A TASTE-TESTER'S DELIGHT or What To Do Until The Sun Goes Down

by Anita Bruder

By now, all of the committees have been named. If you are one of the 550 workers you've received pre-sale tickets, an almost endless roster of names and divisions, and your family has probably been one of the first to acquire the garb of this year's broil—a Manchester Chicken Broil tee-shirt. The weather committee annexes a corner on the eclectic powers of the day and functions on a higher channel to insure good weather. July 21st, the great 'equalizer' will be effected, plugged into tradition and operated by 1100 hands. The sense of town unity pervades even the smell of 10,000 charcoal broiled chicken halves.

The afternoon will be punctuated by tastes: a slip of the radish, a dab of dressing in an attempt to uncover the secret of the slaw, a pat of fresh country butter on a warm bun. Needless to say, it will be a leg-man and breast-grabber's delight! Perhaps the best local publicity is the day of the broil. The smell of butter-basted broiled birds permeates the air and weaves a trail of noses to the carry-out department. A more picnic smell and spirit may be conveyed home or to work in a boxed lunch. But not unlike eating out, the Broil itself is a spectator sport. So to amplify the essence of picnicking, tables and chairs are set up at the athletic field. It also provides for the broil-widows ample area and distance from which to supervise.

At the end of the evening, detergent companies may vie for the one-time white gloves and aprons for a T.V. commercial. The voluntary eagerness to work in the pits has subsided to a physical tiredness and yet, a second energy is spurred. The women who may have expected a smoked husband or son to come home tired from the field may find him at Carr Park catching up on what they could have missed, or gathering summer stories to be shared in the dead of winter. It is also the time to reflect on the accomplishments of a community effort. When it is all over and the last ember is out, the hosting village will sleep soundly having been re-assured through interest and participation that it is indeed, a loved one.

Board of Education Special Meeting

The Board of Education will meet Monday, July 11, 1977, at 8:00 P.M. in the Study Auditorium. The purpose of the meeting will be an "ORGANIZATIONAL MEETING" for setting such things as the night of Regular Board of Education Meetings, Committee Assignments, etc.

THE "STAR SPANGLED GIRL" ON MAIN STREET

by Anita Bruder

For the past couple of weeks I have fallen asleep to the humming of a buzz saw. Across the street a small group of old and new friends worked frantically on revitalizing Old Goodyear Hall which was soon to become a favored ancient relative caught in the tall spin of the doings of a re-union. July 1st, The Black Sheep Repertory Theatre opened up to a beautiful and gala summer evening.

The cocktail hour preceding the dedication and curtain call gave the initial friends of the theatre the opportunity to realize it was all happening - to shoot tired, glassy-eyed reassurances that the railing was dry, the power was on, and that Old Goodyear Hall was dressed and ready for the greeting of a newer generation. The old girl was not only ready, but re-assuring. Walking up the stairs and into the lobby I could see that the external foundation of the theatre was re-inforced with an inner spirit, a core of hard physical effort, emotional deadlines and pervading pride. The community beamed.

After all the town fathers, guests and family members were seated, Dave Little and Billie Lillie gave the verbal dedication. Included in their remarks was a regard for the theatre as a vehicle for continued art and creativity in the Manchester area. Then the lights were dimmed. "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" began filtering through the speakers and the first performance of The Black Sheep Repertory Theatre began.

"Star Spangled Girl" is an excellent choice for the re-awakening of our old spangled girl on Main Street. Sophie Rauschmeyer, portrayed by Linda Hart, engages the dual interest of two young men who are attempting to keep together a protest magazine. The all-American girl initiates a subtle change by bringing the two men, Andy Hobart and Norman Cornell, closer to their home grown passions which will temporarily proceed their political passions. Only one man wins her affections, even though Stan Gill and Owen Anderson did such a fine job that I was sorry Sophie couldn't be shared. But in the course of her relationship with the two of them another perspective is accepted and another love is restored. Sophie reviews their love in the spirit of America. Old Goodyear Hall also continues the spirit of America, but not only in terms of physical attraction.

NORMAN: One thing you were right about. Physical attraction isn't enough. It's like chewing gum. It starts off great, but the flavor doesn't last long.

ANDY: That's why they put five sticks in a pack.

SUMMER RECREATION

These are the scheduled activities for the week of July 11-15:

At the Junior Playground, in addition to indoor and outdoor activities, the children will be making papier mache jewelry and egg carton punch-out necklaces on Monday, games on Tuesday and Thursday, making pencil toppers on Wednesday, and going on the weekly picnic on Friday. This time we will meet at Klager School at 9:30. Bring a sack lunch and something to drink will be provided. Children should be picked up at the school at 11:30.

On Monday and Thursday, we will travel to Bohn Pool in Adrian. The cost is 35¢ for each child. You must be at least 7 years old and able to swim. If you are under 7 years or unable to swim, you must be accompanied by an adult. You must wear a bathing cap if your hair touches your shoulders. A bus will leave from the tennis courts at noon and return at 3:15 P.M. A permission slip is required unless you have brought one previously.

Wednesday there will be roller skating at the Adrian Skatatorium. The cost is 50¢, which includes skate rental. A bus will leave from the tennis courts at 12:30 and return at approximately 3:30. Each person will need a permission slip unless they have turned one in previously.

There are five plays during the summer season of the Black Sheep Repertory theatre. With the upcoming summer season Old Goodyear Hall may observe a newer generation of theatre, a newer audience. But as an exchange for those observations the residents of this area have more art, creative productivity and a new, old friend.

Jaycee Auxiliary Annual Art Show

The Manchester Jaycee Auxiliary is planning to hold its fourth annual Art and Craft Show on Thursday, July 21 from 12 noon to 8 p.m. This outdoor event will be held on the lawn at the Manchester Middle School, across the street from the annual Manchester Chicken Broil. The Broil will be held the same day and is expected to serve 8-10,000 people, a ready market for your art.

All area artists and craftsmen interested in displaying and selling their works should register now. The fee for the day will be $5.00. First entries received will be given their choice of display areas. Registrants may use the entry form below.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

I have now begun my official term in office as of July 1. Over the past several months a number of people have asked me what they can do to improve our schools. Many have said that they attend board meetings sometimes, but become discouraged because they really don't understand all of the complex workings of the School Board. I have replied to them that the single most important thing that I feel they can do to effect change in our schools is to attend Board meetings and I say this now to the community at large. Don't become discouraged. It is no shame to lack knowledge. Only to remain in that state.

One could believe that Boards behave differently when there are people in attendance observing the decision making process that effects every aspect of the education of our children. Another opinion might be that the folks in the audience at School Board meetings are in some ways similar to the home folks supporting the team from the stands. Although, one should not draw a total analogy between sports events and the School Board meetings. It is important to observe the proceedings so that one knows if they are being represented as they choose to be, and that ultimately is determined by the votes of individual board members on issues. A large number of you spent a great deal of time and energy in helping me have contact with the community and ultimately be elected and I am appreciative of this. It is my earnest wish to serve you to the best of my ability. I would remind you of the upcoming Organizational meeting of the Board of Education July 11, 8:00 P.M. The purpose of which is to elect officers for the Board for the coming year. If I can be of service to you, please contact me at 428-7173.

Yours for better education,
Corliss L. Mick
School Board Member 7-77 - 6-81

A Report From The Manchester Education Assoc

On June 29, 1977, representatives of the Manchester Education Association and the Board of Education met to begin negotiating a contract for the 1977-78 school year. Unfortunately, an impasse developed almost immediately because of the Board's insistence that the Association submit its total package of proposals without the Board submitting anything to the Association in return. The Board planned to review the "scope" of the Association's proposals before submitting a counter proposal. In view of the late starting date for negotiations this year, the Association felt its request to mutually exchange packages at the same time was only fair and equitable. However, the Board spokesperson, Mr. George Johnson, a representative for the Michigan Association of School Boards (MASB) indicated that this was an issue that the Board wouldn't compromise on, indicated that there apparently was nothing further to talk about, and adjourned the meeting at approximately 8:45 p.m. No future meetings were scheduled per Mr. Johnson's request.

A number of very special British and American people were formally recognized Monday afternoon in the Lakenheath Officers' Club. The Anglo-American Community Relations Committee presented the Gen. Frederick Castle award for outstanding personal contributions towards fostering Anglo-American relations. The Committee also honored those selected to receive the annual "Good Neighbor" awards.

Col. Robert E. Messerli presented the awards in his capacity as co-chairman of the committee.

This year's nominations for the Castle award were of such a quality that the Committee found it virtually impossible to select just one person, as has been the policy in the past.

Therefore, two Lakenheath people have been selected for the Castle award. They are Lt. Col. Wayne R. Lehr, commander of the 493d Tactical Fighter Squadron; and Bryan W. Fleming, a physician assigned to the USAF Hospital here.

Colonel Lehr's nomination cited his outstanding leadership in encouraging aircrews to get involved in activities to improve understanding between British and American people.

His success in this venture is evident in the number of 493d TFS people who have actively contributed to the activities of their off-base communities with the result that many officers under his command have earned "Good Neighbor" awards for their efforts.

Colonel Lehr was also personally involved in many community relations-oriented activities sponsored by the Wing office of information. These included his work as part of the base speakers' bureau and the base tour program, his willingness to act as escort officer for members of the British press during their visits to the base, and his unit's close association with the South Yorkshire Police Department.

Soon to depart Lakenheath on reassignment to Langley A.F.B., Va. Colonel Lehr certainly takes the best wishes of many British and American friends with him.

Colonel Lehr is the son of Glen Lehr Sr., Manchester, Michigan.

TENTACLES

We like to refer to our bank as the supermarket of financial services.

At no other type of financial institution can you benefit from so many financial services as you can from a bank.

For example, some financial institutions are happy to have you deposit your funds with them and they will entertain some types of loans you might need. And, that's all.

Other institutions only loan money and only loan money for specific purposes.

Some others are a little more flexible but still not as complete as a bank.

Some of the services we offer our customers fail to show a profit. We believe, as a bank serving our community, we should offer every possible financial service. You expect us to and we do.

Like a supermarket, customers of our bank needn't shop elsewhere for other financial services. Everything is here, under a single roof.

Make your "banking connection" at a bank that offers everything, like ours. You, then, face the world with a great deal more confidence.

The New Chevrolet Coupe.

It can bring out both drivers in you.

At last, A car that can satisfy the "family driver" in you, without taming the "sporty driver" in you. Whether you choose the Caprice or Impala, you'll be amazed at all the space the coupe has to offer. The "family you" will experience more rear seat head and hip room plus more trunk space than in last year's Chevrolet Coupe. For the "sporty you," the coupe has bold, crisp styling with a unique wraparound rear window treatment and smart trim and appointments.

But the fun begins with the available "F41 Sport Suspension." It can turn an ordinary test drive into a proving ground. You get higher capacity springs, special shocks, heavy-duty rear suspension bushings, larger diameter front stabilizer bar, rear stabilizer bar and GR70-15 radials on 7" wheels (GR70-15 radials and 7" wheels required with F41 Sport Suspension). Do something for both the drivers in you. The family you, and the sporty you. Let us take you for a test drive today.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU
LIMTCORAL

WHY ALL THE FUSS?

There's an old story about the farmer who put off fixing his leaky roof until it rained...because when it wasn't raining, he didn't need to fix it.

All people have this inborn quirk of putting things off until there's a crisis. That's what allowed Hitler to get such a head start on his plan for world domination in the 1930's, and it brought on the energy shortage that meant long lines at service stations in the 1970's.

We are heading for another inevitable crisis and it concerns all of us whether we farm, sell insurance, drive a truck or whatever. We are heading for a world food shortage.

The facts are there for all to see:

(1) The world population continues to grow. Don't let statistics and numbers cloud this fact. Each year there are more people in the world to feed, and there is no reversal in sight.

(2) Because there are more people, they require more space to live, more land for housing, schools, government buildings, roads, parks. As a result, less land is available for farming.

(3) The world is seeing its supplies of fuel diminished and new sources of energy are not readily available.

These are the facts—we are going to have to produce more food for more people on less land and with less energy than ever before. And that's what the agonizing appeals for more money for agricultural research are about. There is a time lag, from a year to 15 and, in some cases, 30 years, from the time an agricultural research discovery is made to the time that discovery is used to increase farm yields. We've just about "used up" all the research techniques in improving yields, and money for agricultural research is not even keeping pace with inflation. One prominent research official compared it to having cans of food on a shelf. He said we have reached up and taken down those cans over the years and now the shelf is almost bare.

If we don't have enough food to feed a growing world population in a few short years, hungry countries are going to try to get their food by force or by such tactics as the oil embargo. If we don't spend more for agricultural research, we simply will not have enough food.

Family Care for the Elderly

Many bewildered senior citizens have written to the National Suggestion Box for help. The government offers to take care of them if they will move into a nursing home. But many would prefer to live at home with their families who want to care for them.

Ms. Roma Lowe of Nyack, New York suggests that "the government subsidize families for taking care of their elderly members in preference to placing them in nursing homes."

The government prohibits family members from receiving federal funds to care for their elderly. Uncle Sam is afraid that families will keep the money for themselves rather than spend it on the elderly family member.

This federal policy, formulated in 1935, has facilitated the growth of today's nursing home industry. Five-billion dollars of federal funds were funneled into nursing homes last year alone. Nursing home abuses of federal funds are legendary. Meanwhile, many elderly citizens are forced to live apart from those they love.

Several citizens have advised us of small programs within their states which help family members care for their elderly. Texas has a program which actively seeks caretakers from within the older's family. In addition to keeping the family together, the program has reduced the number of elderly citizens institutionalized and saved the state taxpayers money.

However, because of the federal prohibition, states must rely on their own revenue to support such innovative elderly care programs. If federal policy was changed to allow family care, results could translate into dollar savings for American taxpayers and end much unnecessary misery for our senior citizens.

If you have a suggestion for the solution of national problems, write to the National Suggestion Box, address shown above.

PROJECT COPE

Question: Recently a friend of mine gave birth to a child who has a cleft palate. Even though their pediatrician is helping them with the medical aspects of the problem; they are feeling pretty overwhelmed right now. What can you tell me about this disorder? Is there a place that they could go to get more help?

Answer: Cleft palate - a split opening in the roof of the mouth - and cleft lip - the failure of the two sides of the upper lip to grow together properly before birth - are sometimes found together in the same baby, although both of these conditions can occur separately. Approximately one baby in every 700 - more than 250,000 people in this country - is born with a cleft defect. More boys than girls are affected.

The baby with a cleft lip and/or palate urgently needs many kinds of specialized care and treatment. Many hospitals have established specialized clinics to deal with this problem. The University of Michigan Cleft Palate Center, located at University Hospital, is one such place. There the necessary skills of pediatrician, oral surgeon, plastic surgeon, anesthesiologist, audiologist, orthodontist, otolaryngologist, and speech therapist can be coordinated to provide appropriate treatment at the best time in the child's development.

The most-immediate problem that must be faced soon after birth is how to feed the baby, since clefts hinder normal sucking; also the child cannot close off the mouth from the nose, as occurs in normal swallowing so that the milk often runs out of the infant's nose.

When an infant is only a few days old, a prosthetic device to fit over the hole in the palate can sometimes be inserted to provide an adequate roof for the mouth and prevent further distortion of the mouth by the rapid growth that will take place before surgery can be completed.

At 3-6 weeks of age, lip closure operations are usually performed. Immediately, a child's appearance improves. Closure of the cleft palate generally occurs between 12 and 24 months of age.

Hearing problems are frequent in children with cleft problems; therefore infants should have a thorough ear examination at 4-6 weeks of age and monthly thereafter. Speech and language skills often lag; therefore, many children need speech therapy after surgery before they can produce intelligible speech. Orthodontic problems are prevalent; most children will need their teeth straightened.

Dentures are often needed, too. The Ann Arbor Cleft Palate Association is a new group of parents of cleft palate children. The purpose of the organization is to provide information and support. It is recognized by the University of Michigan Cleft Palate Center but is an autonomous group. The organization can be reached by contacting Melissa Thun (668-6068), Judy Steed (973-9867) or Nancy Erickson (475-9086).

(Project COPE is a federally funded program which is being operated during the current school year by Special Education Region V for Chelsea, Manchester, and Whitmore Lake School Districts. Its aim is to inform the community about the special problems and needs of pre-school children. Those who have questions, concerns, or who wish to refer a child for diagnostic services can contact Ellen Eagan, Project COPE Co-ordinator at 475-8131, ext. 50 or Dr. DeYoung at ext. 48).

Legion Auxiliary

The meeting for June was held in our new Legion home on June 8th. Eleven members were present. The meeting was conducted by Phyllis Baker in the absence of our president.

Reports were given by the various chairmen.

The July meeting will be our annual picnic to be held at Carr Park at 6:30 p.m. July 13th. In case of rain we will meet at our Legion Home. Junior members are invited. We will have our report from the girl state representative at the meeting. The Auxiliary will furnish meat, rolls, butter and beverage. The July committee is JoAnn Clark, Helen Popkey and Della Widmayer. Each member is asked to bring a dish to pass and table-service.

Annual Alpenfest July 12 thru 17

Everything from the Sechselauton Celebration to Die Groste Kaffe Pause to the Rollbrett Wettbewerb will be held on the Gaylord Alpenstrass during the community's 13th Annual Alpenfest July 12-17.

The six-day Bavarian-style celebration in the Alpine Village of Gaylord will be held on the Alpenstrasse, a three-block area of the city's Main Street (Highway M-32) in the central business district.

With the Sechselauton Celebration, ringing of the six o'clock bells on Tuesday, July 12, the Alpenfest will officially open.

Highlights of the festival, which last year attracted thousands of people from all parts of the Midwest, will include the annual "Burning of the Boogg" in which everyone's troubles will go up in smoke; Alpenfest Costume Parade; Die Groste Kaffe Pause (World's largest coffee break); concerts and contests of all sorts; queen's pageant, and the Grand Parade on Saturday afternoon.

Last year's Grand Parade attracted a crowd of more than 25,000. More than 100 parade units are expected this year.

People visiting Gaylord that week will see yodeling, arm wrestling, still-walking, dancing, picnicking and even a male "most beautiful knee contest," among other things. The Alpenstrasse, to open each day at 10 a.m. Wednesday-Saturday, will be lined with artists and craftsmen displaying their works of art.

For further information, persons may contact the Gaylord Area Chamber of Commerce, South Otsego Avenue, Gaylord, Michigan 49735 or phone (517) 732-4000. Complete schedules of Alpenfest activities are available on request.

A million times we've needed you. A million times we've cried. If our love could have saved you. You never would have died.

Sadly missed by his wife, Bessie, daughter, Evelyn; son, Dale and Family; his grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

CARD OF THANKS

A special thanks to Rev. Tim Miles and Brother Wayne for their prayers and comforting words, also to Jenter Funeral Home.

The Family of Russell Patrick

Many thanks to my family and friends for their cards, flowers and visits while I was in the Chelsea Hospital and since my return home. "Thank you" hardly seems the right words for all those fine people who remembered my 92nd birthday with cards, gifts and especially those who took time out from their busy days to stop by and say, "Happy Birthday". I am grateful to each of you, and especially to my daughter, Gola I add a special thanks. Mable Loucks.
