maintain his balance and keep his temperature at 98.6 degrees. Every function taking place in his body is under the control of his nervous system. Remember, too, that a child

Q I read in a popular child care book that spanking a small child could be injurious to his spine, and that it might create serious problems in the future. I don't believe in beating a child but our little boy responds very nicely to a little swat on his behind. What is your opinion, doctor?

A. Please don't get me into the middle of the age-old controversy about sparing the rod or vice versa. Just let me tell you about the structure of your little boy's body.

Remember the song that goes, "knee bone connected to the high bone, thigh bone, hip nected to the hip bone, hip one connected to the hip bone, hip one connected to the back bone. Every parent should keep that song in mind when punishing a child. A severe shock to any part of the entire body. With this knowledge in mind, you can see that a severe thrashing could very easily harm a small child's backbone and thus cause pinching of the spinal nerves. A misaligned over again, I'd think of some other form of punishment.

In May the Jaycees and Auxiliary ran a bike safety program. We invited State Police Trooper to come in and present a program to our children. Trooper Earl Raczkowski, at the Clinton Post showed films and talked to Klager and Pleasant Lake Elementary children.

Following this safety program we ran a poster contest with prizes ranging from bike lites, handle bar grips, bike mirrors to reflectors. We really had some wonderful posters. We wish all of the children in Manchester and surrounding towns a safe biking summer. A list of the Poster Contest winners follow: Pleasant Lake-Alice Lawrence, David Fowler, David Hassett. Unless the Congressional Record is expanders, you probably aren't aware that you have an investment in Polish bisexual frogs...

A study of these frogs, at a cost of $6,000, was cheap compared to the $121, 000 of your tax money the governmen spent to find out why people say "aint't." Or the $70,000 to study the smell of perspiration given of by Australian

Before you get shook up about these "little" expenditures the government has paid with your tax dollars, remember it isn't easy to have an income the size of the U.S. Government's and still come up with a year-end deficit!

Granted, these are some far-out examples of government spending and there's even a possibility that the expenditures could be justified (who knows what contributions to society the study of Polish bisexual frogs might bring?). But they are an indication of the availability of government handouts for most any reason. Telephone directories devote pages to government agency listings which shovel out billions of taxpayers' dollars. It's these agencies, totally unrelated to vital government services, that are pockets of every person in the country. There are few people who can avoid bearing some of the responsibility for this situation, Often, those who protest the loudest about the rising cost of living are the same ones guilty of boosting inflation. The U.S. has become a nation of citizens' pressure groups seeking benefits, often without regard to the impact on others or the welfare of the nation and its future. When people cannot, or would rather not, take care of their own wants today, they use pressure groups to shake down the money tree in Washington.

Inflation is a product of human wishful thinking, Certain desires on the part of people have overpowered common sense. The political choices and decisions of the people have become dominated by desire more than a willingness to face a reality that would demand of them full personal responsibility for their own welfare. Even though history shows the dangers of looking to government for personal security and welfare, we evidently haven't learned. .

Looking for a cure for inflation? Before you blame the Polish frogs, take a good look in the mirror.

MORE THIS and THAT!

The weather is glorious! Some days are better than others, but Main St. in our town is breathtaking. Large maple trees shadowing the sidewalks, the park is green and thanks to the Chamber of Commerce for the delightful petunias.

Tom Armstrong has given us a present in doing such a fine job of restoring the old house on the South side of the park. The library charms all visitors and Bob Lawson has made a remarkably fine job of the old Methodist Church property. The flags flying up and down Main St. on the holidays, make us proud to live

Under this smooth surface, outwardly peaceful, there is a strong, vital current running, the inner life of a small town, not apparent to visitors but which provides the vitality for living.

The coffee shop on Main Street each morning provides a meeting place for an exchange of news and conversation. Herb and Isabell Widmayer have just returned from three weeks in New England. Claire Reck has gone to Iowa to attend the 50th reunion of her college alumni. Armand and Denise Dresch have left for a three week trip to California. Al Gaige has sold his Plumbing Shop and the American Legion has Bingo downtown every Wednesday evening. The parents have all proudly congratulated the graduating class and First Communion and Confirmations are celebrated. The Ice Cream Socials will start soon and this week all the children are attending the co-operative Bible School, Ruth Walcutt suddenly passed away and stunned Main St. We cannot be consoled-In this small town we know each other and we

Board of Education To Discuss Millage

The operational millage which was voted down at the annual election Monday, June 10 will mean a loss of over $650. 000 to the school district. This includes approximately $444,000 in local taxes and over $200,000 in state aid funds which will be lost to the district by virtue of the amount of millage levied at the local level. With an additional penalty of $68,000 in state aid being withheld during the 74-75 school year the school district will lose over 1/2 of its operating funds or $718,000. This would make it impossible for the school district to provide the required 180 days of student instruction for the 1400 students expected in the 1974-75 school year.

The Board of Education will meet Wednesday evening to make a decision on a course of action.

Engagements Announced

Community Project Suggestions Asked

The Manchester Chicken Broff sponsored by the Manchester Optimist Club and the Manchester Jaycees is a total community project. As such the sponsoring organizations would like to invite community residents to suggest projects the funds from the current Broil could be used for. Past projects have included Kirk Park, shelters in Carr Park, lights and fence at the athletic field.

The Chicken Broil Committee, composed of members from both organizations, would welcome ideas or suggestions concerning large projects which would benefit primarily the youth of the community. Suggestions may be sent to: The Chicken Broil Committee, P.O. Box 514, Manchester, Michigan.
