HOUSE FIRE LATE TUESDAY EVENING

Firemen were called to the home of Russell Briggs on Adrian Street where an overheated wood stove caused extensive damage to the kitchen and attic. Firemen were at the scene for three hours.

During Gals Days (similar to Sidewalk Sale Days) in 1939, a pair of boots from Wuertner Brothers were frozen in a 300 pound chunk of ice and whoever guessed nearest to the time that the ice would melt would win a pair of shoes or boots. LeRoy Knickerbocker won the contest. Schaible recalls although he couldn't remember how long it took for the ice to melt. Pictured with the ice from left to right is Very Widmeyer, Gus Wuertner, Walt Schaible and Carl Wuertner.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF YOUR TOWN?

by Carolyn Ahrens

Manchester, as perhaps all communities, must at times face certain changes during their growth to stay alive, to remain an active community, to contribute to the surrounding county and state and to draw and keep young citizens so that it will not die. A home must be painted and repaired, trees replanted and broken windows replaced with yearly care to stay alive and so must a town.

Manchester is now in her second century. Officially founded in 1867, she recently relived her past during the 1967 Centennial activities as residents dug out old pictures, clothes and memories, donned long skirts and swallow-tail coats to momentarily turn back 100 years and review her achievements.

Some residents feel Manchester should remain basically unchanged. Some feel she could encourage more industry, new residents and building. But nevertheless now, it seems, Manchester has stopped, perhaps taking time to think and plan her future steps. Should she grow as rapidly as neighboring towns such as Saline or should she keep the small-town atmosphere as seems to sadly be a thing of the past across our nation? Should Manchester completely stop now or should she take full advantage of her heritage using her natural resources to develop and grow only as the community wants her to grow?

To a life-long area resident, Manchester needs appraisal now to plan her strategy for the future. As a businessman and President of the Chamber of Commerce and Jaycee member, Ken Wolf sees many directions Manchester could take. A 1967 graduate of the U of M School of Banking and the American Institute of Banking, he is presently Cashier of the Union Savings Bank. He and his wife Janice have three daughters, Sherry 9, Lisa 5 and Kim 4 and are members of the United Methodist Church.

Manchester is his home and to Ken Wolf means . . . In some respects, Manchester to me is still the small village community in which I grew up. For one to grow up in a small town's surrounding countryside is almost a thing of the past for the children of the future. However, the pace of today is now a much faster way of life; everything is or should be, dedicated to efficiency, convenience and most of all, progress.

Shortly after graduating from Manchester High School, I began my career in the business field. It was after I took a position with a large bank in the county that led the way to my education and foresight to a business career here in Manchester. Now after participating in the village and community problems I would like to express my personal thoughts and ideas of the Manchester Business Area.

Manchester is a typical town now facing problems like many other small town business sections throughout the country. Small town problems should be dealt with through the Village Government, Planning Commission, Chamber of Commerce, local clubs, churches, etc. all working and pulling together, not apart. I might add that each person working in these various groups must be willing to accept and make new changes, come up with new ideas and new goals for the betterment of the town.

I do realize that things don't always change overnight nor would anyone expect them to but the Manchester Business Area still leaves much to be desired. Although many steps have already been taken to improve the Business Area, we must continue to progress. If an individual is a part of the Business Area ask yourself what have you done to help make it a more attractive place to shop and do business.

The economy is now fast changing in the business world and one must set aside petty grievances and old standards and strive to follow these new guidelines. Some of Manchester's long-time businessmen and women are fast approaching retirement. What will happen then? Who will take their place? Hopefully the new business people will continue to add and work toward a better main street.

Perhaps now is the time for Manchester's businessmen to maintain the small-town atmosphere by adopting a uniform theme throughout the business area and following this theme as many other small towns have already successfully done. Towns such as Grayling with their Bavarian theme, Frankenmuth using Swiss Alps theme and Traverse City taking advantage of their natural resource, Traverse Bay, as a tourist attraction.

In Manchester for instance, we could make the various shops and services attractive to do business in not only with the established population but also to attract new business. This would be not only for our own satisfaction but to let other people in this community and possibly the state know that what we have here would be a refreshing change from today's concrete and glass cities.

I still feel Manchester is a great little town with a lot of potential and if we all work together, young and old, will make it an even better town.

MANCHESTER PLASTICS IS AT IT AGAIN!

Manchester Plastics, Inc. is presently waiting for the frost law to lift in order to move a new machine weighing approximately 115,000 pounds.

They have purchased two smaller machines that should be delivered in April, which will bring their total number of machines to eleven.

Manchester Plastics is securing bids to add an additional 6,000 square feet of warehouse space to its present building. They are in hopes that the construction will start as soon as work can be accomplished satisfactorily in our location.

The new addition will have a shipping dock and a ground level receiving dock for moving heavy tools into the plant.

Manchester Plastics is looking forward to a big year with household items, automotive components and electrical units.

Optimist Tom Roberts tries yet another way to "trap" good telephone service.

PLEASANT LAKE MAN ASKS - "IS OUR AREA GETTING A FAIR SHAKE WHEN IT COMES TO TELEPHONE SERVICE?"

Is our area getting a fair shake when it comes to telephone service? "Emphatically not!" says Thomas S. Roberts, publishing executive who lives in Freedom Township. Rather he notes that the poor distribution and availability of area phone service represents an "unfair burden on residents."

Here are some of the leading problems identified by Roberts:

"Farmers have even less chance of survival when they must bear long distance charges in order to do business at logically convenient centers such as Dexter, Clinton or Saline."

"Employment opportunities suffer because we cannot hope to attract desirable, new smaller businesses when they must pay hundreds of dollars in extra charges in order to set up shop in our area."

"Churches, which are more central to community activities out in the country, find numbers of members, some only a few miles away, cannot be called free."

"Good government suffers when township officials can be contacted only at extra cost."

"Some students are blocked from full educational and social participation; unless their parents can afford the extra phone charges, they cannot hold key club positions, discuss homework problems with classmates or even contact them for the all important social contacts that are so much a part of their growth and development."

"Property values are also apt to suffer, although the tax base remains the same, when neighbors and merchants who can be 1/2 mile or less away can be contacted only at the price of a long distance call. This limitation undoubtedly makes these land parcels less attractive to potential buyers."

According to Roberts, Bell's policies, which presently deny us area-wide service make it tougher for us to qualify for it because we are not as attractive a locale as others in the area.

"When we moved to this area from Ann Arbor we were shocked by the increase in base telephone rates. Local Bell officials said it was caused by the higher costs of servicing rural lines."

"In spite of this claim, Bell has been unable to provide us with as much as three consecutive months service without major difficulties over a five year period. Recently they have stated that the Manchester area has one of the best service records."

"Conversations with friends and neighbors paints a vastly different picture. Most relate a grim history of telephone problems and have just given up calling repair service. They also indicate unhappiness because of the inconvenience of our lack of free area service."

"We have asked Bell to survey community feelings on these matters, but they have not found it convenient to do so, clearly, if we want a fair shake, we'll have to provide Bell with irrefutable data."

As part of its community service program, the Enterprise is printing a survey form designed by Mr. Roberts. Every resident is encouraged to fill one out and return it to our offices. Results will be published in the near future.

WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE & WHY

TO THE RESIDENTS OF MANCHESTER

Dear Friends:
 Thank you for making the 1970 March of Dimes an outstanding success! More money was raised in Manchester this year than ever before in March of Dimes history!

These funds are already being used to aid the victims of Polio for whom the vaccines came too late; to finance medical research into the causes and prevention of birth defects; to provide support for the Birth Defect Center at the University of Michigan and the Salk Institute for Biological Studies at La Jolla, California; to provide scholarships for young people interested in work related to the problems of those born less than perfect; for direct patient aid to the victims of birth defects and for public health education.

The following is a breakdown of funds raised in Manchester by divisions:

Special Gifts	$ 10.00
Clubs & Organizations	66.00
Business & Industry	262.00
Mother's March	557.15
Coin Collectors	56.00
Mallards	166.00
Special Activities
Youth Organizations
Boy Scout Peanut Sale	96.10
Jolly Farmette's
Balloon Sale	157.14
Jr. High Student Council	119.29
Kopper Kettle Coffee Day	39.25
TOTAL	$1,517.94

It is a great source of satisfaction to me and to all the volunteers who work for the March of Dimes to see the people of our community respond so unselfishly during a "down-trend" in the nation's economy. Your generosity reaffirms our faith in the goodness of human nature and reinforces our belief that Manchester is truly a wonderful place in which to live.

Thank you again.

Sincerely,

Doris Sutton
 (Mrs. Hugh R. Sutton)
 Chairwoman, Manchester's
 1970 March of Dimes

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Macomber:
 Through the Manchester Enterprise we have in the past been able to tell the citizens of the village of our dream to go to Germany, and shared thus our plans for work projects, bake sales, card games, etc., to earn the necessary funds. For this we are very grateful to all who helped us so willingly - perhaps more so now that our dream has come true and we are all back safely.

Our group consisted of from senior citizens to high school sophomores. Never did we notice any generation gap - except possibly when we sang on the bus. The "old timers" didn't really know the latest songs, nor did the teenagers know the "good old" songs. However, I believe every family represented in our group can be proud. Not only that, Manchester High School can be extremely proud of the students. They were all well behaved, considerate of others, thoughtful and polite. Our driver, who was with us all week, remarked again and again that he had never had such a wonderful group before. At the castle in which we stayed overnight, I was told that we were a most unusual group of Americans. I assured them that there was nothing unusual about our Manchester group, that they were simply themselves and it was proud to be a part of them.

 In 1969, many sleepless nights and much planning to make this dream come true. But I believe everyone agreed it was well worth it.
 Once again, "Thank you, Manchester!"

 Tour Leader

IN THE HEART

Christine Grant Guesis
 Do not spill the golden hours
 Waste them not away.
 Time is brief for growing flowers.
 Pick them while you may.

Do not waste the treasure minutes
 When the sun is high.
 There is joy to have within it
 If you only try.

Take a little time for smiling
 Weep, too, if you must.
 With treasures you're compiling
 Add a little smile!

Storing up our golden treasure
 Is a simple art.
 Comes the day we only measure
 What is in the heart!

Q How is Consumers Power controlling air pollution?

A Its $12 million air quality control modernization program involves the installation of new electrostatic precipitators in four major plants over a five-year period. This equipment removes solids (mainly fly ash) from the exhaust gas emitted in the boiler furnaces. Better than 99 percent effective, the new equipment exceeds the standards set by Michigan's Air Pollution Control Act of 1967. (Older equipment which it replaces was up to 90% effective.)

Q What happens to the fly ash after it is collected from the plants?

A Formerly a waste by-product, fly ash is now used as a filler in cement and in other road-building materials, in the manufacture of plastics and rubber, and by metal foundries. Research is going on to find more uses for fly ash.

Q Are there any other methods that Consumers Power is using to control air quality?

A Smoke problems are caused when coal is used as the fuel in boiler furnaces. In some plants, it is practical to convert from coal to gas and oil fuels, as is the case at our power plant near Kalamazoo. One good solution to air pollution problems is to build nuclear power plants. The uranium fuel used in nuclear plants not only keeps the air clean, but it also greatly reduces fuel costs. The company has one nuclear plant in operation; a second plant will be operational this year; and a third plant will be ready in 1974.

Much of the fly ash being drawn into this hopper used to go up in smoke. But you can breathe easier now, because Consumers Power keeps doing its part to clean the air. ### LIBRARY NEWS

New books on the shelf:
 Island of Adventure - Ross E. Hutchins. A naturalist explores a Gulf Coast Wilderness. Scientist and expert photographer, the author of over a dozen popular books in the field of natural history takes the reader with him as he explores the island he calls his own. Located in Mississippi's Pascagoula River just before it empties into the Gulf of Mexico, it is an area of Everglades like marshland where Spanish moss drapes the trees, marsh grass line the bayous, and deep forests and dense jungle growths thrive in semi-tropical luxuriance. Recommended.

The Origin of the Zodiac - Rupert Gleadow. For more than 2500 years the Zodiac has exercised its influence over the minds of men, yet its precise origin has remained a mystery. In this absorbing study in detection, Rupert Gleadow, a scholar in classical Greek and Egyptian hieroglyphics and a well-known astrologer, takes up an objective position between skepticism and belief. Moving back through history, he goes on to examine the nature, philosophy and mythology of the Zodiac in the ancient cultures of Mexico, Tibet, China, India, Greece, Rome, Babylon and Egypt, quoting as supporting evidence the work of many great thinkers from Jung to Plato. Unusual and interesting.

The Last Days of the Late, Great California - Curt Gentry. At 3:13 on a Friday afternoon in 1969, California was shaken by the greatest earthquake in history. Less than two hours later, all of the Golden State west of the San Andreas Fault - including most of the San Francisco Peninsula, all of Los Angeles, and more than 15 million people - slid into the Pacific Ocean, thus fulfilling a prediction made years ago by the mystic Edgar Cayce. If it happened, what was lost? Mr. Gentry describes the bizarre cults and their paramilitary bedpartners; strange creatures known as Orange Countyans and the legendary Dick Tuck; Carol Doda, silkened queen of the topless; the bewildering politics of Ronald Reagan and Pat Brown; Hell's Angels and the hippies; Berkeley, Watts - How influential is California on the rest of the nation, the world? Fascinating.

Looking for a friend?

There will be a Penny Barrol on the desk for those who came out "ahead" and wish to contribute for the poor.

All those single and over 25 are welcome.

STATE 4-H HORSE JUDGING CONTEST HELD LAST SATURDAY

The annual State 4-H Horse Judging Contest was held Saturday morning, April 4, at the Livestock Judging Pavilion on the campus of Michigan State University in East Lansing.
 Many 4-H horse and pony project members from all over the state competed in this contest. Registration began at 6:30 a.m. with the first class being judged at 7:15 a.m. The judges were asked to judge four classes of horses at halter including Arabians, Palominos, Appaloosas and Morgans plus one Western Pleasure Performance Class. The Arabian and Palomino classes were "warm-up" classes and only the placing on these classes was required. Oral reasons were given on the Appaloosa and the Morgan classes with the written test being given on the performance class.

Representing Washtenaw County were Bonnie Beach of Judd Road, Saline and Linda Russell of Bishop Road also in Saline. Both these girls are members of the Wranglers 4-H Club in Saline. Also members of the team were Philip Lewis of Hilltop Drive in Ypsilanti, a member of the Ridge Riders 4-H Club also of Ypsilanti and Ruth Curtis of Sharon Hollow Road, Manchester, a member of the Sharon Valley Saddle Club in Manchester. The alternate member of the judging team was Anna Tobias of Kendall Rd., Grass Lake, a member of the Sharon Valley Saddle Club. Anna also served as the runner at the judging contest by bringing the judging cards from the livestock pavilion to Anthony Hall where the tabulation of the scores was being done.
 By 1:30 p.m. in the afternoon, the results of the contest were known. The Washtenaw County team placed fourteenth in the state with Livingston and Ingham Counties taking the top honors. There were 38 counties and about 144 individuals participating along with four Michigan State livestock judging teams.

SCOUT-O-RAMA TO BE HELD APRIL 25 & 26

by Carolyn Ahrens

Boy scouting has long been one of the most important youth programs both nationally and internationally as a means to instill and encourage worthwhile and constructive ideals in the youth and future citizens of a nation. Here in Manchester the Boy Scout program has been an active community project since 1910.

This year the 2-day Scout-O-Rama will be held Saturday, April 25 from 3 to 5:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 26 from 2 to 5 p.m. at Yost Field House, South State Street, Ann Arbor. Tickets will be available at the door and are also on sale now by individual troops at 50¢ each. Also an advance-sale contest is underway with each boy seeing twenty or more tickets to meet at Veterans Park, Ann Arbor on Saturday, April 18 at 2 p.m. There the Scout Leaders will attach the names to helium-filled balloons and release them with instructions to those finding the balloons to notify the Ann Arbor Boy Scout office of the location. The boy whose balloon traveled the furthest will win a new bike.

Participating in the Scout-O-Rama will be Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts including the Manchester Troop 426, Scout Master Ted Roberts. The boys will display a subject of their choice such as leathercraft, wood carving, life saving devices, citizenship, canoeing, sea or air exploring, winter camping and a number of other projects the boys may have carried as troop projects throughout the year. The troops must decide on a theme, furnish the equipment, decorate the booth and carry the responsibility of demonstrating their particular booth theme. The boys will be judged on their booth, personal conduct and originality plus several other factors by men not associated with scouting.

As the second year of participating in the Scout-O-Rama, the Manchester Scouts are now selling tickets and planning their booth project. As with all youth projects, their participation depends largely on the adults in the community. Present Scout Masters Ted Roberts and Roger Kappler need men to support, lead and direct the area scouts both on a temporary and permanent basis. For those interested in learning more about scouting, the Scout-O-Rama is an opportune time to learn. For those interested in what the Scouts are doing, the Scout-O-Rama will be an interesting and worth-while event.
