Sure,
you can get a great deal
on a new car right now.
But be sure you get a great car.

Leave it to Pontiac to take the mediocrity out of car deals. You see, Pontiac dealers aren't limiting you to a so-called "special" deal on a so-called "special" car. Their specials carry names like Firebird, GTO, Le Mans, Grand Prix, Bonneville,

2+2, Executive and Catalina. Their specials are endowed with distinctive styling, the road-nugging security of Wide-Track—a Pontiac exclusive—and years-ahead styling slicker than disappearing windshield wipers.

If all that sounds like your Pontiac dealer has great cars, you're getting the message. Now all you need is the great deal. You can get that at your Pontiac dealer's today.

Only Pontiac dealers have both.

COUNTY TO CALL 22 INDUCTEES

Washtenaw County draft boards will order a total of 22 registrants to report for induction into the Army in June.

The June call for Ann Arbor Board No. 85 is 12 and the Ypsilanti Board No. 341 will provide 10 men.

The county quota is part of a total of 1,174 for the state—the largest draft call since last November when 2,923 registrants were ordered for induction.

In addition to those reporting for regular induction, 162 limited service registrants who are now acceptable under Defense Department standards will be called, said Col. Arthur A. Holmes, State Selective Service director.

Holmes said preinduction physical examinations will be resumed during May and June. The exams had not been held since January due to lack of funds.

Induction calls are being filled with volunteers and single registrants and those married after Aug. 26, 1965, ages 19 through 25, with the oldest available registrant selected first.

The May call totaled 1,009.

Open Letter to The People of Manchester

Dear Manchester District Dwellers:

This is a progress report on the Manchester "Dollars for Scholars" program. The response to this date has been encouraging. But the amount received is not large enough to meet all anticipated loan requests. For the information of those who have already contributed and for the encouragement of those we hope will contribute within the next ten days, I would like to give you the following details.

Manchester High School seniors who have plans for after high school schooling but who need additional aid will be invited to present their applications to Dollars for Scholars sometime this month. Such application blanks are already in the hands of Mr. Chester Koceski. Then during the first week of June a special Awards Committee will meet. This committee will not even know the names of the persons applying. They will have before them applications which the students made but will judge the loans to be granted strictly on the merits of the application with no personalities involved.

Now, of course, this makes two things evident. First, we ought to have the funds on hand before the Awards Committee meets, that is before June 1st. Secondly, we need the support of all the citizens. Have you hesitated in sending your contribution because you thought it was past time? Your gift is still most welcome. It is needed now. Won't you enclose your gift in an envelope addressed to DOLLARS FOR SCHOLARS, 210 W. Main Street, Manchester and send it at least by Saturday, May 27th?

Thank you on behalf of the Manchester students whose cause you will be aiding. Sincerely yours, Fr. Raymond R. Schlinkert, Chairman Manchester Dollars for Scholars

School Needs Additional 5 Mills Operational

At a special election on Monday, May 29 voters in the Manchester School District will be asked to approve an additional five mills for operation of the school system for the 1967-68 school year.

For the past several years the voters have approved the extra millage for operation of the schools.

The State equalized valuation in the Manchester School District has increased from $17,041,399 to $21,694,651. The same amount of millage, both extra voted and allocated will bring in about a $75,000 increase. The proposed budget for the 1967-68 school year projects the additional need of $98,400 over the 66-67 budget.

School officials say that if the "state equalized valuation had remained at last year's level, it would have been necessary for the board to ask for a total of 9 1/4 mills of extra levy to provide the same amount of dollars.

A thousand dollars of assessed valuation in Manchester Township amounts to $2,500 on state equalized; in Freedom Township $2,450; in Sharon Township $3,150 and in Bridgewater Township $2,210 on state equalized.

This means that spreading of one mill on state equalized valuation results in spreading from 2.21 to 3.15 mills on assessed valuation depending on state equalized factor for the respective township.

School officials point out that many factors are responsible for rising factory costs. Increased enrollment of 35 to 50 student a year is listed as a prime reason for cost climbs. Growing enrollment requires more teachers, more materials, equipment, custodial services and curriculum improvements.

During the past two years an office machine course in the high school business education department, remedial and corrective reading program, elementary and junior-high guidance and counseling program and a school full time art program have been added.

COLONIAL AMERICA UNDER STUDY

The 29 students of the fifth grade with Mrs. Carl Buss as teacher has completed a unit of study on Colonial American History. The Colonial Period involves from about 1620 to the beginning of the Revolutionary War.

As part of this task of researching one group constructed a diorama of the interior of a colonial home. This showed the main floor and a loft and was arranged around a large fireplace on the main floor. A rigorous rifle hung on the chimney and a warming pan on the front of the fireplace. A cooking pot swung over the blazing fire.

Furnishings included a spinning wheel, trestle table and chairs, churn, pieced quilt, braided rug and trundle bed. All articles were made by members of the class.

A second diorama showed the interior of a colonial school with its tables, benches, and hombooks for the students, desk and quill pen for the teacher, dunce cap and stool in the corner, a fireplace and a woodpile.

A two and a half by three foot panorama of a Southern Plantation depicted the planter's house with its tall white pillars, storage barns slave quarters, tobacco drying shed and fields of crops. These were located on the river which was the main source of transportation.

A large map of the United States showed the French, Spanish and British claims and the principle cities and villages of Colonial America.

The students completed a colonial type cook book which featured recipes for such things as vinegar pie. Each student was given a copy.

Several of the girls designed samplers on graph paper and used colored pencils. Models were made of a quill pen, a well and the stools.

Several students wrote reports on famous people of the time. A time line showed the important dates and events and a mural was drawn showing some forms of houses.

The girls designed dolls' clothes to portray the times. The class enjoyed learning about this important time in the development of the country. Students involved in the project were: Corey Althouse, Charlie Barth, David Benedict, Greg Bertke, Judy Blanchard, Frank Brown, Ruth Cooper, Shelly Curtis, Marlene Englebert, Pat Fielder, Steve Gross, Mike Grodz, Richard Kennedy, Ann Kensler, Debbie Knickerbocker, Jeannette Kulenkamp, Kurt Lentz, Mark Lowell, Russell Luckhardt, Kathy Marshall, George Merriman, Rusty McKenzie, Grace Mooneyham, George Olsen, Doris Priehs, Trudy Randall, John Roberts, Wazetta Shields, and Craig Strong.

COLLEGE DEAN SPEAKS TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

People are loyal to those things they help to create or improve. People have ideas to share if we create a permissive atmosphere in which they can share their ideas. Hillsdale College Dean Michael Kolovsky, who appeared before the Manchester Chamber of Commerce and their guests at dinner last Tuesday evening.

People have ideas in regard to solving community problems. However, to persuade them to present their ideas and participate in solving community problems requires some method.

One of the first steps in community participation in solving community problems is to get people to share their ideas. The average citizen won't stand up before a crowd of people and present his ideas for fear of ridicule. If the individual finds himself in a small group where he can possibly write down his ideas he is more apt to contribute the ideas.

All people have needs, they need to talk, they need to be asked, and finally they want to be challenged.

Discussion in small groups provide the means whereby citizens can express their ideas. People when given a chance to become involved in the solution to community problems are then loyal to those things they help to create or improve. The method used to get people involved in problem solving is as important as solving the problem. To demonstrate the small group method Professor used the following question: "What is your best suggestion to your local school board in persuading local citizens on the need for more classrooms?"

The audience of 72 people were in groups of six. Each group presented their one best idea for solving the question. These best ideas were recorded for the entire group consideration. Six of the ideas were then selected by the whole group.

While no one idea was selected as being the ideal solution the group had come up with constructive ideas that might be considered as being an approach toward convincing the citizens of the need for additional classroom space.

dynamic in world progress

By Mary Whitman

Gadget printing is a good way for the children to make art.

What you need to gather are brown and white paper, jars of poster paint available at the creative art racks of variety stores and household gadget stores. For the most part, the paint will wash off easily if the gadget surface is firm. When porous-surfaced printing gadgets are used - cookies, for instance - it's better to supply old or throwaway items.

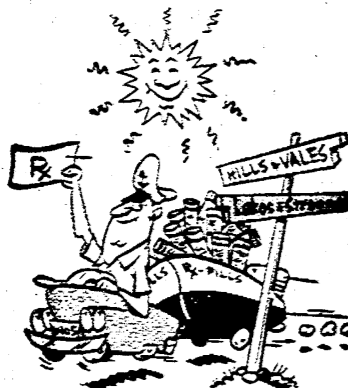

These are just a few of the things a child can print designs with: a fork, a comb, a special bar rollers, bottle caps, washers, bolts, a tin cup, a carrot, a cookie cutter (inlaid with clay, or the top of an herb jar. Poster paint is poured into a foil pan. The child dips the object into it, then makes the impressions on paper. Trying out designs satisfies him at the time. Later the paper can be used for birthday or holiday wrap for small gifts. While the parent looks on, it has double purpose for a small artist.

"Unquenchable curiosity is part of a youngster," point out playtime planners at Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wisconsin. Reading products of juvenile art and activity items. "So the more objects a child can work with the more pleased he is." Small utensils and low-cost art materials give him hours of experiments. New juvenile books at local stores on print and paper art and painting supply ideas.

Some printing can be used to make invitations and greeting cards. Lettering can be done freehand in crayon or traced from a stencil book.

A child who prints with the top of a beer jar could win letters later. His hobby gives him art background for future museum trips, club activities, school courses and contests.

May 29 Date For Millage Election

Monday, May 29 the registered voters in the Manchester School District will be asked to vote on the continuation of the existing five mills of extra operational millage needed by the school district for the 1967-68 school year.

Due to the increase in the State qualified valuation of the local school district it is not necessary for the Board of Education to increase the amount of extra voted millage. They are asking for the same amount of mills as were levied last school year.

The five mills are needed to maintain the present school program and provide additional teachers for increasing enrollments in several grade levels. Also, it is necessary to make further improvements to the Manchester teachers' salary schedule.

The election will be held in the new library of the Manchester High School with polls open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Parking will be available at the west side of the school building and all citizens voting in this election are invited to use the west entrance of the new addition.

Patrons are invited to inspect the new addition while they are voting in the election. The overall square footage cost of the new addition was $16.53.

The proposed working budget for the 1967-68 school year calls for $684,865,000. This is an increase of $98,400 over the 1966-67 school year. Incorporated in this overall increase in addition to the five extra teachers and the salary schedule improvements are the following items: Paved parking lot at high school, new floor in the Intermediate gymnasium, extra custodial help and extra operational and maintenance items.

Additional teachers to reduce class sizes and the above indicated improvements are necessary and cannot be construed as "frills". The Board of Education has gone over the proposed budget with care and only those items important to a sound educational program have been retained.

The May 29 election deals with operational millage only. It is important to the school district that this millage request be supported in a positive way school officials point out. For those who desire additional information on the millage election they are invited to call the superintendent of schools or any member of the Board of Education.

Second Area Man Lost in Vietnam

Armed conflict in South Vietnam has claimed the life of a second service man from the Manchester area.

Word was received Wednesday morning that Sgt. Peter Valencich, age 20, was killed in action in South Viet Nam.

Sgt. Valencich had entered the Army on May 16, 1966. He served his basic training in Fort Reilly, Kansas and was awarded the medal for the highest scorer on Proficiency test while in basic training. He was shipped to Viet Nam on Dec. 19, 1966 and served with Co. A 2nd Battalion, 60th Infantry Division.

On March 15th he was awarded the Bronze Star for heroism in action having carried a helpless wounded comrade 75 meters to safety from an unprotected open area.

Sgt. Valencich was killed on May 22 by a land mine.

He was born January 1, 1947 in Ann Arbor, the son of Joseph and Naomi Gidley Valencich. He graduated from Manchester High School in 1965 and was a member of the Varsity basketball team while in school. He was a member of the Radio Church of God. Sgt. Valencich had been employed by the Double A Product Co. in Manchester prior to entering the service.

He is survived by his parents; one brother, Thomas, at home; four sisters, Mrs. Robert (Marlene) Wisner of Ames, Iowa, Mrs. David (Josephine) Gunk of Whitmore Lake, Mrs. Thomas (Mary) Nicholas and Mrs. Douglas (Linda) Harvey of Ann Arbor; his grandmother, Mrs. Jessie Gidley of Grand Ledge; one niece and one nephew, several aunts, uncles and cousins.

The body will be returned to the Jenter Funeral Home in Manchester for funeral services and burial.

This community's other casualty in South Vietnam was Pfc. Roy Bihlmeyer. Both graduated from Manchester High in '65. Both served with Company A, 2nd Battalion, 60th Infantry Division.

Memorial Day Plans

Plans are now complete for the Memorial Day parade, according to Al Gage, commander of Emil Jacob Post 117, American Legion.

The parade will form at 9:30 a.m. at the Main Street bridge where flowers will be thrown in the Raisin River in memory of those who gave their lives in the navy. Leading the parade will be the High School Band, Legion Members, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Cloyers and Junior Auxiliary members.

There will be a short service at Wurster Park with a few words by Commander Gage and a prayer by Rev. Stanley McKenzie of Lansing, who is pastor of the Norvell Baptist Church. The flag will be raised at Wurster Park.

The parade will continue to Oak Grove Cemetery where Rev. McKenzie will deliver the address. The firing squad will be under the direction of John Bivins, Sgt. at Arms.

James Kansler, custodian of the graves will have some 210 flags placed on the graves in the various area cemeteries prior to Memorial Day.

After the memorial service at Oak Grove the Legion members will go to Norvell Cemetery where they will decorate graves.

"Around noon, when the Legion returns to Manchester, an old fashioned picnic will be held at Carr Park and the two Manchester Bands, under the direction of R. C. Sortor will play two concerts," Gage said.

"By old fashioned picnic we mean the kind that is packed at home by families. Where they will eat what they bring - but the families will join together for a picnic. There will not be any foods or beverages sold at the Park. People are invited to wear sentimental costumes if they want to."

"Somewhere some people have been misinformed. There will not be any floats of any kind. We may have antique cars taking some of the Legion members who are unable to walk and there might be auxiliary police on horseback but this is all," Gage related.

The Centennial Parade is planned for July 4th but the Centennial committee will not be having an active part in the Memorial Day parade. The main difference from former years is that the people of the community are invited to the Carr Park for the picnic and to hear the school bands.

MAYOR EXCHANGE VISITORS LIKE CENTENNIAL VILLAGE

Just as in every mayor exchange celebration of Michigan Week, Manchester rolled out the red carpet for the visitors. To Eugene and Mrs. Bentschneider and the Ted Roberts should go much of the credit for the smooth running of the day's program.

Village president Gale Koebe and councilman John Althouse and their wives were with the party when they met for breakfast at Aunt Jemima's Kitchen.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Mullin took the Manchester representatives back to Franklin Village.

Their day included a tour of the General Motors Technical Center at Warren. There is no industry in Franklin Village. The tour included a glimpse of many lovely homes and a luncheon at one of the restaurants.

Back in Manchester the visitors toured Main Street and met the merchants. The Duane Rollers entertained at noon luncheon.

There was a tour of Chrysler Proving Ground. The ladies visited the schools and library. The men went through the local plants. The two groups met at Roberts' home and started back to the business district.

About that time Police Chief Wilson blew his siren and arrested everyone for failing to be in Centennial costume. He was assisted by Harry Macomber and the Keystone Kops who herded them into the stockade.

At Centennial headquarters they appeared before Judge Jim Scully where mayor Oberstutte was ordered to pay 29 cents in penalties and given 60 seconds to acquire them.

The ladies were given yellow rose corsages and matching bonnets. The men were presented with hats and bow ties and centennial certificates.

At the dinner at the Knights of Columbus hall many were in costume.

Various former were introduced including a former village president, 93-year-old Carl Wuertner who gave an interesting talk.

The visiting mayor mentioned the friendly spirit of the people in the community. He mentioned that this centennial community's original store fronts are the envy of many and he hoped they would be preserved.

Annual Athletic Banquet Date Set

The annual Manchester Athletic Banquet will be held at 7 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus hall, Monday, June 5 sponsored by the Optimist and Athletic Booster Club.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Ralph Kuetner with Dan Boutell the toastmaster. The Varsity Choir will be directed by Roger Morrison. Football and baseball introductions will be made by Jack Raffaeli; basketball introductions by Gary Schick; track by Ron McNally; golf by Philip Mains. Girls' basketball and cheerleaders will be introduced by Noreen Williams.

College baseball team.
