WHAT DO YOU THINK OF YOUR TOWN?

by Carolyn Ahrens

What do you think of Manchester? What improvements do you feel are necessary and to you in what respects does Manchester excel? Why have you chosen to live here? Stop and think about it -- perhaps it's not as easy to put into words as it first appears.

As a former mayor and life-long resident of Manchester, Gale Koebbe has seen many aspects of Manchester politically, socially and economically. As a member of the Planning Commission, Jaycees and Fire Department, he is in a position to view Manchester from several directions. He is concerned with Manchester's future because it is his home and that of his family which includes his wife, Sue and daughters, Mary Ann and Sally Ann. As co-owner of Koebbe Welding, he is also a businessman and is naturally concerned with the future business policies of Manchester.

To Gale Koebbe, Manchester means:

What do I think of Our Town? I can answer that in a very few words, I think a lot of it. Manchester has been my home all of my life, and I hope it will be for the rest of it.

We have a lot of things wrong with Our Town . . . bumpy streets, one bridge, flooded basements after a hard rain, inadequate youth recreation facilities, a dusty old feed mill and a junky old welding shop right on Main Street.

But let's look at some of the good things about Our Town . . . a very good school system, very well supported by the voters of this school district, a very fine fire department that is well-equipped due to a township board that has always provided the necessary equipment, a water supply and sewage treatment facility that are good for a town of this size, an active Jaycee Chapter and Optimist Club, a Main Street group that had signs welcoming the visiting mayor and his party to Our Town and then turned out along with many other citizens of Our Town to show them how we entertain our visitors. We have some pretty good industry in Our Town, not any Saline Ford Plant types but Manchester types where everybody knows each other and the president of the biggest company in town still stops to talk with his neighbors.

May, 1909 at Bethel United Church of Christ. Note the bowler hats, fancy bonnets and long skirts as well as the variety of buggies and the one "horseless carriage" in the center of the picture. The car was owned by the building contractor of Bethel Church, C. A. Sauer.

We have a park that nobody can be ashamed of and if you don't think it is enjoyed by a lot of out-of-town visitors, try to get a pavilion on a Sunday in the summer. We have a Chicken Broil that tops them all and everybody works hard to see that it stays that way.

These are a few of the reasons I am proud to live in Our Town.

130 YEARS TO BE CELEBRATED BY BETHEL UNITED CHURCH

by Carolyn Ahrens

1970 marks the beginning of a new decade but it will also mark a special time in history for many area residents. Bethel United Church of Christ, Bethel Church Road, Manchester, will celebrate their 130th anniversary.

Founded in 1840 as the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Freedom by Pastor Friedrich Schmid, the date and change of the name to Bethel remains unknown.

The original log church became a wood frame church. Then in 1907, the decision to repair or rebuild brought about the beginning plans for the present stone structure. Bethel, which means "House of God", was built with stones, sand, gravel and rocks brought in by members of the church.

The official dedication ceremony of the present stone building was held on December 19, 1909. As pointed out in a book written by Emerson Hutzel in 1965 outlining the history of Bethel Church, "The beautiful stone building will long stand as a tribute to Dr. Mayer's pastorate at Bethel," in referring to Rev. Dr. Fredrick Mayer's contribution as pastor of Bethel Church during the years when the little wood frame church was rebuilt into today's stone structure.

The original cost of the church was approximately $13,000 and was completely paid for with a remaining balance of $200.00 by the time of the dedication. In 1965 a Christian Education Annex was added to the building costing $51,000 which again was paid for within a short time.

Today Bethel United Church of Christ has 315 communicant members compared to the original estimated 25 families, of which it is uncertain just how many of these family members were communicant members.

Over the past years twelve pastors have faithfully served the little country church and the most recent, Rev. Roman A. Reineck, have contributed a great deal to the dedication and growth of Bethel Church, but as each would undoubtedly point out, without a generous and dedicated congregation, Bethel Church would not be today. As expressed by Rev. T. W. Menzel, a former pastor who served Bethel Church and the community for 21 years, ". . . we have been greatly blessed."

McClusky, Professor of Educational Psychology and Consultant in Community Adult Education at the University of Michigan. Dr. McClusky will use as his topic, "Faith in the Future."

Chester C. Koceski, High School Principal, will present the scholarship awards. Robert D. Swartz, Superintendent, will present the class and Luther Klager, President of the Board of Education, will present the diplomas.

"Laying the Corner Stone - Bethel Church, Freedom. May 20, 1909 - Longman Photo" is inscribed on the above picture. The pictures belong to Mrs. Paul Feldkamp.

WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE & WHY

THE LARK ENDED AT KENT STATE

It had to come, according to a recent report (if we accept it at face value) no officer ordered the National Guardsman to shoot. No one cried "Fire!" They also say no sniper shots were fired. Why did the Guardsmen shoot? There is only one reason that makes sense: they shot out of reaction. They reacted to that deep down gut killing feeling that comes from being called every filthy name in the book and being branded the enemy by a brainless mob who haven't got any real ambition to change anything in this country. It's a helpless reaction when you know, as those young Guardsmen knew, that those things they are being accused of are not their fault either.

95% of those kids rioting could care less about the Vietnamese people. No one seems to have courage enough to make that statement in public, but it's true. I'm still under 30 and I know enough about human nature to know that only about 5% of those college kids really care about the issues they loudly decry. If you need proof, just try cleaning up the litter they leave behind after a teach-in on pollution or check to see how many of those campus "know-it-alls" above 21 are registered to vote. They're just as much Establishment as the rest of us.

The kids at Kent State were having a lark. They could smash windows, burn buildings, turn over cars, throw rocks at policemen, and many other things they couldn't do at home, (or could they?) and they could call all this destruction "protest" like other colleges. They had found the perfect gimmick. One didn't have to believe the war in Vietnam was wrong to join the protest. Just pick up a rock, open your mouth wide enough to shut your brain off and you were in. It was a lark, man.

But finally, finally the lark ended. It ended with those first few shots, it ended as those in front, like a bad dream, realized the bullets were real. They stared death in the face and the lark ended, and for four, it ended permanently.

Now those politicians hoping to get re-elected are sitting in judgment of those Guardsmen. They want an investigation, they want those who fired to be punished, because college parents are voters, voters who know that their baby away at college just couldn't do anything wrong.

I don't know for sure why those Guardsmen shot. I do know that very few people even in crimes are killed for pleasure. Those Guardsmen didn't go on that campus hoping they could kill a couple human beings their own age. I'm convinced they reacted. Why, only they know for sure. They will carry the brunt of the punishment for what happened at Kent State when they're least at fault. We, as a nation, are at fault. Since when do young people who are supposed to have both ears open learning, know more about what this country should do than the leaders the rest of us elected? Since when did long hair and bare feet become proof one is an intellectual? Since when did mobs control our foreign policy, or for that matter our domestic policy?

It's sad when political leaders won't admit that long hair and Ben Franklin glasses are nothing more than signs of immaturity, or admit that those youth have affluent parents so they can afford financially to flaunt their immaturity. And I wonder just how much patience those campus heroes would have if they held the rifles and we used their tactics and refused to let them speak by simply shouting them down or pelting them with rocks. Those things used to be called rowdiness and weren't tolerated. Now it's called protest and gained respectability.

Protest, who in the h— do we think we're kidding. Are we so unsure of our ideals and principals and our democracy that we think every loud mouth who comes along should be given his way even if it means a loss of other's rights. Don't any of our political leaders stop to think that the only reason that campus radical has a bull horn to let him be heard above the mob is because we have a stable government under which free enterprise can flourish. And that if every loud bully that came along could control the government, we'd be in the same shape as the Vietnamese peasant.

Have we forgotten? I don't think so. I think the damage goes on, the demands get more unreasonable, the no's less and the "lark" continues because of one thing. Apathy. Given a choice, most of us would rather do nothing about it than risk possible scorn by speaking out publicly. We've held our institutions of learning in such high esteem that we dared not question that there might be more to life than facts from a book, and that book learning didn't guarantee a successful citizen. We've remembered our own financial struggle in youth and we're convinced it's morally wrong to deny our children anything. The lark will continue, the destruction will go on, until it gets so expensive that Mr. Comfortable, Middle-Class America can't pay for it any more. Then it will end. In the meantime, how many more young Guardsmen will have their lives ruined with the memory of a young man or woman killed by their hand, or how many student's lives will end and period for lack of a simple NO!

FREE LEARN TO SWIM DRIVE FOR AREA YOUNGSTERS

A swimming program will be open to boys and girls who will complete the first grade in June, 1970 by the Ann Arbor YM-YWCA. The classes will be held daily, Monday thru Friday for thirty minutes. All registrations must be in by June 3, 1970.

A COINCIDENCE!

In May of 1919, at Duesseldorf, Germany, the Allied Forces obtained a copy of some of the "Communists Rules of Revolution." Nearly 50 years later, the Reds are still following them. After reading the list, stop after each item and think about the present day situation where you live -- and all around our nation. We quote from the Red Rules:

A. Corrupt the young; get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial; destroy their ruggedness.

B. Get control of all means of publicity, thereby: 1. Get people's minds off their government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and plays and other trivialities.

2. Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance.

3. Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule and disgrace.

4. Always preach true democracy, but seize power as fast and ruthlessly as possible.

5. By encouraging government extravaganzas, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices, and general discontent.

6. Incite unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders and foster a lenient and soft attitude on the part of government toward such disorders.

7. By specious argument cause the breakdown of the old moral virtues, honesty, sobriety, self restraint, faith in the pledge word, ruggedness.

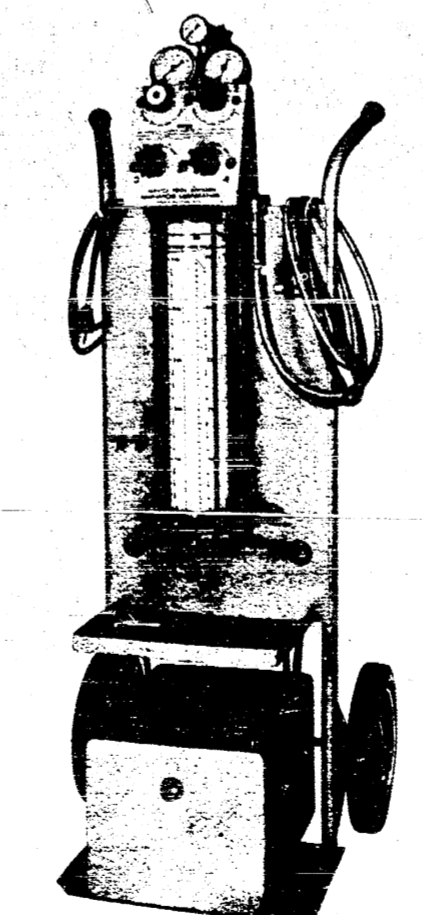

C. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext, with a view to confiscating them and leaving the population helpless.

That was quite a list, wasn't it? Now stop and think -- how many of these rules are being carried out in this nation today? I don't see how any thinking person can truthfully say that the communists do not have any part in the chaos that is upsetting our nation. Or is it just one big coincidence?

UMPIRES NEEDED

Anyone who has been associated with a ball team in this town knows the problems that arise when you try to find someone willing to give up a little time to umpire.

With the increasing number of teams around town this summer, such as the Slow Pitch League, Junior League, Little League, Farm League and the Girl's teams, we are faced with a big need for umpires.

To help ease this problem the Recreation Committee is formulating a list of people that will be willing to contribute their time to help young and old alike. If you are interested in helping, please contact Jim Fielder at 428-4371 or sign the list posted in the Kopper Kettle.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

A daughter, Karen Lynn, was born May 28 to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schaffer of Brighton.

Karen is the second granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Buss.

IN MEMORY

Mr. Raymond C. Kerr, Vice-President of Manchester Plastics, Inc., passed away at the Chelsea Medical Clinic on Sunday evening, May 31, 1970.

Mr. Kerr was a valued asset to the company. His loss will be deeply felt by all who knew him and who had the privilege of working with him.

Mr. Kerr was instrumental in Manchester Plastics coming to Manchester, and in acquiring the land on which the plant is located. The past two months, Mr. Kerr has worked diligently on trying to acquire new business for Manchester, with the possibility of purchasing or leasing the Hoover building for manufacturing seat belt components. We have acquired this business and are working jointly with Manchester Tool & Die and Manchester Stamping on component parts. This surely made Mr. Kerr happy to know that this new business was coming to the Manchester area and being manufactured locally.

Again, I would like to say that this man will certainly be missed by the community and Manchester Plastics.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION CENTER TO BE VOTED ON IN JUNE 8 ELECTION

by Carolyn Ahrens

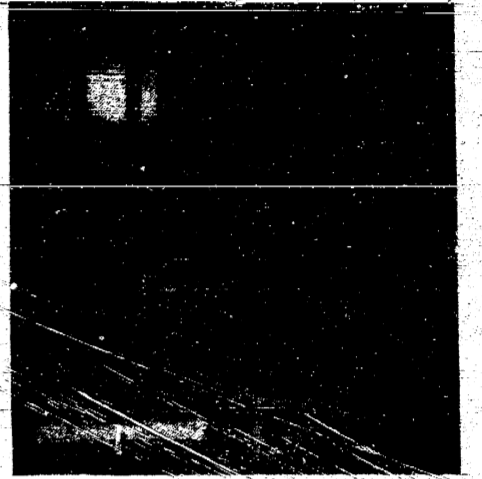

On June 8, Washtenaw County voters will be asked a second time since December, 1968 to vote on a county vocational education center. Intermediate District Superintendent Nick Janni pointed out that this would probably be the last chance to approve such a center for the remaining 1970 years. If approved, the center would be open to all 11th and 12th grade students in the county during the school year with the center to be available for adult education, apprenticeship, job upgrading, etc. in the evening and during the summer. Approximately 2,000 high school students could attend the center, which would be located near the Washtenaw Community College campus area on Huron River Dr., on a half-day basis while continuing their high school studies at their local high school the other half. The Washtenaw Intermediate School District would hold the title and the Washtenaw Community College would operate the program under contract with the WISD.

At an estimated cost of $500.00 per student per year, the money to pay the high school student's tuition would be the outcome of a countywide levy of 1 mill ($1.00 per $1,000.00 of state equalized valuation) and would continue as long as the center was operating or the mill was defeated at the polls. The annual operating cost is estimated at $800,000 to $1 million with $5 million needed to build and equip the center.

The ballot will read in two parts, the first for the 1 mill for operations and the second for permission to borrow no more than $5 million to build and equip the center. All registered voters will be eligible to vote although the ballots from non-property owners will be kept separate until a decision is reached by the U. S. Supreme Court on a case challenging that only Michigan property owners can vote on a bonding issue. At present only property owners may vote on bonding issues.

Should the center be approved a wide variety of programs would be available such as business machine repair and service, carpentry, data processing machine operation, cosmetology, horticulture, medical-clinical office assisting and many other skills required in today's highly technical jobs.

The final decision as to whether Washtenaw County will support a vocational education center depends on the voters of the county. Your one vote can make a difference, use it.
