Leathercrafters and Wilbur Winkle. Mr. Fisk also furnished the background music at the dress revues. The organ was furnished by the Apollo Music Company in Ann Arbor.

The theme and the decorations for the 1969 4-H Spring Achievement was "Up Up and Away" the look of 1969 and well done by the Lucky Cloverettes 4-H Club and Mrs. William McCalla of Ann Arbor.

LEATHERCRAFTERS

The Sharon Leathercrafters spent a busy weekend at the Chelsea High School. The school was the scene of the 1969 4-H Spring Achievement. The event included two dress revues, woodworking and leather projects.

In the Apprentice group, Joe Tobias of Grass Lake, Michael Fisk, Paul and John Young of Manchester, all received an A rating on their projects. David Flint of Grass Lake and Brian Teachout of Saline received a B rating. Ruth Curtis of Manchester, Louis Frey and Anna Tobias of Grass Lake, Cheryl and Mark Teachout of Saline received A ratings on their projects in the Handyman group. In the Craftsman division, Larry Bowers and Tim Ebersole of Manchester received A ratings. The Honor group awards went to Anna Tobias and Cheryl Teachout. These awards are given to a project of outstanding construction.

The Apprentice group includes those boys and girls 9 to 12 years old; the handyman group, the 12 to 14 year olds and the Craftsman group are those members 14 years old and over. All projects are judged on construction, selection of patterns and suitability and finish.

Most of the Sharon Leathercrafters were busy elsewhere during the weekend. Michael Fisk, Paul and John Young were ushers at the Saturday dress revue and they opened the afternoon's program by leading the audience in flag pledges. They also assisted the dress revue judges. On Sunday, the ushers were Joey Tobias, Brian Teachout and Michael Fisk. The boys again assisted the judges by picking up the tabulation sheets. Larry Bowers and Mark Teachout led members of the audience in the flag pledges and acted as escorts for the Senior Miss girls.

Mr. Clinton Fisk of 20151 Bethel Church Road, Manchester is the leader of the Sharon Leathercrafters 4-H club. For information about the Leathercraft project, please contact Mr. Fisk.

4-H LEADERSHIP

Each state names a winner and delegates to National 4-H Congress in Chicago. The Sears Foundation provides funds for the trip expenses. Up to four members per county are awarded county medals of honor.

"Parents are necessary to the success of the program," Miss Nelson said, "because younger 4-H members depend on them for encouragement, assistance and judgment in the development of leadership skills."

"Adults are always needed to volunteer as 4-H club leaders, because they are the backbone of the entire 4-H program," she added. "Training sessions are conducted for adult volunteers too."

Anyone wishing to work with 4-H youngsters ranging in age from 9 to 19 years can contact the Washtenaw County Extension 4-H office.

SWIMMING IS FUN

It is fun to swim the Y's way. 2,245 boys and girls successfully passed the YM-YWCA beginners' swimming test during 1968. 13,563 individuals passed other advanced swimming tests.

Everybody can learn to swim. No matter whether young or old, one can have the fun of making progress.

There is no limit to the fun and excitement of swimming! At every level of achievement one can learn something new that will help improve one's skill. Basic lifesaving methods are learned as a beginning swimmer which later can lead to qualifying for YMCA lifesaving.

There is also synchronized swimming, swimming and diving competition for all ages at the Y. Later one can advance to a skin diver or a scuba diver.

There are classes for physically and mentally handicapped persons; tot classes for three months to three years old; youth and adult classes.

"Swim for fun through progress; practice at safety always; share what you know as service to others. Help drownproof America."

FFA DELEGATES ATTEND STATE CONVENTION

Two members of the Manchester FFA Chapter attended the 40th Anniversary FFA Convention at East Lansing, March 19-21. They met with some 1000 other Michigan FFA students for the 2 day session on the Michigan State University campus.

Daryl Plasters and John Weidmayer were chapter delegates who helped conduct the business of the 10,000 member State Association.

A highlight of the convention was the conferring of the State Farmer Degree on 196 boys and the naming of Tom Albertson of Marlette as Star State Farmer.

There were many fine speakers who were present at the convention. Henry Schriver, Ohio's Farmer Philosopher, spoke at the convention banquet. Other convention speakers were Norman Brown, College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, Michigan State University and Tom Johnson, National FFA Vice President, Ashland Illinois.

All of the speakers dealt with and helped to prove that there are opportunities available in agriculture. Thus helping to maintain the theme for this year: FFA-An Opportunity for Youth.

TO MEET

Regular meeting of the Manchester Community Fair Board to be held Wednesday, April 9 at the Kof C Hall at 8:30 p.m.

TAXPAYERS ASK IRS

Q. Taxes were taken out of my pay on the summer job I had last year. How do I get this money back?

A. You must file a tax return to obtain any refund that may be due. Tax forms and instructions are available at local IRS offices as well as many banks and post offices.

Q. I've read where a lot of people are making mistakes on their tax returns because of the surcharge. What are they doing wrong?

A. Taxpayers are either forgetting to add the surcharge or they are figuring it wrong. Mistakes like these delay processing as well as any refund that may be due.

To avoid these mistakes check your instructions which explain how the surcharge should be handled.

Q. Can I deduct the federal tax I pay on my phone bill?

A. No, this is an excise tax and excise taxes are not deductible.

Q. My brother has just been sent to Viet Nam by the Army. Does he have to file a tax return?

A. Military personnel in Vietnam do not have to file tax returns while stationed there. Your brother may wait to file his 1968 return until 180 days after he leaves Vietnam.

Q. Where can I buy a copy of "Your Federal Income Tax"?

A. Most local offices of IRS have copies of this guide, Pub. 17, or you can write the Superintendent of Documents, US Government Printing office, Washington DC 20402. It costs 60 cents.

Q. How long should it take between the time I send in my return and my check comes?

A. If the return is accurate and complete, it takes five to six weeks to receive an income tax refund. To avoid delays, read the instructions that accompany the tax forms carefully.

If you are expecting a refund, file your return now for prompt attention. Our offices are flooded with returns in April and refund claims filed then take longer to process.

Q. I can't find my W-2. Is there any way I can get another one?

A. Let your employer know what has happened and ask for another copy of your withholding statement.

Q. Is a tax refund income that has to be reported?

A. Federal tax refunds do not have to be reported. A state tax refund has to be reported as miscellaneous income if the taxpayer deducted the tax in a prior year.

Q. I don't provide over half of my grandfather's support but when you add what I contribute to my brother's contributions, it does amount to over half. Can either of us claim a dependency exemption for this?

A. If each of you contributed over 10 percent of your grandfather's support and the combined total adds up to over half of this total support then either of you may claim him as a dependent. A special declaration must be completed by the one not claiming the exemption and sent in with the return of the one who claims the exemption. Use Form 2120, Multiple Support Declaration.

Q. I paid off my home mortgage early and was charged a prepayment penalty. Is that deductible?

A. Yes it is deductible as interest if you itemize.

Accurate knowledge is the basis of correct opinions; the want of it makes the opinions of most people of little value.

Idea Sparks Horse Association

by Carolyn Ahrens

About four years ago Mrs. Lorraine Foster and Mr. William Hart decided something should be done about the limited number of people financially able to own an extremely expensive Arabian horse. With a cross breed of stock came the half-Arabian horse, and soon after the Half Arab Association of Michigan.

The main purpose of this organization, a 70 member group which is rapidly expanding, is to promote the use of half-Arabian stock and to encourage a separate class and special events in horse shows.

To qualify for association membership, individuals need only be interested in this breed and not necessarily an owner.

Regular meetings are held during the off season months until May brings a busy schedule for those interested or participating in the many horse shows throughout Michigan.

Then an Annual Awards Banquet is held in November to present trophies and recognition to high point winners during the past season.

As a special bonus this year members of the association who own a pure-bred stallion are donating one stallion fee to the association and members or non-members may send in their name and the stallion they want to breed to.

At the awards banquet one name per stallion will be drawn. The selected party will then pay the full stallion fee and as a bonus will get full mare and foal nomination for the Futurity and a one-year membership with the association.

A number of Special Half Arab Association sponsored events are scheduled and open to the public. On April 12 the Half Arab Clinic at Shamrock Stables, E. Grand River, Owosso; April 20, a trail ride in the Chelsea Waterloo Area; and Sept. 28, the Half Arab Futurity and Open Horse Show is open to any registered part-Arabian horse.

SPECIAL BLOODMOBILE HERE MAY 13

An extra Bloodmobile has been scheduled to the Manchester Red Cross Blood Club for May 13 at St. Mary's Church Hall. With only one pint to go we are fortunate to have the opportunity now—the regular clinic has been scheduled for next fall and will be retained. The Club balance would have been minus ten if the Chelsea Red Cross Club had not filled the needs of a Manchester resident whose business connections were in Chelsea.

The hours will be from 12:00 to 6:00 p.m. with the slow down coming between 3:00 and 4:00 p.m. as usual. This is an open clinic for donations to any Red Cross Blood Club or to individual credits at a hospital as well as for the Manchester Club.

Chamber Backs Parochial

The Michigan Association of Non-Public Schools MANS reports it is very encouraged by two developments on a bill to provide state aid for the education of non-public school children.

The bill—sponsored by Rep. Bob Traxler and 34 other lawmakers—passed its first legislative test when the House Education Committee approved it by a 7-5 vote.

The bill was immediately referred to the House Appropriations Committee where its financial implications will be studied.

House Speaker William A. Ryan predicted the bill would clear the Appropriations Committee by the end of April and would be approved by the House.

MANS President John F. Choitz of Detroit said he was very encouraged by the committee's approval as well as the announcement that the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce supports the bill.

The State Chamber, which represents all major corporations in Michigan and has a membership of 4,000 other businessmen throughout the state, said it "believes firmly that any review of the present educational program in Michigan and consequent costs must consider the entire educational system, including private schools."

"The State Chamber believes that the State of Michigan should explore the feasibility of contracting for secular educational services, materials and programs with private institutions, either profit or non-profit at rates established by the State and for services that can be controlled by the State consistent with the State's ability to pay for such services," the statement said.

"The purchase of services approach in House Bill 2424, the Traxler Bill, is consistent with the State Chamber recommendation," the statement said. "The State Chamber policy supports this concept and approach."

The State Chamber said it believes that "the contractual concept would permit improvement in the entire educational system in Michigan and believes that utilization of private facilities could result in better education at smaller costs."

The Chamber said that "private institutions of learning at all levels have contributed immeasurably to the development of education in Michigan and should continue to be an integral part of the State's education program."

The Chamber said that since business pays a large share of the costs of education "it must accept responsibility for exercising its rightful voice in making certain that maximum value is received for each tax dollar spent."

And it made clear that it believes it is proper to use tax dollars for the education of children attending non-public schools.

IN MY OPINION

by Harry Macomber

I've owned the Enterprise for a year now. Add the year spent with the Kodas when they owned the paper and it gives me two whole years of newspaper experience.

I'm a believer in "experience is the best teacher" and the past year with the paper has been a real experience.

When I assess the results, I haven't been too successful. Yes, I did stir up considerable controversy and yet people aren't as informed as they need to be. On the positive side, the advertising has increased. I've gained a third more subscribers, 1000 to 1500, and there is more interest in the paper.

On the negative side, until this week the paper still looked like a Sunday School bulletin, editorials weren't too frequent and advertising content could be improved considerably.

I want the paper to be more than just a representative of the community. I want it to be a page setter. When people read the Enterprise, I want them to think, "Here is a real progressive newspaper. It's different and the people it serves are among the best informed anywhere." With that as my goal I plan to upgrade the Enterprise as fast as finances will allow.

On the controversial side, I am presently working on several stories that I think need doing. Since the election I've concluded that it only makes matters worse when I try to criticize without being critical. My policy will be stories like it really happened and the readers can draw their own conclusions.

Editorially I will side with whoever and, whatever I feel is best for the town regardless of who opposes it.

From you the readers come the stories. My paper will be only as good as the stories and articles you contribute or tell us about. Please call us with your news and features so we can achieve our goal of the best informed community around!

DISTRICT COURT CHANGES

Both houses have passed and sent to the Governor a bill to facilitate operation of the District Courts in low-population areas. It specifies that if a district does not contain a county seat, nor a municipality of at least 3,250 population, the court may sit at any site in the county the judges may elect; may with the county supervisors approval, sit at least once a week in the district and, if the district includes no cities, may sit at the county seat of the control district outside the county, in all cases without loss of original jurisdiction. At the same time, Representative Donald Holbrook, father of the district court law, proposed more corrective legislation. Most important is a bill to give the district courts authority to hear so-called "high misdemeanor" cases (one year in jail) with a six man jury. To date, the State Supreme Court has ordered the district courts to avoid these cases because of a constitutional question as to whether they require 12 man juries. Other proposals would allow the new magistrates (serving under the district judges) to accept guilty pleas in more cases, such as snowmobile, dog law and gas and weight tax offenses, and to serve throughout a county instead of only in their own districts.

REPORT ON CRIME FROM FBI HOOVER

Calvin Coolidge said, "It is the duty of a citizen not only to observe the law but to let it be known that he is opposed to its violation." An overwhelming majority of present-day Americans obey the law, but far too few indicate that they are seriously concerned with its violation.

We are living in a day when defiance of authority is becoming the norm. Violent crime and thuggery are taking their daily toll in injuries and loss of life. Fear and apprehension prevail in the streets of most major cities. Law enforcement is the citizen's only buffer between personal safety and the criminal jungle. Often as we know, this is not enough.

In recent years, tremendous strides have been made in the upgrading of law enforcement. National, State, and local programs, costing millions of dollars, exist to equip, prepare, and train enforcement officers and to modernize police facilities. But for this marked progress our alarming crime problem would be even greater. However, the finest, most effective law enforcement attainable will not bring about crime control without adequate public support. Our fight against crime can be no stronger than the courage and commitment of our citizens.

Commenting on the national crime problem in a recent major address, Attorney General Mitchell warned, "Fear of crime-by the housewife and the school child, by the merchant and the laborer-fear is forcing us a free people, to alter our pattern of life, especially after sundown. . . . The evidence is conclusive. Crime is crushing us." To support local and Federal law enforcement the Attorney General suggested high-quality anticrime programs, adequately planned, staffed, and funded, which would involve professional organizations, voluntary groups, foundations, business, labor organizations, and individuals.

The issues are clear. Almost daily, we witness the progressive revolutionary steps of anarchy-coercion, intimidation violence, and unlawful takeover. We must establish a united resistance against the criminal forces destroying the structure of our society, or we must face chaos.

If we are to live as civilized men and women, then we must make the law a paramount issue in our daily lives. In short, we must live by the spirit as well as the letter of the law. We must oppose crime with all the means at our command. Our cherished principles of freedom, liberty, and justice cannot flourish where fear is dominant.

It has been stated that only gods and beasts can live outside of civil society. Since we are neither, I say let us accept the premise without testing it.

"Well, how did the 'Old molder of public opinion' fare today?"

McDIVITT TO VISIT ANN ARBOR

Congressman Marvin L. Esch in conjunction with Dr. Robben Fleming of the University of Michigan today announced that Col. James McDivitt, who just returned from his flight in Apollo 9, has accepted an invitation to visit Ann Arbor on April 18.

"It will be an honor to have Colonel McDivitt visit the Research Center of the Midwest," Congressman Esch said. "The purpose of his visit will be to discuss the great scientific advances made by the Apollo flights. Col. McDivitt will concentrate on the applications of space flight to the development of natural resources here on earth."

Esch said that a specific schedule had not been announced. He indicated, however, that there would be a public meeting as well as private briefings for the scientific community.

"Colonel McDivitt is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Engineering and has commanded three space flights. He has made a tremendous contribution to our Nation's efforts in space, and I know that all Michiganders will join me in welcoming him home." Esch said.

FROM SENATOR BURSLEY

The $100,000,000 recreation bond issue is back in the headlines because of a dispute over the allocation of the funds approved at last fall's general election. Apparently the great majority of citizens had the impression when they voted on the issue that 70% of the total was going to be devoted to state parks, forests, campsites, and fisheries. The other 30% they had been led to believe would be for urban recreation facilities. Governor Milliken has now suggested that only 40% be devoted to the "outstate" projects and that 60% be spent in urban areas where it might do more daily good for a greater number of people. As long as I am convinced-and I presently am-that the majority of those voting thought it was on the 70-30 basis, I feel that integrity, honesty, and credibility with the public are the key issues and that a division of the funds must be made on that basis. I am keenly aware of the need for assisting people with park, playground and recreation facilities near their urban homes, however, and I would hope that increased support for this need could be found from other sources.

Daylight Saving Time was defeated by about 400 votes out of a total of 3,000,000. Although I personally like DST, I feel it imperative to respect the democratic process, close as the decision might have been, and not to nullify the people's decision in the legislative session immediately following the referendum. Such a move could establish a disastrous precedent.

FROM CONGRESSMAN ESCH

As college expenses increase, it has become more and more difficult for a student from a low or middle income family to attend the college of his choice. Through economic opportunity grants, work-study programs and NDEA loans, we have provided significant financial aid for the "needy" student. However, students from middle class families have had little outside help-despite the burden which their education throws on themselves and their families. One constructive proposal to deal with this problem has been the concept of an across the board tax credit or deduction for college educational expenses. While I personally have supported this idea in the past, it has failed to receive approval by the House and previous Administrations since it does not differentiate between the wealthy and the lower and middle classes who need the assistance.

I have therefore worked out a compromise which I feel will have an excellent chance for Congressional approval while, at the same time, providing much needed assistance for those young people who must work their way through. This bill would allow a student with substantial self-earnings to receive from his college an advance of money or credit toward his tuition, fees, room and board expenses up to a maximum of $800.

concentrated in recent weeks on student demonstrations and disturbances throughout the Nation. Great attention has been given to those students whose energies have been directed towards the disruption of university life, scant notice has been paid to those students whose energies have been directed toward their own educational advancement. While it is important to continue to take action against disruption and violence we must, not, at the same time, forget that the vast majority of our young people are dedicated to their educational goals and many of them make tremendous financial sacrifices to get them.

This legislation can serve as a symbol that society is behind those students who are pursuing their studies seriously and who are intent on education, not disruption. Part of the American dream has been the ability of a young person to "pull himself up by the bootstraps" and provide himself with an education by working his way through. As educational expenses increase, this dream has become increasingly remote. I believe this legislation will assist in making that dream a real one and in helping students who are willing to help themselves.

FROM REP. THOMAS SHARPE

Asserting that Michigan is actually losing money because of the present system where by citizens are compelled to contribute toward the support of certain relatives receiving public assistance, State Representative Thomas G. Sharpe, R-Howell, has co-sponsored legislation to abolish such requirements.

"I don't disagree with the intent and theory of the present law," Sharpe explained. "But as a practical businessman, I am simply facing up to the fact that this aspect of our categorical assistance programs has been operating at a net loss to the state and would beyond doubt continue to cost us money if kept in effect." The newly introduced legislation would specifically eliminate the requirement that persons must contribute to the support of educational expenses increase, this dream such forms of public aid as old age assistance or aid to the blind or handicapped.

"Quite often, on a single old-age assistance case, a half-dozen or more expensive individual investigations must be made to determine the financial status and ability to pay of all adult children," Sharpe said.

"Numerous forms must be filled out and tabulated. Files must be reviewed regularly.

"After a thorough study of this question, I have been forced to the inescapable conclusion that the amount that can feasibly be recovered from so-called 'responsible relatives' is far exceeded by the cost of the required casework."

"For example, our audit of one 7-county area, covering 1384 cases, disclosed the fact that less than 1% of such relatives could be required to contribute under the new schedule determining the ability to pay. "In this 7-county area alone, the present system will result in a projected loss of $22,437."

"This is the amount by which projected administrative costs exceed projected total income from relatives. For the entire state the deficit would, of course, be much greater."

This situation was brought to Sharpe's attention by what he called, "the deplorable situation faced by one of my constituents. He paid over $26,000.00 in fees to keep a loved one in the Pontiac State Hospital. This individual is now a senior citizen and even with his limited earning power he has been billed an additional $6,000.00!"

Representative Sharpe added further that he is continuing his investigation and taking a hardheaded look at various other aspects of public assistance programs in a determined search for new areas where similar economics may be suggested.

In this week after Easter Sunday there is likely to be something of a let-down in the lives of many Christians, especially those who worship seldom and do not practice their faith very much in their daily living. The Easter experience has been good and enjoyed by many. Easter day is past but not the central fact to which it testifies, that Jesus Christ is present!

In the 15 chapter of I Corinthians, Paul expresses his faith—"Christ died—He was buried—He has been raised on the third day. He appeared to Cephas; then to the twelve—then to about 500 brethren at once he appeared of whom the greater part remain until now, some are fallen asleep." Can we say as Paul did, "Last of all—he appeared to me?" We can say it if we open our lives, our homes, our church, our community to the Lord who is ever present. There is a need for personal encounter with Him. We, of course, may never see Christ with our eyes, nor hear Him speak as we do a member of our own family. "He is not here, He is risen," was the glad good news of Easter and it is the glad good news of every day thereafter. He is the living—the always present Lord.

A mother tells how she and her little girl had a storm of temper one day. After it was all over, the mother and her daughter sat on the stairs making up to each other again. "I wish," said the little girl, "that Jesus would come to stay in our house, and then we wouldn't get angry with each other any more!"

But that is the point of Easter—Jesus is not dead; He is the living and ever present Lord. We spend too much time looking for Jesus among the dead forgetting He is living. He is in our house, the silent listener, the understanding friend, the unseen guest at every meal. For the Christian, life is lived in Christ's presence. He is with us always!

LIBRARY NEWS

The Hunter and the Whale - Laurens Van Der Post

North from the regions of the Antarctic in summer come the little whaling ships to the harbor of Port Natal, there to hunt the sperm and the blue whale in the warm waters of the Indian Ocean. This unforgettable narrative concerns one such ship, the Kurt Hansen, her crew and the mortal conflict that eventually develops in their midst.

The time is just after World War I and the hero is Peter, the young South African spotter. Four summers of whaling and enough adventures to fill a lifetime. A fine story, rich with pictures of the ocean and descriptions of characters.

A Red Skelton in Your Closet - Red Skelton

In this delightful collection of stories and poems about ghosts, spooks and spirits—some designed to produce cold shivers, America's best loved comedian has selected his own favorites in the field for the enjoyment of young people of all ages between nine and ninety.

A growing problem for many Michigan farmers these days is how to work and survive in the non-farm population spreads around them in the rural areas.

More and more people needing places to live, work and play have caused new population expansion problems.

These people want and need sewers, lighting systems, roads and many other attributes of city living—in a country atmosphere. They don't want crowding and they don't want the stench of polluted air. They seek peace and quiet, and usually, they find it.

But what about the farmer who was there first?

Non-farm neighbors soon discover that cattle pens and hog barns tend to permeate the air with unwelcome smells on a hot spring or summer day. Complaints are common, and in a somewhat historic New York state case, a hog farmer was enjoined from further operation under air pollution laws of that area. This is in spite of the fact that he had been in business for some time, and his complaining neighbors had moved out to him and around him.

Near Jackson, Michigan, a similar case a few years ago caused a well-established farmer to cease further spreading of manure on portions of his land, and near Lansing, Michigan, a current case is now in court with an injunction sought against a swine producer by an "upwind" neighbor. Complaints are not one-sided by any means. Farmers complain of greatly increased vandalism, and there appears to be a rise in old-fashioned cattle rustling with modern twists. Steers and hogs have disappeared from barn, pen and feedlot, with only tire marks to show where a light truck has backed against fence or barn.

The movement to the suburbs and well beyond can be expected to increase as work-weeks shorten and industrial pay rates continue to rise. Solutions must be found, and soon—with many farm leaders convinced that the best hope lies in land-use zoning.

Leaders of the Michigan Farm Bureau call for recognition of farmland for total agricultural production and ask that it be assessed on the tax rolls for that purpose.

They point out that maintenance of good farmland must be encouraged in the interest of future food needs, open spaces and green areas for all of us.

Students Get Results

by Carolyn Ahrens

Some time ago John Korican, American Government teacher at Manchester High School, gave his students a special assignment. Two of his students, Sue Blanchard and Janet Reinhart, decided to try one of his suggested project ideas—a blinker light at the intersection east of Manchester at City Road, Austin Road and M-62.

A repeatedly hazardous intersection for many years, the girls felt it would be a worthwhile effort and knew many area residents would support such a project.

They wrote to the Jackson State Highway Department who promptly answered their letter with the assurance that their department would be in contact with the Washtenaw County Road Commission who would conduct studies concerning the value of a light at this location.

After some time the girls wrote again as they had received no further word from the Jackson or Washtenaw departments. The answer brought the news they had hoped for. The letter read in part, "... field and office studies have been completed. We are proposing to install a 2-color flashing beacon—red facing south and east and yellow facing west. The installation will be made as soon as a participation agreement with Washtenaw County Road Commission is reached and the work schedule will permit."

Changes Wrought In Jury Duty Selection

by Carolyn Ahrens

Over the past several months an unusually large number of registered voters in the Manchester precinct, as well as in surrounding areas have received questionnaires and a summons informing them, "You have been drawn for jury duty . . ."

At one time jury duty was primarily a volunteer process, Clayton Parr, Township Supervisor said, and involved Manchesterites perhaps once or twice a year. At that time residents would be called and a list submitted to the County Clerk. According to the 1965 population count involved nine area residents, perhaps all or only part of, selected for final jury duty.

Then it became mandatory that the supervisors and/or township clerks use the list of registered voters and divide it by the number of jurors allowed per population count thus by using a number system, jurors would be selected at random. This would bring into jury service a wider variety of people from various occupations and backgrounds.

According to officials in the County Clerk's office more than double the number of jurors were called in 1968 compared to the prior year. County Clerk Robert Harrison said the main reason for this was the reduction of a juror's term from two to one month, a policy made effective January 1968. Also the newly created five Washtenaw County district courts and three circuit courts have attributed to the need for more jurors. He continued that out of 100 jurors perhaps less than half are qualified or willing to serve. "If people would only serve (and by law are not eligible to serve more than once over a 3 year period) they would undoubtedly find it a very rewarding experience," one official said.

But continuing changes, the need for more jurors and an increased volume of work involving jury service has brought about another change—a change which is termed by Judge William F. Agar, Jr. as "the very bulwark of our democratic system." The 3-man Washtenaw County Juror Selection Commission, designed to handle all basic jury business, will soon relieve the Township Supervisors and/or Clerks of such duties.

Last week Circuit Judge John W. Conlin administered the oath of office to the new Jury Board which are Mrs. Richard M. (Joyce) Chesbrough, Ann Arbor, Cornelius Reeves, Jr., Superior Township and Donald M. Silkworth, Ypsilanti.

Jury duty—a burden for some; an interesting experience for others; a serious responsibility for everyone.

PROGRESS OF THE NEW WATER PLANT

The construction of the new water plant is near completion. The main change-over of the water main has been completed. Remaining construction consists of internal piping yet to be finished by the construction company. The Lane Northern Company anticipates a period of approximately three weeks yet to complete the installation of equipment and an additional week for sampling and testing of the equipment. The new system should be in operation in one month.

Flushing time for fire hydrants has been changed from Friday morning to Friday afternoons. Hydrants will be kept closed unless they are in use by the Fire Department or unless the hydrants must be opened for repairs within the water system. Whenever possible, repairs on the system will be made on Fridays.

DOG OWNERS

Chief of Police Larry Becktel has issued a reminder that with approaching warm weather also brings the responsibility of dog owners to see that their pets are inoculated. Distemper and any booster shots should be taken care of soon. He also pointed out that according to the Village Ordinance, dogs not on a leash or found running loose will be picked up by the County Dog Warden and this will cost money.

The Village Ordinance reads in part as follows:

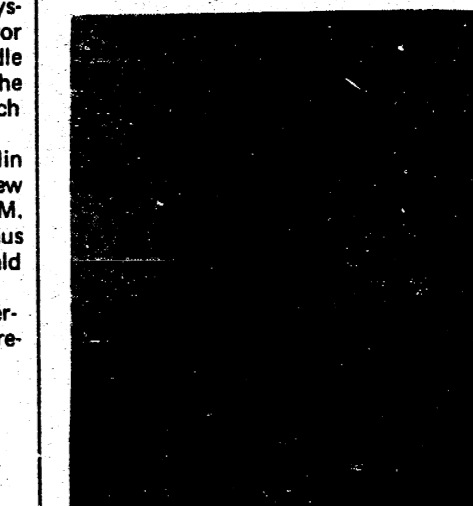

"Section 2. Restrictions. No person owning, possessing or having charge of any dog, four months of age or over, shall permit such dog— (a) to be unconfined at any time unless under the control of some responsible person and unless vaccinated against rabies within the past year, and unless such dog shall have a tag on its collar showing such current vaccination.

(b) To be an annoyance or nuisance in the vicinity where kept because of loud or habitual barking, yelping or howling, or by reason of damaging or trespassing on the property of others.

Section 10. Penalties. Any person or persons violating any provision of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be fined not more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) or sentenced to the Washtenaw County Jail for a period of not more than thirty days, or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court."
