RECOMPENSE

Do you fellows who take pride in remembering the thirties remember the Johnson Smith wish book? I don't know about you, but I very seldom had any money to order such necessities as whoopee cushions, hand buzzers, large plastic noses attached to eyeglass rims and of course, ventriloquist lessons—"boys learn to throw your voice, guitar lessons—play a guitar like the cowboys do, and those telescopes which left a sooty ring around your eyes when held close to it, magic kits, rubber daggers, fingerprint sets—just like the one Melvin Purvis uses, and crude items like the rubber mess which looked like the dog had sinned on the living room floor—hear your mother shriek.

I inquired just a few months ago and was told that Johnson Smith was still in business but I'm not on their list anymore, darn it.

There is however, the only catalog that I don't get. Lately our mail box has been jammed with every conceivable catalog from every mail order house in the country. My wife once ordered a gadget from one of them and that's where she made her mistake. And now she's hooked on ordering this and that from them.

I'll swear that every time she orders from one of the catalogs we get six in return. Some are really nice, offering expensive clothes, engraved guns, jewelry, stationary, gold plated harpoons, handmade wrought iron coat hangers and many other useful gadgets.

Other useful items listed in recent catalogs include sponge back scrubbers, a plastic egg that says "a good egg award", a starfish lamp, a chunk of the original London Bridge made into a paperweight, a black widow spider or a rose entombed in a lump of plastic and aprons with many clever or corny slogans complimentary and otherwise.

In another masterpiece is a radio shaped like a cheeseburger, one shaped like a cookie with a bite gone out of it. Then there are the old standards; whiskey flavored toothpaste, pencils with erasers on both ends, earrings that light up, and a million others.

The kids who drooled over Johnson & Smith's catalog have evidently been replaced by millions who many have grown up physically but who are mentally children at heart, and I think that is good. With that attitude we can't go far wrong. As long as we maintain a childish sense of humor we are safe, I believe.

If you want to go further with a list of contents of other of these mind bogging catalogs we note there is a handkerchief with a plastic finger attached says our researcher, and also a talking toilet device which says when a guest sits down "Hey, we're working down here" accompanied by a raucous laugh, an ice bucket shaped like a toilet seat, and edible underwear among others. There is also an ash tray shaped like a toilet which really flushes—I think some of these manufacturers spent their formative years in a bathroom—then we have a roll of toilet paper with a crossword puzzle on each sheet and harem slippers shaped like sponge rubber falsies and many others.

And don't forget the dress that gives the illusion that the wearer is somewhat naked and, of course the joke book which contains many treasures like—"What's that fly doing in my soup." "I think it's doing the back stroke." So, even if the old kids catalog is gone the spirit lives on; perhaps more sophisticated and perhaps still about twelve years old, but all in all imperishable, thank the Lord.

Library Board Appoints New Librarian

The Library Board of Trustees is pleased to introduce the new head librarian, Mrs. Georgia Wilson. Georgia is a graduate, cum laude, of Bedford High and Wayne State University School of Business Administration. She has taught school at Timothy Lutheran School, Detroit, and in the Manchester Schools. This, plus experience as library assistant at Wayne University General Library and at Chase Branch Library in Detroit, gives her excellent credentials for position of head librarian. Next month she will participate in a two weeks internship program at Michigan State University as required by the library system. Georgia and her two children live on a horse ranch on Bus Rd.

Patrons of the library have probably noticed the new emphasis placed on the care of books and other materials and new procedures for overdue books and accompanying fines.

Athletic Boosters Meeting

June 6, 1979
The regular meeting of the Athletic Boosters was opened at 8:15 P.M. by President Fitzgerald.

The minutes of the May meeting were read and approved.
The treasurers report was given by Joe Moore and approved.

OLD BUSINESS:
Denise Dresch, a co-chairman of the All Sports Banquet, was present and presented a report. A discussion of the banquet followed.

The loaning of the Boosters equipment was again brought up for discussion. It was thought that perhaps the motion made should possibly be rescinded. A discussion followed. It was decided that the previous motion would stand as previously stated.

Ted Stantz reported that all entry fees for the Slow Pitch League had been collected and turned over to treasurer Moore.

NEW BUSINESS:
President Fitzgerald reported that a contribution toward the new athletic complex, at Booster Field, had been received from Ervin Industries Inc. of Ann Arbor.

President Fitzgerald also reported that the 24 hour relay would be run at Clinton track beginning Friday, June 8, 1979. About 30 students from Manchester will be participating. The pledge money will be used to buy track equipment.

A motion was made by Jim Fielder to present a donation of $50.00 to Coach Brink to be used to purchase refreshments for those participating from Manchester. Seconded by Kathy Hagerman. Motion carried.

President Fitzgerald asked Jim Fielder if anymore help was needed for the slow pitch tournament. Jim said that at this point the only thing he would like would be to have Duncan Street blocked off for the one block along side the athletic field. President

Fitzgerald said that he should contact Chief Zesnyuk.

President Fitzgerald appointed Chuck and Sandy King as co-chairman of the 50-50 drawing. Tickets will go on sale in July.

Being no further business the meeting was adjourned at 9:45 P.M. by President Fitzgerald.

The next regular meeting will be held on September 5, 1979 at 8:00 P.M. at the high school.

Respectfully submitted,
Kathy Hagerman, Secretary

Clowning Around At 4-H Exploration Days

Three workshops on how to be a clown are among the 182 action-learning options open to the 75 Washtenaw County youths and adults attending 4-H Exploration Days, June 21-23, at Michigan State University.

The workshops will emphasize makeup techniques, clown etiquette, costume design and approaching children through various comedy techniques.

Beginners can attend two programs, "Beginning Clowning" and "Clowning Around with Puppetry." The first, taught by Alice Hicks and Phyllis Irler, will focus on choosing a character that fits the participant's personality, and on comedy techniques.

Experienced clowns can improve their skills by attending the workshops "Clowning Around with Communication" and "Advanced Clowning (Mime)". Becky McKay will instruct the first program, which emphasizes clowning as a technique for teaching children and adults and includes instruction on demonstrations, advanced makeup and costuming. The mime workshop, taught by Jack Lightcap, will explore the use of pantomime techniques in skits and routines.

The finale to Exploration Days is 4-H Action Day, June 23. Sponsored by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service 4-H Youth Program, the event, featuring demonstrations and exhibits, is open to the public from 9-11:30 a.m. at no charge.

For additional information on 4-H Action Day, contact the Washtenaw County 4-H office, 973-9510.

Jaycettes Auxiliary

The Manchester Jaycettes met June 14, 1979, in the home of their newly elected president, Janet McCully. There were 11 members and 1 guest, Barbara Buchanan, present.

Barbara McConnel reported that six members represented Manchester at the state convention in May which was held in Lansing. It was reported by Sandy King that a permit to build the ramp for handicapped persons at the library was secured and work will begin within the next week.

The planned year's program was discussed and Standing Chairmanships were chosen. It was unanimously decided to run the helping hands program again this year.

To help earn money for the fireworks on July 4th a bake sale will be held Saturday, June 30, 1979 at the Union Savings Bank.

Plans were discussed and a committee chosen for a Kids Fun Day during the fair. One of the highlights will be a big wheel contest.

This week flowers will be planted by the Society to Manchester sign on M-52.

Following the meeting refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held on July 11 at 8 P.M. in the home of Janet McCully.

Card Of Thanks

A special thanks to the jogger who changed a flat tire on Macomb Street last Friday morning. We didn't have a chance to thank you and we didn't even know your name. None-the-less we were very grateful for your kindness. Thanks again.
Two Teens

On behalf of the children and parents in our 4 yr. old class this year, I would like to thank the following people for their support and enrichment of the program of The Manchester Co-Op Nursery School.

Barbara Schaible for her explanation of hens, eggs, lambs and rabbits; Frances Celand of the Post Office; Margie Nishans of the Dairy Queen; Lavonne Hudkins of the I.G.A.; Jim Kessler of the Fire Dept.; Phil Bowman of the Black Sheep Theatre; Dave Little of Great Lakes Federal Savings; Marcia Duncan of The Calico Cat; and Dr. Glen Lehr. All of these people helped us become a little more familiar with our Village.

Thank you all.
Sue Sharai

We wish to thank all of you for the gifts, cards and good wishes on our Golden Wedding Anniversary.
Albert and Pauline Haller

I want to thank all the people of this town and community for their support. This was a great experience, to be so involved with the town you live in, it has brought me closer into the schools and knowing that I want to be apart of the educational system here.
Thanks again.
Mrs. Barbara Cartier

The family of Bernice Wright would like to say that during a time like this we learn how much our friends really mean to us. Your thoughtfulness in our sorrow has meant so much and all that you have done has been truly appreciated.
Special thanks to the ladies of Faith, Rev. Tim Miles and Ron Jester.

In Memoriam
Tressie M. Nortley
In loving memory of our Mother who passed away 8 years ago June 25, 1971.

So many things have happened since you were called away. So many things to share with you. Had you been left to stay. We cannot bring the old days back. Ways of the world are such. But we have many pleasant memories of the one we loved so much.

Sadly missed by her children

MICHIGAN ISLANDS OFFER UNIQUE VACATION SPOTS

Michigan's more than 500 islands provide a unique variety of vacation possibilities ranging from wilderness camping to picnicking within view of city skyscrapers, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Most of the state's nearly 1,000 miles of island shoreline surround remote and uninhabited wilderness areas that are favored by sportsmen. Others—such as Belle Isle and Mackinac Island—are among Michigan's most frequented tourist areas.

The 35 Les Cheneaux Islands provide outdoor enthusiasts with some of this state's most scenic boating and fishing areas. Located near Cedarville and Hessel in the eastern Upper Peninsula, the islands are heavily timbered with pine, cedar and balsam and offer excellent hiking trails. Summer cottages and cabins are available.

Nearby Drummond Island is lined with high, rocky cliffs that face 30 irregular bays and coves. With its heavily wooded trails and 34 inland waters, it is a favorite spot for sportsmen. There is also a crumbling old British fort there. The island is reached by ferry from De Tour.

The state's most remote and largest island is Lake Superior's 42-mile-long Isle Royale, which is accessible by boat or seaplane from Houghton and Copper Harbor. A rugged coastline and numerous crags and ridges add to the beauty of this national park, which is famous for backpacking.

tremendous contrast to the nature islands. Detroit's 1,000-acre Belle Isle has the Dossin Great Lakes Museum, a children's zoo, concert shell, conservatory and aquarium. Grosse Ile is mainly a residential community where many persons live to be near the water. There are several yacht clubs on the island.

Visitors to Mackinac Island are whisked by ferry from Mackinaw City or St. Ignace to this jewel of a tourism attraction in the Straits of Mackinac. Historic sites, such as Old Fort Mackinac, fine old hotels and shops and a state park are part of the charm of this island, where automobiles are prohibited. Travel is on foot, by bicycles or horse-drawn carriages.

Within view of Mackinac Island and only a six-mile ferry ride from Cheboygan is Bois Blanc Island, a place ideally suited for hiking and backpacking because of its miles of trails and shoreline. Farther south are False Presque Isle in Lake Huron and Thunder Bay Island, near Alpena.

The northern one-third of Lake Michigan is dotted with interesting and unusual islands, such as Beaver, North and South Manitou, and North and South Fox.

Beaver Island, which is reached by plane or ferry from Charlevoix, is a popular vacation island surrounded by sandy beaches. The island includes a museum housed in an old print shop built by the formans in 1847, with accommodations and shops in the town of St. James.

Both North and South Manitou islands are accessible by ferry from Leland. Deer and wild turkeys roam North Manitou, where a restored Coast Guard station is used as a lodge. Cottages also are available. Most of South Manitou is owned by the National Park Service and operates as part of the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore. Camping is permitted there.

North and South Fox islands are 85 and 90 percent forest areas, respectively, and only sparsely developed. Three-fourths of South Fox is privately owned.

The remaining islands in northern Lake Michigan are mostly inhabited by wild animals and receive only sporadic vacation activity. They are used mostly for wilderness camping.

The waters around Saginaw Bay's Charity Island are popular with perch fishermen.

Crops Must Be Reported By July 2

All Washtenaw County farmers are reminded it is necessary to report planted crops by July 2, 1979. Over 960 farms are signed up in the 1979 Wheat & Feed Grain-Set Aside Program. It is a requirement that these producers report the planted crops for eligibility of program benefits.

All participating farms will be spot checked this summer by airplane. Slides will be reviewed in the County Office for Accuracy of reporting.

Also, all other non-participating farmers should report crops for history purposes for future programs.

ARE YOU SURE YOU'RE "PUNCHING THROUGH LOUD AND CLEAR"?

There are more people running here and there to pay bills that should have a checking account than one would imagine.

These are people too busy to bother with having to rush in here or there to the post office for a money order...but they need to or be late with bill paying.

Now, why don't these people get smart and open a checking account? Well, there's probably a zillion reasons, but I'll bet the main reason is they get all fouled up keeping their checkbook straight.

They've gotten themselves in a mess more than once trying to reconcile their checkbook.

If they would spend a few bucks for a calculator and open their canceled check and statement envelopes a little sooner, there just wouldn't be a problem.

And, if they get too confused, we have some gems working here at the bank that will get them back on the road with a balanced checkbook.

So, if you are one of those runners and drivers, stop in and open a checking account with us.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU (MIFB)

FARMERS ARE RADIO-ACTIVE

Michigan city dwellers are finding out that it takes more than just a song and dance by "Ronald McDonald" to make a meal. To produce food it takes men and women working on the land and thanks to two radio publicity projects consumers are learning all about the rewards and frustrations of farming.

A dozen Michigan Farm Bureau members are working with WJR radio in Detroit on the "Acres for Charity" project. Participating in the season-long event are hog producers Mike Pridgeon of Montgomery, Werner Clasen of Richmond and George Swartzendruber of Bay Port; apple growers Jim Erwin of Novi, Don and Sandra Hill of Montrose and Rob Peabody of Penton; dry bean producers Clare Harrington of Akron, John Knoer of Sandusky and John Tanton of Deckerville; and wheat growers Dave Jacobs of New Lothrop, Nelson Leach of Richmond and Chuck Paas of Belleville.

Each of these growers agreed to symbolically donate to WJR a portion of their commodity. WJR morning personality J.P. McCarthy is putting the growers on the radio and asking them about the many factors involved in the production of their commodity. At harvest time McCarthy will, with the advice and assistance of the growers, select a time and method for selling the donated commodity. The selling price will be donated by the grower or other MFB members to the Detroit Police Athletic League, a charity that is the frequent beneficiary of WJR fund raising efforts.

Meanwhile, 100 miles north of Detroit, the Saginaw County Farm Bureau and radio station WSGW are coordinating another commodity donation project. This one involves navy beans, soybeans, corn and sugar beets. Local farmers talk about these commodities in weekly telephone interviews with WSGW air personalities.

"The project is definitely helping consumers better understand agriculture," says WSGW Farm Director Terry Henne, "especially the production of sugar beets. At harvest time the truckloads of sugar beets go right through downtown Saginaw. Since almost everyone uses sugar, I think it's helpful for people to understand where the sugar comes from."

In Retrospect

We have been reminded that we have omitted at least one chapter in Manchester's history and while recalling this period we find that there is a narrow line between fact and fancy in the tales that are told of this period. There was a time in the early 1920's when many tales are told about the happening of that time and the events that took place here.

Those were the days of "local option", a term now long defunct but which meant that each town or county or other political area fould decide for themselves whether booze (beer or whiskey or both) could be sold in a particular area, and Clinton, and I believe Lenawee County, were "dry" while Manchester and Washtenaw County was "wet". We have been told that the WCTU was a thriving group in Clinton, Blissfield, Tecumseh and other Lenawee areas, but the demon rum and considerable quantities of beer were dispensed in Manchester from the eight saloons that we are told were in business here at that time. Then too, there was a busy and prosperous brewery out south of town on what was then, and is now to many people "Brewery Road", rather than Schleweis Road.

Of course at that time automobiles were not too common but the railroad from Jackson to Toledo boasted at least two trains in each direction each day and they were very well patronized, especially on weekends. A considerable portion of the parched males from Clinton, Tecumseh and other nearby points converged on Manchester to shake their thirsts and good fellowship was rampant hereabouts.

There are many tales of the problems which beset the visitors to our town during this period. We recall one about a Clinton citizen who, after filling needs to the "fullest extent", packed a suitcase which he had thoughtfully brought with him, with various liquid refreshments to tide him over until his next visit. However he dallied at one of the saloons until he heard the whistle of the approaching homebound train and then made a mad dash to the depot, arriving just as the train was pulling out. He managed to run fast enough to catch the last car of the train and tossing the suitcase aboard he stumbled up the steps of the car. The suitcase landed on the car platform not too gently and as it did so the tinkle of breaking glass was heard, and the suitcase began to leak.

It was reported that the spectators assisted the owner of the suitcase to mourn his loss and some said that the platform was drenched with a mixture—50% tears and 50% drinks.

We have been told tales of visitors who came here on business of one kind or another, missed the train for home and became (almost) the object of search parties before they could be rounded up and placed aboard a southbound train.

Then came prohibition, the saloons closed and the brewery did likewise and soon became a ghost of its former self but still may be seen there remnants of the building and the storage cave in which the brew was stored awaiting delivery. One informant tells us that all you had to do in those days was to step to the phone and place your order and soon there would be delivered to your home whatever amount of beer you wished at about two bucks a case, and they even picked up your empties and returned them to the brewery at no additional cost.

We have also been told that at this time on the land just west of the former Vesico Market there was located a thriving hop farm where hops were cultivated and grown to be used by the local brewery and by other area breweries.

We noted a tale in the Toledo Blade the other day that, while it has nothing to do with Retrospect, I think is worth recording here. It seems that the other day a chap was being hassled by his wife to take her to visit her mother for the day, but he hadn't any great fondness for this lady and protested that he had many other things to do that day and couldn't possibly have time to take her there.

But as the forenoon wore on his wife clearly showed her displeasure and by lunch time it was very evident. At that time she served him with only a rather ragged sandwich and a rather cold cup of coffee. By then he was sure that he was on the losing side and so he went to her and said "Okay dear. I give up. Get ready and I'll take you to see your mother", which she promptly did.

As they were riding down the road a short ways from town she glanced over at a nearby field and saw grazing contentedly there, two jackasses. Turning to him she unsmilingly said "See George, over there, there's a couple of your relatives."

Glancing at the two George said nothing for several minutes as they drove along but soon he glanced at his wife out of the corner of his eye and very soberly replied "Yes, dear, and on my wife's side too".

GIRL SCOUT GAMES

Girl Scouts in Manchester were among the 2,000 girls participating in the recently held Girl Scout Games at Eastern Michigan University's stadium.

Events that day included softball throws, running and standing jumps, a tumble dash for the Brownies and a mile race for the Seniors.

Noon-time festivities featured George Goodman, mayor of the host city, Ypsilanti, who greeted the girls and volunteers. Following the parade of girls in troop formation, Huron Valley Girl Scout Council President, Pat Levos, read a message from Mrs. William Milliken encouraging the girls to develop their bodies as well as their minds so that they will be able to meet the challenges in the world today.

Barb Boelter of Beleville, Chairman for this first-time event, said "Because things went so nicely and the girls had such fun, we are hoping to plan a similar kind of event for next year."

Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, a United Way agency, serves nearly 12,000 girls in Washtenaw and surrounding counties.
