IS PROPERTY SELLING?

That's a question we are asked almost everyday. Frankly, the way a property "moves" when it is offered for sale depends a lot on how it's handled. ## Dutchmen Travel To Hudson Friday

The Dutchmen will travel to Hudson this week to take on the Tigers in the fourteenth meeting between the two schools. Hudson has won nine of the first thirteen meetings, though being hard-pressed in the 1968 and 1971 contests.

The series began in 1938 and continued through 1946 the first time. It was resumed in 1968 when the Dutch came back into the league. Manchester won the first four games played between them, two by shutout scores. The 25-0 Manchester victory established the top point production for the Dutch in their rivalry with the Tigers. Scores of those other Manchester wins were 13-6 in 1938, 19-13 in 1940, and 14-0 in 1941.

Since 1942 the Hudson Tigers have won all nine games between the two schools and have managed to shut out the Dutchmen just twice. The worst beating ever taken by a Manchester team at the hands of Hudson was the 56-6 trouncing in 1945.

Some of the more outstanding games in their rivalry would be the following games. The 1938 game which Manchester won 13-6 over the LCAA champion Tigers in a non-league affair. Then there was the 1940 game which Manchester won 19-13 enroute to a share of the LCAA title, their only one ever in the league. Certainly the 1968 contest would have to rate as one of the most outstanding in their series as Hudson was Hudson broke open a scoreless deadlock with a touchdown that came after time had run out on the score-clock. The officials ruled that the ball was snapped, however, before the time had run out and the TD stood. The extra point was also added and the Tigers took an 8-0 advantage into second half play instead of a scoreless tie. Thus the Dutchmen had to fight back from behind through the second half and they never could quite make it. A key interception by Hudson's Jeff Sherman of a Manchester pass was perhaps the real heart-breaker as Manchester had driven steadily downfield to inside the Hudson 40. Then, of course, there was last year. The two played through the rain, mud, and snow and Manchester carried the play throughout most of the first half. The problem was in getting the ball over the goal line as the Dutchmen were halted three times inside the Hudson twenty yard line.

At that time the children are invited to go to the Civic Auditorium for the contest and refreshments of cider and doughnuts. The ringing of the church bells at 7:00 pm will signal the end of trick or treat. Lets all co-operate for a safe and happy Halloween.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I have been thinking of writing an article for quite some time. What happened Thursday was the last straw. As you know it has been tradition to set a privy on the high school lawn. This is planned and looked forward to from one year to the next. Wednesday night after dark one was placed where it belonged. I look forward to seeing just what they were able to acquire. Thursday it had to be removed immediately after school started, taken to the town dump and burned. Tell me, just what harm was done, did they hurt you? What did you do in your teen age years? There are probably some deep dark secrets, or you weren't a normal teenager. We have an out house to donate and would drive several miles to get it, and was ready if they didn't find one here. We holler juvenile delinquent, yes we are making them. Don't say I don't know young people. I have one in Jr. High, one in High School, one in College, and one graduate from College. I am also with young people nearly every day.

To the parents--Where are you when the children (band, chorus, etc) put on a program. To me there are very few excuses that should keep a parent from one of these performances. The Lord gave these talents and they are to be used. It seems as though some parents don't care what their kids do as long as it doesn't interfere with what they are doing. Each child is proud to be in a group or solo and especially so if parents care enough to show an interest in what they are doing. They are performing for those special people who came to see and hear their son or daughter. It makes me boil everytime I go to something and there is just a sprinkling of people there. In fact it seems more performers than audience.

To the students--Where is your school spirit? It makes me sick to go to a football game, the only ones cheering are the cheer leaders, they are only supposed to be the leaders. You might as well be watching a funeral procession for all the emotion shown. I saw three students really cheering at the Onsted game. I admire you for that. What's wrong with the rest of you. Do you think you are to sophisticated to raise your voice, or show emotion. Maybe if there was more school spirit the players would do better. Let them know you really do care. It sounds like there is more noise on a school bus on an everyday run, than there is from you at a game. Lets not let our players down, show up the parents and see if you can cheer louder than we do.

Do we judge all young people by a few rotten apples? I hope not. Don't let them down.

Students don't judge all adults by a few. Some really do care. Don't let us down.

From an outraged and concerned parent.

Am looking to another privy next year and a bonfire. Lets not abuse our privileges and the privileges of others

Thank you,

Dear Editor:

I recently purchased a green and white Jane Colby blouse from the Trickey's store here in Manchester. The first time I washed the blouse it came out with green blotches under the arm, on the sleeve and on the bottom. I went to return the blouse to Trickey's where they told me it was my deodorant, which seemed very unlikely for the price that I had to pay for the item. After waiting seventeen days for the results from Detroit they told me it was definitely my deodorant.

It seems to me if the owner wanted to keep good business relations with his customers he would have refunded my money and checked further with the manufacturer himself. If a store can't stand behind their products they shouldn't be in business!

Mrs. Herbert Roehm 9956 Bethel Church Rd. Manchester, Michigan 48185

Sir: I am writing in regards to the anti-abortion letter published in the October 12th issue of the Enterprise. There are a number of points in this letter that I disagree with, and I wish to express my view, which is that of a pro-abortionist.

First, I want to set the vocabulary straight. We are discussing embryos or fetuses, not babies. From the moment of conception until 2 months this group of cells is called an embryo, and from 2 months until birth it is called a fetus. It is not called a baby until the moment of birth, and for the topic under discussion it is misleading and incorrect to call it so.

In your letter you say that "until relatively recently, all human life has been jealously guarded by both law and tradition." May I remind you again that we are not discussing human life, but we are discussing human fetus. A human fetus has the capability of developing into human life, just as the male's sperm and the female's unfertilized egg have the capability for developing into human life. However, the embryo or fetus is not human life, and true human life is guarded just as much now as it ever was.

The population explosion has not made life less precious as you suggest, it has brought about an awareness which has made it more precious. People are starting to realize how overpopulation is affecting the environment. More people means more pollution, more poverty, and because more people will take up more space in which to live, there will be less land to use for the purpose of feeding the people. In general, there will be a lowering of the quality of life. Obviously, legalizing abortion will not solve the population explosion by itself, but it is an important step to not force women who don't want to have a baby to have it anyway.

You say abortion is not a complete or simple solution because of possible complications and because "the experience leaves emotional if not physical scars upon the women for the remainder of her life." Of course complications and physical scars are possible with abortion, but complications and physical scars are possible with any surgical operation. In fact, statistics show that more women die, percentage-wise from childbirth than from abortion. As for the emotional scars, a large majority of them are more than likely caused by people like yourselves who wrongly accuse women of murder merely because they chose not to be forced into having a baby. Furthermore, complications and emotional and physical scars apply only to the women having the abortion and should be no one's business but hers.

Your statement that "no doctor would remove a healthy organ simply because a patient requested it" is insane. Of course no doctor would do that! Furthermore, what patient would want a healthy organ removed? However, does any healthy organ have the potential economic, social, and psychological consequences of an embryo or fetus?

As far as your argument that where abortion has been legalized, there has been little decrease in the number of criminal abortions, I doubt very much the validity of this statement.

You suggest agencies such as Problem Pregnancy Help which can be of assistance to the women who want to have their babies. I totally agree with the aims of these organizations, as they can be a big help to these women. However, we are not discussing women who want to have their babies. Abortion is not a factor for these women to consider. What we are discussing are women who do not want to have a baby, but, who, as far as the laws of this state are concerned, are forced to have it anyway.

Let's stop using innocent babies as retribution to punish unmarried mothers. It is true that some illegitimate children will eventually find happiness and acceptance in adoptive homes, but many others do not. A deeper tragedy is the uncounted numbers of unwanted children who are born into unhappy homes and children who are born to parents who beat and abuse them.

You state in your letter, "It is widely taught the freedom of one individual ends when it begins to infringe upon the rights of another." I agree with you - let's stop infringing upon the rights of the pregnant woman who doesn't want to be pregnant. Vote yes on proposal B on November 7th.

ANN ARBOR - There will be a night court for domestic relations cases, stated circuit judge candidate Shirley Burgoyne on Thursday evening (Oct. 12) in a debate with other circuit court candidates.

There are too many people who have to take off a whole day from work to appear in court for five minutes", she said, "and they wait around all day for their case to come up. Since 40% of all circuit cases are divorce, it would be better to give people the chance to appear in court at night."

Burgoyne discussed issues central to the Washtenaw County circuit court judge race during a debate sponsored by the Pharmacy Auxiliary. Burgoyne outlined a long series of reforms she intends to make if elected to the bench in November. She stressed the importance of an assignment clerk to adjust the case load between the judges, the consideration of the rights of children in divorce cases, and a revision of the sometimes tedious and superficial instructions to the jurors in criminal cases.

"In the field of criminal defense-- and I have handled all cases from murder and forcible rape to the smallest misdemeanors"--Burgoyne said, "the important thing is the communication which must go on in the courtroom. There is a way to sit on the bench and impart by the tone of your voice, a sincerity and honesty that will come through to the persons standing in front of you."

Burgoyne asserted the fact that her opponents, although already judges, only had experience with the district court which is essentially a traffic and misdemeanor court. She stated that of the four candidates, she was the only one who had been practicing for many years in criminal defense and divorce work.

Burgoyne contended that too often defendants leave the court with more bitterness against 'the law' than when they come in because of the way their cases were handled. "I do not want a political court," she said. "As a judge, I will use the power of the office for the good of all of us...neither for personal gain nor for any one group."

once on the three. The tigers had managed one TD in the early going and held a 6-0 lead at the intermission. The Dutch came back to score on a pass on the fifth play of the second half for the equalizer. It looked throughout most of the second half as if the Dutch were going to break the Hudson long winning streak by at least forcing them to settle for a tie. Hudson came up with a big drive, however, late in the game and took a 12-6 win in what had to be one of the most disappointing losses for coach Korican all season.

Perhaps this will be the year. It looks as if the Dutchmen have about as good a chance as anyone in the league of knocking off the high-flying Tigers.

OUR HEALTH

By C. E. Tracy, M.D.

Several years ago I was diagnosed as a bronchitic and I thought the end of the matter. I sometimes feel that I was wondering if it would be advisable for me to see a specialist?

My husband and I are planning a trip to Alaska next to visit some friends. We are excited about going, but fearful of what the cold weather will do to my skin. Any suggestions?

Mandatory Use Of Seat Belts

A growing trend among states is the consideration of legislation requiring motorists to wear safety belts. Safety experts are desperate to find a means of cutting down the annual highway death toll which will reach nearly 58,000 this year.

The logic for such laws is clear. Both tests and practical experience prove every day that seat belts save lives and prevent crippling injuries.

The alternative of trying to persuade people to wear belts just hasn't worked. Madison Avenue may sell iceboxes to Eskimos, but so far they haven't sold seat belts to motorists.

Another alternative is a federal government regulation which will put air bags in new cars beginning in 1973. Their reliability is in question and the White House says it will add $300 to the cost of each car.

Is a law requiring us to wear belts enforceable? Probably. But that shouldn't be a criterion for any law if it is needed.

Would such a law infringe on our personal freedom? Perhaps. However, in Virginia recently a school bus went out of control because the driver was not wearing a belt and five people were injured. That's a high price to pay for a small infringement.

GOLDEN TOUCH OF HOSPITALITY

BY JANE ASHLEY

Cobbler Good for Autumn

It is a great good fortune that some of the best of summer's fruits and berries are preserved for us by freezing, drying and canning. When making cobbler and pies from canned fruit, it is wise to use juice as well as fruit for some of the richness of the fruit flavor is preserved in the juice. Sweeten the juice of water packed fruit by taste. All fruit need be done to make the fruit base of a cobbler or the filling of a pie is to thicken the syrup appropriately with corn starch.

Apricot Cobbler

- 1 1/2 pound 14-ounce can apricots, whole or halved
- 1 cup biscuit mix
- 1 tablespoon corn starch
- 1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons light cream
- 2 tablespoons cold water

Drain apricot juice into saucepan. With a spoon, beat corn starch and water. Stir into apricot juice. Heat to boiling and stir 1 minute. Taste. Add extra sugar if desired. Turn apricots into a 2-quart casserole. Pour thickened juice over fruit. Mix biscuit mix and the 1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons light cream with a fork, mix light cream into dry ingredients until soft dough forms. Beat vigorously 20 strokes. Drop 2 spoonfuls of dough onto hot apricots. Bake in a 400° F. oven 20 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Conlin 1st choice of Washtenaw County voters

Patrick J. Conlin received more votes than any other candidate in the August primary election for the Circuit Court. Here are some reasons why:

He's a man of ideas and integrity who speaks out on the issues.

Accountability "I'm always ready to discuss with anyone the positions I take as judge. The way I see it, a judge is simply one human being who must make decisions affecting other human beings."

Expansion of Public Defender's Office "The county Defender's Office must be expanded to meet the needs of the growing number of defendants who drive they can't afford a private attorney. The county court system would have ample funds for this."

Administrative Reorganization "We've outgrown the administrative structure, resulting in crowded dockets, unreasonable delays, lengthy adjournments—and the court records system is outdated. We need a computerized record keeping system and a professional Court Administrator. The court system would have funds to finance these reforms without additional cost to taxpayers."

Fair and Firm Handling of Each Case "A judge must treat each case on its merits. Defendants' rights are vitally important, yet rights and duties of prosecution and police are no less important. Accountability is the key. If a judge has not maintained a humane attitude—or if he has bent over backward to favor either side—he should expect to be publicly challenged."

He's a man of ability and judicial experience.

- A lifetime Washtenaw County resident and U-M law school graduate
- A trial lawyer 1961-68, with more trial experience than any other candidate for Circuit Court
- 14th District Judge since 1969—youngest person ever elected judge in Washtenaw County

Defense In Perspective

"National Defense" has so frequently been labeled the "bad guy" responsible for our social and economic ills that it is no surprise that a protest in the form of a documented rebuttal has been released recently.

A study by the Department of Defense presents in some 200 pages a perspective of national security generally absent from public communications on the subject. It concentrates on statistics—"a look at the record"—to convey how defense relates to national priorities, to the economy, to public spending.

The statistics are impressive, sufficiently so to warrant examination in this space of a few of the findings that attempt to separate the myths from the realities about defense-related spending.

In order to achieve a valid comparison of figures from various years the Department of Defense uses the value of the dollar in the non-war year of 1958 as a base.

Here are some findings:

- Defense spending in FY (fiscal year) 1973 will be the lowest, in real terms, since FY 1951.
- Since the wartime peak (FY 1968), defense manpower (military, civil service, defense related industry) has declined by 35%, or 2.8 million people.
- During the same period Defense purchases from industry have fallen by 40% or $22 billion.
- During the last nine years, funds for procurement, research and development, and military construction have increased by only 4%, or $900 million. In terms of real buying power this actually represents a decrease of 24% in these funds.
- In FY 1973, Defense will account for about 20% of public spending, about 21% of all public employment, and just over 8% of our gross national product. These are the lowest shares in more than 20 years.

In FY 1973, state and local spending will amount to $182.5 billion, or 2.3 times the National Defense budget. (These funds come from the same taxpayers, either directly or, in large share, from the Federal budget.)

This year social and economic spending will be $145 billion and Defense spending will be $44 billion. This is very close to a complete reversal of the 1945 situation when, in 1958 prices, Defense spending was $153 billion and spending on social and economic programs was $34 billion.

Similarly, of total public employment in 1945 of 19 million, 78% went to Defense. In 1973 the total of 16 million has 79% devoted to non-Defense purposes.

With massive defense cuts since the peak year of 1968 representing potential savings of $24 billion why has the budget only dropped $1.5 billion? The study points to $16.3 billion in pay increases to military and civil service personnel and $6.2 billion eaten up by general inflation of purchased goods and services.

Concluding sections of the study discuss such concerns as cost overruns, contractor profits and industry productivity. The alleged overruns stem mainly from comparing current estimates for completion of a weapon system with very early "planning estimates." Such cost increases are common in every aspect of our society. As to profits, Government contractors realize only 2.3% after taxes—according to a General Accounting Office study—or about half of profits realized by industry generally. Tribute is paid the aircraft industry for productivity increases nearly double the average and for having the best balance of trade record in the U.S. economy.

4-H'ers Dream, Sew, Create Own Fashions in 4-H Clothing

SPECIAL "It's frequently proclaimed that clothes make the man (or woman), but in 4-H it's somewhat reversed. Young people make many of their own clothes and some for other members of the family too," says Lois Howard, home economist with the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago. 4-H's most popular program - clothing - boasts an enrollment of more than three quarters of a million members. With the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service and the support of Coats & Clark Inc., 4-H members see the program as an outlet for creativity. They also learn new sewing and clothing construction skills and gain satisfaction by developing a wardrobe that complements their personalities, reports Miss Howard. Beverly Schenler, of Arcata, Calif., one of six 1971 national winners in the 4-H clothing program, taught mentally retarded girls to use sewing as a creative outlet in a pilot 4-H program involving handicapped young people. Says Miss Schenler, "The girls expressed themselves best through their sewing." Coats & Clark have supported the 4-H clothing program for over 32 years, with various incentives and recognition for 4-H'ers. County winners receive medals of honor, while each state awards an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30. At the 4-H event, six national winners receive $700 scholarships given by Coats & Clark. The company also provides 4-H members with instruction booklets on various sewing techniques. For more information about the 4-H clothing program contact the county extension office.

Ask Senator GRIFFIN

By cutting through red tape, members of Congress can often lend a hand to those with problems involving the federal government. Through the columns of this newspaper, Senator Griffin answers questions of general interest. He will respond personally to all communications addressed to: Senator Robert P. Griffin, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Ever since the first time I saw 'Sea Hunt' on TV, I've been a bug on underwater exploration. I understand the government has a career program for people like me who want to do marine research. Can you tell me more about it?
—Y. N., East Lansing

It may not be just like 'Sea Hunt,' but I think you'll be interested in the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Commissioned Corps. NOAA (pronounced Noah) offers young persons a career in marine research and development, along with programs in atmospheric and environmental research. Enclosed is a publication which describes the program. For additional information I suggest you write directly to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

I've always wanted to be my own boss, and now I'm thinking of taking my savings and buying a small business that I've had my eye on. Before I make the plunge, I'd like to get as much information and help as I can. I'd appreciate anything you could send me that might be of help.
—P. R., Taylor

As you know by now, starting a new business is no easy task. However, the government does offer some help—primarily through the Small Business Administration (SBA). Enclosed is a copy of "Tax Guide for Small Businesses, 1972," along with a number of other publications that focus on problems you will encounter. In addition, I suggest that you personally contact the SBA Regional Office, 1249 Washington Blvd., Detroit, Michigan 48226, for professional advice and counsel that is available. Good luck, and let me know if I can be helpful in any other way.

Ahrens-Kellogg Vows Exchanged

Betty Lucille Kellogg and Gerald Lee Ahrens recited sacred wedding vows before Rev. Walter Damberg in the Manchester United Methodist Church on Saturday, October 7. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in a gown of white silk organza with an empire bodice and satin and alencon lace appliques on the front skirt and around the cathedral train. A camelot cap of matching lace secured her triple tier veil of silk illusion. Mrs. Gary Dresch served as her sister's matron of honor and Mr. Duane Ahrens was his brother's best man. Attending the bride were Miss Carol Kellogg, sister of the bride, Miss Kathy Randall of Ann Arbor, Miss Kathy Ainto of Manchester, Mrs. Michael Daniel and Mrs. Michael Brown both of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Ralph Meyers of Ypsilanti. Miss Dana Ahrens of Tecumseh, niece of the groom, was flower girl and Shawn Dresch carried the rings. Ushers included Mr. Gary Dresch, Mr. Victor Mann, Mr. Gary Mitchell, Mr. Dennis Reinhart, all of Manchester, Mr. John Starling of Ypsilanti and Mr. Jeff Clark as junior groomsmen. Attendants of the bride wore gowns of pink chiffon with burgandy lace tops and carried pink lace fans with dark pink pom pom mums, babies breath and ivy. Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kellogg and Mrs. Frieda Ahrens and the late Walter Ahrens. After a reception at the Manchester Sportsman Club the bride and groom left for a wedding trip in upper Michigan. They will be at home at 4710 Jacob Road, Manchester after the honeymoon.

Some of Judge Sandy Elden's most courageous decisions have come back to his doorstep.

Recently, vandals defaced Judge Sandy Elden's home. The nature of the defacement - stenciled designs of the marijuana leaf painted on his house, sidewalks and driveway - is proof enough that this destruction of private property is in protest to Judge Elden's recent decision concerning Ann Arbor's marijuana ordinance. He declared the bizarre and highly permissive ordinance unconstitutional...because it was in direct conflict with state statutes.

His decision took courage.

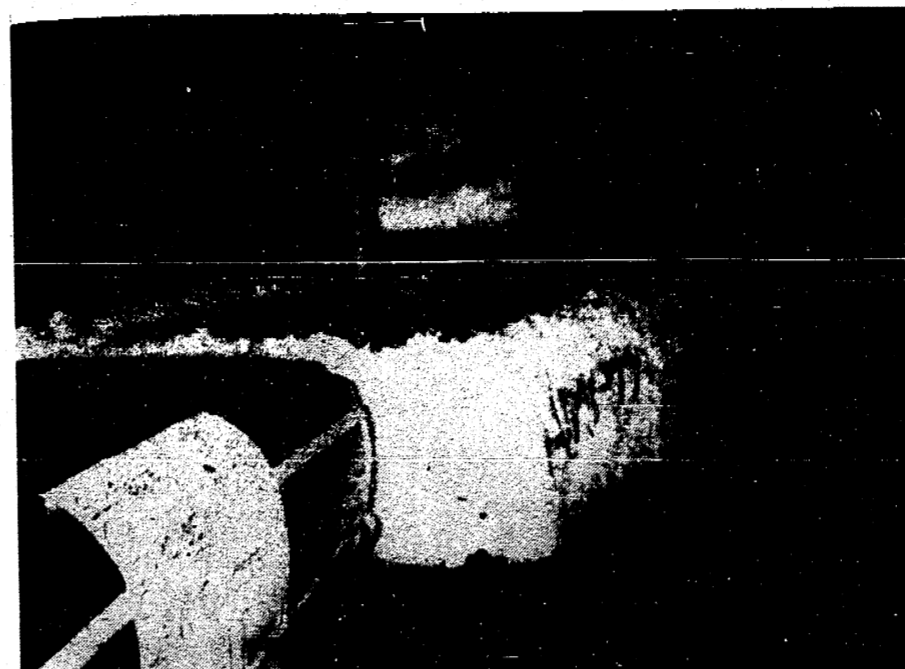

Sandy Elden has been threatened before...and he knows full well the volatile nature of radical factions in our society. Yet he made his decision confidently...and he stands by it... even in the face of unreasonable pressure.

You can keep Judge Elden's brand of courage...and his ability to chart a strong course for justice...working for you. Join in supporting Judge Sandy Elden for Circuit Court.

Elect Judge Sandy Elden to the Circuit Court on November 7.

Judge Elden faces tough decisions...by making them. —

Paid for by citizens to elect Judge Sandy Elden to the Circuit Court—Chairman, Donald H. Kenney

IS PROPERTY SELLING?

That's a question we are asked almost everyday. Frankly, the way a property "moves" when it is offered for sale depends a lot on how it's handled. For this reason, when you are buying or selling we suggest you give us a call. We are old enough to be experienced... young enough to be aggressive... large enough to be efficient... small enough to be personalized! Call Ellis Pratt at 428-8046 or Mary Rice at 761-8455.

Trick or Treat For UNICEF

The annual trick or treat for UNICEF will be held in the Manchester community on Monday evening, October 30, beginning at 7:00 p.m. The canvass this year is under the direction of the youth of Emanuel United Church of Christ.
UNICEF is sponsored by the United Nations and has been observed by the UN since the 1940's. Its purpose is to give assistance to the underprivileged children in more than 100 nations of our world. A little goes a long way in the UNICEF budget. For example, it can buy pencil or eraser. 5¢ can buy small-pox vaccine for 5 children. 25¢ will provide 175 vitamin tablets for children. 50¢ can buy seeds to produce 6,000 tomato plants. $1.00 can buy exercise books for 24 children.
The youth of Emanuel have called upon the sixth grade class of our public school system to help in this year's UNICEF drive. About 70 sixth graders will canvass the community on Monday evening for UNICEF. We ask for your cooperation. The canvass will be made between 7:00 and 8:00 p.m. We ask that every home in the community turn on your porch lights for UNICEF during this time.
In the past we have raised about $500.00 as a high for our contribution to the UNICEF appeal. This year we would be pleased to top the $1,000.00 mark. Helping UNICEF is a nice way to show love. Thank you for your support.

Temperature Rising

The 1972 Manchester Area Community Fund and Red Cross Campaign has met the half-way mark with 40% of the $16,-882.00 goal collected.
General Chairman Donna Gill stated that the Business Division has almost completed their drive and the School Division has made approximately one half of their contacts. The Industrial, Village House-to-House and Rural areas are all hard at work. Many contributions have been mailed in from Outside Business and the general campaign is running very smoothly.
There is one working week left in the campaign with the deadline date October 31. Mrs. Gill is asking all Division Chairmen to report their progress by October 28. The week of October 30 will be "clean-up" week. All solicitors in the Village and Rural Divisions are urged to contact every home in their working areas before October 31, if possible, so that a complete record can be compiled. Call backs should be followed through as soon as possible.
When the volunteer solicitor calls on you please remember that your "United Dollars Make Common Sense".
