In many divisions you will notice more sections added with many more classes than ever before. Your writer has drawn community interest toward the Fair Book for many obvious reasons. One not so obvious is the fact that the exhibitor must be very familiar with the book when you exhibit your articles. A later article will explain to you the exhibitors entry form which will be used by the Fair this year. This form is also recom-

This protion of the book has been completely re-organized. New sections such as weaving and cross stitch are added. In the sewing division you will find a section entitled Woven Fabric as well as one for Knitted Fabric in every age group. On Page 71, Division 7, Section 3, Class 1448 will be Bicentennial Dress. I've had fun and enjoyed being alive for our Nation's 200th anniversary and having a small part in Manchester's celebration. I feel sad for those that were bored or just coulon't care less. VICTIMS OF REGULATORY OVERKILL

Farmers aren't against safety and health EPA, which -- supposedly -- have the "protection" of citizens as their reason for being? To understand that paradox, consider what made the American farmer the envy of the world -- how it is possible for a small 4 % of our population to be so efficient and productive that it provides food and fibre for the other 96% with enough left over to sell overseas and still help feed the hungry in other countries. It was hard work, inventiveness, the right to manage his own business, and that great motivator - profit - not government edicts

What farmers object to -- what kills their incentive to produce and, sometimes actually kills their businesses... is that more and more of the decisions affecting their farms are being made by non-farmers, and more control over their businesses is held by people who do not even understand today's agriculture. They have people sitting in an office in Washington dreaming up compulsory, rigid unrealistic regulations for the farm, ranging all the way from privies to power takeoffs. They have a federal agency with the authority, if it should decide to use it, to require a farmer to get a per-

MICHIGAN SCHOOL VOCAL We got into the hotel at Neura ASSOCIATION

On Sunday we left Corwen for Coventry attired in our tuxedos of white coats, black trousers and laced shirts with black bow ties. When we arrived there about 1:30 we immediately sang our concert in the old rebuilt cathedral (bombed out during the war). Then we again boarded in two modern hotels in South Kensington. We had quite an experience learning how to board the subways for downtown and found them very fast and efficient. We were pretty much on our own there and found it fascinating to shop in the big down town centers. On the 14th we again boarded the busses for the return trip to Harwich, England, the channel boat overnight crossing. We had a fine trip back and the next morning proceeded to our next stop at Bremmen, Germany, where we sang in the open air court yard market place and also in the big twinspired cathedral.

We stayed 2 nights there and then on again to Copenhagn, Denmark. When we got there after one ferry ride, we rooms made us feel just like home. We sang a 2 hour cathedral-church service in the town of Ko je (pronounced Koor)
