PUBLIC NOTICE FLOOD ELEVATION STUDY

The Federal Insurance Administration of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development is conducting a detailed study of the flood hazard areas in the Village of Manchester.

The purpose of this study is to examine and evaluate the flood hazard areas in sections of the community which are developed or which are likely to be developed. The flood elevations for those areas will also be determined. Flood elevations will be used by the community to carry out the flood plain management objectives of the National Flood Insurance Program. They will also be used as the basis for determining the appropriate flood insurance premium rates applicable for new buildings and their contents, as well as determining the rates to be used for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

All interested persons are encouraged to bring any relevant facts and technical data concerning local flood hazards to the attention of the Federal Insurance Administration for consideration in the course of this study. Such information should be furnished to Bruce T. Daniels, Superintendent of Public Works, for forwarding to FIA.

This study is being conducted by Williams & Works, Corp of Engineers under contract to the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Funds for this program are authorized under the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (P.L. 93-234).

IN RETROSPECT

We see by the papers, as Will Rogers use to say, that the basic reason for the predominance of our workers over others in other countries is due to the lack of productivity of our workers.

I didn't think this was any secret-it has been increasingly true, year after year, for some time, but now it seems to have suddenly dawned on some of the so-called experts that in order to maintain or increase our high wage scales we must produce more quality goods per hour than we do now. To do this we do not mean that we have to work harder than we do now-can't we exercise our ingenuity to improve the machinery with which we produce these goods. In this we have been amazingly successful in years past. We have been the world's most prolific inventors.

We have lost our dominance in several major product fields to foreign countries unnecessarily. We no longer make our own television sets or stereo outfits. The last major United States maker recently closed their plant here, and in the field of printing equipment for example, no company in the United States makes any presses or paper cutters any more. They come from West Germany, Sweden and Italy.

So it should be rather simple to figure out that the money sent out of the country to purchase these things for import here, is no longer of any use to us, it is just gone.

Many stories are told of the great work done by the Japanese in the field of electronics for example, how proud they are of their work, and how steadily they work. In so doing they have steadily improved their economic conditions to a point where their living standards are far above anything they dreamed of a few years ago.

But in the meantime it seems that we here in these United States have become obsessed with the urge to have everything and anything that we happen to want or that someone else has, and to have it now. And we must obtain these things with as little effort as possible. We refuse to live within our income most of the time unless we are compelled by our accumulated debts, to do so.

This attitude must change, and change soon or we will drive ourselves into a depression the magnitude of which we cannot imagine, without any assistance from the energy crunch or any other outside assistance.

For years we led the world in the production of manufactured goods of all kinds, but for quite a number of years now the tide has changed. Where has our pride and our well known "Yankee ingenuity" gone?

Think about it a bit and you will decide that there is just one way to be "top dog" in a world wide competitive market, and that is to produce quality products at a competitive price. We, with our inventiveness and ingenuity can do this without sacrificing our standard of living if we want to work at it. We did it before and we can do it again if we want to-but we can't do by trying to see just how much we can get with the least amount of effort.

A lot of politicians think they have been anointed - not appointed.

When you see what's going on nowadays it's hard to see that the American Revolution started over just one tax.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

GRAVEL: BIG BUSINESS IN FREEDOM TOWNSHIP

To acquaint the citizenry of the surrounding area with some facts concerning gravel extraction in Freedom Township and to enlist their support in combating the truck-train problem, the following article is submitted.

Freedom Township is presently and will continue for decades to be the major source of gravel for southeastern Michigan. OUR GRAVEL RELATED PROBLEMS ARE HERE TO STAY. The effect of transporting gravel on our roads should be the concern of citizens of Freedom and the surrounding townships who live on or drive cars on the transport routes.

In our drives to work or going about our daily business we have all met the typical gravel train and its driver. The rig is a huge affair: cab, tandem trailer, forty plus wheels. Loaded, it grinds its way slowly down the road and up the hills with its 50 ton load, spreading gravel in its wake. The driver will be found crowding, hogging or outright straddling the center lane as he carefully avoids the ruts left by his predecessors, the ragged edges of the narrow road and the sharp S-bend curves. Or if he happens to be returning to the pit, as time is money, he may be seen barreling along at 50 mph with tail of his rig swinging wildly out of control. Who will contest his conquest of the median? Not us in our midget cars. And where are the Sheriff's patrol cars when these infractions take place?

The Washtenaw County Road Commission has shown little inclination to upgrade Pleasant Lake Road in order to accommodate this truck traffic. Their usual efforts are not much more than a few superficial patches here and there which are quickly destroyed by the next two trucks that run over them. The Road Commission ignores the need to widen and upgrade the road base, straighten the curves and carve away the hills to allow the average citizen a safer shot at avoiding the gravel monsters. Clearly the money with which the gravel companies bond the roads to secure their use is inadequate to cover the cost of damages which the trucks inflict on the roads.

The Federal Highway Commission states that one normal truck's wear use on a road is equivalent to 7000 cars. Ever wonder what the ratio is for gravel trucks?

The following companies presently extract gravel from Freedom Township: Whitaker & Gooding, 500 acres - Fletcher and Pleasant Lake Rd.; Thompson-McCully - 80 acres off Esch Rd. & 80 acres off Bethel Church Rd.; Washtenaw Road Commission - numerous pits. In addition the Holloway Co. has petitioned the Freedom Township Planning Commission to remove gravel from 100 acres off Steinbach Rd.

Who can say where the next sites may be located in the years to come? The transport route is Pleasant Lake Rd. today, it may be Bethel Church or Ernst Rd. tomorrow. Chances are everyone's life will be affected before the gravel is exhausted from this area.

The truck traffic from Whitaker and Gooding's pit is 200 trucks per day; half loaded, half empty. The proposed Holloway site will more than double that figure to 400 trucks per day. In a 12 hour day that is 33 trucks per hour or about one truck every 2 minutes leaving or entering the pits. The combined traffic on Pleasant Lake Rd. with the Thomas-McCully and Road Commission trucks is staggering.

We cannot argue that gravel is a needed commodity nor can we argue with the right of a citizen to sell gravel from his land. But we can argue that we have a right to safe roads. We can argue that our lives are disturbed and endangered by these trucks. We can argue that the gravel companies and the County Road Commission need to build a safe Pleasant Lake Road or prepare an alternate truck route. We can argue that the gravel companies have the resources to rebuild the old rail-way and tie their pits into it.

We can also petition our township government to stand fast against the issuance of any more gravel permits until such time as the transportation problem is solved.

If you are concerned about these matters, please write to the Freedom Township Planning Commission. Let the people who represent you in government know of your concerns and what you expect them to do for you.

Thank you,
Catherine Roberts
Freedom Township Citizen

WHAT IF THE EPA HAD COME TO THE BOSTON TEA PARTY?

Have you ever wondered how the American Revolution would have been handled if we had then all the government rules and regulations we have now?

For example: Participants in the Boston Tea Party would be charged with illegal dumping by the EPA.

The Federal Trade Commission would require the Minutemen to change their name because it takes longer than a minute for them to become battle-ready.

Paul Revere's horse would probably be considered an endangered species and poor Paul would be cited for excessive noise.

The FTC would have changed the statement "shot heard round the world" because the shot was only 573.5 yards away.

Betsy Ross would be cited by the Labor Department for not being a member of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

The Equal Opportunities Commission would have struck the phrase "We hold these truths to be self evident that all men are created equal" from the Declaration of Independence and changed the wording to "persons are created equal." The Coast Guard and Army Corp of Engineers would no doubt be upset about General Washington's crossing of the Delaware.

The General Services Administration would have ordered the troops home because they didn't have adequate footwear.

The list could go on and on. One of the biggest problems that would have been faced in the struggle 200 years ago would have been the cost of all the rules and regulations. In fact, we can hardly afford them now. A recent Congressional study found that federal regulations cost businesses and individuals more than $102 billion in fiscal 1979, and these federal regulatory costs are rising faster than increases in either the federal budget or the gross national product.

News of Good Things Growing

Potatoes are one of many good things growing in Michigan. For a change of pace, try stuffed baked potatoes. Cut baked potatoes in half, scoop out the meat and mix with butter, Cheddar cheese, salt and pepper. Place in shells, top with grated Parmesan cheese and brown in a 375 degree oven for 10 to 15 minutes.

Michigan farmers produced more than one billion pounds of potatoes in 1978 to rank our state eleventh in the nation, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Primarily four types of potatoes are grown in Michigan. Russet Burbanks, known for fine baking qualities, are long with thick skins and a lower moisture content. Round whites have a waxy texture ideal for creaming, scalloping, frying and salads. Round red and long white potatoes are great for potato salads and general cooking use.

'New' potatoes mature in spring and summer and maintain a delicate fresh flavor by being sent directly to market. They contain more moisture than fall potatoes so cooking time is shorter.

Skins on freshly harvested potatoes have not had time to set and may be featured during handling.

Store potatoes in a cool, dry, dark place. They may turn green and sprout when stored in lighted areas. Temperatures for storage should be between 45 and 50 degrees to protect from spoilage but, since cold temperatures turn potato starch to sugar, making them taste sweet, potatoes should not be refrigerated.

Cook potatoes whole in their jackets in as little water as possible to keep the vitamin quality and get the best food value. For cooks with a tight schedule, speed-cook potatoes by cutting them into pieces and boiling in as little water as possible in a tightly covered pan.

For a tour of a Michigan potato growing region, write for the free brochure "A Cook's Tour." Twelve individual mapped tours with recipes, of different Michigan crop areas, complete the packet from the Michigan Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 30017, Lansing, 48909.

Stationed In Germany The Cottage Burglar

William Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of Manchester, is now stationed in Frankfurt, Germany. Bill, a 1977 graduate of Manchester High School, received his basic training at Fort Dix, New Jersey and spent 2 years at Fort Hood, Texas as a diesel mechanic. His address is: SP4 W.B. Smith 363-74-9649, 19th Maint. Co. Box 54, A.P.O. New York, N.Y. 09165.

He comes by snowmobile, four-wheel-drive, or dirt bike. He leisurely relieves you of your belongings in broad daylight, because no one is around to see.

He is the cottage burglar-and he strikes hundreds of Michigan cottages and summer homes each year. Modern modes of transportation permit him to reach isolated vacation homes once considered inaccessible during many months of the year because of deep snow or poorly-maintained roads. He has plenty of time to work, day or night, because few neighbors are around to see.

The Michigan Sheriffs' Association and the state's 83 sheriffs want to remind cottage owners that they are NOT defenseless against this criminal element. A number of steps may be taken now - when the cottage is being closed up for the season - to discourage or help apprehend the cottage burglar. Here is a list of ideas the Michigan Sheriffs' Association thinks every cottage owner should know about and use:

1. Remove all portable items from your cottage and return them to your permanent home.
2. Implement "Operation ID" by marking all property in your cottage with your driver's license number. Make a list of the serial numbers of any belongings bearing such numbers.
3. Put adequate doors and locks on

Students Honored at Ferris State College

Ferris State College has honored 1,850 students for scholastic excellence during the spring quarter by naming them to the Academic Honors List. Dr. Robert E. Ryan, Vice President for Academic Affairs, has announced.

To be named to the Academic Honors List, a student must earn at least a 3.25 average on a 4.0 basis and carry a full academic load. A full load is defined as 14 quarter hours of credit.

Students named to the list from Manchester include: Jill E. Bruestle and Jean Marie Kress.

M.E.A. - School Board Still Negotiating

With school in Manchester scheduled to begin this Thursday, August 30, for the teachers, it is unlikely that a contract agreement will be reached by that time.

Slow bargaining started in June due to the lateness of the Board in naming the original negotiator, Superintendent Robert Masten. Progress was further stilled in spite of the Manchester Education Association's (unit of the W.L.E.A.) request to commence negotiations in late February, as the result of vacations, and lack of preparation time. Further slowed by the resignation of Mr. Masten, an attorney was hired by the Board in the person of Mr. Fred Schwartz who also has had to have time to prepare.

Union President, William Symons and Chief Negotiator, Dick Gray, at this point, requested an extension of the previous contract, but the Board has presented several conditions attached to indicate their unwillingness for the teachers to return under those circumstances.

Although there is little hope of agreement to a contract by September 4th, the first scheduled student day, the negotiating team for the M.E.A. - W.L.E.A. is recommending a return to work, subject to the approval of the membership at a meeting scheduled for Thursday. This recommendation comes with a request to the Board for negotiations to intensify and be kept as a priority without being allowed to stagnate.

THANKS FROM "SENIOR CLASS TRIP CLUB OF 1981"

We would like to extend our thanks and appreciation to the community of Manchester for their cooperation, participation and patience during this year's Manchester Fair Food Tent.

We, as parents and students feel our venture went well, as it was a newly organized senior trip club; opposed to previous clubs sponsored by the school system.

Special thanks to our four chairladies: Mrs. JoAnn Clark, Mrs. Sally Tobias, Mrs. Fran Green and Mrs. Margaret Sannes. These ladies were dedicated and generous of their time and energy. Thank you also to the students and parents for their cooperative participation.

Most of all we could not have continued this project without the fine help and donations of personal and business people of our community. Our special thanks go out to these generous community minded people. They are as follows: Chuck King, Earl Alber, Athletic Boosters, Chicken Broil Committee, Double A. Products, DuRussell Farms, Devulder Farms, Reno Feldkamp, George Goodell, Bob Hagerman, Glen Lehr, Sr., Gilbert Luckhart, Manchester Community Schools, Sally Marshall, Doug Parr, Pat Roesch, Saint Mary's Altar Society, Silkworth Family, Union Savings Bank, Rolly Wooster and of course the general public for their fine support.

Thank you.

Thank You to all our fine friends, neighbors, relatives and especially to Charlie's many friends.

We extend our thanks also to Rev. Woodruff and Ron Jenter for their kind words and comfort.

You were all very kind and thoughtful at the time of our loss.

The opening of the exhibition will be celebrated on Saturday, September 8, 1979 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. This opening celebration will feature quiltmaking demonstrations, and refreshments will be provided for visitors. Obituary

Rose Marie Spross
Manchester, Mich.

Age 41, died suddenly Saturday, August 25, 1979 at the University Hospital.
She was born April 30, 1938, in Michigan, the daughter of Michael and Rose Magyaros.

Survivors include: her husband Harold; four children, Jeanne, John, Michael and Kenneth; and her parents.

Birth Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. John Wakefield of New Carrollton, Maryland, announce the birth of a son, Mark Edgar Wakefield, on August 21, 1979. He has a sister Amy Katherine and a brother John Franklin.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wakefield of Ontario, California. Maternal grandmother is Mrs. Franklin M. Reck of Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. William Doyle please to announce the birth of a son on August 22. Peter Francis weighed 6 pounds 12 1/2 ounces and has 1 sister, Kathy 1 1/2 years.

A constant lament I hear, and I even hear it in my own home, is, "Where did the money go?"

As costs continue to escalate, the dollar needs to be stretched further and further.

There is no better way to keep track of every dollar you spend than with a checking account.

When you use your checking account for major purchases (and, what isn't major these days), you have a way of measuring the value you received from every dollar you spent.

Your checking account comes in handy, too, when the mid-summer sales appear. With your checkbook in your pocket or purse, you are ready to take advantage of lower prices when they are posted.

If there ever was a need for a checking account...it's now.

Stop in, we'll show you how easy it is to keep track of your spending. And, here the cost is low.

TRIVIA

I guess that is as good a sub-head as for this effort. It was inspired by the incident which occurred the other morning in the post office. A friend of mine emptied his box and then stood there a few moments perusing his loot and then he began to mumble under his breath. When I laughed and told him to "watch it, that if he kept on the way he was going he would not only be talking to himself he would be answering himself shortly and that was bad, very bad, a definite symptom of disintegration."

He laughed and turned to me and pointed to three letters that he had received from Blue Cross. "I know what they are all about" he said, "they are about the same subject, all three of 'em. Why in the name of efficiency and common sense couldn't they write me about all this on one sheet of paper, put it in one envelope and mail it all with one stamp?"

We opined that surely we didn't know, that we were totally confused by this computerized world in which we live.

Then, on the way home we were listening to the car radio and on it was announced the earthshaking fact that at USC there had been inaugurated a college course (for which a credit was given) that taught those enrolled in it just how the household chores in the average home should be divided—who should do this and who that. To this I listened intently, somewhat confused but greatly interested. If they offer a correspondence course I'm gonna sign up.

I have been confused for many years as to who for instance should wash the dishes and who should wipe, or who should do both or neither. We've never had any serious trouble about it but I wanna be sure to do it correctly. I don't want to become a social outcast.

And then there are so many other chores that we want to be sure about. I don't want to infringe on my wife's territory in any way. I've even noticed that in several instances about town the lady of the house has been seen out mowing the lawn and that has never happened at our house, but if she is supposed to do so in polite society far be it for me to object. My wife and I have always operated on that popular Honey Dew theory—you know, I'll bet you have too—"Honey do this or that" is a very popular phrase in my home.

Then when I arrived home and proceeded to read the evening paper, after I had carried out the garbage, helped to clear off the dinner dishes from the table, fed the dog and hung up my old pants, which when I changed them, I had carelessly thrown on the bed, I proceeded to read the headline news of the day.

After a couple of minor stories about the condition of the world as a whole I came to this little gem about the 12-year-old down in New York State who was caught flat footed selling worms dug from his back yard without a sales tax license and was forced to remit 64 cents in uncollected sales taxes.

It seems that in mid-July this lad received a certified letter from the State Department of Taxation and Finance stating that the worms he was peddling for 35 cents a dozen were "tangible personal property" subject to 7 percent sales tax, and if he didn't cough up in 20 days the state would be forced to take action.

The little guy was scared for a week, his mother said. He thought that they were gonna come and take away his bicycle for the taxes.

Finally his folks found out where the woman was who had signed the form letter and got her on the phone. After a few sentences she asked him how old he was.

"Twelve" he replied, and then there was a long pause.

After a week of consultation with its lawyers and the plotting of a feasible course, the department sent two men from Rochester to the lad's hometown to see his "books". Then they decided he owed 64 cents but they didn't say how much it cost to collect it.

"We don't go looking for these little instances" the statement said "but someone complained and so we had to check." The state says they will help the youngster with his quarterly report from now on and the lad's competition whom it is suspected may have caused all this trouble in the first place, has gone out of business, and the boy's daily sales have now reached a high point of $1.50 a day.

Now, as long as we are chronicling things on the somber side of life, may we report that last March there was reported an invention that could cut the energy consumed by fluorescent lights as much as 40%. It adjusts the amount of current used to the amount of sunlight coming through the window.

This sensor is easy to install and it has been estimated that it could save $2 billion in oil imports annually if installed nationwide. Now 19 months later, as far as we can find out, GSA has done nothing about it. However we are now told that testing now is to begin.

This agency which has lost millions through fraud and theft has said it couldn't afford the $12,000 necessary for a test. The EPA has said it was worthwhile but the GSA has refused permission for a test.

But our point is this; while the government was fiddle faddling the United Virginia Bank quietly ran a test of its own and said the results were promising. "We see it as a coming thing, they report."

WE KNEW IT...

We asked for corrections or additions to our list of business places in Manchester in the 30's and 40's and sure nuf we missed one or more. We mentioned a restaurant that was located in the building that formerly stood where Lannom's Ben Franklin Store is now located. We did forget that for several years after this restaurant departed Fred Shaver ran a Jewelry Store and operated as an optometrist in that location, and in the eastern half of the building Della Laver ran a beauty parlor.

And then too, for some years before the Enterprise moved to its present location Basit McGuire ran an electric shop and an appliance sales there.

We humbly beg your pardon and if there are more, please tell us.

QUILTING EXHIBITION TO START SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 8

Sarah Deasy leads the discussion at the recent "Quilt Show and Tell" sponsored by the Manchester Art Guild. A similar "Bring Your Own Quilt Talk" will be featured on September 8th at the opening of "Quilting: An American Tradition, 1850-present".

Your United Way $ At Work

The final selection has been made for the upcoming quilting exhibition at the Manchester Art Gallery. Several area residents have donated their beautiful quilts to be used in the exhibition "Quilting: An American Tradition, 1850-present". A striking red and white cross stitched quilt done by Birdella Alber will be featured, along with a signature retirement quilt owned by Ginny Fielder. This quilt was made as a retirement gift for Mrs. Feldkamp, and bears the names of many of her friends, neighbors, and co-workers at the IGA.

A quilt made by several fifth graders during last year's Pioneer Days will be on display, as will a contemporary "window" quilt made by Lucy Roberts, Edna Buss, Mary Blossom, and Nancy Feldkamp have each donated a quilt, and Sandy Kwolek and Sue Shari have donated baby quilts. Several quilts purchased by local residents at previous Mennonite Quilt Auctions will also be on display.

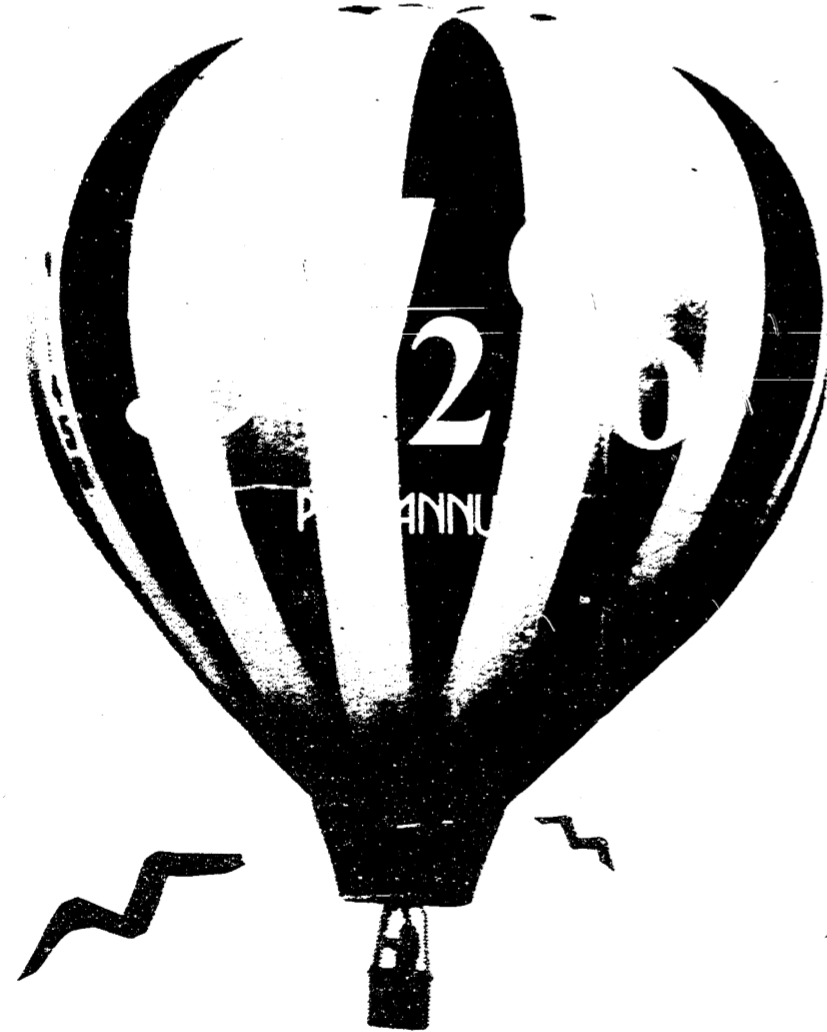

Each quilt has been selected on the basis of its unique design, quality handwork, originality, or historical value. A one hundred year old crazy quilt gives us an example of the exquisite hand embroidery that previous generations of American craftswomen were so adept at doing. Another hundred year old quilt done in the log cabin design, was made primarily from wool suits and coats, and is a beautiful example of color coordination. There are many examples of painstaking hand quilting, applique, piecework, and the ingenious use of very small scraps of fabric.

"Quilting: An American Tradition, 1850-present" will open in the Manchester Art Gallery on Saturday, September 8, and will run through September 29. The Opening Celebration on September 8, from 10-4 p.m. will feature quilting demonstrations by Marsha Parr Arnett and Sarah Deasy. Several quilting enthusiasts will be on hand to answer your questions during the continuous "Bring Your Own Quilt Talk". Schedules will be available detailing several other events planned by the Manchester Art Guild to coincide with this special exhibition.

The Manchester Art Gallery is located at 138 E. Main St., just off the lobby of the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre.
