There is still time to have records made but they must be done at the American Red Cross Headquarters in Ann Arbor, 2729 Packard Street before December 15. Make an appointment at the Red Cross office by calling 662-5546.

Mrs. D. D. Ludwick, representing the American Legion Auxiliary was chairman of the local project. She was aided by addresses from the files of Mrs. Roy Lowery of the Moose Club and posters made by the Junior Legion Auxiliary members.

RETARDED CHILDREN'S PROGRAM PROVIDES SPECIAL SERVICE

During this time of year when special emphasis is focused on the Retarded Children's programs throughout the state it is interesting to note the progress of the county in providing special service to aid people in Washtenaw.

According to Mrs. Ann Eliasson of the Washtenaw Association for retarded children two per cent of the school population (that's 1,000 youngsters) are being educated in special classes for the mentally handicapped. She said that a mentally trained and employed can return 4 tax dollars for every one invested in his vocational preparation.

She emphasizes that the cost of education and training a youngster in a Michigan Institution for the mentally handicapped is approximately $4,000 per year, while $1,500 will educate and train the same child within the Washtenaw County community. Mrs. Eliasson says that the WARC is anxious to assist parents and suggests that those wanting further information can receive it by calling 482-0820.

The WARC is the county parent group that is spear-heading many social, educational, and vocational opportunities for the mentally handicapped.

The Ann Arbor Recreation Department sponsors a "swim and gym" program on Saturdays which is available to any mentally handicapped youngster in Washtenaw County. Those who are interested are asked to contact Mr. Ed Eldridge at 665-8866 for further information.

At this time the office of vocational rehabilitation in Washtenaw county is presently involved with about 250 mentally handicapped persons in counseling, job training and job placement.

There are 360 mentally handicapped young people now in Washtenaw county school and training programs who will be entering the job world within the next four years and become taxpayers instead of tax liabilities.

Employers of mentally handicapped persons rank them as high as high school graduates.

THREE MONTH TOUR OF EUROPE ENJOYED BY TWO AREA GIRLS

Two area girls are enjoying to the fullest their four month trip to Europe and parts of the British Isles. Wanda Braun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Braun of Manchester and Connie Shoner of Ann Arbor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Shoner of Northville called to wish the home folks a happy Thanksgiving Day. Probably too, they were getting a little anxious to hear voices from home.

The girls left Ann Arbor on September 22 for New York where they boarded the Lofteidair aircraft for London, England. They had a chance to spend a few hours at Reykjavik, Iceland while the plane was refueling.

Their first stop was in London, England where they arrived at 4:30 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 25.

A lot of territory has been covered since that initial landing. They stopped off at Buckingham Palace, St. Paul's Cathedral, Queens Gallery and the London museum and at the Shakespearean theatre they saw Romeo and Juliet. The 13 acre Windsor Castle grounds were a real challenge for sore feet but they didn't miss seeing the paintings by Leonardo de Vinci, William Blake and Rembrandt.

They toured York and Stratford, England and stayed at the youth hostels which greatly resemble the American YMCA except that they are not always heated and sometimes lack the luxury of hot running water. But the girls write home that they answer the purpose and are inexpensive.

The girls learned early on the trip that heavy luggage is no asset to a traveler who does a lot of walking. They bought a train pass, good for all of the area they visited, so transportation from one locality to another was no problem. But transportation around the cities and villages was. So after a few days of carrying their bags they appeared to get no lighter. The girls decided that it might be wiser to send a large box of excess clothing back to the States.

The post office had some restrictions as to the size and the girls found they had to re-pack and divide the contents into a couple of smaller boxes. The boxes arrived home safely.

The travelers bought a couple of nap sacks to use as back packs. "We found it much easier to carry the load on our backs. That is the way people do over here," Wanda wrote home.

At Edinburg, Scotland they met a couple of girls from the United States who were touring the British Isles. When they wrote home they commented on how willing the people are to give information.

They crossed the North Sea to Oslo, Norway and toured the Kon-Liki museum. The Kon-Liki is the name of a raft hand built by six men who wanted to prove that it was possible for the South Americans to settle in Polynesia. The trip took 191 days to go from Peru to Rorua Island and the trip was proved successful. They enjoyed touring the Norwegian Folk Museum. This is an outdoor collection of some 150 wooden

COMBINED THANKSGIVING OBSERVANCE HAILED

IT WAS a national holiday. People DID have places to go or places to prepare for family and guests. But nevertheless they did. In fact, enough members of the various Manchester churches attended the Combined Thanksgiving Day Observance that St. Mary's Church was packed. With its regular seat occupied, some hundred extra chairs were required.

The reverent attitude, the rendition to the splendid sermon by Reverend Charles Fox, the soft voices which made the music sound so vital, the sense of thankfulness to God—all combined to make this Thanksgiving outstanding.

Of all the voices raised in praise, none exceeded in enthusiasm that of Mr. Carl Wuertner. In his customary vigor and brightness of speech this alert man of ninety-four years said:

"I think that was wonderful! The Choir was grand. Everything fine."

Then Mr. Wuertner commented on the attitude of harmony which marked the day as contrasted with the antagonism sometimes met in former times. His comment?

"That was the finest Thanksgiving I have ever had since I been in Manchester." Coming from Mr. Wuertner was a real tribute to the efforts of those who arranged the Thanksgiving Day Observance—a lifelong resident!

CORN PICKER TRAPS MAN

A man trapped for two hours with his gloved, left hand snagged in the auger of a corn picker is improving at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Victor Wurster, 41, of Manchester, was discovered by Washtenaw County sheriff's department deputies after another Manchester man, Charles Schiel, who was making a grain delivery to a nearby farm, reported that he heard someone screaming for help.

Wurster told deputies, who found him about 5 p.m. last week Tuesday that he had been picking corn in a field north of Manchester High School. He said the corn stalks had stuck in the auger about 3 p.m. and he reached in with his hand to free the snarl.

Wurster lost his index finger on his left hand and fractured both the thumb and second finger, according to his wife. She said he is expected to return home from the hospital later this week.

ZIP CODE YOUR CHRISTMAS MAIL

Holiday mailers will spend less time at parcel post windows mailing Christmas gifts if they have the proper zip code in the mailing address.

Since January of this year, postage for a package is determined by the zip code numbers.

If the code is not in the address, the window clerk must look it up. This obviously slows movement in the parcel post line.

Most parcel post is sorted and routed by zip codes. Presently about three-fourths of all packages come into the post office with the codes already in the address.

Since January 15, when Public Law 850593 became effective, the key to determining the postage rate on a parcel is the "sectional center," the main post office which routes their mail through the sectional center which is a transportation and marketing hub, the first three numbers of the five digit zip code represent this major post office.

Suggested mailing dates for holiday gift parcels are:

Gifts of five pounds or less destined to U. S. servicemen abroad, and overseas air mail to civilians in remote areas off of main air routes December 1.

Gifts to distant states sent by surface mail December 4.

Overseas air mail on heavily traveled routes December 10.

SEND THEM AWAY AND THEY STAY AWAY

It's an undeniable fact . . . the dollars you spend at Christmas time and the year around, are vitally important to the progress and growth of your home community.

Send them away and you keep them away. Only the dollars that stay at home can build a better opportunity to serve us better . . . and for all of us to enjoy.

Make it a better Christmas this year. Give yourself and your community a gift by shopping at home.

1967 WOOL PROGRAM MARKETING YEAR ENDS DEC.

Growers were reminded today that the 1967 marketing year under the wool and mohair program ends December 31.

Earl Dolesky, chairman, Washtenaw County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, explains that this means that payments for the current 1967 year will depend on completing all details of marketing either wool, mohair, or lambs by that date. Marketings completed after Dec. 31, 1967 will become marketings in the 1968 marketing year, and thus not eligible for payments until early 1969.

The chairman urges producers to make sure that all details for passing title to the buyer, delivering the wool or mohair to the buyer either physically or through documents (such as warehouse receipts or bills of lading) transferring control to the buyer, and having available all the information needed to determine the buyers' total purchase price.

Applications for the 1967 marketing year payments under the National Wool Act may be filed with the ASCS county office at any time and the Chairman advises that this be done as soon as possible. Interim payments under the wool program are based on the average national price for marketings during the whole year, and this can be determined more exactly if reports on marketings are complete. ASCS therefore, is urging that all 1967-year applications be filed before Jan. 31, 1968.

Payments for the 1967 marketing year will begin on April 1, 1968.

SEWING PATTERN SIZE CHANGE

For the home sewing enthusiast, good news!

The pattern industry is introducing a "new sizing" for patterns that they feel will correspond more closely to standard body measurements.

Beginning dated January, 1968 will contain a new chart showing more up-to-date measurements.

All the major pattern companies, Butterick, McCall's, Simplicity and Vogue, are adopting the new standard body measurements.

The new "new sizing" will be available in the same old-fashioned way.

As a general rule, you may find that the patterns in the new "new sizing" will fit you better than the old "old sizing".

Visitors at Home NEW YORK—Details in some instances in the United States increased by one cent from 4¢ to 5¢ in 1967 according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

BILL PROPOSES MORE JUDGES FOR COUNTY

The proposed lower court re-organization bill now in the House would give Washtenaw County two districts from which to elect a total of five district judges.

State Rep. Roy Smith, R-Ypsilanti, said that he and Reps. Raymond J. Smit, R-Ann Arbor, and Thomas G. Sharpe, R-Howell agreed on the formula which is now incorporated in the bill which the House will take up on its return to Lansing next month.

One district including the cities of Saline and Ypsilanti and the townships of Ypsilanti, Pittsfield, York and Augusta, would elect two judges. The other district consisting of Ann Arbor and the other townships would elect three judges.

The first district already has two municipal judges, Edward D. Deake in Ypsilanti and Kenneth Bronson of Saline. The Ann Arbor Municipal judge S. J. Elden is a third judge. All three could be left in their positions leaving only two posts to be contested. In an advisory vote the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors favored a single district with at-large elections of all five judges to three districts, largely because it was uncertain that there would be candidates in the western rural section of the county.

CHRISTMAS EDITORIAL

It is still some time before the beginning of a new year as the western world records time. The Christian Church, however, is on the threshold of a new year with the coming of the Advent season - the first Sunday in December being the first Sunday in Advent. To the Christian Advent means preparation. It is time to prepare for the coming into the world of the one who is called "Wonderful, Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace." If ever in history this world was in need of the coming of the Prince of Peace, it is at this time. Never before have men so anxiously awaited "peace in our time." As at the time of the birth of Christ, many people were unaware of His coming; so at this time, many people live in such a way that they are completely uncomprehending of the meaning of His coming and completely un-

CARL WUERTHNER HONORED AS 65-YEAR MEMBER

A special Award Night in honor of Carl Wuerthner as a 65-year member of United Commercial Travelers of America was held in Jackson at the Moose Lodge earlier this month.

Several Grand Officers and executive committee members of Michigan presided in the special award of a 50-year pin and plaque in recognition of fraternal services to this order which has councils in the United States and Canada. Host at the affair was the Jackson Council #57 of which Wuerthner is a member.

Dinner was served in the Moose Lodge dining room. The plaque and 50-year membership lapel pin was presented by Past Grand Counselor of Michigan, William Penn of the Jackson Council.

Wuerthner was recognized for his ability as a leader in civic, fraternal and religious affairs. The Jackson Council #57 will remember him for the many ways he has given of both time and talent to assist in many fields of fraternal and social endeavors.

United Commercial Travelers of America was founded Jan. 16, 1888 and was incorporated on Oct. 4, 1890. The charter was formulated by several salesmen banding together on their travels, discussing the future of protecting their families in the event of an emergency where they might need financial assistance for widows and orphans. The order has endorsed a widow and orphan pension, retarded children program and youth programs.

Mr. Wuerthner joined the order in 1902 and since that time has been outstanding in his promotion of the organization.

Several grand officers at the special award night program were present from Battle Creek and Kalamazoo. It is interesting to note that a former Manchester man, Howard R. Kimble, is the recording secretary of the Jackson Council #57.

W. W. LINDEMANN WEDS MISS HANDY

Rebecca Louise Handy, one of the triplet daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Handy Jr. of Saline became the bride of William Walter Lindemann of Ann Arbor Saturday evening in the United Bethel Church of Christ, Manchester.

The bride wore a long-sleeved Empire dress of peau de soie, trimmed with seed pearls at the yoke. Scrolls of seed pearls held a triple-tiered elbow length veil and a bouquet of white carnations completed her ensemble.

Miss Nancy Handy of Saline was her triplet sister's maid of honor.

David Young of Saline was best man. James C. Handy III, the bride's brother, James Marion of Saline and Dale Weidmayer of Manchester were ushers. Anthony Handy was a junior

as non-retarded on job performance, promptness, attendance, friendliness with fellow workers and steadfastness on the job.

Bert Donaldson, executive director of WARC, phone 482-0820 is the person to contact for the facts about measles and the measles and the measles vaccines. He points out that 500 children in this country die from measles encephalitis (brain inflammation) and measles pneumonia each year. The county organization points out that regardless of all of the publicity, warning parents about the effects of measles there are still 12 million children who have not been vaccinated.

Research in the area of mental retardation, besides falling into the categories of basic versus applied studies, can be characterized either as having a preventive nature (usually medical studies) or as inquiring more into the nature of the deficiency (usually psychological studies).

In some cases, studies in the later division draws inferences about prevention.

A study which falls into the category of basic psychological research is currently being carried out in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area. Youngsters enrolled at Sullivan Special Education Center, a Type B facility, and in Type A programs in Ypsilanti constitute the retarded sample. A nursery school and the lower grades of an Ypsilanti elementary school make up the normal sample. The educators point out that previous research results had led other researchers to suggest that the mentally retarded suffered a particular deficit in the area of attention, a prime determinant of learning. Using another measure, a central in-oriental learning task, which gives a measure of selective attention, the study is attempting to test further the hypothesis of an attentional deficiency in the mentally retarded. According to Mrs. Eliason of the Sullivan Center at 5225 Jackson Road, Ann Arbor, no results can yet be reported as the normal sample is still being tested.

There are displays and exhibits in various places in the county this week including one at the Washtenaw County Library in the basement of the Ann Arbor Public Library and at the Washtenaw County Bookmobile.

Washtenaw will host the next Tri-county workshop session at a March 15 meeting including also St. Clair and Oakland counties.

In Washtenaw county the Sullivan Special Education Center is a public school facility for moderately mentally handicapped (trainable) individuals, ages 3-21, has four rooms and is located at 5225 Jackson Road, about 4 miles west of Ann Arbor. The entire program is administered by the Washtenaw County Intermediate School District. It is supported by county and state monies provided by the Phillips Amendment of Public Act 221.

There are 73 enrolled and the waiting list is sufficient to warrant the addition of two more classroom areas for the next school year.

The trainable program as it exists in the county is the outgrowth of the local parent movement which began in 1950 according to Mrs. Eliason. At that time the few parents of institutionalized children banded together in an effort to improve conditions in the State, Home and Training schools and by 1956 this parent group had succeeded in starting the Washtenaw County Day Center for Trainable Mentally Retarded. The first group of 8 children met in a room donated by the Salvation Army. The program was financed by tuition paid by the parents and by donations. The transportation of the children was the responsibility of the parents.

Growth and development of the program, increased demand for placement of children in the class forced the group to move several times to larger quarters in church recreation rooms and in rural schools.

In 1961 the WARC was accepted as a member agency of the Ann Arbor United Fund and Ypsilanti Community Chest, receiving needed support for the operation of the Day Center. This did not entirely eliminate the necessity for tuition payments, nor did it alleviate the transportation situation.

Mrs. Eliason said "public school" responsibility of one trainable case was accomplished in 1961, when the Ann Arbor public schools assumed part of the responsibility for administering that portion of the Day Center program including children 6-14.

By 1962 the ever-growing waiting list of children made it necessary to expand and the entire operation moved to Sullivan School with funds added to provide another room," she continued.

The curriculum and daily schedule at Sullivan are planned with specific goals in mind:

1. Development of self-help skills, in order that the children will become as self-reliant as possible.
2. Development of appropriate social skills and habits that will make him more acceptable within his community.
3. Development of skills that will increase his economic or domestic usefulness in a sheltered work situation or at home.

Concrete experiences in activities of daily living are provided to the children, along with appropriate practical usage of numbers and useful basic sight vocabulary of words used on signs and labels and that the children need to know in order to avoid common dangers in the home and community. Some pre-vocational training is attempted and will become an even more meaningful part of the curriculum when the sheltered workshop planned by the WARC is in existence within the community.

The staff members at Sullivan include five full time teachers, six full time teachers aids, one teacher-secretary, one teacher principal, a half time speech and language therapist, and a part time custodian. The custodian also serves in a supervisory capacity, giving on the job training in responsibility in custodial work. A public health nurse makes regular weekly visits to the Center. VETERANS MUST MAKE ACCOUNTING OF INCOME

More than 78,000 Michigan veterans and dependents who last year received $66,561,600 in veterans Administration pensions must call on December 1 to make their annual accounting of income.

Robert M. FitzGerald, Manager of VA's Regional Office in Detroit, said VA needs the income information to determine the veteran's or his family's entitlement to more pension or any at all.

Cards for reporting this outside income -- from wages, self-employment, Social Security, other annuities or retirements and investment checks -- will be mailed with November 1. Window envelopes are enclosed to facilitate return of the report to the proper VA office. Veterans drawing service-connected disability are not exempted.

On the basis of experience, VA says pretty well what to expect: Of some two and a half million pensioners throughout the country who must report, at least 1,000 will put the card into the window envelope backwards, resulting in misdirected mail and processing delays.

Some 4,000 Michigan veterans will spindle or bend their cards, using more problems.

At least 2,000 will lose their window envelopes and in addressing substitutes will send the cards to the regional office where they really do business but which are probably not the addresses on the cards in front of them.

Another 1,000 will take out their checks and throw away the report card and envelopes.

A hard core of 10,000 in this area will fail once again to report at all by the February 1 deadline and will have their pensions cut off by VA to refresh their memories. Ultimately most of these will file reports and get back on the rolls.

Finally, perhaps a thousand beneficiaries simply won't bother to report because they know their increased incomes will cut off their pensions anyway. For these, VA has a special treatment. It has to collect any pensions paid from the date the veterans income made him ineligible. If no report is received, the amount due would be all payments received during the year. That's the law, Mr. FitzGerald explained.

BEN FRANKLIN

ANSWERING REPORT - Senator BURSLEY - Nov. 1, 1967

Last week I indicated the nature of some of the dilemmas and frustrations facing a legislator. Today I stress the sense of accomplishment that makes the job worthwhile and I cite a partial list of the wide variety of bills which I have introduced into the Legislature and which are now law. Next week I will outline my position on unresolved - and often controversial problems - still pending in Lansing.

Studded tires: For three years I sponsored a bill to legalize studded tires in Michigan. It is now law. Effective Nov., 1967, motorists may use studded tires which are a very definite safety measure for those driving icy roads.

Local government: During the 1967 special session, I sponsored two bills signed into law November 15 which permit local units of government to cooperate more effectively with each other. Powers to enter into joint contracts have been broadened and a transfer of functions from one unit of government to another is now possible. Under this legislation the 350 units of government in Southeastern Michigan can unite into a voluntary Council of Governments. These bills are an implementation of Article VII, Section 28 of the Michigan Constitution.

Metropolitan Transportation Authorities: Early in the 1967 session I helped write and then sponsored legislation establishing the SE Michigan Metropolitan Transportation Authority. Within a few years this can lead to a rapid transit rail system linking the entire metropolitan Detroit area as far west as Ann Arbor. This can have tremendous impact on the living and working habits of over 50% of Michigan's population. The bill also permits establishment of metropolitan transportation authorities in other urban areas such as Grand Rapids, Lansing, Kalamazoo and Flint.

Industrial Development Revenue Bond Act: In 1963, I worked with a group of industrial development experts on drafting this bill. I introduced it in the session that year and it was passed. We have subsequently had to pass amendments and obtain a Supreme Court ruling on its constitutionality. A dozen bond issues have been issued by Michigan municipalities - including Clinton - and this legislation is leading to the creation of many thousand jobs in the state.

Local River Management Act: There had long been a real need for legislation permitting municipalities in a given watershed to band together to handle mutual problems. With the help of many planning and municipal experts, a bill was prepared which I introduced. Under this Act the Huron River and Grand River Watershed Advisory Councils have been created.

Humane Slaughter Act: I introduced this bill in two successive sessions before getting it enacted into law. It prescribed conditions under which cattle, sheep, etc. can be slaughtered and eliminated some cruel practices which had earlier existed.

Uniform Securities Act: The need for revision of Michigan's "Blue Sky" laws under which new companies can be formed and sell securities was brought to my attention by some local businessmen. With the assistance of some state-wide groups a new all-comprehensive Uniform Securities Act was drafted and I introduced it in the 1964 session. It became law that same year.

State Scholarship Fund: In 1963 I began meeting with private college presidents and other educator groups to determine a method for granting Michigan high school graduates tuition scholarships for use at any institution of higher education in the state. The

Dramatically new and different is the 1968 Corvette. The revolutionary coupe roof design includes removable panels and rear window for sophisticated open-air driving. The Mako Shark-bred Corvette boasts of longer and lower aerodynamic lines that are enhanced by a graceful sloping hood and retractable headlamps. Grille, rear deck and recessed taillights are all new. Both coupe and convertible have a new ventilation system with full door glass styling. Concealed windshield wipers and light monitoring system are standard 1968 Corvette features.

Accident Losses

NEW YORK—The total cost of the nation's traffic accidents was more than $12 billion in 1966, according to the Insurance Information Institute. This is equivalent to $62.81 for every man, woman and child in the country.

bill I drafted was based largely on information obtained from Illinois and New York. The Michigan Scholarship Program now helps many thousand students annually and will probably be further expanded in the future.
State Research Fund: I had long sought a way to maximize the benefits of research in Michigan universities and industries for the economy of the state as a whole. Accordingly in 1963, we created a $750,000 State Research Fund under which dozens of grants have been made through the State Office of Economic Expansion to university researchers for short-term projects that could have an immediate impact upon the state economy through creating new jobs and attracting investment. This program has been continued on a modest basis each year. For each dollar the state has put in, several dollars have been generated from private and federal sources.
Metropolitan area planning commissions: In order to permit county planning commissions to receive federal funds for assistance in planning activities, it was necessary to pass legislation permitting a county planning commission to be redesignated as a metropolitan area planning commission if it met certain population standards. Specifically, this bill which I introduced in 1963 permitted redesignation of the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Plan-

Costly Commotion
NEW YORK—The stormy civil upheavals in Detroit during July, 1967, resulted in about $85 million in insured losses, according to the Insurance Information Institute. This was more than twice the cost of the riots in the Watts area of Los Angeles in August, 1965.

Insurance for the Home

NOTICE

Dear Marvin: There were a lot of people buying Christmas cards Ben Franklin Saturday. After I picked several boxes from the assortment, I looked for the Ben and Marvin, they were all out of the store - each one scribbling with crayons on an open box of shopping carts, too. There was a lot of confusion with angry customers and crying children! By the time I'd collected the kids and paid for all the cards (they weren't all 83c the cards, either) I just went home. I don't know how many cards we can salvage, but I'll meet you next Saturday. I'm going to stock up women's briefs Ben Franklin on sale 2 for 90c.

TWO GIRLS TOUR EUROPE

buildings depicting the Norwegian middle ages and the 18th century. The girls were impressed with the fine craftsmanship. At the Vigeland museum they saw some 75 acres which is the home of a collection of beautiful bronze, iron and stone statues which took some thirty years to carve.

The girls wrote home that they ordered cokes while waiting at a train station in a German restaurant and attempted to pay with Belgian currency but the waitress vigorously objected. Another traveler came to the rescue in the nick of time, so the girls didn't miss their train ride. At Copenhagen, Denmark they went through the King's Palace and a spot of particular interest was the Island of Odense. That was the place where Hans Christian Anderson wrote his famous fairy tales. At Amsterdam, Holland they visited the House of Anne Frank and took a boat ride on a canal.

The next couple of days they spent most of the time on the train with their main menu consisting of fruits, dry bread, candy and water--They didn't have an opportunity to have their money changed.

Madrid, Spain was everything they thought it would be. For 45 cents they hired a taxi to take them all the way across the city. They could hardly believe that on a Monday night the place was as crowded as New York City on Saturday. Their travels in Spain included a bull fight. In fact, they saw several while in Spain.

Wanda wrote home that it was interesting to meet people in one place and to see them a second and even a third time later in their travels.

A copy of Anne Frank's Diary (the story of a young Jewish girl who lived with seven other people hiding from the Nazis) has arrived at the Braun home here along with numerous other things which the girls sent along home.

At this time they are spending 12 days in Italy. They called from Rome where they said it was just "beautiful". They are planning to either be home Christmas Day or maybe Christmas Eve.

Because of their well planned schedule it has been easy for their parents to know where they are located most of the time and to communicate with them so that the girls receive letters from home as they continue on their four-month vacation in Europe.

Never Welcome Taxes Higher Than Ever

by Marie Schneider

While many were hustling to get Christmas greetings in the post office early, Manchester Township treasurer, Michael H. Wolfe was busy sending out a special type greeting--township tax notices. These have been sent to all property owners.

The total tax for the year 1967 in Manchester Township is $390,855.06. Last year the total tax was over $246,000.

The state has raised the equalized 20 per cent over last year. Along with the notice is a card showing the equalized amount which was used to determine the tax. Wolfe explained that the rate equalized value is multiplied by the rate shown on the rate card to determine the total tax.

The equalized value is derived by multiplying the assessed value by a factor which the state appoints as the equalized value. The assessed value is multiplied by 2,53087 to determine the equalized value.

This year the taxpayer in the Manchester School District is asked to pay an increase of $16.63 per thousand dollars as the tax on the assessed value. Manchester Township is divided into five school districts. No. 2 Manchester, No. 10 Columbia, and Clinton, 32,9884.

In the school districts the township tax in Manchester township on $1,000 equalized valuation is: Manchester (No. 2) 2.8468; Columbia, 28.0256 and Clinton, 32.9884.

Adding all of the factors and dividing at something right to the point, Wolfe said that in the Manchester School District the tax is 27 per cent higher than last year. Columbia is 31.5 per cent higher than last year and Clinton has climbed to 39 percent over the previous year.

A point that the township treasurer would like to clear up is that his salary is not governed by the amount of taxes he collects. He said that sometimes he does all some of the taxpayers as the deadline for payment without penalty approaches. He explained that he does this to remind the taxpayer. He would rather do this to help the taxpayer so that he will be saved additional expenses had a trip to Ann Arbor, Wolfe said that some people are of the opinion that by collecting more taxes he can increase his own income.

"This is not the case in Manchester township. Mine is a fixed salary. I do not get a fee for tax collection. All I am trying to do is the job which voters elected me to do," Wolfe said.

All personal taxes are payable to the township treasurer only and must be paid by February 29, 1968. All taxes are subject to 4 per cent penalty if paid to the township treasurer after February 14, 1968. After March 1, 1968 taxes are payable to the county treasurer in Ann Arbor with interest and collection charges.

Anyone not receiving his statement should call Mr. Wolfe. Failure to receive a statement is no excuse for not paying the taxes. Taxpayers should check to see that they are paying for the right description. Although the township officials attempt to carefully avoid mistakes, the legal responsibility for paying on the correct piece of property rests with the taxpayer.

At this time the dog licenses are due. Unexpired rabies certificates are necessary. Male and unsexed license is $3 and female license is $5.

MYI Season Now Open

Musical Youth International's 1967-68 season is now officially open, as announced by Dr. Lester McCoy, musical director.

Weekly rehearsals are held each Saturday at Salline High School from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. One hundred high school students from more than 50 neighboring schools, make up the 1968 tour group, a concert band and chorus. They will tour Mexico during the month of July and return through the United States, giving concerts at HemisFair in San Antonio, Texas, and selected Sister Cities in cooperation with the People-to-People program.

Mr. Nathan Judson, Band Director at Trenton, Michigan is the 1967-68 Musical Youth International band conductor. Mrs. Judson is also a staff member. Mr. Raymond Voorhees, Vocal Director in Ainsworth High School in Flint, Michigan will assist Dr. McCoy in the chorus. Other staff members include Mr. Klair Kissele, Franklin High School, Livonia, Miss Hallie Jane Mehler and Mrs. Lester McCoy, Salline Area High School, and Mr. William Van Denburg, Band Director in Wyandotte, Michigan.

Santa Claus is coming to town Saturday, December 16. Apparently he plans to spend sometime here because a special committee says he'll be at the Lippert store location every night beginning Monday, Dec. 18 through Saturday, Dec. 23 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Roscoe Lannom is the chairman for the Chamber of Commerce committee that has been in contact with the red suited idol of the small fells.

Stores will be open every night until Christmas for the convenience of shoppers and Santa will have favors for each child who visits him at his temporary home here on Main Street.

It has been said that he will make a grand entry into Manchester on Saturday, December 16 with a lot of fanfare. There has been some talk that because this is the centennial year of the village he might make his appearance in a horse drawn vehicle in keeping with the centennial theme--but others say he'll be whisked in by auto. Anyway you can be sure he will be most welcome and at 2 p.m. Saturday he'll be at the corner by the Union Savings Bank to hand out gifts.

Santa and his Optimist Club helpers will distribute boxes of candy to all the children. The bank has sent some shiny half dollars to Santa in advance and most of the merchants stuffed gift certificates totaling more than 200 into a big box to give Santa. These gift certificates will be added to some of the 500 boxes as special extra gifts for some lucky children.

Don't forget the stores will be open every evening starting Friday, December 15 right through Saturday, December 23.

Car Crash Kills Manchester Man

Among the area residents who lost their lives in car crashes the past weekend was a Manchester man.

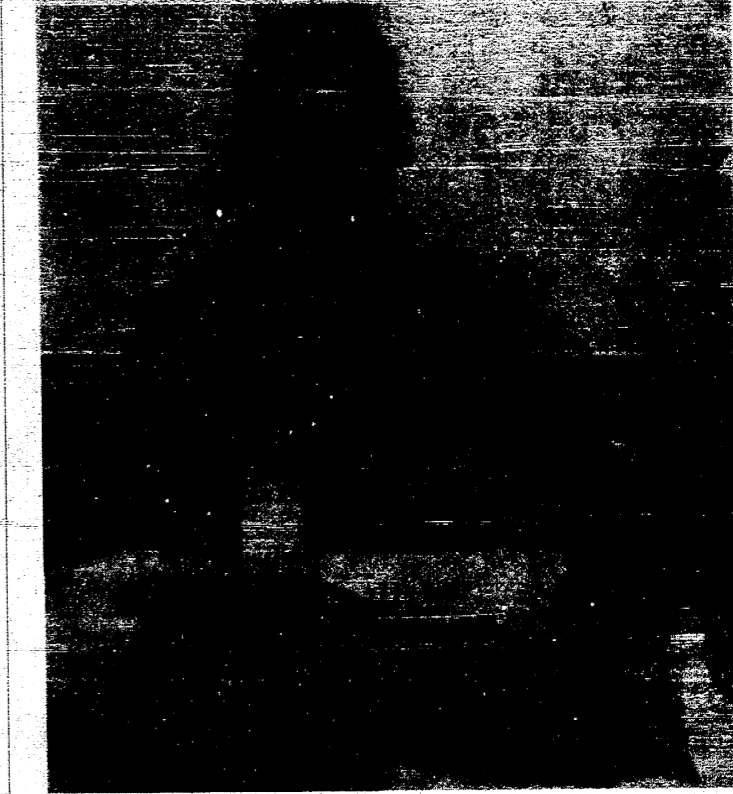

James Butler Hamilton, 31, of 11928 Elm Dale Drive, Manchester, driver of a car which collided with a truck in Ypsilanti at 5 p.m. Saturday, was fatally injured.

State Police, who investigated, said Mr. Hamilton was traveling on Ford Blvd., Ypsilanti when his car crossed the center line and crashed head-on into a truck driven by Franklin Hunt, 34, of Ypsilanti. The truck driver was not injured.

Herman Snay, 10, of 9281 Pleasant Lake Road, Ann Arbor, a brother-in-law of the victim and a passenger in the car, is reported to be in critical condition at University Medical Center, Ann Arbor with skull fracture and other head injuries.

Services for Mr. Hamilton were held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Geer Funeral Home in Ypsilanti. He will be taken to the Hulls Brothers Funeral Home at Martin, Mich.

Feather Fashions A Ticklish Hobby

by Marie Schneider

It takes patience--plus for the sportsman--"Scotty originals". His grandfather was a "fly tier" and so is Scotty. It seems almost too bad to take these intricate little flies and use them for fish bait.

He came to Manchester about 16 years ago from Scotland, works at Double A, lives with his brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Don MacKintosh, and likes to fish and hunt.

"During the hunting season we never have a chance to eat the skin of a pheasant," says Don.

"Bill always skins the pheasant carefully and dries the complete skin and feathers, an art he learned in Scotland. As far as we are concerned, we hardly know that a pheasant has a skin."

"Then too, friends sometimes give Scotty their pheasant feathers. But he is pretty fussy. He doesn't want the feathers plucked out and put in a bag and handed to him. These would be quite useless."

Scotty raises golden pheasants. During the molting season, he picks up all fallen feathers.

"Did you know that there are right and left feathers? Just the same as anything else," Scotty said. "In order to use feathers to design a hat, you begin at the back and work both ways to the front. Certainly you don't just pile feathers on the hat. Some do, of course, but they look just that way, too."

He has boxes and boxes of feathers which have been trimmed and laid carefully in rows (rights and lefts). This is no hobby for someone who enjoys a breeze or one who coughs and sneezes a lot.

His grandfather (his mother's father) also enjoyed the same hobby.

"I never knew my grandfather," he said. "No one else in the family has shared an immediate interest in the hobby, but they tell me it is hereditary. I was never allowed to even touch my grandfather's tiny tools until I was grown up. Now I have some of them. Just look at this tiny scissors on this little pliers," he suggested.

Scotty designs ornaments for coats, and sweaters, especially for the sportsman--"Scotty originals". His grandfather was a "fly tier" and so is Scotty. It seems almost too bad to take these intricate little flies and use them for fish bait. But Scotty will tell you that oft times one fly might last a whole season "and they really do the trick."

"There is no end to the possibilities of designing with feathers," he said in his soft Scottish accent. "Just look at that vase I covered," he said as he held out a gorgeous one.

His ideas are endless. For those who are interested and would like to see some of Scotty's work, they are on display at the Gamble Store on East Main Street.

$275,000 Revenue Bonds Sold

Manchester can proceed with the water program which has been causing concern here for some time.

At the Tuesday evening council meeting, Charles C. Bechtel, manager of the Municipal Bond Department, submitted a deposit which clinched the sale of $275,000 revenue bonds to Watling, Lerchen & Co. and Kenower MacArthur & Co. of Detroit.

This was good news to council which had advertised for the sale of bonds twice previously before they gave Watling & Lerchen an option to purchase the bonds. This was a 30-day option.

As soon as the village has delivered the bonds the contracts will be let. Prior to this time the bids were accepted contingent to the sale of the bonds.

Contractor for installation of water mains is Dunigan Brothers of Jackson for $67,178.75.

The contract for the water filtration system has been let to Lane Northern, Inc. of Lansing and the Pittsburgh Des Moines Co. of Chicago has been named to install the 300,000 gallon water tank for $87,200.

Bids for the new well house have not been approved at this time.
