping. All this, plus speed in delivery to consumer, makes egg production in this area the envy of many in the states.

SCENIC COLOR TOUR AT ITS BEST

by Marie Schneider

Next Sunday, October 15 is the time which Ben Bower says the colors in Washtenaw will be at their peak. Bowers is the clerk at the Waterloo Recreation head quarters.

At no time of year does mother nature spill her paints and weld such a gaudy brush.

For those who want a breathtaking beauty tour on a postage stamp type nothing could be more compact than a visit to Sharon Township.

West of Manchester turn north (left) on Sharon Hollow Road. Follow the road north and watch the farm land getting ready for a winter rest. There is a special fragrance to rustling corn. Then there are bright orange pumpkins polka dotting the fields. Wraith-like something floating in the air is the only floss of the milkweed pod.

As you approach Sharon Hollow there is the bridge that crosses the Raisin River. Its at this point that many a fisherman dreamed away the hours. At the Hollow across the bridge on the right is the century old grist mill, restored by Henry Ford. Now private property, it has been converted into a year round home.

Here the laughing river supplied water power for the once busy mill. Sharon Hollow was once a thriving community with a country store. Along the river bank there is a stone facing, put there by Ford.

Velvet hooded cat tails nod in the lazy breeze and fireweeds and goldenrod add color to the tour.

In this part of the country it is a toss up to know which way to go. Left on Easudes Road, a narrow country stretch gives a person time to gaze at the trees which are cloaked in russet, crimson and gold. Going north to Below and on to Jacob road go for a mile to Struthers. Through this area autumn spreads her riches with a lavish hand. For included is a tamarack swamp with its sentinel like tall tamarcks. There's the aspen tree and the cotton wood in robes of purest gold.

These little country roads are littered with pebbles and sometimes pines. For although there are farming places there are all kinds of green pines.

Wild asters are in purple profusion along the roadside. The trees look like a forest emblazened with the October sun.

The tourist will observe too, that there are stark dead trees that are planted in the landscape. These are grim reminders that there is a real job to do if a remedy is found to save the fast dwindling supply of elms which are falling fast to the Dutch elm disease.

At the intersection of Struthers and Grass Lake Road turn right (east and then south (right) again on Sylvan road to Wingate road. This is one of the very picturesque areas with its twisting, winding, twining road which dips and turns. From Wingate turn right (south) to Smythe and on to Pleasant Lake and jog south again on Meyers to Bethel Church Road.

The view is beautiful for miles. The tourists decides to travel west on Bethel Church and back again to Sharon Hollow where miles and miles of woods in the distance flaunt gowns of yellow and red. Another route is to cross Bethel Church road (keeping on Meyers) to Sharon Valley Road.

'ONCE FOR ALL DRIVE' SETS GOAL AT $12,714

Make it Yourself With Wool

by Marie Schneider

An area woman heads the state's MAKE IT YOURSELF WITH WOOL contest. Mrs. Lawrence Boettner of Bridgewater is beginning her fifth year as the State Contest Director. The program is designed to help interest all those who are ten years and older to sew with wool. The program is sponsored in Michigan by the Women's Auxiliary of the National Wool Growers Association, the Michigan Sheep Breeder's Association and the Michigan Sheep Shearer's Association.

Mrs. Boettner points out that Michigan-Wisconsin is a double state council. Each state will choose a Junior winner and a Senior winner at the time of their state contest, then either the Junior or the Senior winner will be elected to represent Michigan at the National Final Contest in Las Vegas, Nevada. Adults over 21 years will not have a contest in Michigan she said. Sub-Debs (10-13) will have a contest in the state and will go as far as the District Contest only.

The state contest will be held on Saturday, December 10 at the Union Building, MSU, East Lansing.

You might say that Mrs. Boettner grew up with the program. She says that she has always been interested in wool. The Boettners have been active members of the Farm Bureau for many years. Her interest in wool promotion stems from the fact that their 260-acre farm in Washtenaw County specialized in sheep. There they raised registered Suffolk sheep before their retirement. They have a daughter, Mary Ann who has been very interested in the program.

About this time of year in 1961 Mrs. Boettner received a phone call from Graydon Blank at Michigan State, asking her to be the state chairman. She agreed and has held the post ever since. She is vice chairman of the Women's Farm Bureau and is Associate Matron of the Order of Eastern Star Chapter 311.

As anyone might guess the MAKE IT YOURSELF WITH WOOL promotion started in Utah in 1944. By 1947 the National Wool Growers Association accepted the contest idea and this program has been snowballing.

Girls are urged to enter the MAKE IT YOURSELF WITH WOOL contest—sew now, and you may fly to Europe later. The Grand Prize in the contest is a two-week European holiday. The winner will be flown to and from England, France, Germany via TWA Star Stream Jet. Other prizes include college scholarships, U. S. Savings Bonds, sewing machines and many others.

Mrs. Harold Hannewald, 14886 M-52, Stockbridge will serve as the district 2 director for the contest, according to Mrs. Boettner.

Mrs. Hannewald's district includes Hillsdale, Jackson, Lenawee, Monroe and Washtenaw counties.

This contest will include girls 10 to 21 years, with the girls making their garments from 100 per cent wool loomed, knitted or felted in America. The contestants in District 2 will model their wool garments at a style show Saturday, November 26 at the Emanuel Church Hall in Manchester.

Winners in the District contests in Michigan will model their garments at the state style show Saturday, December 10 at the Union Building, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

The State winner will travel to the National Finals in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Mrs. Hannewald is the contact for any girl in the age bracket of 10 to 21 years who is interested in entering the contest. Mrs. Boettner, State Director is also handling contest entries.

She noted that clothing is a major industry in the United States. Girls who will be entering the MAKE IT YOURSELF WITH WOOL promotion becomes well informed about an important part of the modern textile world and wool's leadership in this fabric pattern.

To the retailer it means that many young girls . . . the future buyer of yard goods and clothing for her family . . . will have a better knowledge of fabrics and a better acquaintance with retail stores.

The state director said that with the advent of lightweight, weather-right wools, every month is Wool Month, special emphasis is placed on yard goods in the fall.

Promoting wool in the state provides an opportunity for stores' turnover and better returns.

Mrs. Gladys Chaptis, National Director of the contest spent two and a half days in Michigan recently with Mrs. Boettner. They visited stores in southern Michigan and conducted a statewide workshop at Michigan State.

This is Zip Code Week

The week of October 10 has been officially proclaimed Zip Code Week in the State of Michigan by Governor George P. Romney.

In the Proclamation issued in Lansing, Michigan the Governor called attention to the fact that "Population growth and economic expansion have triggered a mail explosion which increased our national volume at the phenomenal rate of almost four billion pieces this year."

The Governor called upon "all citizens to join in observance of this week by learning and using their ZIP Codes, in both mailing and return addresses of all letters and packages."

To assist postal patrons in securing ZIP Codes for most often used addresses, letter carriers will be delivering the new ZIP-A-LIST Cards beginning October 10th, so that these may be filled out, returned to the post office, ZIP-Coded and returned to the postal patron.
