Snowmobilers Aid Area Residents During Big Snow

In one of the worst snowstorms in recent memory, Manchester was buried under fifteen inches of snow this past week-end. Parts of the Village and much of the country was without utilities for many hours.

Without heat, lights and some without adequate food supplies the danger was present for the elderly and ill as well as for the very young. The real heroes of this period were the owners of snowmobiles. Responding to calls from Acting Police Chief Joe Catalana, the snowmobilers delivered medicine to the ill, rescued snowbound families, took fuel and drinking water as well as baby food and pamper to those who needed them.

Joe Catalana has received complaints from residents about the snowmobilers and would like everyone to know that most of them were acting on authority from the Police Department. Nine people were accommodated at the Middle School and Joe would like also to thank the Board of Education for making the building available and of course the Athletic Boosters for donating the food which had been scheduled for the Athletic Banquet.

Joe would like, on behalf of the Manchester Police Dept., to thank all the snowmobilers for their help and cooperation. In every case they responded promptly.

We at the Enterprise would also like to say thanks to you all for a job well done.

May 1st Proclaimed Law Day

On the occasion of the 16th annual nationwide observance of Law Day USA on May 1, it is fitting that the citizens of this city reflect on the meaning and value of our Law and Courts to a democratic society.

The Congress of the United States and the President, by proclamation have set aside May first, Tuesday, as a special day of celebration by the American people "in appreciation of their liberties".

Our country has prospered for nearly 200 years with constantly expanding liberty because our common law tradition provides for gradual, orderly and peaceful change in our institutions.

It is to the courts that the individual citizen goes to seek redress and secure justice, not as a matter of privilege but as a matter of right.

Our courts were created and exist, not only to determine according to law disputes between individuals, but also to determine according to law disagreements between the individual and his government. The observance of Law Day is fitting because it underscores the continuing role of the law and the courts in achieving equitable solutions to on-going problems, including racism, poverty, environmental pollution, consumer rights and many other issues of public concern and import.

It is good to be reminded each year that the Law can be relevant and progressive.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, David L. Little, Mayor of the Village Of Manchester, do hereby join in proclaiming Tuesday, May 1, 1973, as Law Day U.S.A. in this community and urge all citizens, organizations and schools to give appropriate recognition to this special day.

Dated at the Village of Manchester, this 19th day of March, 1973.

Shakespeare Club Guest Day

Last Tuesday the Shakespeare Club and guests went to Bill Knapp's at Ann Arbor for a noon luncheon - then on to Mott's Children's Hospital where they were shown a film of the work there, also taking many gifts for the children, which were much appreciated.

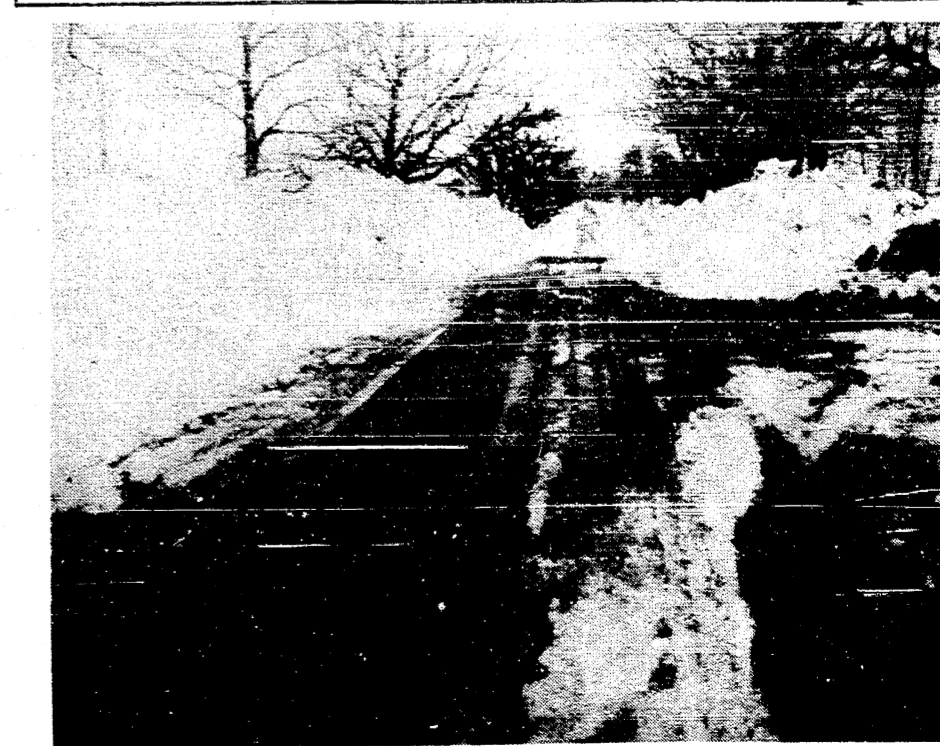

The next meeting will be Tuesday, March 27th at the home of Mrs. Clayton Parr.

SENIOR CITIZENS

The Senior Citizens will meet Wednesday, March 28 at 1:30 p.m. at Emmanuel Church Hall. Each member is asked to bring an article for Show and Tell Time.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Have a few unscrupulous characters given a large nationwide industry and it people such a bad name that to say your employment there today results in raised eyebrows and shocked expressions? The industry I'm referring to is the world of the outdoor Showman more commonly known as circuses and particularly carnivals.

As with any industry the carnival is always modernizing its machinery and its people. Gone are the days when ground mounted rides and concessions were loaded by hand into trains. Can you imagine how many big tough men were needed to move the heavy pieces of iron and steel that made up an amusement ride? Also gone with trains is the need for those tough men who seem to have been notorious for fighting and drinking. Today with trailer mounted rides, made of lighter metals and fiber-glass and hoist trucks and hydraulic systems there is no longer a need for rough men. The need now is for dependable men and women looking for steady employment who enjoy seeing America and its people. The variety of jobs available is surprising. The next time you go to your local fair take a look at the midway and the jobs it has to offer and you will see ride operators and ticket sellers, waitresses and cooks, salesmen, (concessionaires), etc. What you won't see is the behind the scenes jobs, but they are there. The sign painters and scenery artists, welders, carpenters, electricians, semi and diesel engine mechanics, baby sitters (today's carnival is a family occupation) grounds, maintenance, people, semi and diesel truck drivers on the rides, you have foreman, second men and general crew, and in the office there are publicity men, bookkeepers and general office help.

If you work on a ride which is the best way to start out (unless you have a profession) you can observe the jobs available. If you would like to try your hand at one just say "I would like to learn", they seem to be magic words. I joined the carnival in July, 1972. I had never worked in a carnival before. Being a girl I started as a ticket seller. A week later, an operator on a ride called the "Loop-O-Plane" was needed. I said "I would like to learn", and I did. After two weeks or so I was running the Sky Wheel, the biggest ride on the midway. It wasn't long and I learned to drive a semi-tractor trailer. With each change of job I was raised in pay. It seems to be a standard around the carnival "the more you learn and are willing to do, the more you earn". The management lets you know they appreciate the fact that you want to try something new.

The carnival with its modernization has changed from strictly a man's world to equally a woman's world. A woman has as much chance at a foreman's job and pay as a man, if she wants to learn. These days its brains and willingness, not brawn and roughness that counts.

My employer, long time residents of Manchester, ran a help wanted ad in the Manchester Enterprise, and a young lady answered the ad by phone. When she asked what kind of job it was, and was told an amusement ride she said "thank you" and hung up. I wonder why she didn't ask about the salary or bonus plans, or possible job advancements. Was she afraid a carnival job isn't for a girl. There is just one thing to say about that. A carnival job, like any other job is what you make of it, or was she afraid to try something. I am from Jonesville, and don't know many people here, but I do know four Manchester young people (ages from

ADVENTURE TRAVELOG SLATED

Canoelist Verlen Kruger will narrate a color slide travelog of his "Cross Continent Canoe Voyage" at the Columbia Central High School Auditorium, Brooklyn on Saturday evening, March 24 at 7:30 p.m. No tickets are necessary.

This travelog entitled "Once in a Lifetime" is the fantastic story of two men alone, against very improbable odds, traveling in a 21' homemade canoe. With no motors, guides or follow up crew these men paddled their way across the North American Continent, following old historic fur trade canoe routes. Beginning in the springtime in Montreal, Canada, Verlen and his partner traveled 7000 miles in 176 days, arriving at the Bering Sea, Alaska as the winter ice was forming.

Using dual projectors Verlen will present an excellent two hour program of beautiful color slides of Canada and Alaska. Slides depict wild life and scenery of the wild north country as well as the weather, dangers and hardships encountered on the voyage. Living sounds taped "on the spot" are also played at various points in the program. This public showing is sponsored by the Christian Family Camping Ass'n. Chairman for the event is Dale Cryderman of Brooklyn. According to Dale, "This program has appeal to the adventurous and anyone who enjoys traveling and the out-of-doors. Dale wishes to emphasize that no tickets are necessary for admission. A free will offering will be received.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by Carl P. Koutner
 MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

The farmers' side of the food price issue was brought into focus in Washington by Elton R. Smith, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau. Smith and about 100 other Michigan farmers were in Washington meeting with Michigan Congressmen about some of the issues affecting Michigan farmers.

In a statement to Michigan media representatives at the National Press Club on March 14, Smith said, "Current food price levels are a direct result of our supply-demand situation. Records show that during an eight-year period, retail food prices are up 33 percent but per capita income is up a whopping 62 percent. Because personal income dollars are up nearly twice as much as food prices, it is rather simple to recognize that such buying power has resulted in better eating and increased demand."

The Farm Bureau president strongly opposed price controls on raw farm products. "The imposition of price controls would be a serious mistake and could only lead to shortages, rationing and black markets. Price controls could discourage increased production and therefore worsen the situation," he said.

Smith also cited excessive government spending as a cause of the current price situation. "When government spends more money than it takes from tax payers, it generally borrows a part of the deficit from commercial banks. This increases the supply of money and credit available to purchase goods," he explained.

"The solution, in our opinion, is twofold -- cut government spending and increase productivity."

"Farmers will continue to provide ample supplies of high quality food. Increased meat supplies will be on the way, if producers are not discouraged by the imposition of price controls," Smith concluded.

The class in Real Estate Law* pre-empts everything from Truth or Consequences to Marcus Welby, M.D.; at least for some 174 people including architects, attorneys, blue collar workers, engineers, financial experts and Realtors. But, TV's loss is their gain, particularly for the 109 Realtors, or approximately two-thirds of the class who are professionals devoted to learning more in order to give you better real estate service.

Better grounding in the legal aspects of contracts, escrows, easements, deeds and such assure you of better service from your Realtor. And law is but a small part of the story for members of the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors. Continued training at the University level is required for membership, and to meet the complexities of real estate today. Whether you're a homeowner, a businessman or investor, put a professional—a Realtor—to work for you when you buy or sell.

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN CHECK-OFF

A change in the law now allows taxpayers to designate part of their tax liability to the political party of their choice in the next Presidential election, Thomas A. Cardoza, District Director for Michigan said today.
 A tabulation of the first 1972 returns received by IRS shows only a small percentage of the taxpayers are availing themselves of this privilege. This change is effective for 1972 returns being filed now by taxpayers. If a taxpayer chooses, he may designate that one dollar (two dollars on a joint return) be paid over to the candidates of a specific political party, or to a non-partisan account according to Mr. Cardoza. Amounts designated to the non-partisan account will be divided among all eligible candidates. Also, Mr. Cardoza emphasized that participation will not change the amount of refund or tax liability due.

 Taxpayers wishing to participate should complete Form 4875 and attach it to their 1972 Federal income tax return. The forms are contained in the Tax Return Package that IRS mailed to taxpayers. Mr. Cardoza said taxpayers filing Form 1040A or Form 1040 may participate.

savings VERSUS THE stock market

How does the undramatic savings deposit really compare to the widely discussed more glamorous stock market?
 What about the usual advice to discipline yourself first by building a savings account, and then, after that duty is completed, you can venture into more profitable, worthwhile investments?
 A look at long-term trends in the stock market should cause this bit of locker-room lore to be discarded.
 Over most of the past half decade, the unheralded savings account actually outperformed the stock market. The asset value of the savings remained at $10,000 while the asset value of stocks fluctuated widely. The savings account paid a better return on capital than the companies on the Dow Jones Averages.
 The chart here shows the asset value of $10,000 placed in the market at each of the Dow Jones averages and in a savings account at the beginning of January 1966. In early 1966, the stock market investments looked good. Industrials climbed to a peak of 995.15 on February 9. Then the market faltered and the redemption value represented by the blue chip stocks in the Dow averages fell to around $8,000, or a 20% capital loss by fall.

 The market recovered from time to time, but on only three occasions did the value of the stock equal or exceed the initial $10,000 investment. There were many long, dry periods when the value of the original stock investment was far under the $10,000 savings account.
 Long term plans for retirement or college education would have suffered greatly if the funds were needed during these dry periods.
 Unless you are an investment specialist, know just when to buy and sell, or are just plain lucky your best investment is a savings account at Ann Arbor Federal Savings. It pays a sure, safe return and each account is insured to $20,000 with the FSLIC.
 A folder that goes into this in greater detail is available at any AAFS office.

*By cutting through red tape, members of Congress can often lend a hand to those with problems involving the federal government. Through the columns of this newspaper, Senator Griffin answers questions of general interest. He will respond personally to all communications addressed to: Senator Robert P. I'm sick and tired of the junk mail that comes to my house. I've written twice to one mail order house telling them to take my name off their mailing list. But apparently their computer doesn't understand. Last week was the last straw—I got a letter inviting me to join a singles club. Try explaining that to your wife. Help! Is there anything I can do?
 —H. G., Alpena

Legislation could make a real difference, but prospects for early action are not bright. In the meantime, help for your postal problem may be available from an unexpected source. In response to many complaints such as yours, the Direct Mail Marketing Association has set up its own service to prod member-mailing houses to remove names such as yours from mailing lists. If you will fill out the enclosed form and return it, the DMMA will contact all its member companies and request that your name be taken off all their mailing lists. In addition, DMMA will contact any non-member company with which you have had difficulty. Believe it or not, this association claims it is effective because most mailing houses really don't want to pay for mail that only annoys you.
 I hope this helps. By the way, how did you get on that "singles only" mailing list?
 —A. T., Bay City

We watched the ceremony in the U.S. Capitol Rotunda for former President Johnson on TV. I remember that Presidents Kennedy and Eisenhower also lay in state in the Rotunda. How often has the Rotunda been used for such funerals?
 —A. T., Bay City

During the 140 year period since the Capitol was completed, there have been twenty-two state ceremonies in the Rotunda. Henry Clay, who served as Speaker of the House, and as a U.S. Senator, was the first to lie in state there, in 1852. Unknown Soldiers of World War I, World War II and the Korean War were among those so honored. So far, this tribute has been extended to nine Presidents, one Vice President, five Senators, one Representative, one Admiral, two Generals (including MacArthur) and Pierre Charles L'Enfant, the planner of the city of Washington. Prior to President Johnson, the last such ceremony was for Senator Everett Dirksen in 1969. Incidentally, it was the family's preference that President Truman should not lie in state in the Rotunda.

PUT SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER ON TAX PAYMENTS, IRS SAYS

To assure proper credit of tax payments, you should put your Social Security number on all checks or money orders you make out to the Internal Revenue Service, Thomas A. Cardoza, District Director for Michigan said today.
 When the IRS receives a payment without an accompanying form or notice, sometimes it cannot properly credit the payment to the taxpayer's account, according to Mr. Cardoza.
 We put payments that we can't identify in a special account until we can later make identification, Mr. Cardoza said. This necessarily delays action on that account.
 To avoid such identification problems, Mr. Cardoza asked taxpayers to put their Social Security number on their check or money order. You should also note the type of tax at a period covered by the payment, he added.
 Mr. Cardoza said taxpayers should keep money order stubs or cancelled checks in case the IRS requests verification of a payment.

LIBRARY NOTES

Well now -- wasn't that a blinger of a week-end!
 If you were lucky enough to have heat and lights, it surely was the best reading weather we have ever seen.
 It may be a while before the ground dries out enough for the yard work so stop in and pick out a good book.
 How about reading some old timers - for the fun of it.
 We have a whole shelf full of Zane Gray novels - and if you like the western this is for you.
 Tarzan too! Edgar Rice Burroughs set a fashion in this sort of adventure story and they are campy but great.
 Remember Gene Stratton Porter and the Girl of the Limberlost, as well as Freckles? Nature stories with good plots and well written.
 Anne of Green Gables is still around as well as Pollyanna - and we have at least half a dozen Wizard books from the Wizard of Oz series.
 For mystery lovers we have still some very early Agatha Christie books and some of Rex Stouts best.
 Have you ever read the "Seven Pillars of Wisdom" by T.E. Lawrence - the tale of his adventures in the Desert? Would you believe "Beverly of Graustark" or "Rupert of Hentzau" or Richard Halliburton's travels around the world?
 We are open every afternoon but Thursday - and if you haven't seen the new carpeting on the library floor please stop in and visit - we feel so elegant and quiet.

NEW EYES FOR THE NEEDY

What do you do if you're eight years old, have no old eyeglasses to give, but feel strongly you want to help other people see better?

For Harriet, a third-grader in a suburban school, the solution was simple...

she sold some of her toys.

That's how "New Eyes For the Needy," a volunteer Short Hills, N.J., organization, wound up with $13.75 in the mail one day.

What makes the happening even more unusual is the fact that in its 40-year history, "New Eyes" has never had a fund-drive. It solicits, instead, old eyeglasses, precious metal scrap, silverware, dentures with bits of gold and silver, and antique and costume jewelry.

The glasses, almost a million pairs received last year alone, are graded and sorted and bring new sight to impoverished people all over the world.

The precious metal scrap is melted down, and the money from the reclamation, plus the sale of usable jewelry and silverware, goes to "New Eyes" funds established in 80 hospitals all over the country, Canada and Puerto Rico to pay for new prescription glasses, or if needed, artificial eyes.

That's where Harriet's $13.75 went. The plastic framed glasses are used to fill orders from medical missions in such far off places as the Philippines, Guam, and Africa.

Though "New Eyes" has an international reputation, few know it is run by a small group of about 250 persons--mostly housewives. When the organization was incorporated in 1947, its entire treasury consisted of 47 cents.

"Nobody can really say how many lives have been brightened because hundreds of thousands of strangers have thoughtfully sent their old eyeglasses to "New Eyes". But every now and then the mail-bag provides a clue:

"You have made this a beautiful new world for me. Again I thank you and all who made this wonderful miracle available.

Maybe the next miracle will come from you. The address is New Eyes For The Needy, Short Hills, N.J. 07078.

HOUGHTON MICH., MINING GAZETTE "Today's volunteer is not a bored housewife with time on her hands. Neither is she 'lady bountiful' with unlimited time and funds. Today's volunteer is someone--man, woman or child--who recognizes that this is the only world available, and if it is to be a better world, it's everyone's responsibility.

MICHIGAN ASSOCIATION OF NURSERYMEN

Coming of Spring marks the appearance of miracle plant con-men who prey on home gardeners and landscapers. "Don't be taken in by these racketeers" is the warning sounded by Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, Agricultural Director B. Dale Ball and the Michigan Association of Nurserymen.

Home gardeners are warned against high pressure salesmen and mail order advertisers using fancy names for ordinary shrubs and plants and making exaggerated claims for their plant material.

Beware of glowing word description and faked photographs of climbing vine peaches, giant climbing strawberries, 1,000 giant red roses on a single bush, flowering shade trees that grow roof high in a single year, etc.

"All consumer complaints, including verbal misrepresentations are received by the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office and appropriate action is taken" said Assistant Attorney General Edwin M. Bladen. "It is our experience that purchasers who deal with established local merchants can see what they are buying and are not misled by photographs or lurid verbal pictures.

"One cannot expect to get high quality stock at ridiculously low prices" said Dean F. Lovitt, chief of the plant industry division of the Dept. of Agriculture. "Purchasers should always demand a certificate of inspection with the stock as their assurance that it has passed inspection for insects and disease. Local nurserymen usually are familiar with local conditions and the varieties likely to do well in an area, and their advice can be helpful".

"There are reliable mail order houses but there is no substitute for the expert service on selection, planting and care of the plant that your local nurseryman can give you" said M.A.N. Exec. Sec. L. E. Ahti. "He wants to protect your interests so he can continue to serve you. That's why we advise--"Ask Your Nurseryman First".

SHOSHONE, IDAHO, LINCOLN COUNTY JOURNAL: "If we, as electors, sit at home on election day, surrounded by the niceties of life, and fail to go to the polls we will have delegated to others, by our disinterest, the right to select the paths we should tread... and we will have forfeited the right to decree our destiny."

ABILENE, KANS., REFLECTOR-CHRONICLE: "What is sometimes billed as the new American dream--getting away from it all and moving to the country--is turning out to be a misleading picture. Few people are actually moving to isolated rural areas. They are shifting around--but staying within easy commuting distance of town."

Busy, Busy? Try Macaroni Chili

How to serve a delicious yet effortless meal at the end of a busy day? Easily — plan ahead with Macaroni Chili. The trick is, prepare the chili the day before. Flavor improves with standing. Then, simply re-heat the chili and while the macaroni is cooking toss a salad and you're ready with this sure-fire hit from the new cookbook, "Muelier's Classic Recipes".

MACARONI CHILI

- |                                  |   |
|----------------------------------|---|
| 2 pounds lean ground beef        | 1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves                 |
| 3 tablespoons salad or olive oil | 1/2 teaspoon pepper                         |
| 1 can (28 ounces) tomatoes       | 1 bay leaf                                  |
| 4 cups tomato juice              | 1 can (15 ounces) red kidney beans, drained |
| 2 cups chopped onion             | 1 cup sweet mixed pickles, chopped          |
| 3 cloves garlic, minced          | 1 tablespoon salt                           |
| 4 teaspoons salt                 | 3 quarts boiling water                      |
| 2 tablespoons chili powder       | 8 ounces (2 cups) elbow macaroni            |
| 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin        |   |

In large pan or Dutch oven brown beef in oil, stir frequently. Add tomatoes, tomato juice, onion, garlic, 4 teaspoons salt and remaining seasonings. Simmer, covered, 1 hour; stir once or twice. Add kidney beans and pickles. Uncover; cook 30 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Remove bay leaf. Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, 9 to 12 minutes until desired tenderness. Drain in colander. Combine with chili. Serve in bowls. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

The Path Of Least Disturbance

In the past few years, the United States has embarked on a new era of environmental concern that has altered our outlook about a number of things.

Once, when we saw a smokestack topped by full plume of black smoke, we thought of men working, of things being produced. Now we think of the air being polluted.

Once, when we saw a parking lot full of automobiles, we marveled at our nation's prosperity. Now we think of oil being consumed and noxious gases spewed from exhaust pipes, of acres of land given over to highways.

Yet America can't reverse the tide of industrial progress—not if our present standard of living is to be maintained. So ways must be found to strike a balance—to conserve natural resources and obtain maximum production of goods and services with minimum environmental damage.

For some industries, the answers may be long and hard in coming. In the transportation industry—important to all other industries—we are lucky. We have the railroads.

Today, railroads haul more freight than the trucks and water carriers and airlines combined. And railroads are easy on the environment. Water carriers and pipelines are relatively easy on the environment, too, but water carriers are limited geographically, and pipelines are limited as to the commodities they can move.

Railroads and trucks are the two modes which have the greatest geographic range and can carry the widest range of products.

Of the two, railroads get the nod, environmentally speaking.

They use a right-of-way that occupies far less land—and can carry far more traffic—than the highways.

The diesel engine used in both railroad locomotives and trucks is a cleaner engine, in terms of polluting emissions, than the gasoline-burning engines used in most automobiles. But less energy is required to roll a metal wheel over a metal rail than is required to roll a rubber tire over a highway, and most studies have concluded that railroads put out about one-third the emissions of diesel trucks, per net ton-mile.

An even more direct result of the physical efficiency of railroads relates to fuel. The energy shortage of this winter drove home with brutal force the message that the nation's reserves of fuel are not inexhaustible.

Railroads and diesel trucks use the same kind of fuel oil. But, in 1971, railroads bought only about half the amount of fuel oil that was bought for use in highway diesel vehicles—of which trucks make up the greatest percentage by far. In the same year, railroads carried nearly twice the ton-miles carried by intercity trucks.

The point of all this is not to suggest that the use of highway trucks be discontinued in favor of railroads. The nation needs all her transportation modes—and that need is increasing.

But without railroads, that could mean an unacceptable increase in environmental damage and in consumption of natural resources.

With railroads, we can breathe a little easier.

All the Comforts of Home

Comfort and convenience can be enjoyed on long cross-continent vacations or weekend jaunts in modern recreational vehicles such as this motor home. These self-contained homes on wheels offer dining, sleeping, bath and storage facilities in a variety of floor plans. Depending on the model, decor and furnishings may be relatively simple or resemble a fine yacht. These motorized land cruisers are equipped with compact appliances, most of which use convenient, clean-burning liquefied petroleum gas for cooking, refrigeration, water heating, and warming the interior during cool days and nights. Lights, too, may operate on LP-gas. And those concerned about the environment in our great outdoors will be glad to know that some motor homes are also powered by low-emission LP-gas engine fuel which helps reduce air pollution.

SIRE SUMMARIES EXAMINED AT MSU FARMERS' WEEK

New ideas on sire summaries will be presented by five leading animal breeding scientists in the U.S., during Farmers' Week, Wednesday, March 21, at Michigan State University.

Sponsored by the MSU dairy science department, the day-long program will take a close look at 10 years of experience with USDA Sire Summaries. The following will be explored: Do sire summaries really pinpoint the best sires? Are there some changes that should be made? How profitable is the use of USDA sire summaries?

At 10:30, Lon Mc Gilliard of the MSU dairy science department will discuss the effectiveness of choosing bulls on the basis of USDA predicted differences (PD). How much do daughters of the same bull differ in milk production when milked in the same herd, if the sire's PD differ by 1,000 pounds? The report is based on research of a cooperative breeding program of the North Central Region of the U.S.

Robert Everett of Cornell University will describe Eastern A1 Sire Summaries and Cornell's system of ranking bulls on the basis of contemporaries, rather than herdmates. Michigan summaries often compare bulls that have been sampled in many herds with those sampled in a single herd, or with bulls used 10-12 years ago, or with bulls whose herdmates are not equal. This has created some obvious problems.

At 11:25, H.D. Norman of the USDA, Beltsville, Md., will discuss some of the problems associated with handling large volumes of data needed for sire summaries.

In the afternoon, Dr. Ben McDaniels of North Carolina State will discuss selection by dollar predicted value. Current MSU sire summaries rank bulls on this basis.

Alternative methods of sire sampling will be presented at 2 p.m. by Dr. Gene Freeman, Iowa State University. Today's procedures yield only one bull out of each 5-10 sampled over a 4-5 year period. This approach is both time consuming and expensive.

The presentations will allow time for questions.
