Klager School Notes

On Thursday of this week, February 7, there will be an open meeting for all Klager parents at 8:00 p.m. in the Klager gym. The purpose of this meeting will be to discuss the possibility of forming a parent organization at the Klager School. It is hoped that all interested parents will be able to attend and bring with them their thoughts and ideas on what kind of a parent organization they would like to have and how to get it started.

Well over one hundred parents and children joined together for the sledding party held last Saturday, February 2, on the Klager hill. While the snow was not deep enough to provide much of a cushion, it was sufficient to allow for unlimited thrills and good times. This, along with the bonfire, coffee, hot chocolate and snacks made for a very enjoyable evening. A special thanks is in order to Mr. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Bunn and the many others who worked so hard to get things ready and then clean up after it was all over.

Council and Fire Dept. To Make Inspections

The Village Council and the Fire Inspector have discussed the need for inspection of the buildings in the downtown area of Manchester. It was decided this would be beneficial to the Fire Dept., also, and in the near future we hope to be making these inspections. Your cooperation will be appreciated.
Committee Chairman

Dutch Continue As Victors 81-51

by Jon Roger Hardenbergh

The Flying Dutchmen from Manchester rolled over the Bulldogs of Morenci to make this contest the fourth straight victory (league), since falling to Clinton on January 4. The win kept the Dutchmen alone in first place of the Lenawee Conference.

The Dutch cagers jumped to an early 5 point lead behind the scoring of John Savage with 8 points and a 5 point offering by Scott Gormley. First period score, Manchester-15, Morenci-10. The second period began with Manchester getting the jump, and then it happened! The Dutch offense went wild with Rich Kennedy scoring 10 points, Gormley pouring in 9 points and Savage adding 6 points. Dean Decker and Bruce Gray contributed 2 points apiece, while the defense held the Bulldogs to only 4 points. Half time score was Dutch-44, Bulldogs-14. At the half time mark the turnovers were even at 15 (but wait).

The Morenci Bulldogs controlled the jump starting the third period and out scored the Dutchmen 21-19, but Manchester was too far ahead to be caught. Savage, Gormley and Kurt Kensler finished the third period scoring 4 points each. Third period tally, 63-35 Manchester. The fourth period began with Morenci getting the jump again, but the scoring of Gormley with 6 points, Kennedy and Decker talling 8 points, 4 apiece, left the final score in Manchester's favor, 81-51. Remember the turnovers? Well, Manchester won there also. On numerous walking and 3-second violations the Dutch turned over 35 times to Morenci's 25. The Dutchmen's field shooting of 62% made up for the mistakes. Tonight was co-captain night as Gormley pumped in 26 points and Kennedy added 18 points. Savage followed with 16 points. Gormley was tenacious on rebounds, ripping off 10 while Savage and Decker gathered in 8 and 6 rebounds, respectively.

The Little Dutch dropped their contest 48-39. Many turnovers plagued the Junior Varsity who were within 4 points in the fourth period but failed to get closer.

As I said before, Manchester remains in first place with a 7-1 record. Clinton

Another says "It was Saturday night and the furnace broke and when he came home all I said was The Furnace is broken and he said "Well Freeze then", and went to bed."
Cabin Fever the early settlers called it. Which reminds me of a delightful time in Village History.
In the period of about 1912 - 1915 the Option for liquor came up locally. Each county could vote their preference. Well Jackson and Lenawee County voted dry. But Washtenaw voted wet.
With the railroads running right on schedule come Saturday night the 6:00 P.M. train each week-end disgorged about 150 folks off the Jackson - Toledo run. Up Main St. they came, most of them carrying suitcases and Youcum and Marx the local dry goods store stocked cardboard cases and each week sold them completely out. Two hours later with each case filled with booze and the travelers by now not so steady on their feet and the lines a bit straggly drifted back to the depot for the 8:00 P.M. return trip. The business had been brisk and if anyone ever missed the return trip, we didn't hear of it.
Which just goes to show that one mans sin is often another mans profit.
We can reach back a bit further to the 1800's when Victorian prudery was in full bloom and if you check the newspaper advertising for those days you can find that small lace skirts were sold which were designed to tie on the curved piano legs, presumably to cover the suggestive curves, considered too daring for exposure in modest parlors.
Ever further back on the time scale -- 1818 saw the whipping post in common use for disobedient citizens. Those were the good old days my friends.
In a year when even the groundhog couldn't make a decision, just remember -- If February is here, can March be far behind?

Chief Zsenyuk plans to move his family to Manchester as soon as housing is available.

DUTCH BLAST ADDISON!

by Tom Fitzgerald
Last Thursday night the Manchester Dutchmen took on the undefeated, untied Panthers of Addison, and the Dutchmen rose to the occasion, crushing them 31-22.

It wasn't really ever close as the Dutch won the first match, Chris Ventimiglia got a pin at 1:27. At the next weight Brian Merriman had to forfeit because of overweight, teams score 6-6. John Roberts beat his man 10-0, team score 10-6. Joel Tobias then pinned his at 3:49, team score 16-6. John Young then lost a tough decision 4-23, team score 16-10. Steve Cross went out and won a close match 4-2, team score 19-10. Phil Kryzaniak went out and put the crowd into hysteria winning 2-1, team score 22-10. Greg Berke came out to wrestle Fred Bass and lost by a pin at 1:41, but it didn't help, team score 22-16. Mark Eversole ripped his man 4-3 and Addison's hopes for staying undefeated were slowly fading away. Dave Reineck put the icing on the cake for Manchester by beating his man 7-1, team score 28-16. Manchester's last win of the night was a shut-out by Ross Haussler 4-0, team score 31-16. Addison had the last weight rapped up with a pin on Garry Eversole in :22 seconds.

7TH GRADE HOOPERS CRUSH GRASS LAKE
A strong defense and balanced scoring by the Manchester Middle School 7th Grade basketball team was just too much for their Grass Lake opponents as the Dutchmen won convincingly 43-17 last Wednesday.

Bob King and Rick Kryzaniak led the Dutchmen attack with 10 points apiece. Craig Rogers chipped in 9 points in a fine performance both offensively and defensively.

February marks the 64th Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. In celebration, the Wolverine Council are sponsoring a contest with the Scouting program. Each den is invited to set up a display which will be judged on Sunday, February 10.

Milk has traditionally been in the same category as other "warm" words in our vocabulary: Mother, blanket, home, love... It's associated with health, vitality, and some even proudly proclaim that "Milk drinkers are better lovers."

The care and feeding of mothers cost more today than it did a few years ago; blankets are more expensive; the prices of building a home and keeping it warm have soared, as have the costs involved in courtship and marriage to one's true love.

Consumers have been aware of the increasing costs of the "warm" things in their lives, but it wasn't until milk prices started rising that they reached into the phraseology bag and pulled out "moral responsibility" charges. "Milk should be produced for need-not profit" is another emotional statement currently in circulation, cleverly designed to stir up consumers, news media, and government officials.

It was a TV news reporter who came up with the classic remark: "...dairy farmers are more interested in producing milk for a profit than in fulfilling their moral responsibilities to produce milk for children." It's highly unlikely that the reporter or any of his listeners would work the 60-hour week a dairyman puts in for a "wage" of less than most factory workers earn in a 40-hour week—or make the approximate $200,000 investment necessary to produce that milk.

It's also unlikely that the charge of shirking their moral responsibilities created any guilt feelings among dairy farmers. Caught in the same government-fed inflation as consumers, the dairyman's costs of producing milk have soared. Yet, in 1972, an average production employee in a factory only had to work for 9.4 minutes to pay for a half-gallon of milk, compared to the 11 minutes it took in 1966.

Dairy farmers' cooperatives have also been a target recently, with thought leaders spouting the "big is bad" philosophy. But the "big" co-ops represent lots of "little" farmers—farmers who would go out of business without the marketing and bargaining assistance their cooperatives provide.

If the production of milk had to depend solely on moral responsibility, the cost would be—not high—but price-less....

Family Service Annual Report

Three board members elected for three year terms at the annual meeting of Manchester Family Service were Mrs. Hobart John, LeRoy Marx and Mrs. William Schwab.

Statistics from the 1973 report were such items as 57 families were assisted including 161 individuals. 63 of this number were children and 28 were senior adults. Approximately 725 phone calls and contacts were made during the year in helping clients receive the assistance needed. 44 agencies and professional were contacted.

8300 miles were driven by 13 volunteer drivers to hospitals, clinics, doctors, Social Service Department, Social Security and Legal Aid. Manchester Family Service has no professional case-workers or paid employees. The aim of the group is to find the assistance needed from existing agencies and if necessary get the client to the agency.

One burn-out was assisted along with generous aid from many individuals in the entire area, the American Red Cross, Salvation Army, and St. Mary's Church.

Furniture was distributed on a "Have" and "Need" basis which Manchester

Family Service was able to do by keeping these two records.

Clothing and bedding were distributed from individual sources; through a clothing shop at the Emanuel Church of Christ and by referrals to the House-by-the-side-of-the-Road.

There are two numbers to call when Manchester Family Service is needed. — Claire Reck, 428-8852 or Dianne Schwab, 428-8976, the chairman and vice-chairman of the group. Mrs. Merle Armstrong is secretary and LeRoy Marx is treasurer.

Celebrates 80th Birthday

Many memories were shared at a family party given in honor of Carl Schwab's 80th birthday which he celebrated January 29th. On Sunday evening an old fashioned pancake supper was served to about 30 members of the Schwab family. A wood fire was built in the old family cookstove and everything prepared for the pancakes to be fried on the old cast iron grill. Grandma brewed coffee in the boiler and Rosemary made homemade applesauce. When Bill had enough pancakes made (at least for one round) and Barbara finished frying sausage, everyone gathered around the dining room table to enjoy their meal.

It was a thrill for the young and old to see the kerosene lamps being used and also the Schwab's first home-made electric lamp was lit in the living-room.

Dessert for the dinner was a three layered cake made by Maggie. Can you imagine blowing out 80 candles in one breath? Grandpa did. (All but 3 that is).

After the meal Doris discovered Grandma had placed the old granite dishpans in a pretty obvious spot and that the tank on the cookstove was full of hot water. So everyone lent a hand and the dishes got done.

No party is complete without everyone, young and old enjoying some euchre games with Grandpa Schwab.

Karl expressed the sentiment of the family very well. It was fun, the food was good but I just didn't have room for cake. (I'll take mine home).

WE'VE MOVED!

Rymack Printing is alive and well (more or less) but we're in a new location. 118 E. Main behind Donut Time U.S.A. or as Don Limpert corrected me, "you're not behind Donut Time, you're located in the North Side Shopping Plaza." So here we are anyway, and presses are rolling where Dick Way's donuts used to. Please use our "Shopping Plaza" entrance. After a few more days of organized confusion, we should be off and running.

A special thanks to my dad, brothers and brother-in-law for doing all the work while I watched.

WHAT'S AN INDIAN ANYWAY?

by Harry Macomber
He ran to me and said "Hey friend" "I'm nearly at my patience's end, it seems I'm wrong no matter what I say, What the hell is an Indian anyway?"

I quickly showed my thoughtful face, Left my new reputation I disgrace. He felt that I must surely know, For he'd seen me leave an Indian show.

We then sat down upon some chairs, To contemplate the white man's errors. "If the real redman we would find, We'll have to use a game of mine."

He felt that this would be alright, If on the problem, we shed some light. "We'll look at them from different views, See if you can catch some clues."

The Liberal sees a might cause Upon which to quickly work his jaws, And show the world he really cares, For the helpless redskin standing there.

His bills will make great cocktail talk, More rules and money will be sought. The Liberal Press will praise him fair, But why is that Indian still standing there?

The Conservatives all cry When it comes to giving pass them by. Money's not the answer here, Only greed would come from this they fear.

They made it on their own they brag, Indians can too, if they don't lag Let's see, we need a new National Park, The Indian Reservations a good place to start.

The bigot slowly nods his head The only good Indian is one that's dead, He looks for proof both near and far, There see, an Indians in that bar.

The Anthro's hear the Indians grief, Better make a study, but don't be brief, Years and years it takes to find, What the Indians knew all the time.

The hippies come from miles around, The one real friend now has been found, Teepees and beads, they go all the way, "Right on man" but that was yesterday.

The apple Indians give their views, Our Cultures dead, can't you see too? The savages lost, that's sorta sad, But the white life isn't all that bad.

Even Nixon's great middle class, Want a packaged Indian they can pass, From place to place as fits their needs, They judged him on some long past deeds.

So you see my friend, said I, It really depends upon your eyes, But if you guessed any of these you lose, For just a man, walks in those shoes.

Mexican Market Day

All the students participated and brought in a fantastic and variety of articles, sea shell to luscious cookies, and cactus plants, typical of any market some items were red hot sellers, others slow. All the students made a profit both educationally and monetarily and from the comments it seemed as though they were doing very well.

The project came to real life as the crafty merchants with their interesting displays matched wits, with the haggling bargain hunters, thus proving to be a very successful and highly rewarding educational and learning experience.

From the comments of students it was great, they were exhausted and had that great look of happiness, satisfaction and day well spent.
