Optimist Club Outstanding Citizen

Tom Opal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Opal of Bemis Road and a sophomore at Manchester High School, is the outstanding citizen for the month of November.
Tom came to our school from Milan during the second semester of the eighth grade.
In the ninth grade Tom ran cross country and track. This year Tom made our varsity cross country team, running at our fourth finisher for the most part. He worked on the class floats and acted as one of the escorts for the homecoming court.
Tom attends the Free Methodist Church in Milan and is involved in the youth group.
Tom is interested in all sports and spends a lot of time horseback riding and reading. He is an all-A student and his future plans call for joining the Air Force to learn to fly and to pursue a college education. Mr. Klager is a member of the awards committee. Congratulations Tom!!!

4th Annual Christmas Bazaar Friday, November 30th

Manchester Methodist Women making homemade noodles.

Christmas! Along with the Christian beauty of Christmas is the question of what to get grandparents, aunts and uncles and those on your holiday list who "have everything." The answer? The 4th Annual Combined Christmas Bazaar on Friday, November 30 from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Emanuel United Church of Christ Hall.

Unusual and beautiful hand-made gifts will be plentiful, with as wide a variety of ideas and originality as the ladies of three area churches are able to create. Knitted, crocheted and embroidered work, Christmas candles, tree decorations, stocking-stuffers and many other gift ideas at the Thread and Thimble. Ye Ole Bake Shoppe will tempt you with holiday cookies, breads, pies and jams and jellies, while the Delicatessen will feature home-made chicken and noodles from the Manchester Methodist ladies; the Emanuel United Church of Christ ladies are making chili and schnitz-brod; and St. Mary's speciality this year, German potato salad and sauerkraut casserole.
Also for your convenience while you shop, a beef and rice casserole luncheon will be served from 11:30 to 1:00.
Mrs. Roland Grossman of Emanuel United Church of Christ, Mrs. Lynn Carpenter of Manchester Methodist and Mrs. Allen Benedict and Mrs. Duane Beuerle of St. Mary's as co-chairmen of the event, extend their invitation to enjoy an early shopping spree and lunch at the 4th Annual Combined Christmas Bazaar.

President William K. Cray, of the Union Savings Bank of Manchester, announced the successful completion of another year's Christmas Club program. Mr. Cray indicated that the Manchester Bank had 309 checks totaling $57,594.00, distributed to the local, eager Christmas shoppers. This indicates that the Bank's average check is running close to $200.00 and that each Manchester Christmas shopper this year, will be armed with additional shopping power to make this Christmas a happy one for all.
The completion of this year's Christmas Club program is just really the beginning of savings for next year's Christmas. Hopefully, both the amount of savings and the number of accounts will increase.

Good-by To Main Street

By C. Chapin

Saying good-by to Main Street after some 30 years is Margaret (Peg) Kirk Dittie, of 315 Riverside Drive, Manchester.

In 1920 Peg began working at the old Candy Kitchen, operated by Pete Johnson, which was located where the Hardware store is at present.

Across the street above the old Hotel (where Grossman Huber stands) there was a chair factory called Michigan Seating and she next worked there until in 1933 she moved down the street to the American Legion Hall. The second floor dining room at that time housed the Michigan Bell Telephone offices and there Peg stayed until 1941 - Ford Motor Co. for two years, then Mingus Manager (later the KGA) for six years. Peg then joined Millard Uphaus for nine years followed by five years at Kraus Drug.

Peg's working years on Main Street provide us with a capsule history of the growth and change of the downtown business district.

TOY SAFETY PROJECT LAUNCHED IN COUNTY

Volunteers are now being recruited to implement a toy safety project in Washtenaw County. The program, designed to remove banned toys from store shelves, will begin within the next two weeks.

The project is sponsored by the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), a new federal safety agency. It will be coordinated locally by Prosecuting Attorney William Delhey's consumer protection division.

"This is a preventive measure," said Delhey, "and it will help consumers and county merchants alike."

The inspectors, called Consumer Deputies, will be trained by the CPSC. After an orientation period they will be given a letter of introduction to store managers, a list of approximately 1500 banned toys, and a packet of reporting forms. If banned toys are being sold, the Deputy will notify the manager.

"Deputies will have no legal power," says Lynne Bukky of the CPSC's Cleveland office, "but their reports may bring about legal action if banned toys are not removed."

The volunteer Deputies will be asked to make at least three inspections per week until Christmas and to report their findings to the Consumer Action Center, the consumer protection division of the Prosecuting Attorney's Office.

According to Vivian Shevitz, Consumer Action Center staff member and director of the project, "Banned toys are still being sold. We want to get them off the shelves." Persons wishing to volunteer as Consumer Deputies or to get more information should call the Consumer Action Center, 665-4451.

DINNERTABLE HAZARDS

Thanksgiving dinner means gravy and family get-togethers. But dinner-table talk can be hazardous to your health.

Talking and eating—simultaneously—can cause havoc. Ordinarily, both food and air go into your upper throat. But at a critical point they take two very separate pathways. If there is a mixup in directions, the results can be disastrous.

Just before you swallow anything, including food or saliva, you take in a little air and then hold your breath. Without even realizing it. When you do, this closes a valve in your throat called a glottis. Then, everything you swallow is forced down the tube to your stomach. Only after your swallow is finished does the glottis reopen. You start breathing again.

On the other hand, when you breathe, the air goes through your nose or mouth, down your throat, then into your windpipe. From there, it moves into two main tubes, called bronchial tubes, which branch into smaller and smaller passageways. The passageways end in hundreds of millions of air sacs, where oxygen and carbon dioxide are exchanged.

The minute you talk, you start to breathe. Try holding your breath and see how hard it is to talk. The food can "go down the wrong way." If food completely blocks the windpipe and cannot be dislodged in minutes, then Thanksgiving dinner and everything else is all over. Steak and big portions of food are the major offenders. If the food travels past the windpipe into the air passageways, it can cause a lung disease called bronchiectasis.

To survive Thanksgiving and all other meals, be sure you talk only after you finish swallowing. To find out more about breathing hazards and lung disease, contact your TB-RD Association. And use Christmas Seals to support the fight for life and breath.

INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE

The Internal Revenue Service today announced that it is currently considering the tax consequences of contracts providing for the deferral of payments from the sale of livestock between marketers and owners.

A Revenue Ruling will be published on this matter upon completion of the review.

In connection with this review the Internal Revenue Service has withdrawn a private letter ruling issued in September 1973, which approved a particular transaction of this type.

The withdrawn ruling applied to deferred payment contracts for sales between livestock market corporations and their separate dealer corporations and cattle owners. The ruling held that amounts payable to livestock owners under such contracts are includible in the owner's gross income for the taxable year the amounts are paid, or otherwise made available to him, whichever is earlier.

Because this matter is now under further consideration, taxpayers who enter into this kind of transaction do so without any assurance that they may be able to report the income from the transaction in a later year.

STATE COLLEGE AID APPLICATIONS NOW AVAILABLE

Students who would like to enter a private college in the fall of 1974 should apply now for a Michigan Tuition Grant, according to the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Michigan (AICUM).

"Nearly one out of five students who attend independent colleges in Michigan qualify for Michigan Tuition Grants of up to $1,200," AICUM President John L. Gaffney said.

"The Michigan Tuition Grant program, which was established by the Michigan Legislature nearly 10 years ago, has helped thousands of Michigan students who might otherwise be unable to attend an independent college of their choice."

Gaffney said the Michigan Department of Education is now accepting applications for Tuition Grants from high school seniors, community college students and others who would like to enroll at one of Michigan's nearly 50 independent colleges in the fall of 1974.

Additional information on the Tuition Grant program and an application form may be obtained by writing to: College, P.O. Box 186, Lansing 48901.

Twentieth Century

The first meeting of the Twentieth Century Club for 1973-74 was at the home of Mrs. Paul Alber, November 6. Mrs. Finn Olsen was co-hostess.
Following the business meeting a request was made for articles needed for a retarded adult class in Jackson. Items such as felt scraps, lumber pieces, marbles, decorating scraps of bits of lace, rickrack and colorful tapes, colored tissue paper, cardboards, old mixing bowls, muffin tins, nails, screws, etc., and men's large shirts to be used as smocks during painting sessions. Anyone having such materials to donate may call Mrs. Robert Swartz for information.

Mrs. Chester Koosold was appointed chairman of a Special Events committee for the year. It was announced that the Club will host the County Federation of Women's Clubs on April 19, 1974. A $25.00 donation was voted to the Manchester United Fund.
The program was an enjoyable trip to Europe from London to Rome along with a side trip to the 1972 Olympics taken through the witty script and pictures of Mrs. Stanton Koosch. The tour included a visit with June Leeman Harbeck, whose husband, Paul, had been an exchange student in the Roosevelt home some years ago.
Refreshments were served by the hostesses. The next meeting will be in three weeks, November 27 at Mrs. James Pratt's rather than in two weeks in order to avoid the Thanksgiving Holiday.

What happens when you're offered $20,000 for your $27,000 pile of ashes?

You take it if you haven't increased your home insurance to keep pace with inflation. This is the kind of problem you could face if you bought and insured your home for $20,000 in 1968. See me to find out if your home is insured for its full value. I'll tell you about a low-cost State Farm Homeowners Policy that will insure your home for all it's worth... and keep it that way with automatic inflation coverage.

ASK THE CHIROPRACTOR

Slightest Impact Can Cause Whiplash Injury

Q. About two weeks ago, my husband and I went on a fishing trip. On the way we got lost and stopped the car at a pull-out. We both had our heads down looking at the map and were not aware that the car was rolling. The pull-out had a slight grade, and we rolled into a stone wall. You have no idea how surprised we were when we hit it. There was some damage done to the bumper, but I don't think we were going over 5 miles per hour. A few days later, my husband developed a stiff neck and frequent nagging headaches. I've had no trouble whatever, but my husband's neck is causing him so much trouble, he has even lost interest in fishing. Last week he missed two days of work. Very unusual for him. Could this minor incident be the cause?

A. Without examining your husband, I can only give a very general answer. It doesn't take much of a jolt to cause a whiplash injury in the neck, especially when the impact comes as a surprise.

Even minute changes in the alignment of the spinal bones can cause significant trouble. Unfortunately, these misalignments in the neck bones tend to correct themselves. A stiff neck coupled with headaches could very well be related to the incident you described. You would be wise to see your Chiropractor at once.

GIVING THANKS AROUND THE WORLD

Here in America, most of us celebrate Thanksgiving in the tradition of the Pilgrims and Indians with reverent prayers, floral decorations, a turkey and a pumpkin pie. Elsewhere in the world, people celebrate their own feasts of thanksgiving in other ways.

In Japan, a holiday of thanksgiving is celebrated on November 23rd. The Japanese visit their religious shrines, and serve each other candies and pots of hot ceremonial tea.

The Sardinians hold a thankful Festival of the Savior at the end of their harvest season in August. They go in procession to church at sundown to give thanks for the harvest and to offer up prayers for the hunting season to come.

Bavarian thanksgivings also take place just after the August harvest. There, the natives wear their colorful, traditional peasant costumes and perform folk dances dating from the 1300's and 1400's.

Many nations and communities have special days of thanksgiving, commemorating an end of a war, a plague or other disaster, or after bringing in the harvest. On most occasions of thanksgiving, the bountiful harvest is represented, at least in part, by lovely flowers. FTD, the Extra Touch florists, offer a delightful array of colorful arrangements, highlighted by an eye-catching "Thanksgiver bouquet" of fall flowers.

As an extra touch gift, you'll find a handsome Sportsman's Decoy. This is a wood grain ceramic duck filled with fresh or dried flowers. The duck is a permanent gift, of course, to send with the flowers to a relative or friend across the country.

When you give thanks this year with flowers or in some other way, you will be joined by people of many lands who will be doing the same thing.

Ask Senator GRIFFIN

By cutting through red tape, members of Congress can often lend a hand to those with problems involving the federal government. Through the columns of this newspaper, Senator Griffin answers questions of general interest. He will respond personally to all communications addressed to: Senator Robert P. Griffin, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

I know that Michelangelo painted the frescoes in the famous Sistine Chapel while lying on his back on a scaffold. After seeing the Capitol Rotunda during a recent visit to Washington, it dawned on me that it, too, may have been painted in the same fashion. Am I right?
—A. S., Pontiac

The paintings in the Rotunda, along with the murals in many rooms and hallways in the Capitol, were created by the great Italian-born artist, Constantino Brumidi. Brumidi began his paintings in the Capitol in 1855 and continued painting there until his death in 1880. He often expressed the wish that he would live long enough to "make beautiful the Capitol of the one country on earth in which there is liberty."

Brumidi often worked on his back, lying on a scaffold. Unfortunately, this led to his death. Late in 1879 he fell from the scaffold, but managed to grab a platform where he hung until help came. Brumidi never fully recovered from the shock and died a few months later in 1880. Tragically, he never fulfilled his great desire in life, but we are indebted for his devotion to his adopted land, and the beautiful works which he left to all Americans in our National Capitol.

I have some spare time now that my children are raised, and I'd like to put it to good use. I've heard of the National Center for Voluntary Action, and would like to have some information about this federal agency.
—R. A., Saginaw

The National Center for Voluntary Action is not a federal agency, but a private, independent organization established in 1970 to help harness the resources and energies of volunteers in the private sector. The organization came into being as the result of a study by a special Cabinet Committee on Voluntary Action created in 1969 by President Nixon. In its effort to help mobilize the vast potential of our nation's volunteer resources, the Committee has consulted with hundreds of leaders involved with volunteer organizations.

To offer your services, write to the National Center for Voluntary Action, 1625 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

ENVIRONMENT IMPORTANT TO EMPLOYEE SAFETY

A recent survey of 31,707 disabling job injuries in Michigan showed that the building and environment in which a worker is employed are as important to his safety as machine guards, protective equipment and other precautionary measures.

The State Labor Department said that its survey showed 7,113 disabling injuries resulting from such things as noise, heat, parking lots, ramps, roofs and floors. This total represents over 20% of all disabling injuries in the state.

With the coming of ice and snow each year, parking lots, particularly, are a source of injuries to employees, the department said.

The department emphasized that clean and healthful work areas and well-maintained buildings and premises are vital to employee safety.

Agriculture in Action

Michigan Farm Bureau

American people are a compassionate people; they believe that all citizens should enjoy the "good life" on our "good earth." They not only believe it—they demand it. But they are not always willing to pay the price.....

They looked at their environment and said: "There shall be no more pollution." Pipelines, offshore drilling, new refineries and nuclear generating plants were blocked and delayed. The use of coal was banned and emission control standards were placed on auto manufacturers and other industries. Strict pesticide rules were imposed and zero discharge orders were issued to farmers.

They looked at their alums and said: "There shall be no poor people in America." Welfare programs and food stamps were instituted and higher minimum wages were set.

They looked at their economy and said: "There shall be no more inflation." And so there were price and wage controls, a freeze on meat, and consumer boycotts.

Their demands considered and in the process of being met, the American people looked at the government's share of their paychecks, at the increases in food and gas prices, at the very real threat of an energy shortage, and declared, "It is not good."

A very wise man once said: "Be careful what you ask for—you might get it." The compassionate American people have forgotten the basic economic law: TINSTAFL—there is no such thing as a free lunch. Small wonder they have forgotten, when the idea that there can be something for nothing is instilled at early childhood with Santa, the tooth fairy, Easter Rabbit and golden eggs from magic geese.

Farmers hope consumers will remember TINSTAFL if and when unemployment insurance is extended to agricultural workers. It will be another added cost to food producers, a cost which eventually will be reflected in the price of food. In fact, there's a double cost involved in this legislation which has been introduced at both the state and national levels. First is the 3 to 6 percent estimated cost to the farmer-employer. Second, when farmers switch to production of crops that do not require hand labor and reduce their number of seasonal workers, these unemployed people will become candidates for welfare.

Farmers are among those American people who care about their fellowman and the good earth, too. But they recognize that no matter how worthy the goal, how desirable the project, how legitimate the need—neither sympathy nor the best of intentions ever bought a free lunch.

Patriotism will be the main theme of the Middle School Thanksgiving Assembly on Wednesday morning, November 19. The 7th and 8th grade chorus will sing some appropriate songs about our country and will be assisted by the entire student body or others. Mr. Paul Lemon will present a special tribute to the flag entitled "This is Old Glory".

"In these days of seemingly declining respect for our national government, we think the students need something now and then of a patriotic nature", Mr. Ted Tapping, Manchester Middle School Principal, pointed out when describing the program. "It won't be any big production, to be sure, but we do want to emphasize that despite all the negative publicity this is a great country."

Percentage to date - 80% think its adequate. Comments: But compared to what, the Auxiliary is fine, but just adequate. 20% do not. Comments: Too many cop cars, their not stopping the leaf burning, theres room for improvement.

Next weeks question will be: Is there a drug problem in Manchester, rumor has it there is, would you know if your child were using drugs?

Memoriam

He called from above in a voice we could not hear. He said, "I need you now. You have nothing to fear." And he looked down upon all the good our had made, And he decided the time had come when Doug should be paid. He said, "while you have been there you've put Beauty and Love in everything you've done, but now I want you to have a rest my son." Though your visits been short, you've done all you can, I want you to be with me, now that you are a man. And though when you have gone, there will be sorrow, They will see that I know best in the dawning of their tomorrow. Those who have gave you all of their love, Will know you are waiting for them above."

I have written this in memoriam of someone who is deeply missed and still loved, not only by me but many others, Doug Barth.

Tired businessmen might try resting.

HISTORIAN SEARCHES FOR TRACES OF MISSING CIVIL WAR SOLDIER

An historian's professional curiosity can lead him into lengthy searches for the little personal mysteries of history that never appear in the textbooks.

That's what has happened to Central Michigan University historian George Blackburn, and he's turning to Jackson County people for help.

During some of his research recently, Blackburn became intrigued with a letter written by Austin Blair, Michigan's Civil War governor, regarding a Jackson County soldier in the Civil War.

The soldier was Allen Maxson who deserted in 1863, was sentenced to be shot and who escaped the day before President Abraham Lincoln suspended his execution with the observation: "Must I shoot a simple-minded soldier boy who deserts, while I must not touch a hair of a wiley (sic) agitator who induces him to desert?"

Until shortly before his desertion, Maxson's service record and his family background were good. And the turn of circumstances led Blackburn to wonder what happened to him.

The CMU historian's search led him to the National Archives, the State Archives, records of the Michigan Soldiers' Home, a Jackson County history, county and township census and a special 1890 county veterans' census.

And while he's found post-war evidence of Allen Maxson's brothers and father remaining in the county, Allen Maxson, the deserter, apparently slipped beyond the bounds of historical record.

Allen was one of four boys from the family of Abram C. Maxson who served in the Union Army. His father was a respectable farmer of Leoni, Mich., advanced in years and quite blind, according to Blackburn.

As a member of the First Michigan Infantry, Volunteers, Allen Maxson was a good soldier for his first two years of service. Shortly before the battle of Chancellorsville, however, he was robbed of $300, and asked his colonel's permission to search another soldier who Maxson believed had the money.

His request was refused and Maxson developed a hatred for the service. After being wounded at Chancellorsville in 1863, he and his brother Horton, who was ill, were sent to Baltimore to recuperate. Two months later, in July of 1863, the fully recovered brothers started forth to rejoin their regiment. Some Maryland acquaintances persuaded them to desert.

In early December of 1863, Horton voluntarily returned to his regiment. Allen was soon arrested, convicted and sentenced to be shot.

His brother wrote Governor Blair for aid in securing clemency. Blair, in turn, appealed to Michigan Congressman John W. Longyear to try to win a commutation.

It is from Longyear's papers, at the Historical Collections of the University of Michigan, that Blackburn discovered and became interested in the case.

Longyear's appeal to Lincoln was successful, but the day before the president suspended the sentence, Maxson escaped.

"Where Maxson went and what happened to him is a mystery that cannot be solved from available sources," Blackburn writes, in a brief account of his search in "What Became of Allen Maxson?", an article appearing in the "Chronicle," a publication of the Historical Society of Michigan.

"Did he join the flood of wanderers to the West and find a nameless grave?", Blackburn asks.

Anyone having information about the missing Jackson County soldier is asked to contact Blackburn in care of the History Department, Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

KNOW YOUR MADRAS

Is it genuine Madras or a Madras look-alike? If you don't know, laundry time could spell trouble.
"One of the distinguishing characteristics of the genuine Madras is that its colors run and bleed," says Bernetta Kahabka, extension clothing and textiles specialist at Michigan State University.

Thanksgiving Services At Sharon United Methodist Church

Over 100 years ago, in 1863, Abraham Lincoln proclaimed a national day, "a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father."

On Thanksgiving morning, November 22, at 9:30 a.m., area churches will unite for a Thanksgiving service of song and praise to be held at the Sharon United Methodist Church. The Rev. Joseph Wise, of the Emmanuel Church of Christ, will bring the message and there will be special music by the choir. Other ministers participating in the service will be the Rev. Walter Damberg, Manchester United Methodist Church; the Rev. Father Raymond Schlinkert, St. Mary's Catholic Church; and the Rev. Michael Peterlin, Sharon United Methodist Church. There will be a fellowship time following the service.

All are invited to attend the service to give thanks to God. How many more blessings are ours than what the pilgrims had when they first celebrated Thanksgiving!

You Cared You Shared

Congratulations to the people of the Manchester area who made it possible for the 1973-74 Community Chest Drive to successfully meet and surpass its quota of $17,400.00.

As in past years, the Manchester Area which includes the people of Bridgewater, Pleasant Lake and Sharon have again responded to their compassion for others. It is truly a period for Thanksgiving.

My personal thanks go out to the many contributors, to the Community Chest Board, the Division Chairmen and to their Captains and Solicitors for a job well done.

It is grand to be a part of this community.

Francis W. Smith,
Campaign Chairman

Community Chest To Hold Meeting

The Board of Directors of the Community Chest will meet at the High School Library at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, November 28. All Division Chairmen and Board members should be present.

Manchester Plastics Expand Operations

Manchester Plastics has expanded again. This time not at the Manchester Plant, but at a different location—Homer, Michigan.

The new plant is Homer Plastics and is a subsidiary of Manchester Plastics, Inc. The 25,000 sq. ft. building is of steel construction in shades of beige and yellow.

The Board of Directors of Manchester Plastics selected the new site because they felt that the area provided a ample labor source and also the new plant would give assurance to our customers of being able to meet their requirements in the event of fire, or other disaster, which might disrupt production at the Manchester Plant.

At present, there are six injection molding machines at the Homer facility. Plant manager at Homer is Curt Hackworth, who had been a foreman and quality control manager at Manchester. Kenneth Kenyon, who had been a foreman at the Manchester Plant, is the plant superintendent.

Mr. W.J. Gamin, formerly plant manager of Manchester Plastics, who retired in December, 1970, supervised the construction of the entire new plant.

Named Manager

Max Kenyon, president and chairman of the board of Manchester Plastics, announces the appointment of Emery Jonas to Vice-President and General Manager of all plant operations.

Manchester Plastics, an injection molder of automotive and appliance plastic parts, has plants located in Manchester and Homer, Michigan.

Jonas has worked in the capacity of controller, production manager, works manager and assistant plant manager while employed by the Electric Auto-Lite Company of Toledo, Ohio; C.M. Hall Lamp Company of Detroit, and Hayes-Albin Corporation of Jackson. He has had vast experience with injection molded and diecast parts, primarily supplied to the automotive and appliance industries.

Mr. Jonas is a high school and business college graduate of Bay City, Michigan. He also received industrial engineering instruction at Toledo University and the University of Michigan. He and his wife, Pearl, and son, Greg, reside on Briarcliff, Ann Arbor.

NOTICE

To residents of the Manchester area: there will be no parking on the Village streets from 2:00 a.m. to 5:00 a.m. as posted.

The first Thanksgiving was a demonstration of brotherly love between the white man and red man. May this Thanksgiving remind us all of the need to once again look to our brothers with a mutual feeling of brotherly love.
