1972 RURAL ENVIRONMENTAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

Cost-sharing payments are now being made to farmers for carrying out soil, water, woodland, wildlife and pollution abatement practices under the Rural Environmental Assistance Program, according to Raymond Girbach, Chairman of the Washtenaw County ASC Committee. This Federal program has been in effect since 1936 following the great dust storms of the 1930's. Many of these practices have eliminated the run-off of million of tons of top soil, greatly reducing the pollution of the nation's waterways. Mr. Girbach pointed out that this has benefited wildlife, increased hunting, fishing and other recreational purposes for all the people.

Pollution problems associated with agriculture, like those in industry and municipalities, can affect everyone and sometimes be so expensive to solve that an individual citizen cannot afford to undertake the task alone. Cost-sharing by the Government is only a small part of the overall cost to the farmer.

Washtenaw County has funds available for the establishment of permanent vegetative covers. This is a very worthwhile practice. A soil test is required and assistance must be requested before the practice is started. This practice must be completed by September 15, 1972. Full details are available at the Washtenaw County ASCS Office.

Manchester area boys aged 8 to 15 years are cordially invited to join the Association whether experienced or not. Cholesterol faddists who have been trying to scare people into switching from animal fats to vegetable oil or eat fewer eggs may be doing a disservice to some parts of our population. Literally hundreds of millions of dollars have been spent on research attempting to prove that foods high in natural cholesterol and food containing saturated fats are an important contributing factor in the incidence of coronary heart disease in man. No such proof has been forthcoming.

In a research project conducted by Dr. Raymond Reiser of Texas A. and M. University, low-cholesterol diets fed young experimental animals resulted in higher blood cholesterol levels later in their lives.

Dr. Reiser altered the diets of the mother rats so that milk nursed by their young had levels of cholesterol from 24 to 40 milligrams per 100 milliliters of milk. After 24 weeks, the rats nursed on high-cholesterol milk had serum levels of 150 milligrams. Those on low-cholesterol diets had a much higher serum level of 252.

Dr. Reiser theorizes that lack of adequate cholesterol in the diet of the young animals caused the body organs of the newborn to make what it needed. This resulted in a buildup of the enzymes which make cholesterol and a reduction in the enzymes which destroy or get rid of it.

Also, many studies have been conducted but none of the research has indicated that eating eggs will increase serum cholesterol in the average person or that high levels of serum cholesterol is correlated with high risk of heart disease in most people. Certainly further research and investigation is needed. In the meantime, conclusive statements should not be made until there are sufficient facts to substantiate them.

4-H YOUTH NEWS

Nine 4-H'ers from Washtenaw County returned Saturday, August 26, from a week-long stay at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase, Maryland, where they participated in the 1972 National Citizenship Short Course.

Lois Kemmer of Manchester was one of the nine 4-H'ers in attendance. Financial support was given by the Ann Arbor Kiwanis Club and various county 4-H organizations.

Listening, sharing, receiving, caring and touring are all part of the six-day learning experience which these youths had. Topics relating to the individual's concept and responsibilities of citizenship were covered in assemblies and opportunity sessions, with a wide variety of resource people available.

The goals of the Citizenship Short Course are to develop a better understanding and appreciation of American heritage, to realize a new relationship and responsibility of the individual to self and others, and to better understand the federal government and their relation to it. Other purposes are to gain leadership training, to realize the potential which these teenagers have as effective participants in our democratic system of government, and to gain an insight into the aspects of international citizenship.

MARVIN ESCOFF

With the start of most colleges only two weeks away, the Congress has taken action on a bill which I jointly introduced, to clean up the confusion surrounding one of the most popular forms of student aid. The guaranteed student loan program traditionally supplies more than $1 billion per year to assist students through college. Private banks, savings and loans, etc. loan the money to the students and delay collection of the loans until the student has graduated. The federal government guarantees the loans and, in cases where there is financial need subsidizes the interest payments. This program has been the major source for bringing more private money into the education of our students.

When the Congress approved new higher education legislation earlier this summer, a clerical error resulted in the misdrafting of several key sentences in the student loan section of the bill. This error was not discovered until the bill had actually been signed into law. It resulted in new and extremely complicated regulations for receiving student loans -- including a requirement for very detailed financial information from the family of each student, great discretion on the part of financial aid officers at each college (resulting in different rulings depending on the school which you were attending), and serious questions on the part of banks as to what their obligations were. As a result, many banks had stopped giving student loans. The confusion left doubt that many students would receive funds in time to attend the Fall Semester this year.

I, therefore sponsored legislation which we put through on an "emergency" basis which would reinstate the old rules governing student loans until the Congress next year could straighten out the matter. This legislation assures that loans will be available for students that fall under the old provisions which assume that students with family incomes below $15,000 are automatically in financial need and qualify for government subsidization. Students with family incomes above $15,000 are automatically disqualified for the special governmental subsidy, but may still be eligible for a guaranteed student rate at a discounted cost.

The limits on the total loans a student can take out will continue to remain the same. Undergraduates can borrow up to $2500 for school per year but the entire amount for their loans cannot exceed $7500. Graduate students can borrow up to $10,000 for their graduate and undergraduate study.

Hopefully, Congress can work to reinstate the necessary changes in the loan program so that the reforms envisaged by the Higher Education Amendments of 1972 can be realized.

By cutting through red tape, members of Congress can often lend a hand to those with problems involving the federal government. Through the columns of this newspaper, Senator Griffin answers questions of general interest. He will respond personally to all communications addressed to: Senator Robert P. Griffin, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

For six months I was stationed on a ship off the coast of Vietnam, but three weeks ago I was suddenly called home because my mother had a stroke. Now that I'm here with 30 days emergency leave I find that my father just can't take care of my mother, my 6 younger brothers and sisters while holding down his job at the auto plant. And my mother is not getting better. My leave is running out, but I must help out at home. Can you do anything?

—S. T., Wyandotte

We contacted the Navy Department and urged consideration for your case. Your application for a "compassionate reassignment" has been approved, and now you'll be stationed near home for the remaining four months of your enlistment. This will enable you to be of some assistance to your father. I hope your mother fully recovers.

Now that I'm out of school, I'd like to spend some time overseas. I can't afford to go abroad as a tourist, so I would like to work in a foreign country if possible. Can you provide any tips on how to find a job overseas?

—V. S., East Lansing

Yes. The Department of Labor has published a pamphlet entitled "Information about Jobs Overseas—Questions and Answers." You may obtain a copy free of charge by writing to the Manpower Administration, Department of Labor, 14th Street and Constitution Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20210. I wish you good luck and smooth sailing.

The new program, started recently by the Michigan Department of State, will serve as a reminder to motorists who have driver licenses about to expire.

prepared driver license applications and sent out to drivers."

Prior to the program, a person renewing a license had to fill out several forms and wait for a typist to complete the license form in addition to taking various tests.

"With our new program, the driver just has to take the prepared application to a branch office, take the vision and written tests and have the picture taken. This new system will cut the renewal time considerably," Austin said.

Provisions are also made for any corrections that must be made on the license form.

Austin warned motorists not to sign or correct the application before they bring it to a licensing station.

"For processing and photographic reasons, we use a special pen and ink for signing, and we would prefer that all applications be signed with these pens at the licensing stations," he said.

"Also, the computers are programmed not to bring out any license that has been suspended or revoked,"

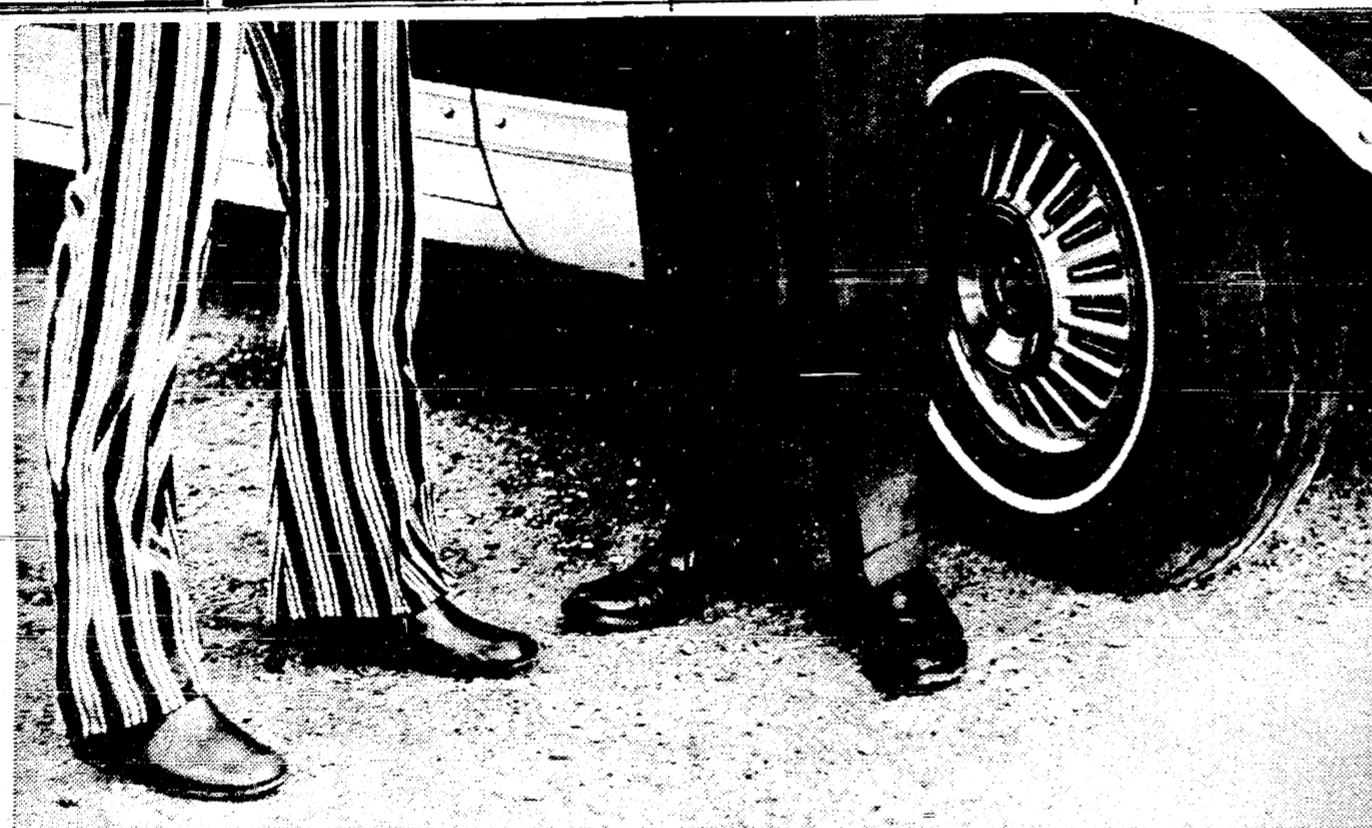

Austin said. "This does not mean, however, that if you have not yet received your application and you are due for a renewal that you have lost your license. Several things, such as a mere change of address, can prevent delivery of an application," he said.

"However, if you feel you are eligible for a license renewal, and haven't received your application yet, then it might be a good idea to check with your nearest driver licensing bureau," Austin said.

It is estimated that the new system will save the Department of State about 1-million computer driver checks per year.

There are about 5 1/2 million licensed drivers in Michigan, averaging some 2-million renewal per year. Cost to renew a driver license is $4.50, while a renewal for a chauffeur license will cost $11.00.

Things can always be worse. Thirty years from now speeders will crash in the sky and fall on pedestrians.

ating in fall and winter. The trick is to harvest and cure them correctly, says J. Lee Taylor, extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University. He offers these tips:

A gourd is ready to harvest when the stem turns brown and begins to dry. Use a knife or sharp shears to cut it off the vine, he suggests, and be sure to leave about a four-inch length of stem.

Wash gourds in warm soapy water and then rinse them in a dilute disinfectant solution (5 to 10 percent chlorine bleach). Dry them and spread them on layers of newspaper in a warm, sunny place for a week.

Wipe them with a household disinfectant and spread them on newspapers in a dry, dark place for three to four weeks.

For display, the gourds may be waxed with paste wax and buffed with a soft cloth, shellacked, painted or left in their natural state.

GOLDEN TOUCH OF HOSPITALITY

BY JANE ASHLEY

Put Two Fruits in Pie

Sometimes two fruits in a pie are better than one. Blueberries add very special goodness to apple pies. The half cup of blueberries in this Apple Blueberry pie adds subtle flavor goodness and gives the pie an appealing rosy-red color. Corn starch delicately thickens the sweet juices.

Apple Blueberry Pie

Double crust pastry for 9-inch pie
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons corn starch
1/2 teaspoon salt
5 medium size tart apples, pared, cut into thin wedges
1/2 cup blueberries
2 tablespoons margarine

Mix together sugar, corn starch and salt. Sprinkle bottom of pastry lined pie pan with 1/4 of the corn starch mixture. Cover generously with about 1/2 of the apples and blueberries. Sprinkle with second 1/4 of corn starch mixture. Add remaining fruit and end by sprinkling last 1/4 of corn starch mixture on fruit. Dot with margarine. Make several slits in top crust to permit escape of steam. Cover pie with top crust; seal and flute edge. Bake in a 375° F. (moderate) oven 1 hour or until crust is brown and apples are tender. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

Without the help and donations from our local businessmen and organizations, guidance from our school personnel, the fair board, and the time of parents and helpful citizens it would be impossible to have a Senior Food Test at the fair each year. ## Delightful English Quartet

By C. Chapin

Leaving this week, after a 3 1/2 week visit, are Polly and Thomas Price, mother and father of Maria Lehr, Maria's brother Robert and his wife Curly formed the most delightful quartet of visitors to visit Manchester in a long time.

Not even a fire which destroyed four bedrooms and all of their possessions, including their clothes, jewelry and luggage, could dim the pleasure of the family reunion.

Thomas, who works in the office on the docks at the fishing port of Morcamb and lives in the town of Fleetwood, in Lancashire County, and Maria's mother Polly, who works at a hospital, were both so happy to have a good long visit with daughter and son-in-law Glenn Lehr and to become re-acquainted with the grandchildren.

The house at Sanborn road was the happiest in town till the fire struck. Fortunately papers and passports came through damp but legible.

Maria's brother Robert is truly a "bobby" for he is a policeman in the town of Bury, near Manchester, England. His present duty is that of executing Warrants, or plainly speaking, to arrest people, so he spends most of his working hours driving the "paddy wagon" which is a useful tool of his profession. One tool not considered useful is a gun, which is not used, or even carried, at least almost never. Perhaps, he says, if a lunatic or murderer were loose in the town one might consider carrying a weapon but this is extremely rare.

In Bury, a mill town of 70,000 people they will have perhaps one murder a year. The crime most in evidence seems to be a break-in - or running a close second, assaults, that being a polite term for those disagreements which arise after too much drinking. He becomes serious when queried about the drug problem and says they are not free of it and it seems to be spreading, but also says it's a world wide problem, that all countries seem to be reporting the rise. Curly, Robert's young wife is a bouncy, bright young thing, who sparkles and implicitly says she never really thought a visit to the U.S. was a good idea, but that after one gets here and sees the country and meets the really great people, then she could stay forever. Really it's surprising, she says, to find the wonderful sense of humor in the American people, not stuffy but fun and friendly. This naturally led to a discussion of the similarities and differences of our habits, customs, and ways of looking at things.

Father Thomas, states that one outstanding trait he notices is the en-

"Ike" Walton Retires

It has been a long time between his boyhood on a northwestern Wisconsin farm and this 25th Anniversary year as General Manager of the Michigan Livestock Exchange and you would think that R. H. "Ike" Walton would be looking forward to enjoying the relaxation that comes with retirement. Such is not the case.

Even though "Ike" officially turns over the reins of the $80,000,000 per year Livestock cooperative operation to Harold Lein of St. Louis, Michigan, on September 1, 1972, he will continue on as a consultant to the firm he has served so notably during the past quarter of a century.

When "Ike" took over at Michigan Livestock Exchange 25 years ago, the cooperative was doing an annual business of $7,500,000. He realized early in the going that marketing trends were changing, however, and decentralization was in the offing. The Detroit market could not remain the sole operation of the Exchange.

Changes were made in the ensuing years with the decentralization taking the form of locations comprising about 100 miles in diameter and through "Hot" season branches were established at Battle Creek, St. Louis, Cassopolis, Cass City, and Manchester, Michigan's most modern marketing facility. The Exchange's business increased ten-fold through the years with the end certainly not yet in sight.

The still-energetic Mr. Walton was raised on that northwestern Wisconsin farm mentioned above and went to River Falls Teachers College in the Badger State, graduating in 1927. His post college career took him through the principalships of grade and high schools at Cochrane, Wisconsin and then on into the Vocational Agriculture field in Wisconsin education.

Leaving the teaching field in 1936 and through 1947, "Ike" was the manager of the Green Bay branch of Equity Livestock Cooperative Sales, from which position he came to Detroit and the Michigan Livestock Exchange post.

In his lifetime, Mr. Walton has assisted either directly or through leadership many young men in livestock careers. One of those men, Harold Lein, manager of the St. Louis Branch for the past several years, now takes over as the chief of operations with the Michigan Livestock Exchange, just home based in the new facilities just finished this spring at Manchester.

Mr. Lein epitomizes the strength, dedication and desire instilled in those with whom "Ike" Walton has come in contact through the years. The ship is certain to sail a straight course.
