DEVOTED TO A MORE PROGRESSIVE MANCHESTER
101st Year No. 36
June 26, 1969

The "Overuse" of Our Recreation Facilities

The Manchester summer recreation program grows more every year. In 1967, $4,337.33 was spent and this year, approximately $5,300, may be spent by the Community Chest and the Village Council. The school's contribution during the summer months is the nominal cost for maintenance and the use of the building according to the Superintendent Robert Swartz.

In 1967 and 1968 the Community Chest spent $3,000 and anticipates spending $3,400 this year. The council has spent $800 and $900 in 1967 and 68 respectively and this year expects to spend over $1,100. During the summer the Manchester High School spends about $6,000 for the summer band program and the driver training program which the state aid reimburses 50 per cent.

According to Mr. Cameron, superintendent of Chelsea public schools, the board of education pays for all gas and oil for the buses used in their summer recreational program. They also maintain the school buildings during the summer.

In Clinton, the school partially finances the swimming pool and administers its operation said Mr. Wagner, Clinton public school superintendent. The Clinton Village Council, township board and community chest also co-sponsor the pool.

One reason this year's program budget increased is the addition of a new night program under the directorship of Jim Fielder. The program is for young people age 16 to 21 years. The village decided to have a summer program for this age group after the school-sponsored dances were discontinued. Six summer dances (the first was held last week) and two outdoor movies are planned. The village council decided last Monday, June 16, to back the summer night program for what losses they may incur.

The recreation committee decided to hire a program director because teachers are not expected to volunteer their time when the school is not in session.

Presently the summer recreation program, headed by Ted Gulliver, includes school age children up through the age of 16. During the day there are two separate playgrounds, junior and senior. The senior has such activities as tennis, badminton, baseball, archery, bike races, soap box derby, field day and a bank sponsored ice cream day. Most of these events occur on the athletic field. The senior group will also go to BobLo this year.

Junior playground includes crafts and field trips and the children use the junior high playground.

In the afternoon two separate groups are taken to Wauplers Lake to swim. Instruction is given to non-swimmers and experienced swimmers arrive later for supervised swimming.

How's this for baseball action? Maybe the game was called off while they all went home to use the restroom.

Tennis anyone? The nets just a little loose. Just don't hit the ball into the tall grass alongside, you might not find it.

PLEASANT LAKE MAN TO HEAD OWN COMPANY

Ann Arbor will soon have a new management consulting firm formed by a Manchester resident.

Thomas S. Roberts of 11485 Pleasant Shore Dr. and his firm, Thomas S. Roberts Associates will specialize in management development, problem analysis and the application of management by objectives techniques in business firms.

Formerly Roberts was director of the nurses division in the University of Michigan Bureau of Industrial Relations. He has been with this unit of the Graduate School of Business Administration since 1963. In this position he oversaw the development of the nationally known "Management of Managers" course which has been attended by more than 2,500 executives from every state and many foreign countries.

He developed the statewide Michigan Industrial Relations Conference series to its current level of 96 conferences in 16 Michigan industrial areas.

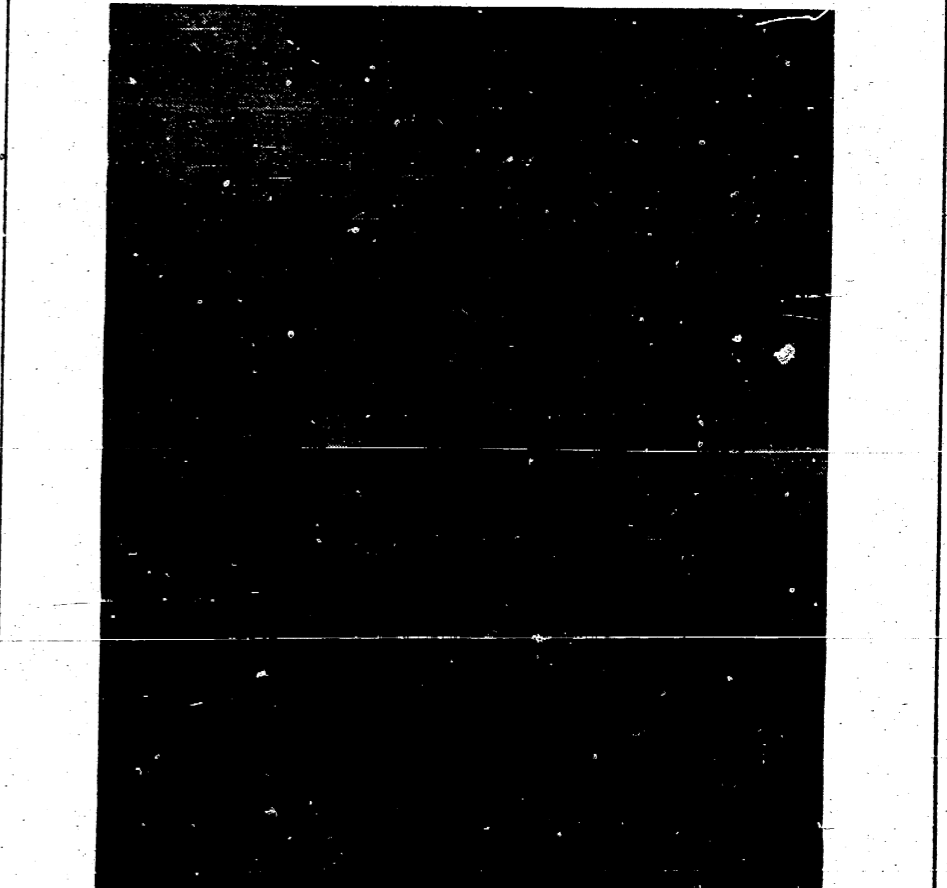

Roberts has also been responsible for the "New Frontier of Management" course, and night school and correspondence study programs cosponsored with the University Center for Adult Education and U of M correspondence study departments.

Roberts was educated at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Syracuse University and received a master of business administration degree from the U of M. He has been a mathematics teacher, research statistician and a quality assurance engineer for a German automobile firm. He has written many articles and has prepared educational materials used in numerous organizations for training managerial personnel.

Along with his new plans, Roberts revealed that he has acquired a majority of the outstanding stock of Masterco Press, Inc. He will be president and chairman of the board of the Ann Arbor-based publishing firm, which produces books in such areas as business, economics and finance, and plans to expand the catalog.

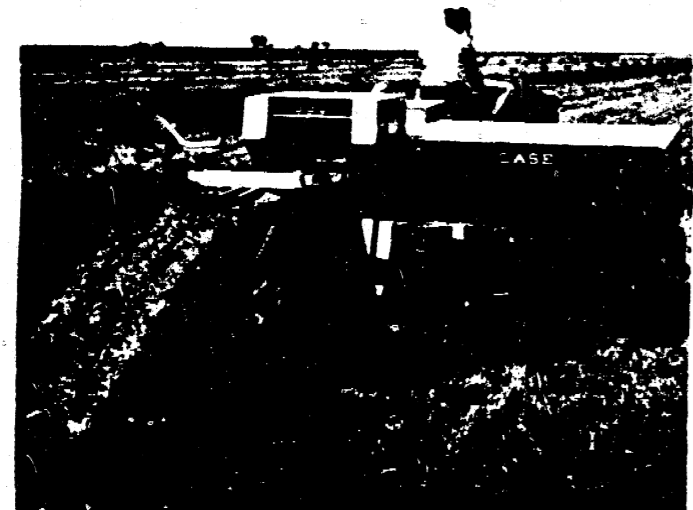

SPECIAL ELECTION RESULTS

Who, What, When, Where & Why

IN MY OPINION

by Karen Kirk

It wasn't long ago when some of us were saying just what the teenagers of Manchester are repeating today: "There is nothing for us to do in this town." For many, Wampers Lake was and may still be a feasible entertainment outlet during the summer months. Then Ann Arbor, much farther away has been a prime place for those who were allowed to go and could afford it.

We know when young people leave this town they feel cheated because nothing was ever really offered to them. Many of us are not really very proud of where we came from.

At the present time the summer recreation program is trying to find something for the most left-out kids to do. Teenagers are among a group who bore easily and so far Manchester has made it easier for them. Several weeks ago some teenagers were so bored they decided to seriously beat up another peer, one even used a deadly weapon.

Unfortunately the summer night recreation program has no money for our teenagers. What is even sadder is they have only the Community Chest and the Village Council to fall back on. It seems strange that with all the groups in this town and an adequate school system there are only two that are willing to help keep kids out of trouble.

AN OPEN LETTER TO YOUTH

Dear Kid:

Today you came to me for a job. From the look of your shoulders as you walked out, I suspect you've been turned down before, and you maybe believe by now that kids out of high school can't find work.

But, I hired a teenager today. You saw him. He was the one with polished shoes and a necktie. What was so special about him? Not experience, neither of you had any. It was his attitude that put him on the payroll instead of you. Attitude, son. A-T-T-I-T-U-D-E.

He wanted that job badly enough to shuck the leather jacket, get a haircut, and look in the phone book to find out what this company makes. He did his best to impress me. That's where he edged you out.

You see, Kid, people who hire people aren't "with" a lot of things. We know more about Bing than about Ringo, and we have Stone-Age ideas about who owes whom a living. Maybe that makes us prehistoric, but there's nothing wrong with the checks we sign.

Ever hear of "empathy?" It's the trick of seeing the other fellow's side of things. I couldn't have cared less that you're behind in your car payments. What I needed was someone who'd go out in the plant, keep his eyes open, and work for me like he'd work for himself. If you have even the vaguest idea of what I'm trying to say, let it show the next time you ask for a job. You'll be head and shoulders over the rest.

You know, Kid, men have always had to get a job like you get a girl: Case the situation, wear a clean shirt, and try to appear reasonably willing. Maybe jobs are plentiful right now, but a lot of us can remember when master craftsmen walked the streets. By comparison, you don't know the meaning of "scarce."

You may not believe it, but all around you employers are looking for young men and women smart enough to go after a job in the old-fashioned way. When they find one, they can't wait to unload some of their worries on him.

For both our sakes, get eager, will you?

POLICE REPORT

Jay J. Clouse, 19, was arrested on May 17 for loitering and pleaded guilty and was fined $10 on June 10.

Two minors were also involved in the same assault and battery charge. Both were cited to probate court on May 16. In probate court one was given a special order by Judge Francis J. O'Brien on May 22 to stay out of Manchester unless accompanied by his parents for a period of three months. The other was also charged with assault with a deadly weapon. He appeared in Probate court on June 17 to enter a plea on these charges.

Steven T. Hone, 20, was arrested on May 26 for unlawfully driving away with an automobile and breaking and entering. The first charge was dropped on May 27 for double jeopardy on a previous charge occurring September 10, 1968. He will be examined on the breaking and entering charge July 16, 1969 but may be dismissed because he is on three years probation on a federal charge. The prosecutor is requiring that restitution be made on the cases in Manchester including the one he was not charged with.

SHARPE INTRODUCES TAX BREAK BELL FOR FARMERS

I recently co-sponsored, along with Rep. Roy Spencer of Attica, a measure to provide a tax break for farmers that I feel is deserved, vitally needed and long overdue. I am extremely pleased to report that this legislation has successfully passed the Michigan State House of Representatives.

House Bill No. 2533 permits a 50% write-off in property taxes on land that is used solely for farming, and by farmers who derive at least 90% of their income from such land.

Under these provisions, the bill could not be used by wealthy "gentlemen farmers" or corporations that maintain subsidiary farming operations, often as tax shelters.

Instead, this legislation is intended solely to land some badly-needed financial relief from property taxes to those farmers who are still attempting to make a living from the land in areas where land has become too high-priced or too heavily taxed because of the encroachment of urban development.

ESCH CALL FOR NATIONAL MEETING OF COLLEGE ADMINISTRATORS

Congressman Marvin L. Esch called yesterday for national and regional conferences of college administrators to consider the causes and alternative approaches to dealing with the problem of campus disorders.

Esch, in a letter to the presidents of leading universities and educational organizations throughout the nation, emphasized the urgency of the problem and urged college administrators to meet with each other to share their views and experiences on how best to handle student demands and campus disruptions.

A member of the House Education and Labor Committee, Esch pointed out that the public is demanding that Congress as well as state legislatures take strong action against disruptive students. Esch states that "repressive legislation or the cutting of funds is not the answer to the problem of student unrest. However, campus administrators must clearly indicate to the public that they are concerned about finding the most effective methods of dealing with the critical national problem of student disorder."

The purpose of the conference, Esch stated, "would be to develop concepts which would replace the current atmosphere of disruption and disorder on our campuses with a new positive force of creative interchange. I do not, however, envision the conferences establishing standard national regulations or practices as each college and university community is diverse and unique and must be governed by the factors within its environment. The independent operating integrity of each institution must be protected."

"But such conferences could have a positive effect upon the growing crisis upon our college campuses. They would help to create better communication and understanding on the part of the American people, aid administrators in developing practices regarding discipline and conduct of students and faculty, and establishing new means of communication with students."

"I have urged the President and his Administration to join in the call for this meeting," Esch said, "as I am certain we are together in wanting to help the colleges and universities find a voluntary solution to this growing problem."

Most businessmen pay taxes on the value of their business as businesses. The farmer is forced to pay taxes, as often as not, on the value of his farmland -- not as farmland, but as subdivision land, industrial sites, or some other purpose. This is totally unreasonable and unfair.

I believe, in fact, that this tax-reform measure is merely the beginning of what is needed. The only real answer, eventually, must lie in a major change from a property tax concept to an income tax concept for the financing of our schools, since this is the largest and most rapidly-increasing burden upon property-owners today.

JULY 4th CELEBRATION

The second annual old-fashioned July 4th Celebration is being held in Grass Lake. The festivities are sponsored by local organizations and will be even bigger and better than last year's.

The plans begin on July 3rd with a Queen's Parade through town at 2:30 p.m., the Queen Contest at 8:00 p.m. at the high school, and finally a bonfire, sing-a-long and fireworks at 10:00 p.m. at the Grass Lake County Park.

A pancake and sausage breakfast will start out the day of the 4th, serving between 7-9 a.m. at the High School sponsored by the Rifle Club. Then follows the parade forming at the Jim Howe Ford Sales and proceeding through town to the High School grounds where the rest of the day's activities will take place. Features of the parade include the Jackson Rose Queen, the 40 & 8 train, Stage Coach from Stage Coach Stop, a Case steam engine from Napoleon, and the Little Zouaves from Jackson plus numerous floats, marching groups and several antique vehicles and horse entries.

There will be a program at 11:30 a.m. with the concessions opening at 12 noon. Highlights of the afternoon are the Boosters Club chicken bar-b-q serving between 12-3 p.m. Various concessions appealing to all age groups and an ice cream social at 5:00 p.m.

Co-chairmen are James Mead and Ernie Donaldson and anyone wishing to participate in any of the day's activities is invited to call either Jim or Ernie at 522-4805 or 522-4813 respectively.

MOSQUITOES ENEMY FOUND

MSU entomologists found a tiny, worm-like nematode that acts as a parasite in floodwater mosquitoes. The nematodes either kill the mosquito outright or disrupt its reproduction cycle so it can't reproduce. The MSU scientists are now rearing parasites and mosquitoes in controlled atmosphere chambers to improve nematode effectiveness.

NEW ALFALFA SEED

A new alfalfa variety called 520 has been adapted for the Midwest and eastern United States.

This new variety has dark green foliage color which should be of particular interest to dehydrators and others interested in producing high quality alfalfa. Five twenty is an eight-clone, wilt resistant, winter hardy synthetic variety adapted to areas where Vernal and Ranger are presently grown. It has averaged more than 10 per cent more hay per acre than Vernal or Ranger in tests conducted over a four year period in Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania. It is more resistant to downy mildew than either of the other type. The new variety represents a major improvement over other available alfalfas in resistance to the leaf spot caused by Leptosphaeria. It also produces somewhat more growth in the late fall period than does Vernal.

BIBLE SCHOOL
 Three churches in Manchester broke traditions and cooperated for the first time in a history-making venture last week. Emanuel Church of Christ, Manchester United Methodist and St. Mary's Catholic Church jointly held a Bible School for 200 pupils from June 16 through 20. All three buildings were used and teachers from all the churches participated.

"I think that it is quite significant that these three churches have cooperated together and forgot their differences," said Rev. Ralph Kuether, pastor of Emanuel Church.
 The bride chose an "A" line lace and organza gown with a mantilla trimmed in lace matching her gown.
 The maid of honor wore a turquoise dotted swiss "A" line dress and the bridesmaids were in pink dotted swiss.
 After a reception at the Manchester Sportsman Club, the newlyweds departed for a wedding trip to northern Michigan and Wisconsin. They will live at 414 E. Main St., Manchester.

LIBRARY NEWS

The Twentieth Century Club of Manchester have donated to the Library eight new chairs. Mrs. Claire Reck added to this collection and presented us with a ninth.

Reproductions of the original Hitchcock chairs, these are black with lovely gold stencil work. Altogether a most fitting addition to our decor, for the style is fitting to the general air of the building.

More good news for music lovers. The RCA Recording Co. has presented us a gift of seventy-five new records. Please do come in and browse.

The summer reading club is in full swing, with several children having already received their certificates for having read 15 books. The story hour is each Wednesday at 2:00 and the little ones love it.

If you have a lazy afternoon on a hot day, may I suggest -

- For mystery lovers - A Charlotte Armstrong book
- For suspense - A Mary Stewart book
- For adventure and excitement - An Alistair MacLean
- For true adventure - A Thor Heyerdahl
- For integrity and faith - A Catherine Marshall
- For best sellers and some not so best, see us any day of the week.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF ARBEITERS HELD

The 71st Annual State Convention for the United Lady Arbeiter Association was held June 3 at the Zion United Church of Christ in Mt. Clemens. Rev. Henry Rest, a Brother of Rev. Carl Rest formerly of Manchester, greeted the society at the banquet and gave a history of the organization. The Manchester Chapter representatives were Mrs. Jesse (Hazel) Walker and Mrs. Erwin (Ina) Haussler.

Twenty-two delegated and 10 officers from the eleven Michigan chapters participated in the annual business meeting. As pointed out by one member, the Arbiters was once a men's organization until a social benefit ladies group was established 71 years ago.

Today the Manchester Chapter has 97 members with one member now living in California and 3 members, Bertha Blume, Marie Gieske and Emma Sloat at the Evangelical Home for the Aged in Detroit. Manchester will host the 1970 annual meeting.

FANTASTIC!

Frost-free Refrigerator WITH Automatic Ice Maker

Willie Imudluk, who recently visited Michigan, really lives on the edge of the Arctic. Even though his family enjoys the convenience of a modern refrigerator, Willie nearly flipped his harpoon when he discovered the new frost-free model with the automatic ice maker. We know you will, too. The convenience of no more ice tray filling and spilling — the luxury of a never-ending supply of ice cubes, every man will appreciate. And what woman wouldn't like to forget that dreaded defrosting chore — the chopping, slopping and mopping — with a refrigerator that defrosts itself automatically? See the new frost-free refrigerator with the automatic ice maker today. You'll agree with Willie — it's fantastic!

THEY NEED YOU !!!

Have you ever considered adoption? Do you have room in your heart for one of these children. They and others like them are waiting for adoptive homes. They need you if you want to be parents and love and care for a child. This is the most important consideration in adoption.

Did you know that Michigan's Children's Aid Society has no financial, education, or religious requirements for adoptive couples. It is not necessary to own your own home. An additional child does not have to have his (her) own bedroom. There is only one age requirement: You must be at least 21. There is no upper age limit. There is no limit to the number of children a family may have. There are no infertility requirements. Working mothers are eligible.

There will be an Open House for anyone interested in adopting a Negro or Negro-Caucasian youngster. If you are interested come to the office of the Michigan Children's Aid Society in the Masonic Building, 327 South 4th Avenue, Ann Arbor, on Sunday June 22nd, between 2:00 and 4:00 p.m. There will be staff members available to answer questions and there will be parents present who have already adopted children, to discuss their experiences. We welcome your attendance.

HELL CREEK
Are you looking for a way to spend a day doing something different and challenging? Go canoeing or rather exploring down Hell Creek.
The seven mile trip only takes about four hours through deep and shallow waters. The trip is far from boring. The river winds through woods and deep swamps where most of the view is untouched by human alteration. A fairly fast current makes the ride less strenuous but sharp curves, fallen trees and rapids keep you alert.
At the present time there are two small bridges which must be portaged but fortunately the lightweight aluminum canoes make the job easy. Tom Davis, owner of Hell Creek ranch said that eventually these bridges may be raised or moved. Definitely the most thrilling part of the trip is passing underneath a bridge through a huge steel drain tube where rapids have formed.
Hell Creek Ranch is located near Pinkney and also has 2,500 acres for riding horses. Eventually there will be facilities for swimming and camping.
Davis said that as soon as the water level lowers there will be canoe trips starting from Hell, Michigan a mile from the ranch. This will extend the trip to eight miles or the mile trip alone can be made.
The trip ends at Portage Lake and someone from Hell Creek drives you two and one half miles back to the ranch.
Davis said that if groups wanted to come any other time other than between 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. they should call ahead to make arrangements.

Heart of the O-I Milan Box Plant is this football field-long corrugator. In one continuous operation, this machine combines containerboard into corrugated board at speeds up to 700 feet per minute. The corrugator is just one of many interesting machines you will see in action during your tour of this new plant.

We're rolling out a red carpet for you and your family to visit our new Milan corrugated box plant.

Official dedication ceremonies begin 11:00 a.m. on Thursday, June 26. The plant will be open for tours by the public following the dedication ceremonies on Thursday until 4:00 p.m. and again on Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

What The Kids Want

Manchester should be doing something for their young people before too many are picked up for loitering or any other offense. At the present time the teenagers have their six summer dances and two movies but there are seven days in a week.

We asked some of the teenagers on the bridge and the street what they wanted Manchester to do for them. Invariably the majority wanted a place to go. Many wanted more dances where they could go to meet new people.

One sophomore boy simply wanted more action, he said he had never experienced anything here so he didn't know what to want. He did think a swimming pool would be nice.

Another boy wanted a pavilion because he was not of driving age. A high school sophomore would like to see the tennis courts fixed up and the basketball backboards repaired. He also said the bathrooms are always locked on the Athletic Field probably because no one wants to fix them.

Two girls from Toledo said the kids really need a place to go. They felt the coffee house at the Emanuel Church was great because they felt free to just sit and talk. They felt Manchester doesn't have enough dances or any eating place which is open late.

A place to go is not really much to ask and it would be a far better place than the street. None of the young people interviewed seemed very excited about being where they were.

IMPROPER USE OF CHECKS WORRIES BANKER

Credit and no money, this is the dominant reality of our society today.

Union Savings Bank President, Dan J. Boutell said it will be a long time before we get by with a moneyless checkless society. However, he said, "Our whole economy today with checks having a two to three day credit float before reaching bank."

On a nationwide scale he said the amount of credit is huge and much of it is not taken into account. In terms of gross national product the amount of credit used today is probably 50 per cent more than the 30 per cent of twenty years ago.

The greatest cause for alarm, Boutell believes is the failure of people to look at the total amount they spent through credit. It is so easy to go into serious debt when money cannot be readily accounted for.

Cities like Ann Arbor and larger do have problems with checking accounts with insufficient funds and having to deal with so many out of town checks. "The improper use of checks," Boutell said, "is a detriment to the whole business world."

"The economists tell us inflation is still climbing but as long as production and sales continue to rise, I don't think there is any real worry," Boutell said.

Boutell suggested that inflation could be leveled by cutting our defense budget. He added this isn't feasible because the government does not want to and it would result in significant unemployment.

President Nixon's plan to stop inflation is to make borrowing more costly. "At the present, credit can be obtained easiest on installment buying for goods like appliances and cars," Boutell said. He added that home and land investments are very difficult to finance because of Michigan's nationwide low usury law. This law has frozen Michigan bank's ability to lend money at a seven per cent interest rate. Michigan has had this interest limit for the past 100 years. The legislature is trying to raise the limit at the present time.

Boutell pointed out that more people are living today, more are buying stocks than 10 years ago and more are educated enough to want to but stock and make major investments. Naturally with a larger population and more freedom for younger people to purchase there will be a greater use of credit.

A 40 x 80 foot shelter, similar to those at Carr Park, is now under construction in the southwest corner of the Athletic Field with completion or at least near-completion set for the July 17 Chicken Broil. A project in operation since last fall, it was through the cooperation of N. Walz, of S & W Builders, the village council and the Manchester Public Works Dept. in getting the actual work underway, Ted Stautz reported. The committee members representing the Optimists, Jaycees, Fair Board and the Board of Education who were instrumental in planning the structure were Ted Stautz, Maynard Blossom, Luther Klager, Rollie Grossman, Clarence Fielder, Bob Rhees, Dan Boutell, and Bob Swartz. Also involved were Al Gaige, L.V. Kirk, Eddie and Norm Walz with materials purchased from Schaffer Lumber Co.

Mr. Stautz pointed out that although on school property, the Athletic Field is also the Manchester Fair Grounds thus the project became eligible for a portion of the funds from the Fair Division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Total cost of the shelter is estimated between $8 and $10,000 with a portion of the labor donated by Manchester citizens.

"The structure will eliminate tents and sawdust as well as provide a permanent shelter for fair activities. When the fair is not in session we're sure there will be a number of uses for it," Mr. Stautz added.

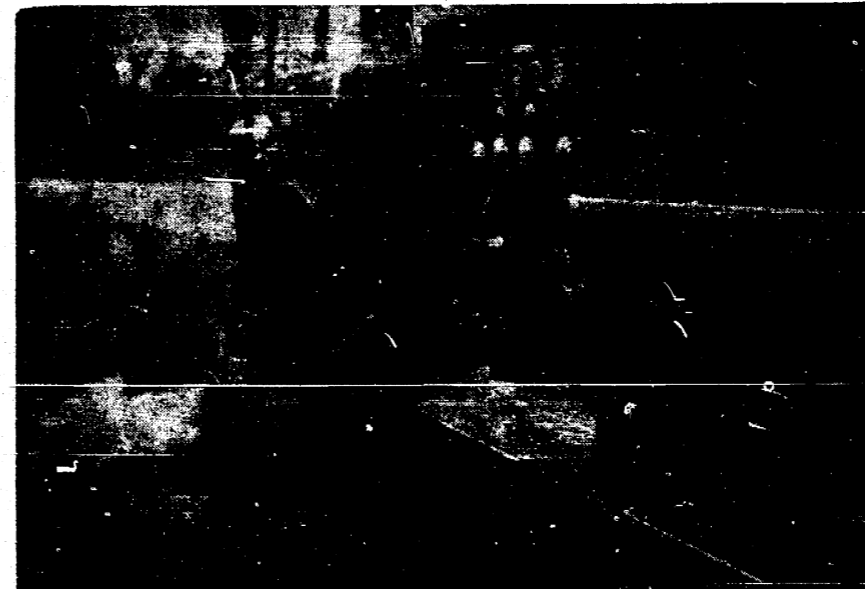

A project made possible through all of Manchester, the annual Chicken Broil proceeds from last year and this year will be used for this community project.

Twp. Purchases New Fire Equip.

The Village of Manchester has purchased a monitor nozzle capable of putting on 1,000 pounds of water per minute. Purpose will be to cut down the man power needed. Members of the Fire Dept. observed the demonstration of the nozzle.

It will be used where there is a large supply of water in the business district.

Above is "Dutch Boy No. 1" supplying water to the new piece of fire fighting equipment.
