vacancy is currently unassigned. Thus the main question which this proposed amendment raises is whether it is better to fill judicial vacancies by election or appointment.

NEW CMU FRESHMEN

Nearly 300 prospective Central Michigan University freshmen are participating in the seventh pre-registration and orientation period July 25-26 on the CMU campus.

Assisting as mentors for each group of freshmen are Sara Lauer, senior, and Tammy Hewlett, sophomore.

CONSUMERS SEEKS INCREASE IN RATES

Consumers Power Company filed application with the Michigan Public Service Commission, requesting authorization to increase its rates for electric service. The Company filed a similar application with the Commission April 19, requesting authorization to increase its rates for natural gas service.

Consumers Power Company serves more than 1,000,000 electric customers in 1,529 communities located in 61 counties of Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

The application for revision of electric rates did not specify the amount of the proposed increase. A. H. Aymond, Chairman of the Board, said this would depend on the level of relevant costs prevailing when the Public Service Commission conducts its hearings in the matter.

Mr. Aymond said the Company had been able to avoid increases in its electric rates since 1959. Twice in 1965 and again in 1966, Consumers Power made substantial reductions in electric rates.

"The fact is," Mr. Aymond said, "that continuing inflation has reached a point where we can no longer absorb higher costs without an increase in electric and gas rates."

"I have you ever tried to catch a chicken?" The prizes of course will be the chickens. A Horseshoe Contest is also planned for the afternoon as well as a Tractor Maneuvering Contest for the younger set.

The student has his Rome, his Florence, his whole glowing Italy, within the four walls of his library. He has in the books the ruins of an antique world and the glories of a modern one.

Law should be like death, which spares no one.

FAITH COMMUNITY CHURCH CALENDAR

Thursday, July 25 a girls trio from Bryan College will be at the church for a concert at 8:00 p.m. There will be a potluck Salad Smorgasbord at 6:30 p.m. with each one bringing salad and dessert to pass.

Saturday, July 27 at 2 p.m. The eleven and twelve-year-olds will be leaving for CYTC Camp at Gull Lake. The Seniors will also be leaving for youth camp at Gull Lake Saturday.

Sunday, August 4 is Missionary Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Seeley, missionaries from Venezuela will be guest speakers at all services.

All wish to possess knowledge, but few, comparatively speaking, are willing to pay the price.

COUPLE WED IN AFTER-NOON CEREMONY

Mrs. Bettie Schable announces the marriage of her daughter, Mary Kay to Everett F. Bailey, son of Mrs. Mary Bailey and the late Morgan Bailey of Tazewell, Tenn. Mrs. Bailey is the daughter of the late Clarence Schable.

The ceremony was held July 20 at Emanuel Church at 1:00 p.m. with Rev. Ralph Kuetner officiating. Attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Bailey of Linden, Mich.

A reception followed the adoption of a new zoning ordinance. This could mean all present violations will be non-conforming. How do you feel about this suggestion?

Below are the answer submitted by the candidates.

Manchester Fair Plans Near Completion

By Carolyn Ahrens

The Manchester Community Fair is to be held Tuesday, August 20 through Saturday, August 24 and will officially open with the annual fair parade on Tuesday evening, August 20.

This year the theme for the parade is nursery rhymes. Boys and girls are also asked to decorate their bikes. Prizes will be awarded. Merchants will be contacted for their entries.

The Lamb Club judging will take place Wednesday afternoon and the Steer Club judging that same evening. The Steer Sale is scheduled for Thursday evening followed by the Lamb Sale. The fireworks display is planned for Thursday evening after dark.

On Friday afternoon, two tickets per child 14 years or under will be issued for afternoon rides. The Pony Pulling Contest is scheduled for Friday evening. And Saturday will be a full day of activity planned by the Manchester Jaycees.

President of the Fair Board Ted Stautz reported that the 1969 senior class will again handle the food tent and the Manchester Band Boosters will take gate tickets.

This year the Jaycees were in charge of soliciting ads for the fair book with Red Lamb handling the project. The club plans to turn over the percentage received from the Fair Board for collecting the ads to their fellow club member, Red Lamb, in his battle against a severe kidney disease.

Members of the Fair Board are President Ted Stautz; Vice-President, Jesse Walker; Treasurer, Lehman Wahl; Secretary, Maynard Leach and Board Members, Lou Vogel, Maynard Blossom, Willis Uphaus, Ellis Pratt, Ron Mann, Willis Hassett, Lowell Spike, Paul Eisele, Herm Kuebler, Elma Kopke, Ivan Immel and Jim Sully.

The Manchester Fair Book is being printed by the Chelsea Standard under the direction of Simon Steele. They will be available soon and information for any entries, the daily programs and time will be detailed in the book.

Comments By Candidates For Trustee

The following questions were given to the two candidates running for the Township Trustee position by the editor-publisher of the Enterprise. (1) At the last Township Board meeting the Township Attorney suggested adoption of a new zoning ordinance. This could mean all present violations will be non-conforming. How do you feel about this suggestion?

Below are the answer submitted by the candidates.

(1) At the last Township Board meeting the Township Attorney suggested adoption of a zoning ordinance. I have heard that this suggestion was made but to my knowledge there has been no legal opinion recommending this change.

(2) I believe local township politics will become more important as local townships must become more "self-governing" concerning local problems. Whatever representative from our area at the county level should be concerned with those areas of service furnished by the county government.

(3) I believe local township politics will become more important as local townships must become more "self-governing" concerning local problems. Whatever representative from our area at the county level should be concerned with those areas of service furnished by the county government.

(4) I have not held any township office. I have been active in many civic organizations and I am very much interested in township affairs. I am also from a rural area and like the rural way of life and would like the opportunity to serve on the township board.

You've got to hand it to the income-tax people. If you don't they'll come and get it.

You may not know when you're well off, but the Internal Revenue Service does.

DON LIMPERT

(1) It would seem too bad to think that the present zoning ordinance should suddenly be considered "unenforceable" after 10 years of use by the community and must be replaced to be "enforceable" without ever having been tested in a court of law.

(2) I believe representatives from the surrounding townships should be invited to attend all planning commission meetings as a non-voting member.

(3) I believe local township politics will become more important as local townships must become more "self-governing" concerning local problems. Whatever representative from our area at the county level should be concerned with those areas of service furnished by the county government.

(4) I was appointed to the Manchester Township Zoning Board in April, 1967 and re-appointed to a four-year term in April, 1968. I was elected to serve as chairman of the Zoning Board and the Board of Appeals. I have attended most village and township meetings for over four years to gain a better understanding of current problems and trends.

POST OFFICE ANNOUNCES SERVICE

Deputy Postmaster General Frederick C. Belen recently disclosed a major new air tax program to provide overnight first-class mail deliveries throughout Michigan as well as speed up service between Michigan and five other states.

The air tax service - for which bids will be solicited this month - will provide the following significant service improvements for letter mail: (1) Overnight delivery within Michigan. (2) Faster connections to the other state overnight delivery areas in Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio; and (3) Ultimately, connections to overnight delivery areas in Western Pennsylvania and Western New York.

Air taxis are small two-engine airplanes provided by private owners to move mail on schedules best adapted to the needs of the Postal Service.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATIVE REPORT - Thomas G. Sharpe

Very recently, a man named James C. Turner, who lives in Howell, Michigan, and publishes a regional magazine called Today on a modest scale, found himself in one of the strangest predicaments imaginable.

Turner had uncovered what appeared to be extreme irregularities in the handling of the estate of a lady named Rosa Miller. After extensive research, he became convinced that three attorneys, two of whom later became judges, had appropriated for themselves large sums of money that were rightfully due the Miller heirs.

In January of this year, he quite properly turned the evidence he had gathered -- statements, affidavits, checks and other documents -- over to the State Bar Association of Michigan for investigation.

The Bar Association immediately designated all such documents "Confidential" -- specifically warning Turner that he would be in contempt of the Michigan Supreme Court if he made any of his own evidence public.

Jim Turner didn't worry about this at the time. He was busily checking out a new lead he'd uncovered. Before long, he'd gathered some 70 additional pieces of evidence concerning the property that had been deeded to a lady named Orpha Bowe -- evidence strongly suggesting that one of the same attorneys involved in the Miller case had wrongfully appropriated the major portion of Mrs. Bowe's property, leaving her to subsist on welfare payments throughout the last years of her life.

This time, Turner presented his evidence to the Attorney General of Michigan, as well as to the State Bar Association. Once again, all of the documents he'd gathered were labeled Confidential.

Yet soon after breaking the Orpha Bowe story in his magazine, Turner found himself cited for contempt by a circuit court. He was denied a jury trial. No one attempted to prove him guilty of contempt, or anything else. Instead, he was ordered to prove himself innocent -- ordered to produce evidence to back up the charges he'd made in publicizing the Miller and Bowe cases, the very evidence that was being legally suppressed, under threat of another contempt citation, by the State Bar Association.

In this situation, he saw no real choice except to let himself be found guilty and appeal the case.

Widmayer Hardware Has Family History

By Carolyn Ahrens

Widmayer's Hardware is undoubtedly one of the original places of business in Manchester. Fred Widmayer, the late father of Herbert Widmayer, opened his hardware store in 1892 after buying out his employer J. H. Kingsley.

The original Widmayer's Hardware was located next door to today's store then moved across the street in 1936 to where Widmayer's Furniture store is now located. Then in 1941 Fred Widmayer, then 81 years old, opened the present Widmayer's Hardware Store. It was a double celebration because it was the late Mr. Widmayer's birthday and also his 59th year of being in the hardware business.

Roland and Herbert, two of three sons, bought their father's business that same year. Widmayer's Hardware serving Manchester and the surrounding community has been in the Widmayer family for seventy-six years.

Today the store remains much the same but with today's light hardware from nylon pots and pans, outdoor furniture, a complete line of fishing equipment, garden tools, hammers and various tools, and an almost uncountable number of items in stock. A common saying often heard, "If you need something, check at Widmayer's" for they carry many items still used but often not found in many stores.

Mr. and Mrs. Widmayer are usually found at the store and always give their customers the same friendly and complete service as did the late owner, Mr. Fred Widmayer. Miss Vicki Eisele is employed at Widmayer's Hardware.

The store is open daily from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. and Wednesday from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.

WHO SHOULD SIT ON TOWNSHIP BOARD?

The questions put to the two candidates running for trustee in Manchester Township were made up by me.

My purpose was two-fold: (1) To see how they stood on issues I know will be important in the near future, and (2) To keep this from being a popularity contest.

The Enterprise is not backing any particular candidate in this election. I hope the outcome will be decided on the basis of which man you think will best serve the interests of the township without special regard to his friends.

This community has had an over abundance of officials who were elected because they are "nice guys" everyone knows. Our village elections have been run like this for years. Not that good candidates haven't been chosen, but voters were only given a choice of who they liked, not why.

The questions put to these candidates and those in the school and council elections were the first chance people have had to choose by how a man thought, not how well he was known or liked.

I have personally been given a hard time by candidates who balk at answering (wordless) questions in the paper, but no one has convinced me that these questions don't influence an election outcome.

It's going to be our policy to ask questions of any candidate running for office in this community. Whether they answer or not is up to them.

In the past several weeks I have come to know a man called Elmer White. He is a young man running in the Democratic primary for Prosecuting Attorney. After our sometimes lengthy talks on how he thinks, I am personally backing Mr. White's candidacy, (though not necessarily his party affiliation). Mr. White is running on a platform of "full time law enforcement." I think he is right, and I urge all those voting in the Democratic primary to support Mr. White.

WASHINGTON REPORT by Marvin Esch

The 90th Congress may be called many things, but you can be sure it won't be known for reform. Every major reform measure has faced certain death by a disinterested majority. The list includes such important issues as the draft, social security, crime and, of course, a much needed bill to reform Congress itself.

The latest of these to bite the dust was the Election Reform Act of 1968. After much prodding by the minority over a period of several years, the House Administration Committee finally reported this essential measure for floor action only to have it bottled up in the Rules Committee—the infamous final resting place for many pieces of progressive reform legislation. As a result it's now clear that Congress will fall once again to revise and update the ineffective laws dealing with election campaigns.

The case for election law reform is well made and quite sound. Two current laws which deal in this area—the Federal Corrupt Practices Act and the Hatch Act—were enacted 43 and 28 years ago respectively. Studies such as the 1962 Report of President Kennedy's Commission on Campaign Costs reveal that present laws invite evasion and are filled with loopholes.

The Election Reform Act of 1968 was developed to meet the glaring need for action. In many respects its goals parallel those of the bill I introduced last year to set up a committee on standards and conduct. It would have established a bipartisan Federal Elections Commission to supervise campaign spending. Candidates, individual contributors, and political committees would be subject to realistic and effective regulations requiring full reporting of contributions and expenditures. Safeguards against the use of campaign contributions for personal purposes were also included in the bill.

Unfortunately, even if Congress should suddenly wake up and act on this measure immediately it would be too late to implement its provisions in time for the 1968 campaign. Consequently, the millions of dollars in contributions and expenditures in the primary and convention campaigns this year will remain largely unreported and subject to no official scrutiny. Moreover the current reporting and disclosure provisions applicable to the general election will remain weak and subject to little or no enforcement.

Much more is at stake here than merely preventing unscrupulous individuals and special interest groups from operating under the table. The basic issue is the restoration of public confidence in our system of representative government. One would think that when public support of the governmental system and its representatives is at an all time low, Congress would at least take this one small step toward reform.

North Sharon Bible Church held their Vacation Bible School July 22 - 26. Uncle George from the Rural Bible Mission held the school. 118 attended the school. The Sunday School picnic was held Saturday, July 27 at Carr Park.

KNOW YOUR MICHIGAN LAW

Even though the uninsured motorist law has been in effect for two and one half years, many people still believe that they are buying "insurance" when they pay an extra $35 at the time they buy their license plates. They feel that this is cheaper "insurance" than they could get from their local insurance agent.

Nothing could be further from the truth.

The $35 is paid because they do not have insurance! If they had an insurance policy which provided coverage for public liability of not less than $10,000 for one person in any one accident, plus property damage coverage of not less than $5,000 in any one accident, they would only pay $1,000 into the Uninsured Motorists Fund.

If the person who pays the $35 fee is subsequently involved in an accident for which he is liable, resulting in the Fund paying for damages incurred, that individual's troubles have only commenced. The vehicle owner and the driver (if he is not the car owner) in whose behalf the damages are paid is required by law to repay to the State the total amount paid out by the Fund.

Immediately after a claim is paid by the Fund, the driver's license and the license plates of the owner and the driver are picked up by the Secretary of State. Neither the owner nor the driver may recover them until the Fund has been repaid in full or arrangements have been made for time payments and financial responsibility insurance has been secured.

In addition, if the uninsured motorist fails to repay, he may be subject to garnishment of his wages and his personal and real property may be executed against and seized to satisfy judgments rendered against him.

Therefore, anyone who feels he is getting a bargain by paying $35 for what he believes is "State insurance" should, in addition, buy a stout pair of walking shoes. He may soon have good use for them.

THE LANSING REPORT by Gil Rursley

Interim study committees normally operate during the time when the legislature is not actually in session.

These bodies serve a vital purpose. They obtain facts on key issues that may require legislative action. Sometimes confusing and conflicting statements on important matters—such as this year's parochial aid bill—are resolved by postponing legislative action until an interim committee has been able to sort fact from fiction.

Normally the interim committee's schedule and program is worked out by its chairman who also bears primary responsibility for preparing the committee's written report back to the next session of the legislature. It has been my lot this year to be asked to serve as chairman of six of these committees.

The Joint Legislative Committee on Urban Mass Transportation, composed of eight senators and eight representatives, is determining what additional legislative action may be necessary to ensure that the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority comes up with the best possible mass transit system for the six county area. We are also studying the pros and cons of a state department of transportation within the state government.

Another committee which I head is concerned with pesticide controls. We have already had hearings at the Pesticide Research Center at Michigan State University and with the Dow Chemical Company in Midland.

Another committee is concerned with abortion law reform. I plan several hearings including one in the Ann Arbor area. We are looking at California and Colorado's abortion laws. The Senate international commerce committee which I have been in charge of for the past three years is primarily ensuring that the State Commerce and Agriculture Departments promote vigorously overseas trade missions where businessmen can make actual dollar sales. Two bills which I sponsored this spring were signed into law by the governor and give the two departments more authority in the foreign trade promotion area.

I am chairman of an education subcommittee concerned with educational TV and radio. Senate bills 1049, 50 and 51 which I introduced this year were held up for this committee study. The question of a statewide educational communications system is under review.

A committee to study and follow up on plans for a major stadium facility in the Detroit area—probably at the State Fair grounds—is another for which I am responsible.

In addition to these interim committees for which I have prime responsibility I am also a member of one studying the question of state aid to parochial schools and another on review of insurance laws.

I think you can appreciate that these interim study committees can keep a legislator busy on a full time basis. Apart from that, however, I am most concerned with responding to the inquiries from constituents within this senatorial district. Please write me at the State Capitol—I'm always at your service.

HERMAN F. ROMELHARDT by Gil Rursley

Herman F. Romelhardt, age 66 years, died suddenly Thursday. He was born Feb. 2, 1902 in Sharon Township, the son of George and Barbara Rehfus Romelhardt. Question: Will nations draw together or will one of them draw first?

ST. JOHN CH. 10 Verses 9, 10 and 11

I am the door by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture. The Thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy; I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly. I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep.

Editorial
Take a Good Look

You frequently read statements from elected officials who figuratively play the William Tell Overture No. 2, paw the ground and tell their constituents through frank mail newsletters and orally, that there is a fabulous waste in modern government and it comes out of the taxpayers' ever-thinning wallets.

This is just like saying, in the words of humorist H. Allen Smith, "He has that magnificent ability to grasp the obvious." The "It's-watching-the-cash-register-for-you-folks-back home," theme is one of the most popular approaches of some legislators and congressmen to obtain or retain endorsement in the hearts of voters.

The spiraling costs of any type of government agency or aid in the field of education or virtually any services involving state or federal funds, occasionally are used by some legislators and congressmen to attach bills against which they are personally biased, or to submit amendments which can delay, block or kill a bill, although the principal of the measure may have merit.

Modern government has become so complex and fanned out so widely, and is so remote to the average taxpayer, that he can't tell where the buck goes, how it is split and the average guy has a tough time keeping up with his representative, senator, or congressmen whose views sometimes change and are contradictory.

That is why the taxpayer, alias the voter, would be wise to give the candidates in the August primary and the November election, a thorough appraisal and a summation stripped of political eloquence and the flag-waving platitudes.

Now is the time to take inventory on our elective officials --and their record. In the 51st district, which is Livingston County and parts of Washtenaw County, an important primary election faces the voters next month.

At stake is the Republican nomination for state representative. The incumbent is the energetic, enigmatic and highly controversial Thomas Sharpe, who is seeking another term. Does Mr. Sharpe, no preacher economy on one hand and doesn't mind spending tax money for his own benefit, deserve another term?

Have his opinions of certain major legislative measures been biased to the extent that he has handicapped legislation that has had approval of a majority of both parties and were vital to public interests? Has he voted in the best interests of his constituents in the 51st district? We think a penetrating study of Mr. Sharpe's record would indicate that he has been found lacking.

We think it is time for a change. Our opinion is based on the records, and the opinions of political observers in Lansing, newsmen and other well informed sources.

Mr. Sharpe yells about increased appropriations for running government. In the Capital area, however, they are still talking about the 22-day junket he took with three other legislators to Central America (Nov. 8 - Dec. 22) in the interests of "better trade relations" with the various Latin countries visited.

The trip cost Michigan taxpayers more than $1,200, for Mr. Sharpe. A coincidence was that the stopover points included some of the finest spas and recreation centers in Mexico, Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Honduras. What made it more unusual, was that Mr. Sharpe broke away from the legislative party at Miami on the return trip and took a junket to New Orleans, an extra $62 in plane fare (above the original $696), plus $188 for staying two days in New Orleans to attend a conference on chiropractors. In New Orleans he stayed at the plush Fountain Blue where his room rent was $21.10 per day. (What the extra dime was for wasn't made clear.)

courts such as Justice of Peace, etc. They will be replaced by district judges who must be attorneys, in the forthcoming primary and election.

The reorganization bill had the endorsement of the Michigan Bar Association and various jurists around the state. Mr. Sharpe offered his own plan, which would have permitted each of the 83 counties the option through their boards of supervisors, to retain magistrates or not as desired, in essence exempting the counties from the law if they so wish. This would have provoked a non-uniform set of courts around the state.

Mr. Sharpe voted against the lower courts reorganization bill after the legislature failed to go along with his proposal.

On the Sunday liquor law, which will allow counties, especially in the resort areas, to permit the sale of liquor by the glass on Sundays, Mr. Sharpe reversed his views on county-option. The bill allows counties to exempt themselves, unless local elections are held.

Mr. Sharpe led a fight against the bill even with local option, on the basis of what lame-duck county boards would do with local option. In other words, he doesn't figure that outgoing county boards could be unbiased about the issue, and voted against the bill.

When it came to the Open Housing bill, Mr. Sharpe led the fight on two amendments. One of them was successful. It guarantees the seller the same rights a defendant is entitled to under criminal court procedure. However, a second amendment he pushed for, which would have provided some exemptions as provided by federal housing statutes, was defeated. As a result Mr. Sharpe voted against the bill.

This is in keeping with his apparent theory that a bill is either all good or all bad.

Along these lines, in an exhaustive study of Mr. Sharpe's views, it can be noted that he has a frequent tendency to condemn the whole because of a part, and refrains from giving the other side of the story.

A good example is his attack on the Michigan Civil Rights Commission because of a big budget increase. Perhaps Mr. Sharpe was right in resisting some of the money asked in the interests of economy.

During his blast at the Civil Rights commission, however, he took occasion to condemn the commission for allegedly sending out "Christmas guidelines" to school districts. "I find they are nothing less than a blueprint for keeping Christ out of Christmas, even to such ridiculous extent that the singing of the time-honored and very beautiful carol, 'Silent Night,' not be permitted."

What Mr. Sharpe apparently doesn't realize or failed to mention, is that the commission merely was following rulings of the United States Supreme Court, the Michigan State Supreme court and federal district and appeals courts.

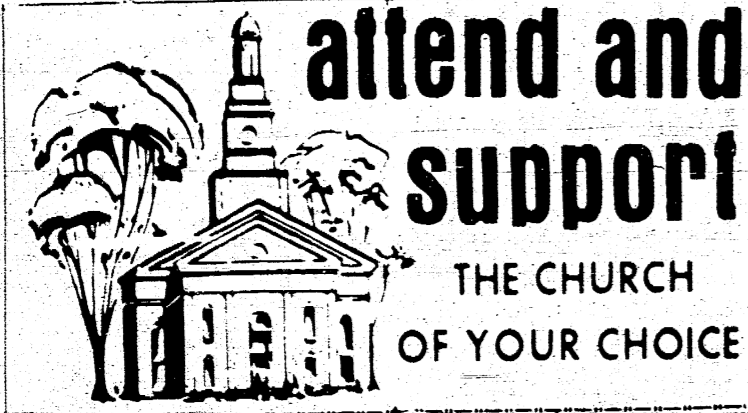

Under the court rulings, religion may not be taught in public schools during school classes; nor may religious hymns be sung, nor any way may religion be injected during regular school hours.

So his quarrel in this case should have been with the United States Supreme Court, not the Civil Rights Commission.

When the schools asked for more money in the last state budget, he said, "I challenge the wisdom of increased public outlays for any purpose, no matter how important, over which the representatives of the public in the legislature lose control."

But in another case, he puts the onus on the board of regents of the University of Michigan. This is in reference to the appearance of William Sloane Coffin who spoke at the University and urged students to defy draft laws. Coffin was under federal indictment for counseling draft dodging at the time.

In his attack on the University, Mr. Sharpe "cited many persons who supported the views" against the appearance of Coffin, and declared, "I personally believe that action should be more properly taken by the elected university of Michigan regents who are supposed to be an autonomous governing body."

TEXT: MARK 13:9-13

By Tom Guenther Associate Minister Emanuel United Church of Christ

As ministers of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ (and anyone who calls himself a Christian falls into that category), we are called upon to proclaim to all the world the news of God's redeeming activity in the world today. We are called upon to speak, both in word and in deed, what it means to live "in relationship" to God; and this is not an easy task. For the world in which we live--the world of scientific knowledge, the world of racial tension, the world where the atom bomb continually threatens the existence of man--this kind of world is not always able to "make sense" out of the faith-commitment which strives to see God's work in all of the activity. Thus it is that much of what we say and do as Christians, who have accepted the love of God, will be criticized and questioned. Indeed, if we really are committed to Christ's command that we should love the Lord our God with all our hearts and our neighbors (includes all races, nationalities and creeds) as ourselves, we will be persecuted by those who do not understand. The text itself tells us that we will be hated for HIS name's sake.

But as Christians, how do we meet such persecution? Our text tells us that we should not be anxious before hand about what we are to say or do, but exhorts us to a total reliance upon the faith in the Holy Spirit working in and through us. Carefully worked-out defenses will not necessarily protect Jesus' followers. We do not have time for that in every situation. It does not mean that a speech will automatically be put into our mouths in a time of crisis or emergency. Its promise is larger and deeper. What the text calls us to is a reliance upon our living faith in God; for out of our continuous relationship with him will come the word and action for a particular occasion. This does not excuse us from the responsibility of keeping abreast with what is going on in the world. On the contrary, this faith calls us to a more sensitive awareness of the times in which we live for God is at work in the world today as well as he was yesterday or is tomorrow.

Secondly the text exhorts us to endure. But here, endurance means more than to survive. Of course, in an atomic age the question of survival is a real one. Yet to survive as human beings is very different from enduring as Christians. Survival is a matter of existence, endurance is a matter of faith. To survive is to keep on eating, breathing, and sleeping; to endure is to keep on straining and wrestling and questioning, holding out to the last notch. If we endure, if we remain faithful, if we testify for Christ in everything we do, then as the text tells us, we are saved--saved from cowardice which leaves little room for self-respect; saved from inward chaos which besets those who deny the truth. We have a hope that through our persecution, God is still at work--TODAY! Why not join Him?

CAPTURES HEARTS OF TABASCO

Musical Youth International arrived at Rotary Headquarters, Villahermosa, Tabasco, Tuesday evening, July 2nd, after a 600 kilometer bus ride along the Gulf of Mexico. Lunch at Hotel Bahartes, Campeche, provided everyone an hour's relaxation on the beach.

Villahermosa police escort met the three MYI buses at the city entrance and led the way through narrow, winding streets to Club Rotario, where sixty families were waiting for their MYI guests. Coca-Cola, the truly universal drink, served as the first means of communication. In record time, local Rotarians had made everyone welcome, and had divided the group among individual families.

MYI presented two concerts in Villahermosa, both in the New Sports Stadium which seats 2000 people. The band and chorus entered the arena, two abreast, while their names were announced on loud speakers, and they paraded around the center to the stage while the audience applauded. A standing ovation greeted the performers at the conclusion of the first concert, which was attended by the Governor of Tabasco, Sr. Ruben Daro Vidal R.

The second concert was more informal, but equally well received. Karen Judson, from Ann Arbor, Michigan and Richard Harvey, from Grand Blanc, celebrated their birthdays, Mexican style, and were called out on stage to receive greetings, amid loud applause.

July 4th, Independence Day, called for special celebration and entertainment. The Villahermosa Mexican Youth Institute provided an extensive program of Mexican dances in native costumes and original music for MYI. Club Rotario hosted the group at a tamale barbecue luncheon, with music by a local marimba band. Mexican hosts danced with MYI guests and taught several native dances to the students. Chris Becker, from Northville, achieved the distinction of star ballerina. After the evening concert, Mayor Jorge Saenz Jurado presented Distinguished Visitor Certificates to each student and staff member in a farewell ceremony.

MYI loaded buses early July 5th, to take the mountain road to Xalapa, Veracruz. Nicholas Putz, Trenton High School, found on a bedside table that morning a note left by his 24-year-old Mexican "brother", reading in part, "Remember, I never can forget your days in my city - something wonderful." The Villahermosa police captain, who had personally escorted the entire visit in the city, boarded each bus to say, "Boys and girls, I say you goodbye."

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

This year's August 6 primary elections may be described as more potent and important than usual.

New elective offices have been created -- such as a new county Board of Supervisors and a new District Court system. This year too, voters will make final decision at the primaries on three proposed amendments to our state Constitution.

Not to be ignored is the selection of candidates from each political party for such top offices as U.S. Congressman (19 from Michigan) -- members of the state House of Representatives (10 Representatives) plus all the usual county elective offices. Another important part of the primary election is the selection of delegates to the county conventions of each political party.

The three proposed constitutional amendments have been placed on the primary ballot to ease the burden in the fall general election where another four will be decided. They include: HJR "PP" -- which amends the constitution to create a 9-member Judicial Tenure Commission, which might be termed as having "watch-dog" authority over judges of our courts. The Supreme Court would take final action on any recommendations.

HJR "F" -- would return to the constitution the Governor's authority to appoint judges to fill vacancies until the next election. Presently such vacancies are filled temporarily by appointment of retired judges. This system has not worked in that the need for judges is much greater than the number of retired judges eligible to serve.

HJR "AA" -- creates a State Officers' Compensation Commission, with the power to set salaries and expense allowances of the members of the legislature, the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor and Justices of the Supreme Court. Their determination on salaries would be final unless rejected by a two-thirds vote of each House.

"Decisions to be made in the primary election are far too important to let go by default," states Robert Smith,

Legislative Counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau, in urging farmers -- and all others, to become politically active. "Political parties are the foundation of our form of government, yet through apathy, it is apparent that control of a party or the destiny of a major issue, can be decided by a tiny minority," Smith says.

PURCHASE OF 1968 WHEAT CROP

Frank Light, Chairman of the Michigan State ASC Committee, announced today that Commodity Credit Corporation would purchase wheat from eligible producers. Light stated this action was taken because adequate storage is not available in some areas and, in other areas, the net return for a bushel of wheat to the producer is considerably lower because of excessive storage and handling charges.

Commodity Credit Corporation will pay producers the local county loan rate less 10 cents per bushel for all wheat purchased prior to August 8, and 9 cents per bushel for wheat purchased between August 8 and September 4. This price will reflect the amount farmers would receive for their wheat if they sold it at loan maturity time, April 30, 1969.

Complete information pertaining to this purchase program may be secured at local county ASCS offices.

More and more doctors think people should work after 60, and a lot of bosses think it wouldn't hurt before that.

FARM BUREAU CITIZENSHIP SEMINAR

The challenge of maintaining and improving the "way of life" they have inherited was outlined to approximately 140 high school juniors and seniors during a week-long Citizenship Seminar just completed. America's political and economic system was contrasted with those of socialism and communism during a series of lectures and workshop sessions conducted throughout the week by leaders in the field.

Held at Camp Kett near Cadillac, the annual conference is sponsored by the Michigan Farm Bureau. Representatives are selected by their local county Farm Bureaus.

Featured speakers were Clifton Ganus, Ph. D., president of Harding college, Searcy, Arkansas; John Furbay, Ph. D., international lecturer and author; Kenneth Cheatham, assistant director of program development, American Farm Bureau Federation; D. Hale Brake, director of education, Michigan State Association of Supervisors; and Arthur Holst, National Football League official.

During the conference, practical political activities were carried out by the students, including mock primary elections, county conventions, a colorful rally complete with slogans, banners, and demonstrations, and concluding with a general election.

Emphasizing that good citizenship involves active participation in politics, the students were encouraged to become informed about political issues, and to work with the party of their choice.

Attending the seminar from this area were: Left to Right - Karen Frey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Frey Jr. of Manchester; Barry Bevier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bevier of Ypsilanti; Shirley Finkbner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Finkbner of Saline. They were the representatives of Washtenaw County Farm Bureau.

TO ADVANCE FUNDS FOR ORGAN TRANSPLANTS

Policy owners can now draw against their life insurance death benefits to finance transplants of heart, liver or kidney for themselves. It is announced by R. C. von Rosenberg, president of Farmers New World Life Insurance Company.

In 1965 the company pioneered the concept of drawing against life insurance death benefits to sustain productive life when it made available such funds to finance artificial kidney machine treatments for policyholders.

The board of directors has now approved extension of this program to the transplant of vital organs.

In a message currently being mailed to policy owners, von Rosenberg states: "Our company . . . will consider advancing up to 50% of any life insurance policy you have in force with us up to a limit of $25,000 if it becomes necessary to sustain your life by having a transplant of the heart, liver or kidney."

Policyholders who need the life-giving aid of organ transplants are asked to contact the company.

Farmers New World Life Insurance Company is a member of the Farmers Insurance Group. It has $2.7 billion insurance in force and more than 730,000 policyholders.

SALE OF GOVERNMENT GRAIN STORAGE STRUCTURES

Frank Light, Chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced that the Eaton County ASC Committee will offer for sale Thursday, August 8th, 35 Government-owned grain storage bins at the Sunfield Bin Site located one mile north of Sunfield.

These bins have a rated storage capacity of 3,250 bushels, and will be sold by auction completely dismantled. Light stated that eligible producers could finance the purchase of these bins with a low interest loan, obtained from their local county ASCS office.

The sale of these bins is particularly timely because of the shortage of on-the-farm storage, and the high cost of off-farm storage. This type of storage space on farms will permit farmers to harvest and store price supported crops, and obtain farm storage loans at harvest time.

All crop reports indicate a large crop of all grains and beans this year, which means that the market price farmers will receive for their crops will be the lowest at harvest time. Producers who have adequate storage on their farms will be able to take advantage of any price increase that occurs later in the marketing year.

Additional information about the sale of bins at Sunfield, storage facility loans, or commodity loans, may be obtained by contacting local county ASCS offices.

4-H JUDGING CONTEST HELD

The County 4-H Livestock Judging Contest was held Thursday, July 18th. The purpose of the contest was to select two teams to represent Washtenaw County at the State 4-H Show in August.

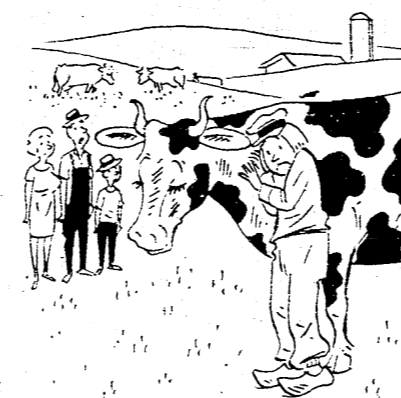

Stops were made at three farms with two classes of livestock being judged at each farm. The farms were: Alton Graus, 2710 Fletcher Rd. Chelsea, where sheep were judged; Bill Lutz's 11030 Macon Rd., Saline for swine and the Neil Haerer farm 9740 Saline-Milan Rd., Saline where beef was judged.

The winners selected for the junior division were: (1) Marty Straub (2) Janet Mast (3) Stephen Straub (4) Laura McCalla (5) Ross Haessler (6) Mary Girbach.

The Senior division team consists of (1) Bobby Girbach (2) Lenora Haessler (3) Jim Burmeister (4) Gail Girbach (5) Loren Heller (6) Judy McCalla.

The teams will continue to work out under the directions of Bill Lutz.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kisby spent the day in Manchester Saturday and picked up their son, Johnny who had been staying with his grandmother, Mrs. Glenn Bertke while Mr. Bertke was in the hospital.

FARMERS URGE MICHIGAN CONGRESSMEN TO VOTE ON FARM ACT

Concern about high costs of the current farm program "which has produced only failure" -- has prompted Michigan farmers to urge all of the state's Representatives in Washington to vote against any extension of the Agriculture Act of 1955.

The Senate has voted to extend the act for four additional years, and a House vote is expected this week.

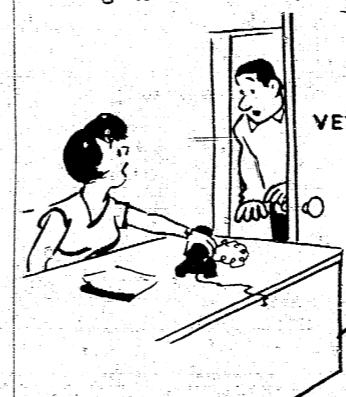

In a letter to the Congressmen, Michigan Farm Bureau Secretary-Manager, Dan E. Reed, noted that there is no justification for an extension of the Act "which could saddle farmers with up to five more years of a program which has failed."

Farmers and consumers are becoming increasingly concerned about the large amounts of tax money being paid out to large farms under the Food and Agriculture Act, Reed said, adding that both consumers and farmers are aware that food prices continue to climb while farm prices drop.

"Seldom have real, operating farmers been as unified in opposition to a proposed Congressional action as they are to any extension of this Act," he said.

Farm Bureau has suggested that the proper approach to the wheat and feed grain problems would be repeal of the current programs of subsidies and allotments, returning management of farms to farmers.

A program embodying these ideas was introduced in Congress earlier this year by Michigan Congressman Guy Vander Jagt of the 9th Congressional District.

"Forget what you've heard about doctors and house calls, Miss Hoskins! I DO make 'house calls'!"

SODT FAMILY REUNION

The 45th annual reunion of the Sodr family was held Sunday, July 21, at Sharon Town Hall. Thirty people from Monroe, Jackson, Ann Arbor, Tecumseh and Manchester attended.

A young man from Holland, who is living with the Lowell Spike family this summer, was a guest. He said he likes the United States. He will return to his home in Europe to attend the university this fall.

In the absence of President Eugene Huber, Lynn Voegeding, vice president, presided at the business meeting. Clarence Voegeding, 82, was the oldest family member present, and Stephen Ernst, the one-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Allyn Ernst of Tecumseh, was the youngest.

Next year's reunion was set for the second Sunday in July. New family officers are Lynn Voegeding, president, Harold Sodr, vice president, and Mary Uphaus, secretary-treasurer.

CONSUMERS POWER REPORT

Consumers Power Company today reported gross operating revenues of $496,476,424 for the 12 months ended June 30, 1968, an increase of 7.7 per cent over revenues of $460,831,539 reported in the previous 12 months.

However, in the same 12-month period, the Company's tax burden increased 17.7 per cent, to $97,941,880, compared with $83,197,339 in the year ended June 30, 1967. This higher tax figure includes the new ten per cent surcharge on federal income taxes, and the Michigan state income tax. The state income tax became effective January 1, 1968. The federal surcharge was imposed retroactively to January 1, 1968.

As a result of this drastic increase in taxation, plus sharp increases in other operating expenses, the Company's net income for the year ended June 30, 1968 declined 3.7 per cent to $65,204,553, compared to $67,691,024 reported in the previous 12 months.

Earnings per share on the average number of shares outstanding, after dividends for preferred stock, were $2.72, compared to $2.83 for the 12 months ended June 30, 1967.

WET WEATHER BRINGS MORE MOSQUITOES

If more mosquitoes than expected show up for your next backyard barbecue or picnic in the park, you can blame the record attendance on the weather. Michigan's abnormally wet season just past has brought forth an abundance of the pesky insects.

Even if your lawn was sprayed for mosquito control, you may have plenty of the unwelcome guests since they travel readily from neighboring untreated areas.

Director B. Dale Ball of the Michigan Department of Agriculture reports that there is a trend this year toward greater use of the less persistent pesticides.

VETERANS REMINDED TO APPLY FOR BENEFITS

Apply now for your Veterans Administration Certificate of Eligibility for schooling and avoid the Fall rush.

This particularly applies to veterans planning to enter school this year under the G.I. Bill, Robert M. Fitzgerald, Manager of VA's Regional Office in Detroit, said recently.

ing under the G.I. Bill, who plan to change programs or schools this Fall must obtain new Certificates of Eligibility from VA.

The principal advantage to the veteran of heeding advice to apply now is that he can be certain that his G.I. Bill education allowance will be dated from the day school begins.

ment of his allowance, according to VA.

To obtain a Certificate of Eligibility, a veteran planning to enter school or training for the first time under the G.I. Bill should get in touch with his nearest Veterans Administration Office.

A veteran who requires another certificate because of a change in program or school should contact the VA Regional Office which maintains his records on file.

A veteran who is not changing programs or schools need not obtain another certificate.

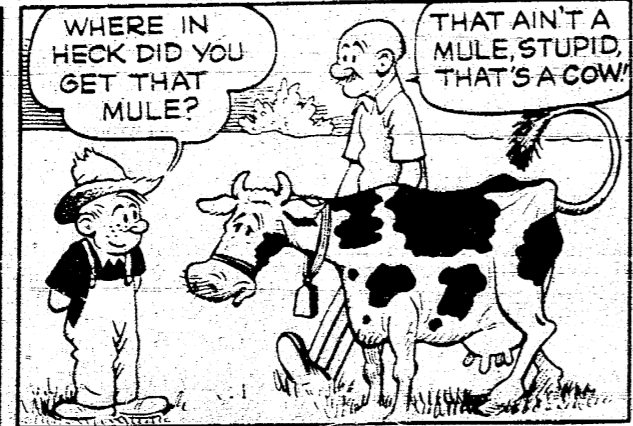

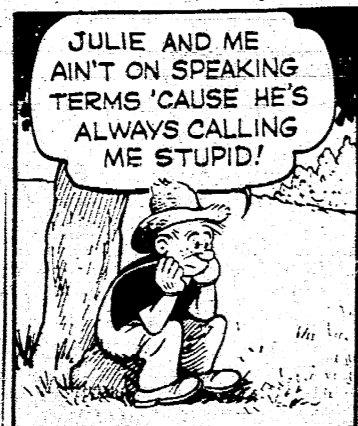

PATTERN IS COOL SUMMER READING

While Michigan swelters in midsummer heat, reading a statistical report on snowfall patterns throughout the state may help you "keep your cool." You can't really hope for snow until about September 21-30 though, and then in only a few locations.

The report was prepared by the Michigan Weather Service, a division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, under the supervision of Norton D. Strommen, state climatologist. It traces snowfall patterns according to dates and depths, from one to 12 inches.

INSURANCE NEWS

Consumer demand for combining personal lines and commercial coverage insurance premiums into monthly, equal, budget payments has prompted one of Michigan's leading insurers to develop a financial acceptance company.

The Community Service Acceptance Company, an affiliate of Farm Bureau Insurance Group, headquartered in Lansing, will begin operation on September 1. The acceptance company will finance all policies written by Farm Bureau Mutual and Community Service Insurance Companies, also affiliates of Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

Policyholders will be able to establish a monthly premium payment which best fits their budget. These equalized payments make planning for large, sometimes unexpected annual or semi-annual premium payments unnecessary.

Nile L. Vermillion, Farm Bureau Insurance Group Executive Vice President said, "Our concern is complete client protection and service. The smaller monthly premiums will eliminate large premium payments which some times result in nonpayment, policy discontinuation and loss of necessary insurance protection."

Farm Bureau Insurance Group is a multiple line firm operating throughout Michigan with 49 offices staffed by 280 representatives.

TRUCKING INDUSTRY BIG BUSINESS IN COUNTY

A half-million trucks, all types and sizes, serve Michigan's 8 1/2 million people daily. This is one of many facts presented in the 24-page booklet, Truck Transportation in Michigan, an industry fact book published by Michigan Trucking Association.

In Washtenaw County, there are 11,008 trucks registered. The number of persons whose employment is directly related to motor truck transportation in Washtenaw County is 6,841. Their annual earnings were $47,544,950.

Truck Transportation in Michigan shows the employment for each county, and truck registrations. The book points out that Michigan's trucking industry employs more than 312,000 persons, one out of nine employed in the state. Their annual payroll exceeds $2,100,000,000.

Truck Transportation in Michigan explains the industry's role as a taxpayer. Emphasis is placed on the special highway use taxes paid by trucks. Statistical sections compare state and federal highway use taxes paid by auto owners, and light and heavy truck operators. There are explanations of what constitutes special state and federal highway use taxes, and how the money is used for road building projects in Michigan.

Michigan trucks build 31 of every 100 miles of highway, it says in this booklet. Also, in Michigan annual road taxes paid by one large transport truck (about $2800) are equal to the payments of 25 automobiles ($112).

There is a section devoted to the truck portion of monies distributed and expended for Michigan highways, by counties. For instance, in Washtenaw County truck taxes distributed to local governments during fiscal 1967 totaled $841,470. This plus the state and federal funds expended by the Michigan Department of State Highways brings the truck portion of total monies distributed and expended in our county to $1,439,101.

Other information includes data on the miles of Federal-Aid highway system in Michigan, road miles in Michigan under state and local control, and miscellaneous statistics on the amount of farm products moved by truck.

Three explanatory sections deal with: what type of company operations make up the total trucking industry, what are the job opportunities, and how does the future of truck transportation look.

Michigan Trucking Association, the Lansing-based trade association representing management of all types of trucking companies, updates its industry fact book every two years.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

decision -- still waiting for the Bar Association to complete its investigation and release his evidence.

I'm not claiming that any form of conspiracy against this man existed. Very probably, he was merely the victim of an unusual set of circumstances.

I don't know whether Turner could have proven his charges of corruption, if he'd been free to use all his evidence. I don't know whether the attorneys he accused of wrongdoing are innocent or guilty.

I have repeatedly said that I have no wish to pre-judge anyone in this matter, or to see the public pre-judge anyone. Lawyers deserve their day in court, just the same as the rest of us.

But I do know that there is something basically wrong with any system that traps a man between two contempt of court charges -- any system that simultaneously orders a man to defend himself and prevents him from doing so.

Every judge, every prosecutor and every private attorney in Michigan is and must be a member of the State Bar Association.

This arrangement is very much like having Henry Ford II, Walter Reuther and the members of the Labor Mediation Board all be members of the same union.

Practically all professional people who deal with the public are licensed and regulated by the state -- policed by public officials who can be held responsible by the public. Only lawyers and doctors are granted the privilege of policing themselves.

Behind all that has happened in the Turner case, no matter what the outcome now, lies a basic question that we in the Michigan State Legislature will have to face sooner or later:

Has the vast amount of power we have granted to the State Bar Association of Michigan worked for the public good or to the public detriment? Has this Association directed that power to policing its own, zealously and impartially? Or has the Association, all too often, used its vast power to look after its own?

This is not a question to be decided in any court. It is a question to be decided by every citizen who has sought legal help at an attorney's office, or who may be forced to seek such help in the future. It is a question to be decided by the people.

Whenever science makes a discovery, the devil grabs it while the angels are debating the best way to use it.

105th ANNIVERSARY
FOR HENRY FORD

July 30, 1968 marked the 105th anniversary of the birth of Henry Ford. On that date a new U.S. "Prominent Americans" series 12 cent postage stamp went on sale. That stamp honored Henry Ford.

During his lifetime Ford was involved in many endeavors, some of which were recalled during a parade of transportation and First Day of Issue Ceremony at the Village that he created as a showplace of American history, Greenfield Village.

Mr. Ford's position as a pioneer auto-maker was pointed up in a parade of 15 historic transportation vehicles prior to the noon-time ceremony. In the parade, horse-drawn vehicles were followed by the 1906 "Quadricycle," the first car made by Mr. Ford. Then came Model T's, Model A's and familiar autos of the 30's and 40's.

Another facet of Henry Ford's interests was represented by a Ford Tri-motor airplane flying overhead during the parade.

His interest in music was reflected by the U.S. Air Force Band from Chanute Field, Ill. which played before and during the ceremony.

On hand for the ceremony was U.S. Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson and Deputy Postmaster General Frederick C. Belen. Also taking part was Congressman John Dingell of Michigan's 16th Congressional District, and the Mayor of the City of Dearborn, Mich., Orville Hubbard.

The Ford family was represented by William Clay Ford, the Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Edison Institute and Henry Ford II, who responded to the Postmaster General's remarks. Also representing the Edison Institute Board of Trustees was Robert H.

Tannahill. Dr. Donald A. Shelley, President of the Edison Institute presided at the ceremony. The Edison Institute includes Henry Ford Museum, Greenfield Village and the Greenfield Village Schools. Throughout the day the new U.S. 12 cent stamp was on sale

At the Sunday, July 21 evening service, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Scoria and daughters, Karen, Rebecca and Beverly, were baptized. Also taken into membership were Mrs. Robert Hamilton and sons, John and Bobby.

Lyle Widmayer, sales manager at Tom Marshall, Inc. of Manchester recently returned from an all-expense-paid cruise to Puerto Rico accompanied by his wife, Maxine.

Sponsored by the Ford Motor Company on a nation-wide basis, Lyle won the trip for the "highest percentage of sales for all dealers in Michigan and Ohio of the same size."

Lyle and Maxine left on July 26 and flew to New York. Then they boarded the S.S. Independence for a three day ocean cruise to San Juan, Puerto Rico. They spent one day touring and then sailed to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands. They spent one day sightseeing there and then flew back to Detroit.

Lyle describes the ocean cruise as "fabulous." The ship contained such luxuries as two swimming pools, a movie theatre and a special noon smorgasbord table which Lyle said measured "about 50 feet." "This was loaded with all kinds of delicious food", he added.

Maxine had never been on a ship before, but she proved a good sailor and neither she nor Lyle got seasick.

They enjoyed perfect weather for the four-day cruise. There were approximately 200 couples making the trip all sponsored by the Ford Motor Company.
