MF 165 is the work champ of 4-plow farming

MF 165 is the 4-plow tractor that challenges all the others in work output. It has the power plant to get the job done fast... an economical 203 cu. in. direct injection diesel engine or high torque gasoline and LPG engines. Now the MF 165 has Pressure Control that transfers thousands of pounds of weight from pull-type implement and tractor front end to the drive wheels. Advanced Ferguson System transfers weight from mounted implements automatically. This means less slippage and more work done every day. Independent PTO operates free of transmission drive clutch. Equip your MF 165 just the way you want it. Multi-Power lets you shift on-the-go. Power steering, differential lock available, too. Standard clearance, tricycle, wide adjustable row crop models.

Visitor From Germany

Mrs. Gertraud Dening, a social worker from Frankfurt, Germany will spend three weeks visiting her sister, Mrs. Walli Lannom. Before coming to visit Manchester, Mrs. Dening spent three weeks in Toronto, Canada visiting another sister.

This trip is Mrs. Dening's first time in America. Mrs. Dening says that Germany has many of the same problems as America. Hippies and student demonstrations are two similar problems.

Mrs. Dening has also noted some differences between America and Germany. In Germany, television programs are shown only a few hours a day. They have no sponsors of their programs as we do. Each station is owned and operated by a governmental division similar to our counties. In Germany if a movie is listed as recommended for adults 21 and over, you must show your passport proving you are 21 before you are allowed to enter. Germany does not have as much L.S.D. or pot smoking as in America. There are no strikes of laborers. The management and unions settle their differences and increases in wages through negotiation rather than striking.

Many things are priced higher in Germany. For sugar in Germany, one would pay about 30¢ per pound in U.S. currency. Coffee, tea and meat are also very expensive.

As mentioned earlier, Mrs. Dening is a social worker. To become a social worker she attended a special school for the training of social workers for three years. During those three years she worked in homes, hospitals and with handicapped children, both mentally and physically handicapped.

Mrs. Dening remarked about Manchester, "There are so many trees and such a wide Main Street. In Frankfurt, Germany there are no trees so close to the main street as there are here."

Mrs. Dening has eaten many different foods since she has been in Manchester and likes all that she has eaten thus far.

Roscoe and Walli Lannom will spend the next few weeks showing Mrs. Dening some of the sights of Manchester and other parts of Michigan.

New Elementary School Named

The Manchester Board of Education honored their president Monday evening by naming the new Manchester Elementary School the "Luther C. Klager Elementary School." Carl J. Pedersen, Board Vice-President, after asking President Klager to relinquish the chair, read the following resolution:

WHEREAS: The Manchester Public School District is erecting a new elementary school, and WHEREAS: The Board of Education is desirous of identifying the new building with someone who has worked unselfishly in behalf of children, and

WHEREAS: His contributions have been given freely and unselfishly and on some occasions with personal sacrifice to his own being and welfare, and

WHEREAS: His leadership and contributions in school and community affairs have helped build a noteworthy school program and youth-oriented community,

Vescio's: Customer Service

Manchester's Vescio grocery store, located on W. Austin Road on the edge of town, is one of thirty-nine such stores in the tri-state area. The store, once the Manchester Country Market and still often called that, was purchased several years ago from Charles Carlton by the Vescio grocery chain.

The original building was used for sorting the fruits and vegetables grown on the surrounding property by the late owners Frank Higgins and Jake Wylander. It soon became a popular Sunday fruit stand. Gradually light groceries were added. Although Mr. Wylander soon retired from the business due to ill-health, the Higgins family continued. Eventually the business was purchased by Mr. Carlton and became the Country Market.

In 1965, under the Vescio management, the store was completely remodeled including the re-location of the door, meat and produce counters and the installation of automatic check-out counters. But behind the check-out counters remained two long-time employees. Vi Widmayer has been employed by the Country Market management and now Vescio's for thirteen years and Bea Burkhardt over twelve years. Another familiar face for over seventeen years is Marion Schwab who works at the meat counter.

There are eleven employees at Vescio's and are members of the Retail Clerk's Union and/or the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' Union. The management, co-operating with the public school co-op plan, also hires high school students on a part-time basis.

Former assistant manager of a Jackson area store, Robert (Bob) Haynes has recently become manager of the Manchester store.

Thousands of items line the shelves, supplied by the Abner Wolf Company of Detroit and include meat, produce and most of the groceries. Saginaw Specialty supplies the drug and non-food items and various other companies supply such items as coolers, bread, various beverages and potato chips.

Efficient customer service is most important at Vescio's. The store is open daily from 9 to 9 with ample parking for the many satisfied customers who shop at Vescio's.

Rollie Grossman is shown standing among his 6 ft. high tomato plants. The variety is Burpee Big Boy. Rollie gets the plants from the Burpee Seed Company in Iowa. The average yield of tomatoes is about a peck a plant. Thus with his four dozen plants, he harvests about 20 bushels of tomatoes. Mrs. Grossman uses them for canning, juice and chili sauce. We find the high plants fascinating and can attest that the tomatoes are delicious. Being in the air as they are, the tomatoes are practically blemish free.

Break-ins Reported

Police Chief Larry Bectel reported Tuesday morning that three local businesses had been broken into during the early morning hours.

Entry was gained into Grossman-Huber where about $10.00 in change was taken. Fillyaw Ashland was also broken into where $36.90 was taken. Spike's Mobil was also hit but they could find nothing missing. An investigation is under way.

The new owner who specializes in remodeling stores plans to create a tavern where anyone over 21 will feel comfortable. When remodeling, Limpert will concentrate on eye appeal and service to the community.

The whole interior will be redone. There will be tables of local origin of different shapes and sizes. The tavern will also feature an upright player piano which patrons may play if they want.

Food will be served primarily at noon. Limpert said he does not intend to compete with the local restaurants.

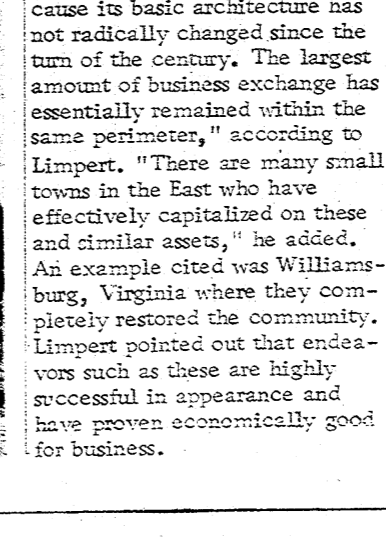

Manchester is unique because its basic architecture has not radically changed since the turn of the century. The largest amount of business exchange has essentially remained within the same perimeter," according to Limpert. "There are many small towns in the East who have effectively capitalized on these and similar assets," he added.

An example cited was Williamsburg, Virginia where they completely restored the community. Limpert pointed out that endeavors such as these are highly successful in appearance and have proven economically good for business.

The appearance of the Sportsman's Tavern, next to the Union Savings Bank on Main Street, will revert back to what it looked like at the turn of the century.

The building which has always been a tavern was recently purchased by Donald E. Limpert. He said the change would begin near the end of the year.

Manchester has a colorful history in taverns. Around the

EDITORIAL

I drew considerable comment on my editorial after Senator Kennedy's assassination in regard to my comments on welfare recipients. Some people laughed, some agreed with me and some became mad because I picked on someone "less fortunate than myself."

The circus in Ann Arbor this past week compels me to enlarge on those few statements I made at that time.

First off, I would like to express my disgust and disappointment in those in authority in Ann Arbor, including the Board of Supervisors. Each time a new "sit-in, demand day or freak out" is held I watch with hope that those in charge will not knuckle under to the demands of a mob. Again and again I am disappointed. This was no exception. (I would like to add to my comment of two weeks ago about the supervisors "sitting on the hands", that it's probably because they are weak kneed.)

Since when in this country can a mob form and get anything it wants, especially when they represent such a small minority. What are public officials afraid of? Why won't they stand their ground, period? The only answer I can come up with is that things have been quiet in this country so long that many men that run for office are weakkneced and pussy-footed. The pattern of each new demand is the same. The first few days the officials stand fast then gradually knuckle under until they give in completely. (I also wonder where the University officials were while all those "concerned" students were violating laws) Maybe in these modern times, rules don't exist on campus, because no one is brave enough to enforce them. It seems to me that if they were arrested for illegal actions, they could also find another place to go to school. (Why should taxpayers pay to have them arrested while they're paying to educate these "future leaders.")

As for these welfare recipients, first I will define exactly who I'm referring to. I would never object to helping someone who is physically unable to support himself. (The odd part is that most of these people are too proud to accept help.) On the other hand, I don't agree that welfare is an alternative to earning a living. It was designed to "help out" when you were down and out, but I thought it is supposed to be temporary.

Those women in Ann Arbor who are demanding money for clothes for their children say the welfare benefits are not sufficient. If we are talking about keeping them in whatever standard of living they want, I would agree that it isn't adequate. The problem is they look at welfare as a way of living. If they want more, the natural thing is to ask. You and I, if we want something more, have to go out and earn it. How did the idea get into people's head that if they couldn't find a job or didn't want to work that welfare was a way of living. Not only that, but it should be at a standard the same as those people who work.

When I was critical of a family here in Manchester, I was told I should feel sorry for them because they weren't as fortunate as I. Is this true? Does being unfortunate mean coming out of the back door of the local bars, or furnishing their friends with drinking money? Is it my fault they don't spend that money at Marx and Marx or Lannom's for clothes for their children or at the grocery store for milk? Who are we fooling with this "unfortunate" bit, them or us? Are we really helping anyone by allowing them to drop out of life? Maybe we can get them to believe they are not as fortunate, but no one is going to convince me of that. If a person wants to do something, they can; but if we keep on punishing those who achieve and rewarding those who don't, there isn't going to be anything to give those "less fortunate than ourselves."

I don't believe in "spouting off" unless I have an alternate plan. I don't have all the answers to this one, because I feel some of those life-long welfare recipients are so convinced they can't earn their own living that they would starve to death to prove it. However, I think a good start would be strict controls on how the money is spent. If they are getting ADC, then they should have the receipts to prove that's what they are spending the money for. If other similar working people are working extra jobs to make ends meet, then these same requirements should be applied to welfare recipients. I hate to cause the Ann Arbor News to lose business, but I think those several full columns of want ads begging for help should be eliminated with people filling them.

Instead of increasing benefits to keep pace with the economy, we should be cutting them back on the percentage of available jobs. It is probably impossible to go back to a "no work, no eat" policy, but I'd like to see us try.

THOUGHTS ON ABE FORTAS

by Mrs. A. VanLennu
Our Senator Griffin has been effective so far in preventing the nomination of Abe Fortas as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court by a "lame duck" president. Senator Hart is equally articulate for him. Senator Strom Thurmond says a new Chief Justice cannot be nominated until Chief Justice Earl Warren has actually stepped down. Lyndon Johnson, then Senator Johnson, objected to the appointment of Chief Justice Earl Warren for identically the same reason. President Eisenhower was not then in the running. Justices are appointed for life, so in reality these appointments are more important and have more far reaching consequences to our nation than the election of our presidents. President Johnson has indicated this week when the matter was again come up after the recess for the two conventions, how important the nomination of his friend is to him, and we know he will do everything within his power by way of arm twisting. Delay has been the best weapon so far because many northern Democrats and liberal Republican Senators go along with the administration on L.B.J.'s favorite bills. You can nearly always pick out the names of those who do, and find yourself quite correct when the roll call record of vote comes out. Your Senator might determine the outcome.

In reality there are many more important reasons than the unfairness of a "lame duck" rather than an in-coming president appointing a Chief Justice. That is the record of the man himself during nearly forty years. He is fortunate professionally in his marriage to tax attorney Carolyn Agger, whose clients include some of America's biggest corporations. This would have a relation to the popularity of her partner-on-extended-leave-of-absence, Sheldon Cohen, who is the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and who will some day benefit from the fees paid.

Fortas served in 1933 and 34 in the Legal Division of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Besides Fortas it was made up of Jerome Frank, Thurman Arnold, Adlai Stevenson, Alger Hiss, Lee Pressman, John Abet and Nathan With. Over half of these men have since been identified as Communist spies.

In the 1930's he was affiliated with the "National Lawyers Guild," a subversive organization. He also

served on its committee on Farm Problems.

In the 40's he was a member of the "Washington Committee for Democrats Action". This organization in termed subversive on the Attorney General's list.

In appealing the firing of one Milton Friedman in 1944 from a top-level post in the War Manpower Commission for disseminating Communist Party propaganda, Fortas pleaded before the Supreme Court to grant Communist Party propaganda "free commerce in opinion and political expression".

He aided Alger Hiss and Harry Dexter White (both Communist spies) in drafting the Charter of the United Nations at San Francisco in 1945. He and Hiss were together in London. Hiss had some difficulties arise from his career as a Soviet Agent, and went to jail.

Fortas supported in 1947 the "Southern Conference for Human Welfare", which was listed for 3 years at the time as a Communist Party front group. He doesn't remember whether he actually joined or not. He also put the "fix" on Supreme Court Justice Black to overrule a Federal Court decision against Lyndon Johnson in the stolen Texas primary election of 1945. Federal Judge T. Whittfield Davidson describes his order as, "too hasty, and perhaps unlawful". The order halted all investigation of L.B.J.'s 87 winning "votes" and elected him to the Senate.

Fortas defended Owen Lattimore (perjurer, Communist, spy) making use of testimony supplied by a witness, Dr. Bella Dodd. He knew she was a Communist at the time, so he was soliciting perjured testimony. Dr. Dodd later admitted the perjury. I understand she is no longer a Communist but a true conservative.

Under Roosevelt, Fortas was a member of Harry Dexter White's "policy-making" circle. Other members were Benjamin Cohen of the Office of War Mobilization, Laughlin Currie and Aubrey Williams.

The Communist Party "Worker" of November 3, 1950 praised Fortas highly for denouncing the firing of certain State Department employees for disloyalty as unfair and un-American. Fortas said the firings were the act of a "police state."

Fortas served as defense attorney for Bobby Baker until the Kennedy assassination, when he suddenly withdrew his services. He organized the Warren Commission to investigate the Kennedy assassination following the identical plan proposed a week before by the Communist "Worker", including the selection of Chief Justice Earl Warren as chairman.

Fortas put the "fix" on three Washington daily newspapers to prevent publication of the news of Presidential Aide Walter Jenkins' second arrest for sex perversion. He also tried to "fix" the Washington press to prevent the publication of the story of Bobby Baker's "girl" of the famous stereo to L.B.J.

Fortas was officer and national committeeman of the International Juridical Association (Communist Party front group) together with Thurgood Marshall, Roy Wilkins, Lee Pressman, Nathan Witt, and others. This organization thought so highly of him that they listed him as a member of their National Committee on their letterhead. It actively defended Communists and consistently followed the Party line.

Fortas has made the policeman's work harder by designing the "Durham Rule" on criminal insanity that has prevented conviction of killers and rapists. They would be convicted under the old rule of "knowing right from wrong." He also designed the "Gideon Rule" requiring the taxpayers to pay for lawyers for all defendants in state courts. You must admit he's an "honest Abe" at least in one respect; he hasn't kept you guessing which side he's on as some well-known Republicans do. In testimony, his memory is surprisingly short for a man of his age and in associations and affiliations he has personally experienced. He is consistent even in his book "Concerning Dissent and Civil Disobedience."

My confidence in an otherwise acceptable candidate dropped when I heard him say on TV Sunday that Fortas is a good jurist. When his record is thus assessed, we have "blind leaders." Before and since Goldwater, the liberal press and TV has so persecuted anyone who has national patriotism and old, instead of "new morality" that it makes one burn with indignation. So it may be political "savvy", knowing that misrepresentation lost many votes four years ago. Also the corrupt climate may be the real reason why a politician seeks to prevent the Senate's confirming vote. Lincoln said, "To sin by silence when they should protest makes cowards of men." We know that all that is necessary for evil to prosper is that good men do nothing. The rights "we save may truly be our own."

WOLFF REUNION HELD
The second Wolff reunion and potluck dinner was held Sunday, September 8 at Carr Park with 38 present. The same officers were elected. Secretary and treasurer, Pat Bertke, President Russell Wolff, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wolff of Garden City on the Sports Committee.

Those in attendance were from Parma, Jackson, Ypsilanti, Garden City, Wayne, Bear Lake, Brooklyn, South Lyon and Manchester.

The youngest was Beth Wolff, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Wolff of South Lyon. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wolff of Parma were the oldest couple present.

It was decided to hold the reunion at the same location next year.

district to honor in other instances and that such a trip and project is incompatible with existing school policy.

Remunerations for teacher's noon hour duty and class sponsorship were increased by the Board of Education.

The need for additional school crossing guards was discussed and the Board instructed Superintendent Swartz to discuss this matter with the Village Council relative to a shared-cost plan. Two certificates of payment on the new elementary building were approved and ordered paid.

Principals Birdella Flood, Ted Tapping and Chester Kocesi gave reports on the opening week of school.

Noon hour kindergarten bus runs were discussed and the salaries for these runs were changed in order to make them more equitable as far as the time involved was concerned.

A new reporting form for the first through the fourth grade was discussed and approved by the Board of Education. This new reporting form will replace the present report cards in the above mentioned grades. The new form is much more comprehensive and will give the parent a more accurate and informative picture of their child's progress and achievement.

OUR LOYALTIES ARE SHOWING

By Rev. O. Wm. Cooper
Man. United Methodist

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America..." With these words, the regular meetings of your Village Council begin. There is something about this pledge that quickens the pulse. One of the dramatic moments in life was when we knelt at the church altar beside the one person we loved most in all the world.

Loyalty is a faithfulness to those persons, ideals and institutions that we feel a desire or obligation to support. The motivations of loyalty are innumerable, both good and bad. Loyalty is sometimes motivated by necessity. Look at the conventions in Miami and Chicago. People who formerly spoke strongly against both Nixon and Humphrey, are now campaigning on the behalf. People in America without the powerful British forces because they had an unflinching conviction that man must be free to determine his own destiny.

Out of every war came some clear illustrations of loyalty. The President of the United States reads a citation to a weeping wife and family. The citation states that their loved one risked his life to rescue his beleaguered friends on the battlefield.

A youthful form of loyalty is expressed when we meet at the football field this Friday and root for the Flying Dutchmen. At the front of our churches, you will find two flags -- an American flag and a Christian flag. These symbolize our loyalty to both God and country. The American people become understandably upset when the irresponsible people who enjoy the privileges of this free nation refuse to take the oath of loyalty to it.

Jesus had a lot to say about loyalty. Jesus was loyal to governmental rule. He paid his taxes and said, "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's." (Mt. 22:21) In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." (Mt. 6:33) Jesus is not saying that we can have no other loyalty, this is impossible in so many ways. Jesus was asking that our first and ultimate loyalty be to God and then every other loyalty will find its rightful place. This ultimate loyalty to Jesus Christ led the early Christians to sing hymns of praise as they died bravely in the Roman arena. This commitment led the missionaries to go to Vietnam and eventually die there in the service of their Lord.

Our has been called the uncommitted generation. This is a misnomer. Every person is committed to something or someone if only to himself. By word or deed, commitment to nothing beyond ourselves is the ultimate selfishness. We must face the fact that we will be less than helpful in our local community until we make that ultimate commitment to our Lord. Let us put Him first; then let every other commitment assume its rightful place.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

Thumbs Down, on Daylight Saving.

Apparently this summer's experience with daylight-saving time has done nothing to convince Michigan farmers that it is a good idea. According to Livingston county farmwife, Mrs. Andrew Jackson, (Claudine) -- "Sunday morning we were really wishing some of those who support 'double daylight' time would volunteer to come and get the cows in. At 5:00 a.m. it is dark, wet, underfoot and raining. The cows knew it just wasn't time to go to the barn in all that darkness, so it meant going around the pasture and inviting each one to get up. By the time over 70 had received their personal invitation, we were soaked and had lost almost an hour, and needless to say it didn't improve our outlook in the day or the farming business.

"One can't help but wonder which is the most important -- an extra evening hour to play golf, or milk for the baby? To the golfers, it probably would be golf..."

Farmers call it "Double-Daylight Saving Time" because the federal act placed most of Michigan two full hours ahead of "sun" time -- giving them a too-early start in the day on work such as hay, fruit, or grain harvest which cannot begin until the day dries off. "As we finished the hay, we came to the conclusion that we haven't been able to start baling a single day before noon. Any hired help we have wants to live by 'community' time, so we often lose just when our work is going best..." Mrs. Jackson says.

HOME ECONOMIC CALENDAR

The West Bridgewater Study Group will meet on September 18 at Bridgewater Townhall at 7:30 p.m.

Freedom Ideal Homemakers will meet at the home of Mrs. Loretta Kruger on Friday, Sept. 13 at 1:30 p.m.

Please note the change of date.

RAM DAY SEPT. 18

The annual Ram Day sponsored by the Michigan Sheep Breeders' Association will be held at the M. S. U. Beef Cattle Barn in East Lansing on Wednesday, Sept. 18. Purebred sheep breeders will assemble over 100 top quality rams and offer them for sale.

All rams will be inspected, weighed, and priced and penned by breeders. This procedure makes it possible for buyers to look at a large selection of rams from some of the best flocks in the state with a minimum of time and travel.

The offering will include yearling and two-year-old rams from the more common breeds as well as a few outstanding ram lambs that have met rigid weight requirements. The rams will be for sale from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Lamb prices are favorable this year. This is the time to select a top quality ram for next year's lamb crop. The cost of the ram spread over the number of lambs he will sire over a two-year period is a very small item, and the use of a good ram is one of the first steps toward increased income from the flock.

FARMERS URGED TO CHECK GRAIN UNDER LOAN

Farmers were reminded recently to check closely on the condition of any grain they have on their farms under Commodity Credit Corporation loans.

therefore has more responsibility for maintaining and watching his own stored grain. If there should be insect infestation or deterioration from some other condition, the real loss would be to the farmer since his final return will be based on the condition of the grain when the loan is paid off or the crop is delivered in payment of the loan.

In case where the grain is found to be deteriorating and some loss might occur, the Chairman said, the farmer should notify the county office immediately so that arrangements may be made to correct the condition or move the grain. This will minimize the loss and benefit the farmer's pocketbook.

A Skills Workshop for Church School Teachers, youth leaders and all others interested in the educational work of the church will be held at Zion Lutheran Church, 1501 West Liberty, Ann Arbor, on Saturday, September 14, from 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. It is sponsored by the Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Council of Churches and will be attended by local church leaders from all over the county.

The Workshop attendants will be divided into several groups, or "workshops" which will address themselves to the advancement of leadership skills to be employed by local church leaders. The Workshops will deal with (1) Innovative Administration, (2) Expressive Art and Activities, (3)

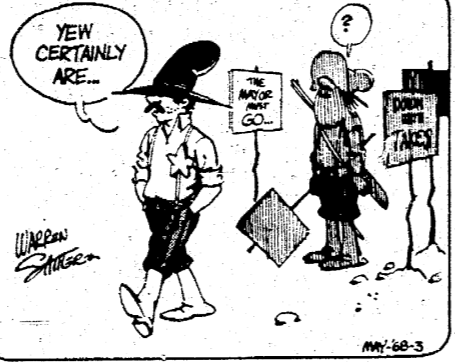

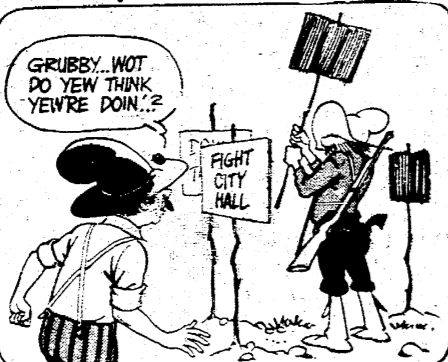

The Classroom - A Happening, (4) Storytelling, (5) Help for the New Teacher, (6) Music and Worship with Children and (7) How to Love. This last-mentioned Workshop will help the teachers to be more sensitive to the feelings of the young people; point out how their feelings are religious in nature and how to guide these feelings into worth-while action. Members from the Manchester area churches will participate in this program.

THANK YOU

I think it's about time we start thanking our fine sports-minded businessmen in this town for their loyal support of our school. At this time I would like to thank Manchester Tool & Die for the Football Programs that we get at each home game. Also, I would like to say thanks to Krauss Rexall Pharmacy, Ben Franklin and the Union Savings Bank for the Football, Basketball and Wrestling schedule.

GO DUTCH - GO DUTCH!

Football season is here again. Head coach, John Korican says his Dutchmen are ready to go. Don't forget our Dutchmen are going into a new league this year. It is called the Leawee County Athletic Association.

We want the Dutchmen to know that we are all proud of them. I will pick them to finish in first place. That's what I think of the Dutchmen.

GO GET 'EM DUTCH! "Lefty"

Supervisor Parr Terms A. A. News Reporting "Lousy"

In an interview Tuesday, Clayton Parr, Manchester Township Supervisor verbally attacked the reporting of the Ann Arbor News concerning the recent riot by ADC mothers and students.

As a good case in point, supervisor Parr pointed out, at Monday Board of Supervisors meeting the following resolution was passed with members of the press present. "On the unanimous recommendation of the Ways & Means Committee, be it resolved that the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors emphatically inform the Social Services Board that no additional direct relief funds will be appropriated for 1968 other than the amount already budgeted for 1968." This was passed with only one dissenting vote.

That same afternoon the Ann Arbor news had this statement in their paper "Under the agreement, the Supervisors would appropriate up to $50,000 to replenish county direct relief funds." "This type of reporting is very confusing and not conducive to good public relations," Parr asserted.

Supervisor Parr also pointed out that at no time did the Board of Supervisors meet during the crisis. "Chairman Harrison tried to call a meeting but only a few turned up because it was an illegally called meeting" Parr said. In order to call a meeting each Supervisor must be given written notice so many hours in advance. In an effort to "set the record straight" as he put it, Supervisor Parr stated that from September 3 to September 16 the Supervisors did not meet or take any action. A year ago in the '68 budget, $563,000 was put in the Welfare and Social Services budget which was adopted in October of 67 "according to Mr. Parr. "How the money is spent is entirely up to the Welfare Board" Parr pointed out, they follow regulations set up under the federal government, and all the Supervisors do is budget the money at the beginning of each year.

According to Supervisor Parr, the Welfare Board has full authority to give this money as they see fit as long as they follow the ruling set down by the Federal Government. "There was no need to call the Supervisors or anyone else," Parr added, "because there is still approximately $300,000 left in the welfare budget this year."

Parr also asserted that "someone told the welfare mothers that if they couldn't get anything from the welfare board that they could put pressure on the Board of Supervisors." He also said he was concerned that "such a small minority of residents can cause such a disturbance by clamor, threats, law violations and think they can dictate governmental policies of the county."

At Monday's meeting, the Board of Supervisors was met with a different kind of protest.

NOTICE
 Here is the phone number of the village Police chief.
 428-8505

"About 30 or 40 mothers with Mrs. Norma Castle as their spokesman picketed the meeting and presented the Board with a petition with over 2600 signatures of tax paying mothers," Parr reported. "These people were very polite and orderly, and the Supervisors thanked them for the time spent in expressing their opinion," he added.

Parr also pointed out that the Ann Arbor news did not report such things as one of the leaders arrested was an enrolled student at Chicago University. "The leaders were outside agitators" Parr asserted, and yet none of these facts were ever brought out in the News."

Parr charged that the Ann Arbor News has a history of making the Board of Supervisors look bad at every opportunity. "They use headlines which lead the reader to believe the Supervisors have taken action, he said and yet the story never substantiates the charge."

"No matter what the News has reported about the Supervisors action, Parr concluded, "the record is what is really important, "The Supervisors took no action until Monday, September 16, and then they made it clear that no more money would be coming."

Red Cross Water Safety Classes

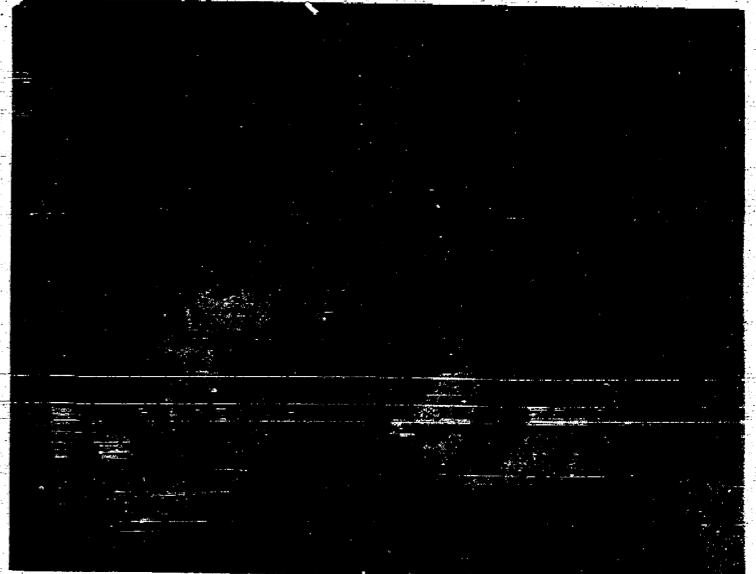

Several classes in water safety have been scheduled for this fall by the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross, in cooperation with the Ann Arbor Recreation Department. All classes will be held at the Tappan Junior High School pool.

A senior life saving course will begin on Wednesday, September 25, from 7:00 - 8:30 P.M., continuing every Wednesday for ten consecutive weeks. This course is open to persons at least 16 years of age who are strong swimmers. Dave Cushing is acting as coordinator.

Also beginning Wednesday, September 25, from 8:30 to 10:00 P.M., and continuing once a week for ten weeks, will be a class in adult swimming. It is open to all residents of Washtenaw County who are eighteen years of age or older. The program is coeducational, and instruction will be offered at all levels of ability. Non-swimmers are especially urged to enroll because of the emphasis on safety, in and around the water. Christine Tramonchin is the coordinator.

A class for Red Cross water safety instructors starts Monday, October 7, from 7:00-10:00 P.M., continuing once a week for ten weeks. This course is open to anyone in the county who holds a current senior life saving certificate and who will be 18 years old before the course ends. Gerald Greenlick, class instructor, asks that all students bring pencil, paper and a valid senior life saving certificate.

So Jaap Tiemersma, a young man from Holland who once thought of Americans in terms of TV and cars, left with an entirely different view. He began his journey home to his family and future bride on Tuesday with a 2-day sight-seeing tour of New York City scheduled.

'68 Sheep Shearing Champion

By Carolyn Aikens

Al Faulhaber of Esch Road recently became the 1968-69 Champion of the State Fair Sheep Shearing Contest. In opposition with eleven senior contestants, Mr. Faulhaber's time was 3 minutes, 15 seconds. Not only is speed essential in the total 100-point contest but judging is also based on the final condition of the fleece, sheep and overall handling.

The sheep shearing contest originated in Manchester in 1934 when Al Faulhaber, Glen Feldkamp and the late Robert Kirk and George Merriman, all four later becoming champions, met in Lansing with an extension agent to organize the event. The first contests were held in Manchester at the high school until the late 1930's. After the war the contest was resumed at the Michigan State Fair as a special event.

AGENCY IS FORMED TO AID ADOPTION

The Spaulding Agency for Children, located in Chelsea, is in existence in order to place hard to adopt children in permanent homes. The first meeting of the Auxiliary for this Agency was held on September 11 at the Spaulding Agency and was attended by 11 women from Chelsea, Ann Arbor, Plymouth and Dearborn.

Officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Elmer Lindow - President, Mrs. Werner Siebert - Vice President, Mrs. Kenneth Lindow - Secretary, Mrs. John Fall - Treasurer; and the objectives of the Auxiliary were decided upon. The two main objectives are fund raising projects for the Agency in order to increase the present staff and recruiting new Auxiliary members and volunteers to give of their time.

The first fund raising project will be the selling of Christmas cards; they should be available in October, and can be purchased from any Auxiliary member or any volunteer wishing to sell them. All proceeds will go to the Spaulding Agency. Be sure to look for them for they will be something special. Needed as much as funds, are women willing to volunteer some of their spare time to the agency for various duties. Spaulding is still in its infancy and desperately needs help. The more money and volunteer help the Auxiliary raises, the more children, formerly termed "unadoptable", can be placed by Spaulding in permanent homes to live a normal, happy life.

Auxiliary meetings are the second Monday of every month at the Spaulding Agency, 3660 Watrous Road, Chelsea at 8:00 P.M. The next meeting will be held on October 14. If you are unable to attend, or if you would like to volunteer your services in any way, call: Mrs. Elmer Lindow 475-7233 or Mrs. Kenneth Lindow 475-7593. If you are interested in adopting a child, call the Spaulding Agency at 475-2500. Please -- help us help these children.

On October 4 and 5, the Young Republican State Board meeting will be at the Flint Sheraton Motor Inn. Social events include a hay ride and parties. The public is invited to all activities. For more information, call 761-5825 or 665-8557 after 6 p.m.

Faulhaber also won the preliminary event with a 3 minute, 35 second time. He's won the preliminary contest fourteen times in the past but this is his first win as Champion Sheep Shearer. Now as a champion he cannot enter the championship contest again - but is eligible for the Sweepstakes Contest where past champions vie in a special contest. Faulhaber placed 6th in the Sweepstakes Contest this year also.

Mr. Faulhaber has been shearing sheep for 47 years and has held past offices including president of the Michigan Sheep Shearers Association for several years. Hand-shearing, now almost a thing of the past, leaves only two area men, Al Faulhaber and Ted Blumensauer, who can still use the hand equipment.

Again, congratulations to Mr. Faulhaber as Sheep Shearing Champion of 1968-69.

Visitor From Holland

By Carolyn Aikens

Jaap Tiemersma from Leeuwarden, Holland which is located in the northern most part of the Netherlands, left the Lowell Spike residence on Sharon Hollow Road after a three-month stay to return to his homeland. The stay in the Manchester area came about in a long round-about way he claims.

Jaap Tiemersma's father is a representative of a feed company and had sent a business representative to Michigan State University where this man met with a Professor Thomas. When young Tiemersma decided to come to the States he contacted this man who in turn gave him Professor Thomas' address which eventually led to the introduction of Pete Spike, the son of Lowell Spike. Since Lowell Spike was in need of extra help due to a broken leg and Jaap was in the rd of a temporary home, he came to Manchester. The production of daily products is a leading part of the economy of the Netherlands and Jaap Tiemersma came to America to learn and practice first-hand his original chosen field of general agriculture. While here however, he has since decided to become a veterinarian and will enter Umecht University in Holland next year for the required six years of study. "It was wonderful here," he said. "The Spikes are wonderful people and the hospitality in America has been really wonderful. I'll come back one day."
