THE MANCHESTER ENTERPRISE

112th YEAR VOLUME NO.39 USPS 327-640 THURSDAY, JULY 26, 1979

MANCHESTER HOSTS 12,000 AT ANNUAL CHICKEN BROIL

Manchester did it again last Thursday. Within a short span of a little over four hours more than 12,000 guests were served Manchester's famous charcoal broiled chicken dinner. This year's attendance surpassed the record of 11,000 established last year when we celebrated our 25th anniversary of this nationally famous Optimist and Jaycee sponsored activity. The weather committee did an outstanding job. They predicted and produced a perfect mid summer sunny day. The planning committee, along with 550 enthusiastic and hard working volunteer men and boys, had everything in readiness to serve our first guest at four p.m. Before darkness fell on the Athletic Field, over 12,000 adults and children from the Manchester area, from all parts of Michigan, from many other states and from several foreign countries had enjoyed a scrumptious chicken dinner and Manchester's hospitality.

2nd Annual Street Fair, August 11

Plans for the Second Annual Manchester Street Fair are rapidly coming together into what we hope will be a memorable day for participants and visitors alike!

The Fair will take place on Saturday, August 11, from 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m., with Saturday, August 25 set as the rain date. We have received applications from many talented artists and craftsmen, and are well on our way to our goal of 50 booths. The Black Sheep Repertory Theatre is making plans to give short vignettes from some of their most popular shows. The Traveling Smiles Children's Theatre is preparing to do pieces from their popular children's performances. We hope to have live music, strolling mime artists, and art and craft demonstrations. Food booths are being planned, the Art Guild is going to repeat their children's activity booth, and merchants will be holding their annual sidewalk sales. All of this, along with well organized parking, shuttle buses, and more, should make it an enjoyable day for all involved.

The Manchester Village Association and the Manchester Art Guild encourage community participation in the Fair, and hope to see many more community groups involved in making our Street Fair as unique as Manchester itself. Any community group wishing to participate in the Fair should fill out an application outlining the activities of their booth. An application can be received by contacting Kathy Auito at 428-9202 or by dropping in at her Odds and Ends business service in the Exchange Place. It is very important that each group do this, as we must know who is participating, so that we may find a suitable booth location for everyone involved. Main Street Merchants will be contacted very soon about details of the Fair day, and to find out if they will be using the space in front of their stores. Persons with suggestions, questions, or comments concerning the Fair, should feel free to contact Karen Hinkley (428-9115) or Teresa Freed (1-498-2633). Thanks to the help and cooperation of everyone involved, we are looking forward to an eventful and memorable day!

Community Fair Ready to Go

It has now been two weeks since the Fair Tabloid was mailed with the Manchester Enterprise. The Tabloid can also be picked up in stores in Manchester, Pleasant Lake and Bridgewater. Let us skim through the Tabloid together.

Mr. Mike Rossettie is working diligently with other Fair Board members to carry out the activities which have been directed by former President Elmen Kopka, who found it necessary to resign his position.

Following Mr. Rossettie's message to the community we find that the Manchester Community Fair is governed by rules and regulations from the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The Health and Safety of all people are very important to anyone who has contact with the Fair in anyway. The MDA also have many requirements for the health of livestock exhibited at the Fair. Rules and regulations must be followed so that our local Fair continues to receive our State Aid Funds.

Page 4 and 5 of the Tabloid lists the General Rules of the Fair. Those interested in visiting our Fair can notice that the Season Passes will be available again. Input from the community helped the board realize discontinuing season passes was not a good idea.

Number 14 of the General Rules states that Homemaker Award exhibitors should have all exhibits on an Entry blank in numerical order, as much as possible, before coming to the Fair. This is also a good idea for all exhibitors, however, no one will be turned away if this isn't done. More information about this will be in a later article.

The Fair Board is making a new request. So that more protection can be given the exhibits, there will be an opportunity for exhibitors to sign up as guards when exhibits are entered on Monday evening

MANCHESTER TOOL & DIE, INC. OBSERVES 25TH ANNIVERSARY

The year of 1979 marks the 25th Anniversary for Manchester Tool and Die. Eugene Bentschneider and Clarence Fielder took the "big step" in 1954 to start their own tool and die shop after being co-workers in the tool and die program since 1941 at the Manchester Ford Plant. The first operations were in the Fielder garage and in 1955 construction began on the present shop at 110 Division Street. At this time Ted Stautz, also a fellow employee of Ford Motor Co., joined the incorporation. Several additions have been made to the original building. Growth has been made to make Manchester Tool and Die among the finest tool and die shops in Michigan. On Sunday, July 15, a shop picnic was enjoyed at Carr Park for the employees and families and the management.

In Retrospect

We recently read that researchers have found that dogs are excellent psychiatric therapists, often succeeding in restoring the patient to good health where human psychiatrists fail, and so we report a conversation reported by Jon Roe on this subject.

"Just what seems to be your trouble?" Anne asked scratching her ear reflectively.

"Don't you want me to lie on the couch," I asked.

"No, why don't you lie on the floor and I'll get on the couch?"

"You know you're not allowed on the furniture."

"Well, it was worth a try. What's your problem?"

"I'm bothered by a constant ennui."

"Cut down on your fluids."

"No, I mean I'm tired all the time... starry eyed and vaguely discontented."

She wagged her tail impatiently. "Go, go on."

"Nobody I meet seems interesting any more."

"Have you tried smelling the people you meet? It adds a whole new dimension that is exciting and new to them."

"Are you crazy. I can't go round smelling people. That's accepted behavior in dogs but not by humans."

"Well, that's your loss she said. "Maybe you need a hobby. Have you tried chasing squirrels?"

"I do enough of that in my work."

"How about running through the lawn sprinkler?"

"I ran over the lawn sprinkler in the driveway last week."

"You are trying to make this difficult, aren't you?" she sighed, flopping down on her stomach with her legs pointing in all directions. Annie does that when she's thinking. "I've got it. Have someone scratch your belly. You'll feel better right away."

"You're crazy. I can't go around asking people to scratch my belly. That's very inappropriate behavior."

"Well then scratch my tummy. Go on it's part of the therapy." She rolled over on her back, and closed her eyes as I scratched. "Ah-h-h, doesn't that feel good?" she said.

"You need a bath."

"If you'll buy a new sprinkler I'll take one."

"Mebbee I should put you in the bathtub."

"Mebbee you could lose a finger doing so." "You're not helping me a bit". I said rising from the couch.

"Aw well all you've got anyway is Spring fever". I countered and scowling at her walked out and slammed the door and made my way down the front walk tripping over the hose which had been left lying across the walk, and wended my way homeward still morbid and disconsolate.

And now comes what has been designated as the silly, simmering summer season when those who write columns resort to most any strategy to fill up space. They thumb through bits of this and that that they have preserved such as:

The tale that President Carter is miffed at Amy because she wants him to get her a teddy bear...

The dissertation about popular songs of today including the one that the fellow wrote titled "Mary swallowed a Silver spoon, and Now She Can't Even Stir"...

The statement by New Mexico Republican leader that we should cut out all foreign aid, or better yet, start asking for it.....

According to research cheerful people time. Visitors parking at the high school grounds were provided free transportation to and from the Athletic Field by horse drawn wagons driven by Wendell Reinhart, George Macomber, Lloyd Hughes, Denver Ecker, Edwin Kuebler and Andy Poet. This popular old time mode of transportation, inaugurated this year as a substitute for bus service, was enjoyed by hundreds of guests of all ages.

Luke Schaible and his popular band entertained throughout the afternoon and evening.

Edgar A. "Bud Guest" from "The Sunnyside Of The Street", always a staunch supporter of our broil, spoke briefly to the diners on the field as did Fat Bob Taylor, the "Singing Plumber" of Radio Station WAAM. Howard Heath, Farm Director of Radio Station WPAG has been broadcasting the story of Manchester and it's chicken broil to his vast listening audience for many years. Again this year WPAG's mobile transmitter station originated it's day long program from the Athletic Field. The broil receives extensive coverage from the press, radio stations and TV outlets throughout our area, including Jackson, Ann Arbor and Detroit.

Gene Bentschneider, General Chairman, gives high praise to the citizens in the Manchester area who support and participate in this great community event which raises funds for community betterments. He extends his special thanks to the hundreds of men and boys who worked hard and long on thirty four specialized committees to assure the success of this twenty sixth annual broil.

Our favorite movie stars, poets, gunslings and baseball players of the past aren't always buried where we might think they would be.

According to the Monument Industry Information Bureau, many people like to check their vacation itinerary to see if they can pay their respects to any of their film or sports idols as they travel.

Just for fun, here's a little quiz on some famous people and where their monuments are, places. Can you match them up? (The answers are upside down at the bottom. No peeking!)

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

THE DANGERS OF A NATIONAL GRAIN BOARD

Grain prices have reached their best level in about four years and—wouldn't you know it?—somebody wants to place the government in charge of marketing all grain. If anything could ruin the outlook for grain, that could!

The bill to establish a National Grain Board was introduced by Congressman James Weaver of Oregon. It would, among other things, designate the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) as the seller and marketing agent for all export sales of wheat, rice, corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, rye and soybeans. Private exporters, including farmer cooperatives, could continue to operate as shippers under the auspices of the grain board.

What we would end up with is a state-controlled marketing system for grain with a politically set price instead of a free enterprise system with prices set by the market.

The idea is similar to the Canadian Wheat Board. One of its recent decisions was to withdraw Canadian wheat and barley from export sale because of shipping delays and labor problems. How would that decision, applied in this country, go over with our farmers, especially at a time when we know there is good world demand for grain?

Certainly other countries would like to see us adopt a National Grain Board because it would make us less efficient and slower to act. It would discourage new production practices and enable our competition to grab some of our markets.

It would come at a time when it looks like real prosperity is returning to the American grain farmer. Let's not ruin that.

QUILT SHOW-AND-TELL

The quilt Show-and-Tell held on July 10 was a tremendous success. Our thanks go to Sarah Deasy for her very informative comments, and to all of the ladies who shared their quilts with us. We "found" several beautiful quilts that we would like to display in our upcoming quilt show in September. Anyone possessing a quilt that they might like to have included in the show should feel free to contact Sue Bond at 428-7927.

AUGUST EXHIBIT

The Art Guild will be accepting work for the August exhibit on Monday, July 30, from 4:00 to 7:00 p.m. Anyone interested in showing their work during the month of August should bring it to the Gallery located at 138 E. Main St., just off the lobby of the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre.

GENERAL MEETING

The general monthly meeting for the month of July will be held on Monday, July 30. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. with a short business meeting, and will be followed by refreshments and a slide presentation of stained glass items. Many of the slides are of pieces done by Louis Tiffany, including several of his pieces that are located in southeastern Michigan. Slides of work done by artists from the turn of the century to the present will also be included in the presentation. Members of the community are cordially invited to attend. The meeting will be held in the Gallery.

THANKS!!!

Thanks to Becky Doyle, the Guild now has a polaroid camera to take publicity photos with. Thank you, Becky!

Manchester Fair

and Tuesday. The next several pages provide the Premium Lists for all exhibits. Page 5 has all the classes for grains and seeds. It also has Department 2 with the heading, Fruits, Garden Produce and Miscellaneous. Pages 6 through 14 list Department 4 - Poultry and Waterfowl. Department 5 - Foods - follows with many classes listed for Baked and Canned Goods. Don't forget to notice the Division for Candies on Page 17.

Right in the middle of the Tabloid we find the Manchester Community Fair Program. Check it over carefully and notice that every evening, except Thursday, there is entertainment in the Middle School Gym. If anyone in the community knows of a program they would like to see presented please call Dianne Schwab, 428-8976 to make arrangements. The extra entertainment is included in your daily gate admission or Season Pass. The Middle School will also have many of the exhibits on display. There are many, many classes listed for Needlecraft, Sewing, Crafts and Hobbies. Collections, Ceramics, etc. on pages 17 through 24. All exhibitors should be sure and have their exhibits listed under the proper age group.

The Antiques, Photography and Fine Arts will be displayed in the Middle School. People of all ages still have plenty of time to decide what their exhibit will be for Sculpture in the Fine Arts Department. Wood, metal, clay and soap make interesting molds, shapes and carvings. Many different articles have been made in private homes, schools and other creative groups. Manchester Community Fair always has a fine display of Flowers and Plants. We hope this year's will be even bigger. There are many more classes for special arrangements and centerpieces.

The final pages of the Tabloid list all rules and regulations for the many contests of the Fair.

If there are questions or concerns about your Fair please feel free to contact anyone of the officers or directors listed on page 27. The Board wants and needs your input.

The Committees listed on Page 30 are enthusiastic about their part in the 35th Manchester Community Fair.

Last, but not least, our attention is drawn to the many businessmen who advertise in the Tabloid. Without their generous support the publication would be impossible.

It was a slow week in the Babe Ruth League with several rainouts marring the schedule. The Pirates continue their march in first place and won two games beating the Giants 12-6 and the Astros 11-7. It was a come from behind victory over the Giants as the Pirates took an early inning lead and the Pirates came back in the fourth inning to go ahead. Jeff Beaver and Doug Pagliarini teamed up to pitch a four hitter. Doug Henson had two hits. The Pirates came from behind against the Astros with Randy Krichbaum and Doug Henson each collecting two hits. Hanging in right behind the Pirates are the Yankees just one-half game off the pace as they continue their steady play. The Royals with improved overall hitting have made a move toward the top. The Royals beat the Orioles with Jeff Blanchard pitching and Ross Murphy in relief. Against the Dodgers Steve Grau struck out fifteen as the Royals won handily.

standings with only three losses. The Yankees with a bit of tough luck stumbled against the rejuvenated Astros who in the last two weeks beaten almost all of the league leaders. Randy Raiford pitched well enough for the Yankees but in a losing cause as the Yankees slipped to 9-3. Hot on the trail of the leaders are the Athletics with only four losses in still in the thick of things. The Athletics have played strong ball with excellent pitching by John Welton and strong relief from Bob Trevino. In addition to beating the Yankees the Astros took the measure of the Leading Pirates as Day silenced the Pirate bats in a 13-3 five inning affair and helped his own cause with three hits. This week will surely provide some interesting matchups as teams try their hardest to unseat the league leaders. Next week there will be a tournament here in Chelsea among the top four teams as a grand finale to the season.

The Astros in a happy note have moved out of the cellar. The Astros beat the Reds 12-5 to notch their first win in league play and to win more with new found pitching strength.

With only one week remaining in league play the Royals have extended their streak to seven games with wins over the Orioles and Dodgers. Jeff Blanchard pitched well to beat the Orioles and Tom Headrick went three for three and Ross Murphy went four for five. Their strong play coupled with the untimely loss by the Pirates to the Astros has resulted in three teams at the top of the league

Open House Mark Gonyer's 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gonyer will be feted at an Open House in observance of their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, August 5 from 2 to 7 at the Knights of

In Retrospect

A friend asked me the other day if I had had any luck in using the new fangled glue now on the market and that got us to thinking back over the years and our experiences with any and all kinds of glues. I've had bad luck with glue since I was a kid...ever since I wrestled with those glass bottles of mullage which came with a rubber top. You pressed down on this tip and the goop would ooze out in just the right amount to neatly stick your cutouts to the notebook page. Mine stuck all right, mostly to the preceding page which made unreadable my cutout and the text which accompanied it.

And then I graduated to airplane models and when I finished one each joint had a big lump of glue on it and my P-47's looked like they had warts. Then too, I remember that when my shoe soles wore through my father bought a pair of rubber half soles at the dime store. They were to be attached to the soles of the shoes with a tube of goop which came with them. This he did and I set out to school the next day. By the time I got there one had come loose and I walked clumsily with a plink, plunk, plink rhythm.

Since then I have glued most everything with most everything...toys, furniture, water pipes, handles and even bicycle tires. With all of the cutting of patches, the smearing on of glue and the scraping and pressing together, all I ever succeeded in doing was to bond my index finger to my thumb. I also glued a table leg with some fancy epoxy glue and in the process managed to spill a bit on my pants and the only thing that stuck was my pants to my shorts which it was impossible to separate.

Not long ago I bought one of those itty bitty tubes of wonder glue which glue everything tightly to anything and I tried to patch my broken eyeglasses which I almost had to have at once. The ad about it said it would support an elephant but it didn't stick the glasses together, it merely stuck together my eyes, my lips, my fingers and several other unmentionable portions of my anatomy.

When I went to use this miracle glue I found that with it came a tiny pin with a little round head which you were to stab into the nozzle of the tube and thus release

Fair Entertainment Events Calendar

The schedule of events for the program at the Manchester Community Fair for 1979 looks pretty much the same as in previous years except for some new additions. Thursday afternoon there will be a Goat Judging contest at 2:30. This is the first year we have had this event. Judy Galbraith is chairman of this exhibit.

A Horseshoe Pitching contest will be in full swing 5:00 Thursday afternoon. For many years the Fair has featured this contest but this is the first time it is open to pitchers outside our community. A trophy will be presented to the champions as well as other contestants. David Goodell is the chairman of the event.

Let us focus in on the evenings' entertainment. Every year we hear from many people that there is not much to do at the Fair. Certain situations we have to accept. The size of the fair we have is controlled by the amount of space we have. Not many people in that business will even consider Manchester. The fireworks had to be discontinued because of the danger involved. Also the cost of fireworks had to be considered. Another very important factor is the extra insurance, which is very costly, if fireworks are displayed.

This year we took a closer look at the facilities we do have. Larger fairs have a Grandstand that can be used for extra entertainment. Manchester has the "Middle School Gym". Since this is the first year the Board has considered extra entertainment we had to look for people who would provide good entertainment within our
