Optimist Club Outstanding Citizen 25th Wedding Anniversary

Manuel Arana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Arana of 8755 Ernst Road is the Optimist Club's Outstanding Citizen for the month of June. The Arana family came to the United States in March of 1971. In April of that year the family traveled from near New York City to visit with Toya Gonzales, an exchange student from Chile who was related to the Arana family. They liked the town of Manchester very much, and by August of that year, and with the help of Mr. and Mrs. James Lyons, the family found a home and Mr. Arana received employment at the Manchester Plastics Plant.

Manuel and his brother Jose enrolled in the high school, Manuel as a junior and Jose as a freshman. In Chile Manuel was on the school's championship soccer team. The team never lost a game while he played. Both boys became good cross-country runners at Manchester with Jose usually coming in before Manuel. Manuel says, "I am too hard to warm up". Manuel went out for wrestling and became recognized as a good wrestler, but unfortunately an injury kept him out about half of the season. In the spring Manuel competed in track and was a member of the mile relay team that broke the school record.

Manuel's greatest interest is in athletics. He enjoys the various sports in our school and especially likes the great amount of time that is devoted in preparation for a sport. In Chile, there were not as many sports and only one week was devoted to preparation.

Manuel graduated on June 10. He was not permitted to participate in sports during this past year because of his age.

Weight lifting is a favorite past time for Manuel and he is so proficient at karate that he can teach it. He likes our system of education because it is more free and there are greater choices, but he does not like our system of eating three meals a day. The Chileans eat four meals a day and don't get as fat as Americans.

Manuel was accepted by Western College, Eastern Michigan University, and Siena Heights, but he chose Siena Heights and will pursue the field of medicine or chemistry. Congratulations!!!

The 25th Wedding Anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Janofski will be observed Sunday, July 1st from 2 to 5 p.m. at the parsonage of the Iron Creek Community Church, corner of Sharon Hollow and English Rd.

The Janofskis were married at Flint, Michigan on July 2, 1948 by Rev. G. E. Stace of the Wesleyan Church. It is expected that the complete wedding party will be present and there will be a brief program and renewal of the wedding vows at 3 p.m. in the Iron Creek Church.

All are welcome to attend and share the enjoyment of this occasion with the Janofskis who have been pastoring the Iron Creek Church for the past five and a half years, and have been in the ministry continuously for the past twenty three years.

96th Annual Alumni Reunion

The 96th Annual Alumni Association Reunion of the Manchester High School was held at the Manchester United Methodist Church on June 16, 1973 at 7 P.M. with approximately 160 present.

Following a delicious family style Swiss Steak Dinner served by the Methodist ladies, the meeting was called to order by President L. V. Kirk. The minutes of the 1972 meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Kirk commended Mr. Steele on the edition of the Enterprise which was sent to all Alumni members and the 1972 graduating class. He also thanked the officers who had served with him as well as Lynn Voegeding for printing stickers with names of Alumni members.

The treasurers report was given and it was reported only $20.50 was in the treasury at the beginning of 1973. Several donations were made by Alumni members and plates were passed at the dinner for a collection. So expenses were met and approximately $30.00 was left in the treasury for 1974.

The nominating chairman, Guy Little read his slate of officers for 1974 as follows: President - Edward Galloway, Vice President - Dick Krzyzaniak, Treasurer - Elaine Johnson - Steele, Address File Chairman - Ethel Brown, Record Secretary - Margaret Lowery-Trolz, Correspondence - Constance Evisizer-Petsch, Trustee 3 year - Frank Brown, Nominating Committee Chairman - Margie Guenther - Blumenauer.

Mildred Wurster made the motion that the slate of officers be accepted and a unanimous ballot be cast. Seconded by Louis Vogel. Motion was carried and the business meeting was adjourned. Mr. Kirk then introduced Louis Vogel as toastmaster.

PRIVATE FUNDING

Three years ago, a Michigan organization, concerned with aiding young people trying to break the drug habit, was in need of funds. Public monies were not available to the organization because it was not connected with a big agency and was neither supervised nor backed by an adult organization. But it was reaching young drug addicts and getting them off the streets and into a rehabilitation program. But without additional funds the organization would go under.

Luckily, the group was a member of the Michigan League for Human Services. The League, a United Way service, provided a way for the group to survive.

Using the Directory of Selected Michigan Foundations and Charitable Trusts, published and revised by the League periodically, the group was able to find out information and addresses about a number of foundations in Michigan. Some of the foundations reached by the group were interested in the drug rehabilitation program and one came through with a grant that allowed the organization to continue.

UNITED WAY OF MICHIGAN

Many teenagers are labeled criminals even though they have committed no crime. Maybe they ran away from home. Or skipped school. Or were caught hanging around a street corner. Any of these things could mean arrest and a trip to a juvenile home where they meet real criminals. Then, when they come out, they know more about real crime than we want them to. The Michigan League for Human Services is working to improve juvenile justice. You can help by writing the League, a United Way service, at 200 Mill St., Lansing.

What happens when you're offered $20,000 for your $27,000 pile of ashes?

You take it if you haven't increased your home insurance to keep pace with inflation. This is the kind of problem you could face if you bought and insured your home for $20,000 in 1968. See me to find out if your home is insured for its full value. I'll tell you about a low-cost State Farm Homeowners Policy that will insure your home for all it's worth... and keep it that way with automatic Inflation Coverage.

THE LAST KID IN THE "HOLE"

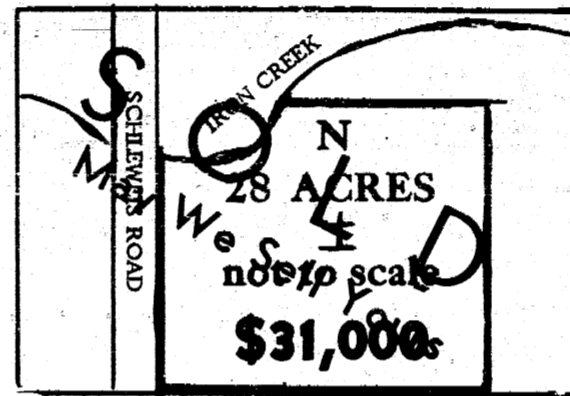

Bobby G. was not that bad a kid, but he had gotten into trouble by running away from home. Sent to Boys' Training School in Lansing, Bobby, thrown with adolescents detained for robbery, rape, and murder, as well as with other runaways and incorrigibles, thought the world was against him.
 Every chance Bobby got, he tried to run away from the school. He was caught every time, and was eventually thrown in the "hole," a solitary confinement cell without windows, so the only light came from a single bulb overhead. More than one youngster had done bodily harm to himself while occupying the "hole."

But Bobby's stay in the "hole" was historic. It was the last time anyone was kept there.

The Michigan League for Human Services, together with other concerned organizations and citizens, had long urged the various state offices in charge of juvenile homes in Michigan to review their policies and positions on the "hole" as a method of rehabilitating juvenile offenders. Now, finally, the "hole" was closed and more modern and closely supervised detention cells were built.

Ask Senator GRIFFIN

By cutting through red tape, members of Congress can often lend a hand to those with problems involving the federal government. Through the columns of this newspaper, Senator Griffin answers questions of general interest. He will respond personally to all communications addressed to Senator Robert P. Griffin, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

I am a World War II veteran and have shrapnel in my chest as the result of wounds. Since the magnetic inspection procedures have been instituted at all airports to prevent sky-jacking, I think I have met a sheriff at every airport where I've been. This is embarrassing. Isn't it possible for a tag or something to be issued to people like myself so we may board planes without being stripped in some side office?

—R. P. Lansing

You do have an unusual problem, and I've contacted the Federal Aviation Administration on your behalf. The F.A.A. is considering an identification card system as you suggest, but a number of problems still must be resolved. Whenever possible, I suggest that you notify the airline in advance of your situation. In most instances, a special service representative will meet you and "smooth the way." I shall continue to press the F.A.A. for better procedures.

We are looking into the possibility of buying a mobile home. Is there a government publication for us?

—J. A. Butternut

Yes, and a very good one published by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. It's especially helpful in regard to availability of mobile homes and lot developments, (there are more than 15,000 in the U.S. for homes on wheels). The publication will also help you determine dealer reliability and provides hints on financing. of Medicine--the drill causes little disturbance to surrounding tissues. Patients do not feel much discomfort with a local anesthetic.

Dr. Zavala has used the drill to make conclusive diagnoses of rheumatoid lung disease, tuberculosis, viral pneumonia, and other lung diseases.

Another way to test for lung diseases has been developed by Dr. John B. West from the University of California San Diego School of Medicine. This involves a ten-minute breathing test that detects lung disease before symptoms appear. The equipment enables a doctor to measure in a relatively short time the lung capacity, blood flow, retention of oxygen and carbon dioxide, and closure of the lung's airways. According to Dr. West, these measurements correlate well with the development of such lung disorders as emphysema and bronchitis. The lung diagnostic package, he says, will be available in most major hospitals in two years or less.

DRILLING INTO THE LUNG

There are surprising new ways to detect lung diseases. One of them is a high-speed, hand-held power drill.

The drill gets samples of lung tissue in much the same way that astronauts take samples of the moon's soils. The tip of the drill has a sharp cutting edge that bores right through tough, elastic lung tissue. The tip is inserted through a small incision between the patient's ribs at a top speed of 15,000 revolutions per minute. The entire maneuver takes only a few seconds.

The new technique was reported at a recent meeting of the American Lung Association. According to Dr. Donald C. Zavala--assistant professor of medicine, University of Iowa College

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, AMERICA!

As our nation approaches its birthday, citizens traditionally pause to reflect on "what's good about America?" This year, with their faith in our political system tested by charges of corruption, perhaps it's more difficult to come up with a list of positive reasons why they are glad to live in these United States.

But despite our country's current political and inflationary discomforts, all thinking citizens realize there's still a lot right about America -- a lot worth preserving. They only have to look at the rest of the world -- where some 60 percent of the population has inadequate diets; where one out of every 10 children born alive dies before the end of his first year, and where barely half of the population is literate. Here, in the best-fed nation in the world, we pour tremendous resources into education, recreation, services and comforts. No nation has ever come close to creating the spectacular affluence we enjoy here in America.

We became the most creative and prosperous nation in all of history because our country grew up under a system where men could freely strive, invent, create and realize the rewards of their work. This happened because the creative efforts of men were not squelched by too much government control.

Concerned citizens, on their nation's birthday, have a choice to make -- whether to work to preserve our American heritage or whether to allow our democracy to die. They can defend the good things in our system and work to improve and change the not so good. They can stand up and tell their elected officials that they do not want their free enterprise system endangered by too much government control, and their economic system ruined by irresponsible, unlimited government spending -- and make sure they listen.

Hopefully, we'll one day look back on July 4, 1973, as a time when our country's citizens made their choice -- a dedicated decision, backed by action -- to "get involved" and work to preserve their American heritage.

NIXON'S 'CONSUMER FIRST' POLICY PUTS FARMER LAST, SAYS FARM SPOKESMAN

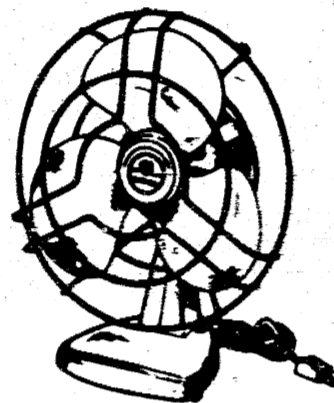

President Nixon's order for a freeze on prices will have a serious effect on farmers, warns Michigan Farm Bureau President Elton R. Smith. In a statement issued in Lansing, June 15, the farm spokesman said that the President's decision to place the American consumer first, in effect, places the American farmer last. "Farmers are not second-class citizens, to be offered a government farm program to maintain our existence," Smith stated.

by consumers at the retail level -- or by consumers through taxes. Between the Farm Bill recently passed by the Senate, and the action taken by the President, we are moving toward a continuation of the "cheap food" policy -- with consumers subsidizing food prices through taxes," he said. Smith also expressed concern on the part of farmers regarding controls on exports. "Agriculture in the United States has competed effectively on the world trade scene. We cannot treat foreign markets as a dumping ground -- supply must be constant. It seems inconsistent that, with our high standard of living, consumers are willing to be outbid by foreign markets. Food and fiber have been too plentiful, too long, and too inexpensive for Americans. The Farm Bureau spokesman said that rising prices are the result of inflation, and that the cause of inflation is excessive government spending. "The President's action treats the symptoms, not the cause, of inflation. What farmers and consumers really need is responsible controls on irresponsible government spending -- not controls on retail prices," he concluded.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY NEWS

Cocktail connoisseurs may soon lose one of their favorite sports -- cherry dunking. To dunk a cocktail cherry, grasp by the stem between thumb and forefinger, dunk the cherry liberally into a cool tumbler of Whiskey Sour, then savor each tasty bead of the liquor as it rolls down the sides of the cherry.

The sport may be lost forever if cherry growers adopt a recently developed chemical spray.

The spray, Ethrel, boasts several advantages. One is that at harvest, the fruit comes off without stems-- a distinct advantage for the manager of the corner fruit market. But what about those who wouldn't take kindly to abolishing an enjoyable long-held tradition?

Fortunately, stem separation isn't the only characteristic of Ethrel. "Its real plus is that it allows chemical control of fruit abscission or loosening from the tree," Martin J. Bukovac, Michigan State University horticulture professor, explains. "Ethrel spray, applied 7 to 14 days before harvest will cause sweet cherry fruit to loosen at a predictable rate," he says, "and the force required to remove the fruit is dramatically reduced."

For example, a force of 1, 3 to 1.8 pounds is required to remove Windsor fruit at optimum maturity. But with Ethrel this can be reduced to 0.7 pound.

Bukovac tested Ethrel's abscission-hastening ability in a field study at Kewadin, Mich. "A single three-second shake with a trunk shaker removed 85 percent of the fruit from the Ethrel-treated trees, while the same amount of force yielded only 49 percent of the fruit from untreated trees," he said.

"Samples of the Ethrel-treated fruit were brined and finished into Maraschino cherries," he said. "The quality of the Ethrel-treated fruit was equal or superior to that of the non-treated fruit."

Another advantage, other than ease of harvest and superior quality, is Ethrel's long-term effect on limiting tree damage, according to Bukovac. "Since less shaker force is needed to remove the fruit, the grower can expect less harvesting-machine damage to trunk and limbs."

Ethrel's potential for controlling abscission, color development, maturity and flowering in other fruits is currently being explored.

Researchers have successfully promoted color development and harvest maturity in apples. "Some bugs remain to be worked out," Bukovac said. "The accelerated maturity is accompanied by pronounced preharvest drop, but this early drop may be overcome by some chemical sprays now being used."

With continued research of Ethrel's potential on apples and pears, as well as cherries, Ethrel may be here to stay, and a grand old tradition is on its way out. Cherry dunking, it seems, is doomed to become another victim of progress.

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU NEWS

The president of the state's largest farm organization charged the Supreme Court with destruction of responsible states' rights in testimony before a Senate subcommittee June 14 in Washington, D.C. Elton R. Smith, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, testified in support of Senate Bill 911, which would allow states to determine whether their meat inspection, labeling, ingredients and other requirements may be more stringent than minimum federal standards.

According to Smith, there's more at stake in this issue than high-quality hot dogs for Michigan consumers. He termed the court's doctrine that the enactment of federal legislation pre-empted the field as an example of destruction of states' rights and individual freedom through coercion by units of higher government and the courts.

Included in this issue is whether my state will be permitted to continue its high ingredient standards for comminuted meats. Federal action should not force a state to downgrade its high standards just to fall in line with required federal minimums," Smith said.

'We believe this to be an infringement of states' rights.'

The Farm Bureau president said that many federal laws have been passed to establish minimum requirements for state programs, but do not deny states the right to have higher requirements. He pointed to the present minimum wage law and proposed no-fault insurance legislation considered by Congress last year as examples.

Michigan now has the highest comminuted meat standards in the nation and permits the use of only skeletal meat in products such as hot dogs and Grade #1 sausage. Federal laws regarding comminuted meat products are not as stringent as Michigan's standards and allow the use of by-products.

Free moon light at NBJ!

The light that went to the moon. NASA never takes chances. So when they wanted a foolproof flashlight for the astronauts to take to the moon, they went to ACR Electronics and said, 'Build us a foolproof flashlight.' And ACR did.

Astronauts need it because the totally new and revolutionary Moon Light works equally well in space, on the surface of the moon or back here on earth. It's small (3 1/2 in. long), light (6 1/2 oz.), neat and has no external switches to corrode or break.

Husbands need it when they go fishing early in the morning, look for tools and parts behind the workbench or to rattle around in their tackle box, tool box or briefcase.

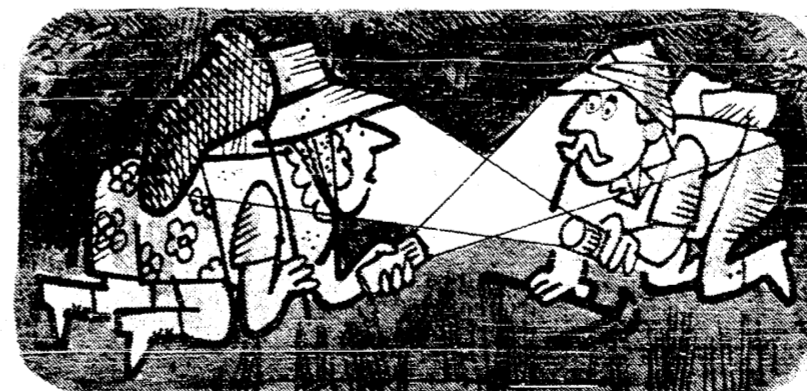

Mothers need it to put in the drawer next to the silverware in the kitchen since the flashlight in there now doesn't have any batteries, and the bulb's burned out anyway.

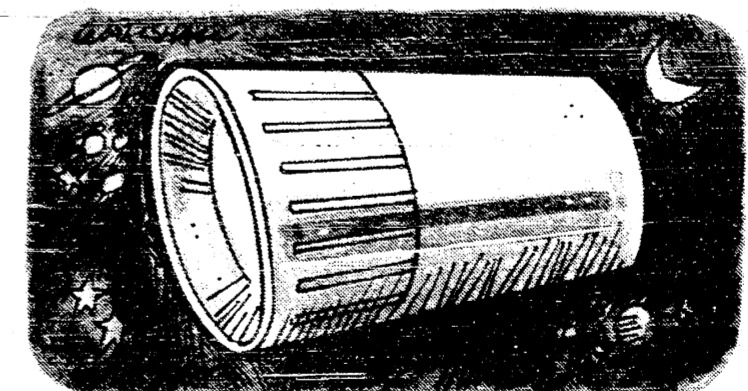

Kids need it for safe bicycle riding in the evening, reading comic books under the bed covers and finding their way to the bathroom after midnight.

Glove compartments need it for a portable trouble light, map light or roadside emergency signal.

Everybody in the dark needs it. If you're not in the dark now, store it away somewhere and forget about it until you are. The space age battery has a five-year shelf life and ten times the staying power of an ordinary flashlight.

Just $200 and it's yours free! Open a new NBJ checking or savings account for $200 or purchase a $200 Certificate of Deposit at either of our Brooklyn or Napoleon area offices. Or you can get one free by adding $200 to your present NBJ savings account.

Explorers Enjoy Fishing Trip

Explorers Scott Gormely, John Roberts, Greg Bertke, Paul Meinhardt, Tim Ahrens, assistant advisor Don Brown, and advisor Ted Roberts went on a trip up north to spend an enjoyable weekend of fishing and fun. They stayed in a cabin near Small Bass Lake in Gaylord, Michigan. One of the first things to be done when they arrived was to give the van a drink of water which Scott took the honors of doing by fetching some water in a tea kettle and pouring it in. Many thanks to Mr. McEwan for the use of his van and I hope that the use of woad tea that Scott put in your radiator. The weekend was hi-lighted by two things. One was going to Gaylord to church and then to see "The Poseidon Adventure" at the theatre there. The other was the catching of one 13" bass and three tremendous bull-frogs. Because of this great catch, the Explorers ended up buying a lot of steak for a steak dinner that was fantastic. The weekend was very enjoyable and everyone wants to do it again this fall. To earn enough money to do this again the Explorers are selling the centennial books that were printed and sold back during our centennial in 1967. These books have a very good history of Manchester as well as pictures of many of the centennial events. If you would like to purchase one of these books you can get them for $1.50 at the Gambles Store or Brown's TV in Manchester. Explorer Post 404 (B.S.A.)

New Building For North Sharon Bible Church

"We have a new building but we're still the same church," Pastor Bill Enslin declared Sunday. North Sharon Bible Church's new building is completed at last. Well, almost! With only the kitchen and baptistry incomplete, the church filled the new building with over 400 people on July 1 for "Old Fashioned Day". The congregation hopes to complete everything in the next few weeks and to baptize in the new heated baptistry Sunday night, July 7. Pastor Enslin wishes to thank over 100 members of the congregation who worked almost around the clock in an amazing spirit of cooperation and self-sacrifice. Many devoted vacations to the work, and took time off without pay. Special thanks to Mr. Walt Schrader who headed the volunteer work, and to Mr. Tom Harris who supervised the entire operation. Thanks also to the building committee who planned the building and coordinated the work. Members are: Pastor Bill Enslin, Wesley Steinhelfer, Tom Harris, Floyd Proctor, Paul Patrick, Ellsworth Petsch, Fred Irwin, Albert Herman, Nelson Jones, Gerald Proctor and Andrew Policht. Mr. Policht also served as treasurer of the building fund. "We've added a new antique to our collection," Pastor Enslin announced on Old Fashioned Day. "It's across the street and we simply outgrew it." But the old building is still in use, even at 100 years of age. It presently houses the first through sixth grades for Sunday School and Junior Church. Eventually the congregation hopes to utilize it as a youth center throughout the week.

Copper Bracelets: for luck, not cure

To some people, copper bracelets make fine good luck charms. That puts the bracelets in the same league as four-leaf clover, rabbits' feet and horseshoes, notes the Michigan Chapter Arthritis Foundation (MCAF), a United Way service. But arthritis victims who think cheap jewelry can relieve or cure their condition are deceiving themselves. Leading arthritis specialists agree that wearing the bracelet, or any other good luck charm, is, by itself, harmless. But danger arises, they added, if arthritis patients, impressed by the popularity of thefad and by widely publicized testimonials from well-known people, rely solely on the bracelet instead of seeking or continuing medical care. Most people with even the severest form of arthritis can be helped by modern medicine. Pain can be relieved by medication, and progressive deformity can be prevented by particular exercises, special regimens of rest, and other measures. Arthritis victims are sitting ducks for quack medicines and "magic" or "mysterious" cures. That is because some of the major forms of the disease, particularly rheumatoid arthritis and juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, are "on again, off again", ailments. During the "on" periods, the pain can be intolerable, forcing the patient into a wheelchair or to bed, and crippling the arms and legs. Then, suddenly, and for no apparent reason, the pain goes away and the victim, happily, can stand and walk again. Understandably, the new medicine, new therapy, or new "magic" copper bracelet put on just before the pain went away often is credited with bringing on the relief, known medically as a period of remission. MCAF estimates that some $403 million a year are paid out by victims of arthritis for fake "cures", nostrums, gadgets, tonics, machines, and other worthless remedies -- including copper bracelets. Wearing a copper bracelet for relief of arthritis is comparable to wearing an amulet to ward off evil spirits. The green stain that appears where a copper bracelet is worn is merely evidence of copper reacting with moisture on the skin -- a kind of rust. Medical scientists are sure that rust, or copper bracelets, are not of the slightest benefit in arthritis.
