CELEBRATES 50th ANNIVERSARY LET ME BE YOUR BABY

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Garlick were honored at an Open House in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday, January 6 at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Garlick.

In Retrospect

There are a considerable number of places and things about Manchester that happened here during the twenties and thirties which could bear retelling but about which we cannot remember all the names and details connected with those occurrences. As we said before we are writing these vignettes "off the top of our head" with no research nor checking up. I don't think it's the technical details that count, just the salient facts.

Among the organizations which existed in Manchester was the "Young Men's Club". When I first knew the town it was a very lively group and it had quite a large membership of the men of the area. At this time there were no Jaycees, Optimists nor Chamber of Commerce, but this club filled the community's need for a service club.

It was located in the rooms on the second floor of the buildings which housed the tavern of Mery Kern and the meat market of Trolz and Eschelbach on East Main Street east of the river. In the club rooms were card tables, a pool table, a kitchen, etc., and there each evening gathered various of the fellows who had no families or who had perhaps been chased out of their homes. The club's heyday, however, was the annual feather parties held by the group before Thanksgiving and Christmas. They were looked forward to by most everyone and provided the funds with which the group did its good deeds during the year and they did many charitable deeds. Most everyone planned on attending both these events and a great deal of the holiday poultry was accumulated at these times. The tickets were very reasonably priced and the refreshments were excellent and the poultry first class.

As time went by other organizations were formed and seemed to take over the functions of the club and its prominence gradually faded and the club faded from the community.

I have a rather nebulous memory of several other incidents which happened during the twenties and thirties which were quite humorous and which should be chronicled so they won't be forgotten. About some of these I can't recall all of the facts but I shall report them as I can remember them and maybe our readers can fill in the blanks.

For instance, there was for years, perched on the west bank of the river, a

Middle School Says Thank You and Please

The staff and students of Manchester Middle School would like to thank all of the people who have saved Campbell's labels for us during the last five years. We have received many pieces of valuable audiovisual equipment such as tape recorders, listening centers, and a film strip projector from the Campbell Soup Company in return for these labels.

We are saving labels again this year and are asking you to help us. Labels from all Campbell's soups, beans, and tomato juice as well as V-8 Juice and Franco-American products are needed. Notice the addition of V-8 Juice and Campbell's Tomato Juice this year.

The collection period runs until February 23, 1979. If you don't have a middle school student in your family or neighborhood send the labels into any of the Manchester Schools and they will be sent to the Middle School. There is also a box at the Manchester I.G.A. to put them in. Thank you again!

BOARD OF HEALTH MEETING

Last July, the State Public Health Code was signed into law in Michigan. One of the most important steps in the implementation of this code has been the identification of a list of important health problems in Michigan from which a list of proposed basic health services is presently being developed. To be designated a "basic health service" a program will have to be universally available throughout the State. Furthermore, the legislature can no longer designate services as required or "basic health services" without also providing matching funds for implementation.

The State Health Department has made available to the Washtenaw County Health Department and other local health departments and health systems agencies the list of health problems in Michigan and the proposed list of basic services to respond to these problems. At this point, the State and local Health Departments are asking for citizen participation in the development of this list. Therefore, the Board of Health is setting aside time during the Board's regular monthly meeting on Friday, January 19, 1979, beginning at 9:00 o'clock a.m., to hear from anyone in the County who might wish to add to or comment on the list of proposed basic services. The Board of Health meeting will be held at the Washtenaw County Health Department conference room at 2355 West Stadium Boulevard, in Ann Arbor.

Anyone wishing to review the preliminary list from the State Health Department prior to the Board of Health meeting may do so by contacting the County Health Department, Ann Arbor Office at 994-2490.

IN RETROSPECT

short distance south of the mill, a small building painted red, known as the "Red Bird" and which contained a shoe repair shop. The back of the structure was perched on posts which supported the back of the building on the steep river bank.

In this building there was, for a number of years, a shoe repair shop but I can't remember for sure, the proprietor's name. His sidekick, however, was Charlie Stringham who spent quite a bit of time socializing with this owner and with all the other gentlemen of leisure, who gathered there to settle all of the affairs of the world.

One day I remember being down town when I heard a loud clatter and a crash which could be heard for blocks. Quite a few of us rushed out into the street and down towards the river bank from whence came the noises.

A closer investigation showed that the supports at the back of the shop had given away and the building and contents lay piled in a heap at the bottom of the bank. A crowd had begun to gather when up the bank scrambled through the timbers and the dust, Charlie S. and the shop proprietor, quite badly shaken but unhurt.

Several witnesses said that never before nor since had they seen Charlie move as fast as he did scrambling up the river bank.

The remains of the structure were evidently not worth rebuilding and the shoe repair tools were rescued and the remains of the structure eventually disappeared.

The Washtenaw County Convalescent Homes Auxiliary will hold its next meeting on Wednesday, January 17, 1979, at 9:30 a.m. in Zion Lutheran Church, 1501 W. Liberty, Ann Arbor. A speaker is planned.

Well, here we are into the new year and already you are having difficulty living up to all the new year's resolutions you made.

It is amazing, however, how many people follow through on their new year's resolution concerning a checking account and a savings program.

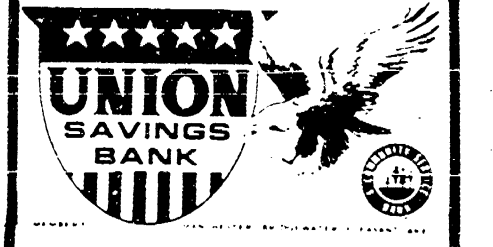

Each year about this time we see new savings and checking programs beginning. People have decided they have waited long enough to enjoy the benefits of a checking account and have put off too long getting serious about a savings program.

If these were part of your resolutions and you haven't initiated your checking or savings program, get with it.

That first step, for some reason, seems difficult to take. Once you have begun a program of regular savings and a bill paying program with your checking account, the whole idea becomes easy.

Join those seeking financial security and bill paying ease by stopping in and getting your program underway.

FAMILY SERVICE

William Schwab and the Girl Scouts and Mrs. Judy Miller and the FHA girls, collected over 700 cans and packages of food plus $2 in cash and many coupons. More of the village was covered this year, but unfortunately a few people were still missed. The Pleasant Lake and Klager Schools also collected a good supply from the country homes.

The Jaycees and Jaycees Auxiliary delighted nine children between the ages of five through ten from the families served in the Manchester School District, with a Shopping Spree at the Ben Franklin Store the week before Christmas.

Considerate employees of Double A Products and Hoover Universal donated their Christmas turkeys and hams to the agency for distribution during the Holidays and later when needed.

All of this was possible because of the many who have been mentioned and others, the Manchester United Way and gifts from Bethel United Church of Christ Women's Fellowship and their Adult Fellowship, Emanuel United Church of Christ Women's Guild, Sharon United Methodist Church Women's Association, Manchester United Methodist Church Women's Association and Mrs. Joseph E. Moore and anonymous donors.

LITTLE RED HEN...UPDATED AGAIN

A few years ago, someone updated the story of the Little Red Hen. We sent it to you then, and from time to time have requests to see it once again. Here it is, and we wish we had the name of the author of this updated fable, but we don't. Once upon a time there was a little red hen who scratched about and uncovered some grains of wheat. She called her neighbors and told them if they all went together and planted the wheat they would have bread to eat. "Who will help me plant it?" she asked.

"Not I," said the cow. "Not I," said the duck. "Not I," said the goose. "Then I will," said the little red hen. And she did. The wheat grew tall and ripened into golden grain.

"Who will help me reap the wheat?" asked the little red hen. "Not I," said the duck. "Out of my classification," said the cow. "I'd lose my unemployment insurance," said the pig. "Then I will," said the little red hen, and she did.

At last it came time to bake the bread and again the little red hen asked for help from her barnyard neighbors.

"That's overtime for me," said the cow. "I never learned how because I wasn't happy doing it in school," said the duck. "I'd lose my welfare benefits," said the pig. And the goose said, "If I am to be the only helper, that's discrimination."

"Then I will," said the little red hen. So she baked five loaves and held them up for all her neighbors to see. Of course they all wanted some and demanded a share but the little red hen said, "No, I can eat all of it myself."

"Excess profits!" screamed the cow. "Capitalist leech!" cried the duck. "How about our equal rights?" yelled the goose.

So, at the direction of their union leaders, they painted "unfair" picket signs and marched around the little red hen shouting obscenities. Of course, a lot of the clergy and university students joined them and the press, radio and TV covered the demonstration.

"But I earned the bread!" said the little red hen. "Exactly," said the government mediator, "this is the wonderful free enterprise system. Anybody in the barnyard can earn as much as they want but under our system of government, you must share with those less fortunate."

They all lived happily ever after, but her neighbors wondered why the little red hen never baked any more bread.

7th GRADERS BEST ADDISON

The Manchester 7th Grade Basketball team started their season with a victory over Addison, 37-30, last Thursday.

Mark Ball led the team in scoring and rebounding with 16 points and 12 rebounds while Ron Melcher chipped in 10 points, Kraig Sauter scored 6, Clayton Quayle scored 4 and Aaron Grantham finished the scoring with a free throw.

The first quarter of the game was about even with a hot shooting Addison team taking the lead 12-10, but the second quarter the Dutchmen held Addison scoreless while putting in 13 points of their own for a halftime score of 23-12. Then the Dutch went cold and only scored 2 points in the third quarter, giving Addison a chance to close the gap to 25-22. The fourth quarter brought good fortunes to the Dutch as Ron Melcher and Clayton Quayle took the ball to the hoop to provide the winning margin.

What are the indications of illness in animals? How do we know how serious an illness is? What can we do until the veterinarian arrives?

On Tuesday, January 23rd, at 7:30 p.m., at the Extension office, Dr. S.R. Pepper will present slides and lead the discussion in these topics. This should be a valuable experience for youth and adults alike. The more we know about the vital signs in our animals, the more effectively we can use the service of professionals.

available at the reception desk in the Interpretive Building. Skiers will also want to view the displays in the main exhibit room, and enjoy the audio-visual program in the auditorium. The building is open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday.

The Interpretive Center is located in one of the park's quiet areas where snowmobiles are prohibited. "Most nature centers do not allow cross country skiing on their trails," says Tom Hodgson, Park Naturalist. "Because skiing is a quiet activity, we will be trying it here on an experimental basis."

Skiers are expected to observe the same courtesies requested of other Interpretive Center visitors. They should use the designated ski trail only. Pets should be left at home. "Incidents of littering and vandalism by Interpretive Center visitors has been almost non-existent," says Hodgson. "We will be watching to see that skiers demonstrate similar good citizenship. Serious problems in these areas could result in the closing of the area to skiers in the future."

A four mile cross country ski trail is now complete and ready for use in the Waterloo Recreation Area. The trail begins and ends at the Waterloo Interpretive Center. Suitable for the skier with intermediate skills, it travels over rolling, scenic terrain.

Skiers can park in the Interpretive Center parking lot. Ski trail maps are available at the reception desk in the Interpretive Building. Skiers will also want to view the displays in the main exhibit room, and enjoy the audio-visual program in the auditorium. The building is open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday.

WATERLOO INTERPRETIVE CENTER OFFERS WINTER PROGRAMS

Winter weather can nip your nose and bite your toes. It can also turn the outdoors from the drab brown of late autumn to a sparkling white. Frost covered branches are beautiful against the deep blue, winter sky. Wildlife safe from detection most of the year leave their footprints in the snow for all to see.

To help children learn to enjoy the winter season more, the Waterloo Interpretive Center is offering a series of winter programs. The programs, designed for school and youth groups, are being offered on a reservation basis both mornings and afternoons, Tuesday through Saturday. They include the following winter experiences:

1. Animals in Winter: A program introducing the students to various ways animals survive the winter, including food gathering, hibernation, migration, and others. The animal groups discussed include insects, reptiles and amphibians, birds, and mammals. The program combines a thirty minute introduction in the Interpretive Center with a field trip lasting up to one hour. Recommended for 6 to 12 year olds.

2. Michigan Mammals: Introduces the students to some of the common mammals of Southern Michigan. During the thirty minute introduction in the Interpretive Center, the students will be able to see and handle study skins of various mammal species. A field trip of up to one hour follows to observe signs of animal activity. Recommended for pre-school to 12 year olds.

3. Michigan's Native Americans: Tells the story of the prehistoric Michigan Indians. The students will be able to see and handle native artifacts, learn how they were made and what they were used for. A field trip will introduce the students to some of the plants valued by Michigan's Native Americans for food and other uses. Total program time about 90 minutes. Recommended for 5 to 12 year olds.

4. Michigan Geology: Introduces students to the rocks common to the glacial till of Southern Michigan. It includes a brief introduction indoors and a field trip on the Geology Trail. Recommended for 9 to 12 year olds. Offered during March only.

5. Wilderness Survival: A program introducing the students to some common sense techniques of wilderness survival. Includes an introduction in the Interpretive Center and a field trip to look for survival plants and animals. Presented to children 9 years and older.

6. Animal Homes: Introduces children to some of the common animals in the area, telling where they live and why. It includes a brief introduction and a field experience. Recommended for 4 to 7 year olds.

These programs are designed to last up to 90 minutes. Actual program length will depend upon the age and attention span of the group. Each program will accommodate a maximum of 30 students. Those interested in making reservations contact the Waterloo Interpretive Center. Phone: 313-475-8069.

Pre-season conditioning helps

Your body is very much like an engine — it needs a proper warm-up period before functioning smoothly. Just as your car needs a chance to warm up during the winter, so does your

BUILD UP YOUR ARMS AND BACK THIS FALL

Walking, running, jogging, roller skiing and bicycling are favorite non-winter activities for the Nordic skier. These are good exercises for strengthening legs and conditioning your heart and lungs. But, what about the arms and back? A Nordic skier with a well-developed upper body will have a more efficient double pole and a stronger uphill diagonal stride.

Chopping and splitting wood is a great way to strengthen the arms and back.

If you are not experienced with an axe, be careful! Hauling and stacking logs also develops good upper body strength. Canoeing and kayaking are excellent arm builders as well.

So, use your imagination and spend some time this fall strengthening and conditioning your upper body for more enjoyable Nordic skiing this winter.

body when you go skiing. In fact, pre-season conditioning could be just as critical to proper conditioning or loosening up on the day you plan to ski. Conditioning is just as important for safety as it is for performance.

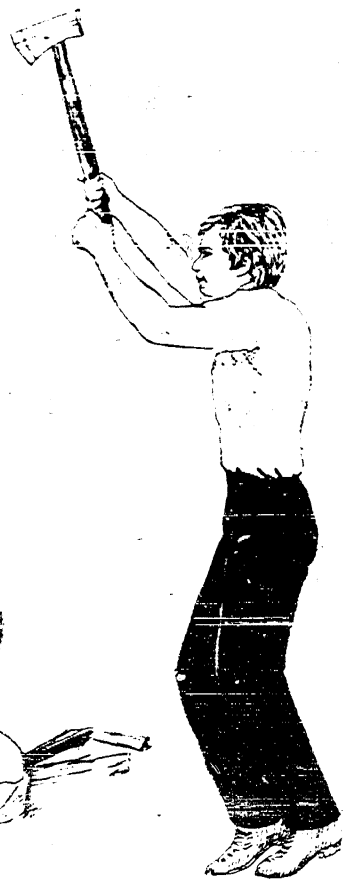

Frankly, a lot of people who are not in good shape do ski — and do so year after year, safely and enjoyably. But the chances are good that even if they ignore conditioning, they need one basic rule: when you feel tired Quit! The symptoms of fatigue are obvious, from just plain feeling tired to, perhaps, slower coordination or your legs not responding.

At the same time, if skiing is going to be meaningful and enjoyable — especially as part of a long-awaited vacation — then being in shape can height-

Bent-Knee Statics for Stronger Thighs

Skiers have used the bent-knee static exercise for years to help strengthen thigh muscles. Find a place where you can rest your back against a wall or tree, so that you are in a position similar to sitting in a chair. Now squeeze a ball (volleyball, soccer ball, basketball) between your knees, holding this position for 25 seconds, working toward one minute. This exercise will build stronger thigh muscles and at the same time develop the muscles on the outside of the upper and lower leg.

When skiing, the full range of the thigh muscle is used, so to use this exercise alone is a mistake. For best results, combine it with sit-ups, push-ups, jump-squats and rope-jumping as well as other conditioning exercises.

Ankle Roll for Edge Control

Football players and their trainers have known for years that large leg muscles are needed for explosive strength and to protect the bones of the leg. The ankle roll exercise will build muscles around the bones of the lower leg which will help protect those bones from injury and at the same time increase the strength of the ankles, calves and muscles on the outside of the shin bone. These lower leg muscles are important because they help the skier achieve quicker and more vigorous edge change.

Start by placing the balls of the feet on a brick, board or book. Now drop the heels as low as you can go (left). As you raise up, roll your feet and ankles to the outside (right). Hold this high position for two to three seconds, then return heels to the low position slowly. Repeat this sequence five times to start and work up to 15 as your strength improves.

Tree Sialom to Improve Rhythm

Skiers have been told for years to get the weight on the downhill-ski, and as modern ski technique develops, the emphasis has been on using independent leg and foot action to make a better turn.

The tree sialom exercise will help improve rhythm, timing and the feeling of going from outside (downhill) ski to outside ski. Find a row of trees or rocks. Now run at a good pace, making your turns round and feeling the weight transfer from one outside foot to the other as you turn. Imagine that you are skiing, trying to make your weight go to that new downhill ski as early in the turn as possible. Make your "course" at least 50 yards long and try to run through it five times. Run the course once making small sialom turns, the next time making large, giant sialom turns.

This exercise is fun and will help you condition your legs for the coming ski season.

SKI YOU CAN DO IT

SKI-DAY WARMUPS

Each day before your first run, do these exercises to condition yourself for ballet.

With your skis on, swing your arms and take a few steps as if running in place to get your circulation going. Then, from a standing position, bend your torso in all directions (A). Place your skis at right angles to one another and stretch your legs (B). When fully stretched out, rotate your knees from side to side to loosen both knee and hip joints.

Now, stand up and do a few kicks to the front (C), side and back. Warming up in this manner will prepare you for the day's ballet activities and make you aware of any weak muscles you need to develop.

DUTCH TAIL-SPINNING

by Jon Hardenbergh

Going back to last year the Dutch Roundballers, after suffering 2 road losses, came home and played fantastic ball to even their record. On December 19th we again hit the road and despite 4 Dutchmen posting in double figures (Nick Krzyzaniak-19, Craig Rogers-15, Rick Krzyzaniak-12 and Bob Weirich-12) Britton-Macon was victorious 76-69. All-in-all as we said bye-bye to 1978 we showed a record of 2-4 with 2 home victories and 4 traveling losses.

So far 1979 hasn't treated us to kind as on Tuesday we hosted East Jackson. It was a very strange contest which saw us dressing 7 men and in the closing minutes we had lost 3 to fouls which left us 4. At this point (2:03) East Jackson held a 76-66 lead when the remaining 4 Dutchmen ran their 5 opponents to only 76-70. Going to the charity stripe preserved East Jackson's win at 79-70. On the scoring end we went one better than last game as 5 popped for double figures—Nick tossed for 16, Brian Evans and Steve Melcher totaled 28 (14 each), Jeff Geiger hit for 12 as Tom Tassie dumped in 10.

Friday saw us again fall at home to the Panthers of Addison. We lost sight of the hoop and Addison kept tallying as we hit making it 2-0 and before long they stood atop 14-2. Nick supplied 19 points as Brian hit for 11. The final saw Addison winning 83-63.

On Friday we trek to Morenci to face the winless Bulldogs.

CURRENT L.C.A.A. STANDINGS

Clinton 4-0, Onsted 3-1, Hudson 3-2, Blissfield 2-2, Addison 2-3, Manchester 1-3, Morenci 0-4.

DUTCH WRESTLERS STILL FIGHTING

by Jon Hardenbergh

On Thursday the Dutch matmen met the Tigers from Hudson. The Tigers have a tough team as the score showed 50-17. Point getters for us were Greg Bondy, Todd Green, Mike Lentz and Jack Stein who pinned his man in 29 seconds.

On Saturday we participated in the Leslie Invitational. Our coach stated "this was the best showing by the team this season". Addison was the top squad but we scored, 42½ points to capture 9th in the 12 team tourney. Jack Stein was our only complete winner as he won his first 2 bouts by pins. In the final Jack decided his opponent from Addison 15-4. Dan Burch and Todd Green both posted 2 wins before losing while Greg Bondy, Steve Eversole and Mike Lentz came up with single wins before falling.

The wrestler of the week is Greg Bondy. We host Onsted on Thursday then travel to the Clinton Invitational Saturday before returning home Tuesday for Vandercook Lake.

JUDGE KENNETH BRONSON NOW PRESIDING 14th DISTRICT COURT

Judge Kenneth Bronson, age 44, lives in Ann Arbor Township with his wife Andrea and five of their six children, who range in age from 20 to 14. He has been a District Judge since elected in 1974 to that position.

Judge Bronson, noted for his outstanding legal accomplishments by Who's Who in American Law in their first edition published last year both as a judge and more particularly as an attorney, he's served in the 14th District Court Division 4, the recently created division, upon his election out of the other various districts in the District Court.

Prior to becoming a District Judge, Judge Bronson served in the City of Saline from 1965 through 1968 as a Justice of the Peace, having won election therein in 1965 and also served as acting Justice of the Peace in Manchester during the entire time for 1965 through 1968, holding court in Stanton Roesch's office in the evenings, one evening a month.

Judge Bronson has been noted for creating the deferred sentencing program which allows first offenders, after suitable labor and other forms of punishment and/or rehabilitative acts, to have charges against them expunged upon the approval of the Probation Department and the Prosecutor's office in specific cases. This action has saved the careers of many people who would otherwise not be employable in their chosen career or field. It is noted for achieving results bringing almost entirely no repeat offenders for those that did it under this program. This innovative program has been cited and reported on by newspapers throughout the country.

Judge Bronson further has created the work program through the court, used instead of jail sentences for individuals who either are so wealthy and for whom a fine would be relatively unimportant, or people who have no money at all for whom a fine would be literally impossible, and otherwise they would have to go to jail for their penalty, and for other individuals who the court feels do not belong in jails but do deserve a reminder in addition to a financial one that their activities should not be condoned.

Judge Bronson from the year 1959 through the year 1974 served as City Attorney for the City of Ypsilanti and for

Morenci Comeback Fails Dutch

by Jon Hardenbergh

It looked good for us as after 16 minutes of play we held a 10 point lead over Morenci. Also we'd popped a technical foul before the start of the 3rd period to have a 42-31 advantage but the Bulldogs kept whittling to win in the end 80-75.

In the opening period no one took charge as the lead changed about 4 times with the tally being knotted at least 5 times. Nick Krzyzaniak hit with 18 seconds left putting us up 4 but they popped at the buzzer leaving it 16-14. The second period started fast with Morenci connecting on 2 quick buckets taking the edge 18-16. But with Bob Weirich canning his next 2 shots and then Steve Melcher hit, giving us the lead 22-20. Bob went back to work dumping for 6 more and Nick added 2 to leave it 30-24 at 4:05. The Bulldogs did close somewhat as they totaled the next 3, 30-27 but we were off to the races again as in the last 2 minutes 16 seconds we tallied 11 points to their 4 to leave at half up 41-31. All-in-all we'd hit 63% from the field totaling 25 points with Bob scorching the nets for 14.

I believe Morenci was late entering at ever their coach said-worked. The Bulldogs

In Retrospect

Manchester has had, over a period of years, some very loyal native sons; people who were proud of their town and willing to devote time to making it a better place in which to live. Some of these should be remembered in retrospect.

Among the more consistent Manchester boosters was Laurence Wurster (always to be spelled Laurence), who was a native Manchesterite. Said to have been nicknamed "Dutch" when he entered school because he could speak only German as did the rest of his family, he soon became one of the best liked boys in his grade in school and received excellent grades. After graduation he was offered a position in the Peoples Bank of Manchester which was located where the Sutton Agency now is and for many years was a valued member of the staff there.

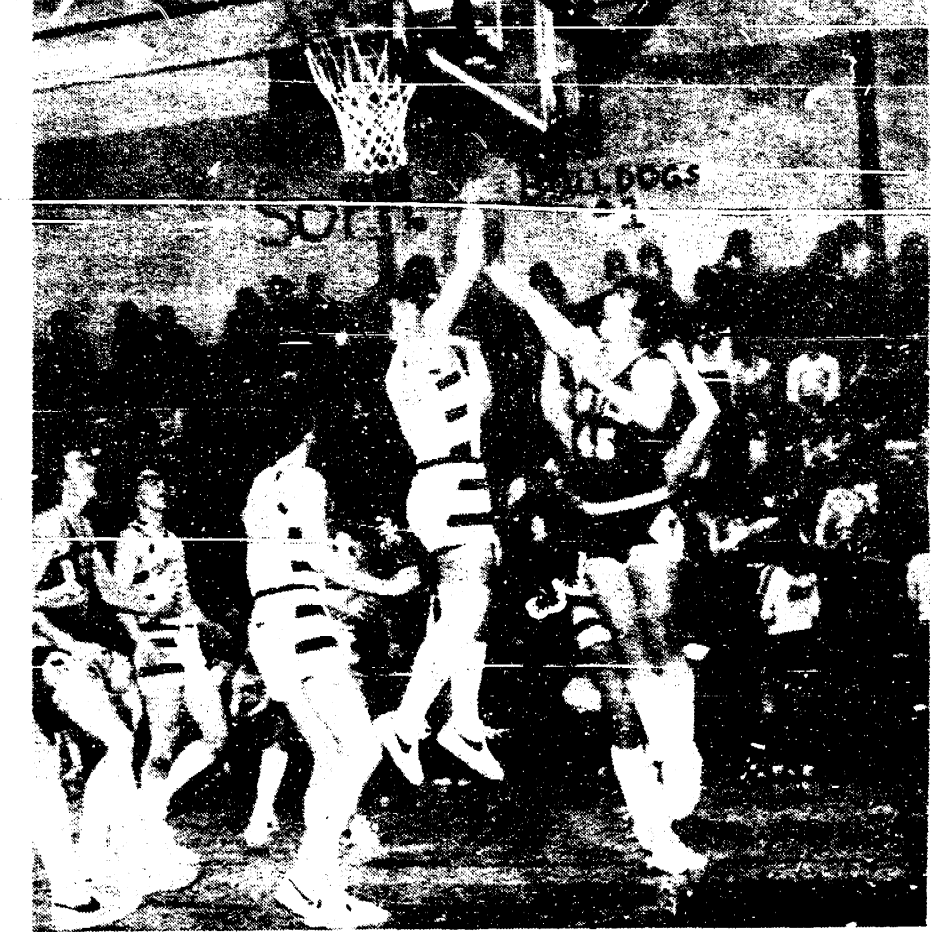

"Dutch" was a rather small, slender fellow but his genial personality and his unflinching enthusiasm about anything that he tackled made him a host of friends.

He eventually married and had one son, Ray who grew up to be a charming fellow like his father. But then misfortune struck when his mother was taken ill and became an invalid.

But this didn't seem to phase "Dutch"! His genial presence every day on Main Street was the same and he always had time and effort to devote to things civic. He spearheaded many worthy causes for his town and his church and served as a village officer.

I remember for example, what a lot of time and effort he put into getting City Road paved. It was quite a battle but eventually he won. At that time there were no paved streets in Manchester except the few blocks of Main Street and quite a few of the older citizens thought that to spend money for such foolishness as a pavement was silly but his persistence won out. This was only one of the victories that "Dutch" won which time later proved to be the right
