Card Of Thanks

I would like to thank all of the people who had kind thoughts and prayers for me during my recent illness.
Bob Chapin

I would like to thank everyone who sent me cards and a special thank you to all of the nice people who sent food in. Also thank you to the Knights of Columbus for the plant.
Mae Panches

It is with the deepest and most grateful appreciation that I want to express my "thank you" to each and every one of you who remembered me on my 90th birthday. Many of you perhaps will not know an old song which brings back golden memories, the lyrics of which are - "dear friends and gentle people, who live in my home town". However, not only in my HOME town, but in every home town in which I lived during my teaching years, also to my many friends in the surrounding area - Chelsea, Jackson, Ann Arbor, and especially the half-page coverage in the Rochester Clarion. "Thanks, Chuck!" I would like to extend a special thank you and grateful appreciation to Professor Carol Harding and Mary Leeman, both of the faculty of Michigan State University, and Carl Loeffler, of Ann Arbor, who planned the open house. God bless them and everyone for making my special day such a delightful and memorable day.

New Superintendent Talks About Manchester Schools

by Sandra Volentine

Eugene Thompson, the new superintendent of schools with one month on the job, has survived a crisis. Faced with a strike and deadlocked contract negotiations his third day at work, Dr. Thompson had to learn a lot in a hurry.

Now things are better. "The kids are back in school. We're back working at education. That's fun. That's what I'm trained to do," said Thompson. Relaxed now, with the weeks of strife behind him, Thompson talked in an interview last Friday about his background, his role in Manchester, and his visions for the future. Gene Thompson brings a variety of training, experience, and influences to his position. "Everything I've done through my career has prepared me to be superintendent. I intentionally went through varying types of roles in my jobs, instead of the usual route of principal, assistant superintendent, superintendent. All have widened my experience. I don't think I would have anywhere near the breadth I've been able to gain if I had followed the traditional pattern."

Appointed Manager Of Manchester Banking Center

Edward L. Barnard, a Manchester resident for five years will be the manager of Ann Arbor Bank and Trust's Manchester Banking Center. Bruce Benner, president of the bank noted that Barnard joined Ann Arbor Bank and Trust with over twenty years of banking experience, ten of these in branch management. A life long Ann Arbor area resident Barnard is past President of the Ann Arbor Jaycees, a former Jaycee International Senator, and currently is active in the Manchester Optimist Club. As manager of a full service office, Barnard will provide loan services for installment, commercial, mortgage and agricultural loans. Thomas Kalleward, Assistant Trust Officer for the bank will be available locally to provide trust services. Nancy Keizer will serve as head teller, with Jeanne Martin and Nancy Peters as tellers. A grand opening celebration is under way thru December 14 in the bank's temporary location at 10903 Manchester-Chelsea Road (M-52) on the north edge of town. Construction is currently under way to remodel an existing structure into a permanent location at the site, with completion expected next spring.

His educational background includes a B.A. from Western Michigan in elementary education, with minors in English, history, and geography; an M.A. from the University of Michigan in school administration, with a minor in elementary school curriculum; and a Ph.D. from Western Michigan in educational leadership, with a minor in counseling and guidance.

Previous positions have been Director of Research and Evaluation in the Ann Arbor Schools, Assistant Dean in the School of Education at the University of Alabama, Director of Curriculum for Gull Lake Community Schools; and elementary school Principal and Teacher.

Asked why he became a teacher in the first place, Thompson said, "I'm not sure. My older sister was an important influence, and I suspect the strongest. She was a teacher and I looked up to her."

"I'm not sure I knew what I wanted to do when I went to college. I had basic instincts of wanting to work with children. Originally I wanted to be in secondary education, with a major in social studies. One of my advisors suggested I look into elementary education. I worked as a teachers aide to see how I would like that. I liked it and transferred into elementary education. I knew even then, however, that I eventually wanted to go into administration."

Though Thompson's basic career goal is to be in administration, to be in a leadership role, he misses teaching. "When I look back the one job I enjoyed most was being elementary school principal, where I still had close contact with kids. Not that I haven't enjoyed what I have done since, but I am still an educator at heart and have been removed from immediate contact with students for ten years. I'm used to that now but have never stopped missing that contact."

Thompson grew up in northeast Detroit. "My dad was a policeman. I attended Detroit Denby High on the East side. We lived in the same house all through my childhood. "Even though it was a big city, in those days there were neighborhoods which were like small towns. I knew everyone within three, four, five blocks. The neighborhood was largely ethnic, Italian, Polish. We were one of the few Protestant families. I learned that way to live with people of different backgrounds."

"After college I lived in the suburbs of Detroit, then in a small town, Richland. Then I lived in Birmingham, Alabama, which was another educational process. That's a whole another cultural system. "My preference is for a small town, for open countryside and space. My dad has said that I am a lot like his father. My grandfather was an Appalachian coal miner. He drifted around the coal mines and farms. He liked the country, and didn't like the city. I am most at home in the country."

Back to the present, Thompson talked about being superintendent. "I see my job as the chief executive of a 2.3 million dollar business. I work for the Board of Education, a policy making body. My job is to see that policy carried out. "Thompson influences that policy by making recommendations on every issue. "My role is to advise, to provide data so they can make intelligent decisions. "He further sees that his job is "to deliver education to the community, to respond to educational groups, to work with teachers

Deadline For Filing Nominating Petitions

The deadline for filing nominating petitions for the office of the Manchester Council is Tuesday, December 18, 1979 at 4 P.M.

The following offices will be open in the March 1980 election: Mayor-2 year term; Clerk-2 year term; Treasurer-2 year term; Assessor-2 year term; three Trustees for 2 year terms and two trustees for 1 year terms.

Petitions can be obtained from the Village Clerk, Dealoris Richardson.

United Way Tops Goal For 20th Year

For the twentieth straight year the people of Manchester, its business industries and organizations have met their United Way goal. This year's goal of $24,748 has been exceeded by 9.6% for a total of $27,129.59. I am sure that these funds will go a long way toward brightening the day for many people and organizations dependent upon the United Way for support.

I would like to thank the United Way Board, the Division Chairmen, Captains, Solicitors, and especially the contributors. Also thanks to the Manchester Enterprise for their coverage of the campaign; and the Gamble Store for displaying our thermometer, as well as anyone else who helped with this years drive.

It is my pleasure to have had the opportunity to be campaign chairman for a community like Manchester that has such a commitment to doing its fair share for the United Way agencies.

James W. England Campaign Chairman

Final reports of the Manchester Area United Way Campaign were reviewed by James W. England, General Campaign Chairman, at a meeting held at the Lou Vogel home on November 28th. Attending were Board Members and Division Chairmen.

Total campaign receipts in cash and pledges amounted to $27,129.59. This figure represents 109.6% of the campaign goal. This marks the 20th consecutive year that the Manchester United Way has reached its goal!

Mr. England expressed his thanks to all divisions and submitted the following:

- Industry - $16,514.94 contributed, 60.9% of total, 113% of goal.
- Rural - $3,762.75, 13.9% of total, 109% of goal.
- Business - $3,264.00, 12.0% of total, 99% of goal.
- Village - $1,723.00, 6.4% of total, 116% of goal.
- Schools - 763.90, 2.8% of total, 69% of goal.
- Outside Business - $715.00, 2.6% of total, 114% of goal.
- Organizations - $386.00, 1.4% of total, 129% of goal.

Suggestions and comments concerning the campaign were discussed and filed for future reference.

Other items of business included payment of the remaining 1978 payroll designated pledges to outlying communities plus any current out-of-town payroll designations that were cash donations.

An emergency appeal from the American Red Cross requesting funds for their depleted Disaster Revolving Fund was read, and the Board approved payment of

In Retrospect

"Tis the season now to be jolly-to think of Santa and gifts and all that sort of stuff. And the other day we were thinking of these things when we came across an article discussing various items in our national budget and listing from that document, quite a number of government grants to various organizations for various purposes and as we read them it seemed to us that they should- quite a few of them at least, be classified as gifts from Santa, and don't forget that you the taxpayer, are paying for these grants.

They are, as we said, many and varied and among them are the following: (These are not all from the current year's budget but all are from recent year's grants).

One of those that caught my eye was a $20,000 a year study of German cockroaches by the National Institute of Health.

And then there was the $70,000 project to conduct research on the small of perspiration from Australian aborigines. This the fine print says is one of sixteen subprojects concerned with the "zoophysiology" in Alaska.

There was also a $8,700 grant awarded by the National Foundation of the Arts to study the history of the comic books of the nineteenth century.

Three or four years ago Sen. Barry Goldwater collected a list of some of these Christmas gifts and the one that seemed to amuse him the most was the $500 given to Aram Saroyan, son of the author Wm. Saroyan for a poem to be included in the American Literary Anthology. The poem (all of it) was just eight letters as follows: "light". You figure it out, we're tired.

At that time the Senator noted that July 1 is the start of a new fiscal year and at that time every government agency must use up all of their grant from the previous year, (whether or not they have any need for it) or their budget will be cut for the next year and so you must be aware that there is never any left. It gets used up somehow. It was noted that a few years ago one agency discovered to its horror that come June 30 there was going to be a considerable sum left and so they ordered, paid for and had installed before the June 30 deadline a batch of very, very expensive oak doors for the offices of its bigwigs. They had nice doors not chintzy oak ones...and there these doors remain to this day the envy of the other departments.

And while we are on this subject the government maintains two plush resorts for the use solely of federal officials, members of Congress and civilian VIP's. One is Shenandoah National Park and the other is in Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming.

Then too there are on the list many more intriguing grants, the results of which might make interesting reading. Among these was $132,500 given the University of Minnesota to find out why people fall in love and $342,000 given Michigan State College to study the use of birth control devices by unmarried college students. The study questioned 1,200 students as to the when, where and with whom they had premarital sex.

And down towards the bottom of the list was the grant to determine how to integrate hitchhiking "into the transportation system."

So may you all enjoy all these gifts from the Great White Father down in Washington; all paid for by you the taxpayer as a part of our annual Federal budget, all O.K.'d and passed by your Congressman and your Senator, and a merry merry Christmas to you all. Maybe these gifts are for the person who has every thing but who hasn't paid for it yet.

Or will it be simply wider and lower designed to be so unobtrusive that motorists will no longer be caught up in the recurring pleasure of noting Sharon as a unique and lovely spot on their journey?

CHRISTMAS AT THE GALLERY

Our second annual Christmas crafts exhibition, "Over the River and Through the Woods: A Visit to Grandmother's" is now showing in the Gallery. This popular exhibition has drawn many visitors from the surrounding areas to see the wide variety of craft items displayed in the setting of Grandmother's kitchen. The Christmas ornaments, gift items, and baked and canned goods have all been made especially for this show by local artists and craftspeople. The exhibition will run through December 23rd, and many new items will be added throughout the show. Gallery hours are Tuesdays, 10-2; Saturdays, 10-4; Fridays and Saturdays, 7:30-9; and Sundays 3-6. The Gallery is located at 138 E. Main St., just off the lobby of the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre.

CHILDREN'S DAY

A special Children's Day has been planned for December 15th. Children will be greeted at the door by Grandmother's helpers who will assist them in making their selections from the many specially priced items. Children will be able to create their own gift wrap, listen to stories, and help themselves to cookies and cider. The fun will begin at 10 a.m. and run until 4 p.m. on the 15th.

WINTER CLASSES

A schedule of winter classes and workshops is now available and may be picked up at the Gallery. Workshops in stained glass, spinning, and calligraphy are being offered, along with classes in quilting, graphic design, and weaving. A special series of workshops for children will offer instruction in creative clay work, candle making, and weaving. Most classes begin in January, so get your copy now.

LUMINARIA

Karen reports that there are still a number of village blocks not heard from in the goal of lining each street with candles on Christmas Eve. A representative is needed from each village block to assist in passing out the candles. If you suspect that your block is unrepresented, please give Karen a call at 428-9115.

We would like to thank everyone who supported our craft auction, pumpkin pie sale and Christmas wreath sale this year. These projects were a big success.

I'm a little behind in our meetings so let me catch you up.

On October 22nd we were hosted by Nancy Wolf with Mary Frances Fielder as her co-hostess. Martha Haeussler was program for the night. Martha conducted a white elephant blind auction, we had a great time and each bought some memorable treasures.

On November 5 we met at the home of Pat Boone with Betty Mann as co-hostess. Carol Walker gave her program "It's an Expression". Carol brought in different things made by friends of hers that showed their ability of expressing themselves.

On November 19th we were hosted by Donna Bragg with her co-hostess Karen Stautz. Our program was Morals & Mores by Debbie Alber. Debbie had a guest speaker Rev. Robert Macfarlane, pastor of the Emanuel Church. We discussed the morals of the characters portrayed on the popular TV show "Dallas", which we all watch. We discussed how and why we watch it and if it effects our lives in any way. We all enjoyed talking and visiting with him.

On December 3rd, we met at Debbie Albers with Mary Kalleward as her co-hostess. We were joined in our annual cookie exchange by our sister sorority Xi Epsilon Iota. It was nice to be together again and visit with everyone. We had many different kinds of cookies to exchange among ourselves. "DELICIOUS". Karen Stautz gave her program, "Christmas Around the World". Caprice Classic 2-Door Landau Coupe

Impala 4-Door Sedan

A lot of new technology has gone into Caprice and Impala for 1980 to keep them the best-selling full-size cars in America. Among its refinements:

- Newly standard 3.8 Liter V6 engine designed to increase mileage over last year.
- New aerodynamic shape to help reduce wind resistance.
- New anti-corrosion measures.
- New standard high-pressure steel-belted radial ply tires that roll easier than last year's tires, taking less effort from the engine.

Even though Caprice and Impala have been redesigned for '80, they still maintain six-passenger roominess and comfort. Chevrolets are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions. Ask a salesperson for details on this and on Chevrolet's new three-year limited warranty against perforation (rust-through) due to corrosion.

SMITH-DAVIS WEDDING

Shakespeare Club

Kanley Chapel in Kalamazoo, Michigan was the scene of the October 6 wedding of Nancy Melissa Davis and George Daniel Smith.

The Rev. Alden Burns officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Davis of Manchester and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Smith of Kalamazoo.

Deborah C. Spin of Coldwater, sister of the bride, and Eugene Smith of Kalamazoo, brother of the groom, served as honor attendants.

Mimi Burkam of Kalamazoo was bridesmaid while Ronald Wilson and Michael Carboneau both of Kalamazoo, seated the guests.

Following a reception at Old Wells Hall at Kalamazoo College, the bride and groom honeymooned at Gatlinburg, Tennessee. They are residing in Kalamazoo.

The Shakespeare Club met at the home of Mrs. Norman Bucholtz on Tuesday, November 27. Members answered to Roll Call of a favorite "Foreign Born American".

Mrs. Bucholtz gave a very interesting program regarding Foreign Born Americans, outlining the biographies of notables such as Rubenstein, Payne, Einstein, John Paul Jones, Kissinger, Kreisler and Elizabeth Taylor and Bob Hope.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, December 18. This meeting will be the Christmas Party which will be held at the home of Mrs. Aaron Nathan. Luncheon will be served at 12 Noon by Mrs. Nathan, Mrs. Marvin Kirk and Mrs. Mildred Gilles.

Each member is asked to bring a gift for exchange and also a gift item for a shut-in member to be packed for a Sunshine Christmas Box.

Kids are learning so much in school nowadays that they are (some of them) as smart as their parents think they are.

Superintendent

as they develop curriculum in the district."

Working in a school district with 69 teachers and a little over 1200 students, Thompson doesn't view his job as being different from the superintendent's job in a large school district (Ann Arbor has over 1000 teachers). "The magnitude of the problems vary, but they are the same, solving educational and community problems." The only differences he sees are that the number of teachers here allows him to get to know everyone individually, and he has no problems from racial and ethnic diversity.

Asked about the philosophy of education that he brings to his work, Thompson responded, "I don't believe there is any one system for every child. I don't believe a teacher should be set with a particular method when he or she walks into the classroom. A teacher has to determine what style is most comfortable. What is the child's preferred learning method? Some of us are more comfortable in informal methods of learning. Others are more comfortable in the more traditional patterns."

"Two teachers I remember best from elementary school could not be more different. One was very warm and relaxed. I remember her coming by our chairs, putting her arms around us. That was Nina Jason in the fourth grade. Then in the fifth grade I had a man just out of the Marine Corps, who conducted class in a very traditional, strict fashion. Yet we felt him to be basically caring. Those are two illustrations that in order to be a caring teacher, you don't have to follow a set pattern. Teachers are effective in different ways. Kids learn in different ways. To be a good teacher is to be comfortable with one's own style, while picking up on the needs of the students."

Organization is Thompson's number one priority, both in board policy and in curriculum. "We need total district organization, so that we are all aware of the methods of operation, so everyone knows how to respond to certain situations."

Rapid turnover by his predecessors, Thompson thinks, has "contributed to a generalized feeling of lack of organization. Continuity falls off sharply. I hope I can provide the stability that has been lacking here."

"My wife and I are planning to be long time residents of Manchester. My professional history has been one of movement, but as I came into this job, our thoughts were to be part of the community. We may be here the rest of our careers."

An obstacle beyond organization that Thompson faces "is a problem not peculiar to Manchester but to the whole field of education. Schools in general lack credibility with the community. Educators are to blame for that."

"If I could develop a model it would be education as it existed 100 years ago, where parents were part of the school system. Through the years we have disenfranchised parents from the school. We need to open the schools up, we need to listen, to hear what communities are saying, how they want schools run. That's what I want to work on here. I'd like to put the community school concept into operation. I think it can be done. We're going to work towards that."

Regarding curriculum, Thompson wants to get it defined in writing, "to get what we are doing committed to policy books, so that parents can understand what we are trying to accomplish."

"Policy and curriculum obviously exist already, but I could not give any assurance that content in one fourth grade is the same as in another. What we need to do is to define: These are the kind of skills we want to develop by a certain grade. These are the kinds of skills that a student will master by graduation."

Any modification of the current curriculum will come later, after the curriculum is defined, he says. He expects to work with a curriculum committee of teachers, with consultants as needed. For the teachers, Thompson wants to develop a program of professional, in-service training. While some states have started requiring graduating students to pass basic skills tests before granting diplomas, Thompson is not sure students here are graduating with or without basic skills.

"My reaction to that kind of testing is that I have no difficulty with it if it is administered correctly. The problem is in establishing the statistical validity of the test."

He would like to see a program where learning problems are identified early in the school career of a child, and where a child is given every opportunity in his education to overcome any difficulties.

"If this has been done, and a child still has not mastered basic skills, I have no problem with giving a certificate of attendance, instead of a diploma. A diploma from Manchester High School should mean that basic skills have been mastered."

The Michigan Education Assessment program, which tests minimal objectives in reading and math, was administered here in September and October, to fourth, seventh and tenth graders. Thompson hasn't had a chance to see the results yet, but will study the results and make a presentation on them at the next school board meeting.

Discussing the school buildings in the district, Thompson says they have a number of basic maintenance needs, heat controls, insulation, gutters, and roof maintenance among them. "We can't let physical maintenance of the buildings go from year to year. It has to be a regular, ongoing process."

While the schools have no serious vandalism problems, there has been "a regular loss of gas from the buses, and some malicious destruction of radiators."

He wants to get into a study of energy use. "Energy costs are foremost in my mind."

He would also like to see improvements such as vocational shops, language labs, in the schools. "Things that modern school systems should have."

"In career education, there is an outstanding program called 'Free Style' on video tape. The district has no video tape equipment. There is the possibility that we can get the equipment with state grants, but so far we haven't gotten those grants. There is a serious lack of equipment throughout the district."

Although Manchester's schools face some serious budget problems, Thompson does not think the schools will face a severe curtailment of after school programs, athletics, as in some districts where voters have defeated school millages. "The history of Manchester efforts to pass millages seems to indicate the community will support a millage if they can see the need for it. It is a matter of being open and honest with the community."

Thompson doesn't expect more state or federal aid. "Maybe we could get some grants in career education, but nothing massive that would bail us out of budget problems."

Declining enrollment, a factor in the loss of state aid, will continue, says Thompson, because of a declining birthrate, and energy costs and availability rendering people unable to commute, both somewhat but not completely offset by the development in rural areas.

While loss of students makes it easier to maintain a decent classroom size, it is mostly a disadvantage. "You have to continually consolidate classes, which you can't always do because the loss is not always in the same grades. You can't reduce staff proportionally. Last year we lost 79 students and one teacher. We should have had a reduction of three teachers. It becomes a problem to meet kid's needs, and maintain a balanced budget."

Concerning the strike, Thompson said he knew there were serious contract problems here and he left his work in Ann Arbor with one week's notice in hopes that he could forestall a strike. Meeting the new contract will necessitate a cut of approximately $50,000 from the budget.

"It's not going to be easy. We have to make a decision about priorities. I have ordered a freeze on all purchases within the district. An administrator has to justify any purchase on an emergency basis, until we get a handle on the budget. This is going to be a very difficult year."

In the strike's aftermath, Thompson thinks, is "something to be learned. I have no doubt there are still wounds in the community and the organization. I hope all involved, administration, teachers, the board and the community, will accept, and forgive, and go on from here, and put those problems behind us so we can go on with education. I hope everyone will forget about the past."

"I am really much more interested in tomorrow than yesterday. I really hope that the community and the teachers can deal with the strike in a non-personal manner. It's an organizational problem. I hope we can avoid such conflict in the future. That will take a commitment on everyone's part that the situations and environment that led to that kind of communication breakdown will not take place again."

"Messiah" Sing

The 15th Annual Community "Messiah" sing, an unrehearsed performance of Handel's famous oratorio, will be held on Sunday afternoon, December 9, at 2 p.m. sharp at the First Unitarian Church, 1917 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor. The chorus and orchestra will be conducted by Larry Vote, music director of St. Mary's Student Chapel in Ann Arbor.

"The format of the Sing is that interested singers and musicians simply begin playing and singing. There's no rehearsal for the chorus, and only a brief warm-up for the musicians," said Sing organizer Emerson Hoyt. "The Sing is especially attractive to people who don't have the time to sing or play with a rehearsed group. We have whole families come out for the Sing, some in different sections of the chorus and others in the orchestra."

Vocal and instrumental scores will be furnished by the University Musical Society.

The performance begins promptly at 2 p.m. following a 1:30 warm-up for the orchestra. There is no charge for the Sing, but all participants are asked to make a small donation as well as bring baked goods for the intermission refreshment period.

Future community sings organized by the Ann Arbor Community Singers will be a February 10 reading of Randell Thompson's "Peaceable Kingdom", a performance on April 13 of Haydn's oratorio "The Creation", and a May 18 singing of a Schubert mass. Locations and times will be announced for these events.

Engineers Offer 103 Scholarships, Grants

The National Society of Professional Engineers is making available 103 grants and scholarships to aid high school seniors interested in pursuing engineering careers. Donald E. Lund, P.E., local chairman of the nationwide scholarship program, said lately.

Allen Schoolcraft, P.E., who heads the scholarship effort of NSPE's State chapter, said students will be selected for the awards on the basis of academic standing, participation in extra curricular activities, evidence of leadership, character and self-reliance, comments of teachers and administrators, and financial need. NSPE scholarships are provided with the co-operation of 34 leading companies and educational institutions; recipients received awards of $1,000 to $4,000 with some full scholarships.

To be eligible for the awards, a student must be a high school senior ranking in the top quarter of his or her graduating class, plan to enroll in a college or university with an engineering curriculum approved by the Engineers' Council for Professional Development (the profession's accreditation body), and be a U.S. citizen or plan to become a naturalized citizen.

Students must submit scholarship application to the local chapter by December 15; national winners will be selected by March 31, 1979.

For applications and more information on the NSPE scholarship program, contact your high school guidance counselor.

College Financial Aid Meeting

On Monday, December 10 at 8:00 p.m. in the high school library, a College Financial Aid meeting will be held. A filmstrip on the entire process of applying for financial aid will be shown. A discussion about college loans, grants, scholarships, and work study will follow. The actual financial aid forms will be given out and discussed in full and any questions will be answered.

All parents or guardians of seniors who plan to go on to school next year are invited to attend, as well as the students themselves. Also invited are parents of recent Manchester graduates who are now in college and will again be applying for financial aid for the school year 1980-81.

STATE TOP FOR YULE TREE CUTTING

Michigan is the nation's top producer of Christmas trees and families can choose from more than a half-million evergreens at cut-your-own farms across the state, according to Automobile Club of Michigan. "More than a dozen types of trees are grown by the farms, which range in size from small family operations with 300 trees to plantations offering up to 60,000 evergreens," stated Auto Club Touring Manager Joseph Ratke. Trees are priced this year from $1 for scotch pines to $25 for blue spruce, Douglas fir and flocked trees-evergreens sprayed with a snow-like coating. Eleven farms will sell trees by the foot, varying from $1 to $2.50 per foot, or up to $7 per foot for "living" Christmas trees which can be planted outdoors after the holidays. Trees run the gamut of sizes, from tabletop Serbian spruce to Michigan's state tree-the white pine. Cutters also can select exotic Austrian and French pines and Fraser spruce large enough to grace the corner of any room. Forty-one farms offer trees from 15 to 40 feet tall for churches, or other large buildings. Most of the 71 farms listed on Auto Club's guide are geared to family involvement. Many have goats, donkeys, peacocks and turkeys to feed and pet and bonfires, popcorn balls and other treats for children, plus visits by Santa Claus on weekends. "You'll find a country store selling homemade preserves and apple cider at one farm near Ruby, while another near Chelsea plans to give out free pine seedlings to children this year," Ratke said. Families will find lighted fields for evening trips at a farm near Montrose, and free peach wine samples at another near St. Charles.

Card Of Thanks

The Department of Public Works would like to thank Union Construction Co. and Joe Fitzgerald and Doug Schaffer for their help on the Fire Hydrant repair on West Main Street.
Bruce Daniels
Supt. of Public Works
To all the people of the Manchester area who made our Mother, Mabel B. Main, feel wanted and needed as a friend; and to all who so kindly visited her and sent cards of encouragement to her, we wish to say thank you. Your expressions of love, gifts and flowers during her months of being shut-in were deeply appreciated by Mabel.
Our special thanks go to Reese Sharai, Helen Popkey, friends, and neighbors who called, prayed, rallied around with help, comfort and food for the whole family these past days since the "gates" opened to Mabel's new life. It comforts us to know you miss her, too.

It is reported that one of those girls on a T.V. jiggle show had a bouncing baby girl.

About the only thing worse than a flooded basement is a flooded attic. The way some girls see it, all men are born free and eager.

RIGHT UNDER OUR FEET

The realization that most of America's oil and gas supplies remain largely untapped comes as a shock to many people.

The facts are simple. The oil and gas are there, right under our feet. Geologists have known for years that vast reservoirs of oil and gas remain to be sought out and developed, but the price hasn't been right.

About one third of discovered oil cannot be recovered without using costly techniques. Artificially low prices, mandated by Congress, have left billions of barrels of this kind of oil in the ground. One geologist believes that the old basins can yield as much oil and gas as had already been discovered.

Frontier areas, at great distances from pipelines and markets, may also be developed with long-term investments in manpower and money.

In the Texas Gulf Coast, more than 100-trillion cubic feet of natural gas has been calculated, enough there to supply the needs of the entire United States for 200 or more years—were the markets right to allow the production incentives.

More than 20 years of price controls and political manipulation has caused about 98 percent of prospective oil and gas-bearing sediment in this country to remain untouched by drilling.

Overzealous bureaucracy, encouraged by environmental enthusiasts, often make getting fuel to consumers almost impossible, and we're all paying for this.

There's little wrong with America's petroleum production that less government intervention couldn't quickly cure.

La Leche Meeting

The LaLeche Meeting will be held Tuesday, December 11, 1979, 7:30 p.m. at 503 City Rd. Manchester, with hostess Sandy Kwolek, phone 428-7674.

The subject: Nutrition and Weaning.

For further information call Sandy Winz 428-7125.

Manchester Assoc. For Talented Students

The fifth general meeting of the Manchester Association for Talented Students is scheduled for Thursday, December 6, 1979, at 8:00 P.M. in the High School Library. The public is invited to attend. In addition to the presentation of the very qualified speaker, a proposed program to be presented to the Board of Education will be reviewed and critiqued at this meeting.

Bringing her wealth of knowledge of and experience in gifted and talented education, Mrs. Barbara Lavery will address the group on the topic of "Presenting a Program to the Board of Education." Drawing on her experience as the coordinator of the Lincoln Consolidated School's program for the gifted and talented, a member of the Parent Advisory Committee of Saline, and Vice-President of the Ann Arbor Area Association for the Gifted, Mrs. Lavery has some very definite ideas on the critical components of a program for the talented and the structure of a presentation to the Board of Education. For two years, Mrs. Lavery read and reviewed every proposal for gifted education in the State of Michigan. This meeting should be very interesting and informative.

St. Andrew's Christmas Cantata

Vaughan Williams' Hodie, the masterful Christmas Cantata from the pen of England's most revered 20th century composer, will be presented by the Choirs of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church on Sunday, December 9th, 8:00 p.m. The choir will be accompanied by a 36-piece orchestra under the direction of the Church's Director of Music, Thomas Strode. Soloists for the work include Lisa Rogers, soprano; David Parks, tenor; and Wayne Morrow, baritone.

Hodie (This Day) was written in 1953-4 and received its first performance at the Three Choirs Festival at Worcester Cathedral, 1954. Perhaps his most radiant work, it combines many styles and moods in setting texts from Holy Scripture, and poetry as diverse as Milton, Hardy, George Herbert, and Coverdale. The well-beloved Christmas story unfolds in narrative, songs, chorales and choruses all combining a childlike joy in Christmas with a deep spiritual wisdom.

Donations of $4.50-adults, $2.50-students will be accepted at the door. Advance seating is available—information from the Church Office, 663-0518.

chester, Clinton, Dexter, Willow Run, Whitmore Lake and Pinckney.) Gary was top tackler with 22 solos and 103 assists. He also was one of only two area rushers to go over 1,000 yards. Ypsi-Lincoln's Derrick Tolliver took top honor with 1,166 yds. as Gary totaled 1,018. On rushing, I've talked to many townspeople—they are pretty sure no one in Manchester went over 1,000 yards until now. Sticking with these stats, here are some other Dutchmen: John Mooneyham was in 5th place rushing with 785 and holds the record for the area's highest average per carry of 7 yards. Brian Broucek was 8th in passing with 387 yds. In the area for blocking, there was no order, just coaches pick, and of these 14 listed, 2 were ours—John Reed and John Alexander. For intercepting, Todd Quayle was in 4th place with 5. We put 11 men on the L.C.A.A. while Gary and Jeff were selected All Jackson County. A little more on Jeff—he was picked on two polls as All State Class C, one the A.P. and the other the Detroit News. In the Detroit News went Nick Krzyzaniak, Gary and Doug Drouare as Honorable Mention. Also, Jeff was on varsity all 4 years.

Now with football over, the wrestlers square off on Thursday, December 6th at 8 p.m. on our home floor against Blissfield.

If your taste is more toward that round ball and hoop, we jump against Blissfield, Tuesday the 11th and Clinton, Friday the 14th. Both contests are at home.

The Black Sheep Repertory Theatre would like to correct the names of the children appearing in A CHRISTMAS CAROL listed in last week's article. The third paragraph should have read:

The children who appear throughout the play were all selected from the Manchester area: Mandy Alstrom, Howard Austin, Melanie Carpenter, Travis Cooper, Leslie Duncan, David Hammang, Donna Speiss, Matt Sporzynski, Denny Steele, Benji Winzenz, and Jamie Winzenz will appear as street urchins and Cratchit family members.

CHRISTMAS SEALS DESIGNED BY CHILDREN

MICHIGAN 1979

Elementary school children have drawn at least ten different creative renditions of reindeer, five angels, four snowmen, and sixteen different drawings of 'ol' Saint Nick to bid you Christmas greetings on the 1979 sheet of Christmas Seals.

Each state and territory is represented by its own colorful Seal. Asked by their teachers to paint pictures about the holiday season, many of the 54 young artists chose to make scenes representative of their state. There are the rugged timbered mountains of Washington and the lush tropical colors of Puerto Rico. Thousands of children in grades kindergarten through

Manchester Industry Adapts To Change

Driving through Manchester on M-52 or Main Street, you might miss it. Even living here you might not realize it. It's hard to imagine that this small village is host to industries employing altogether over 800 people, with millions of dollars in sales and paying several hundred thousand dollars in taxes to the village and township.

It is though: Double A Products Company, Hoover Universal Inc., Blowmolding Division, Manchester Plastics, Inc., Manchester Products, Inc., Manchester Stamping Corporation, Manchester Tool and Die, Inc., and Pinnacle Engineering Company all are in business here, manufacturing a variety of products. Part of the reason no one notices Manchester industries is that several of them are out of sight of the main roads. The other reason is that they are clean and quiet.

An interesting feature of Manchester industry is its inter-dependency. Manchester Stamping makes parts for Double A and Manchester Plastics. Manchester Plastics makes parts for Double A. Double A supplies valve controls for Manchester Plastics. Manchester Tool and Die repairs molds for Manchester Plastics, as does Pinnacle engineering. Hoover Universal is one of Double A's biggest customers.

Pinnacle Engineering, at 617 City Road, is the newest of Manchester's manufacturers. Pinnacle got its start part-time in Gene Smith's garage ten years ago in Ann Arbor. Six years ago Smith went full time with his business, locating first in Chelsea and then near Clinton. He moved his business to Manchester four years ago, he said, because "it seemed like a nice quiet spot in an area centrally located to several metropolitan areas, so I could draw skilled labor from several different directions". Pinnacle now employs eight people, and in six years its sales have grown ten times. The company builds machines for various uses. For General Electric, Pinnacle builds the tooling to put holes in jet engine foils; they are making the tooling for the horn button for a new Chrysler model, and an automatic size checking gauge for parts for the General Motors diesel engine. Pinnacle makes both computer parts and the tooling for several computer companies.

Innovation is common for Pinnacle. Pinnacle worked with another company in Ann Arbor to pioneer a process used for the decorative dashboard on the Cadillac-Seattle, which presses a decorative skin onto three-dimensional plastic molding. This combines a vacuum process with injection molding, and creates a stronger bond than could otherwise be made, and works on three-dimensional pieces, not just on flat parts, as previous processes did. Pinnacle also helped develop a process for forming and working with sirlan, a material that won't scratch or dent. Because sirlan also won't stretch, it had not been worked with before. Now a covering of sirlan over foil over mylar form a part of the bumper for the Cougar and Thunderbird, with the machines to build those parts supplied by Pinnacle.

In 1966, Clarence Fielder, Eugene Bentschneider, and Ted Stautz formed Manchester Stamping Corporation, branching out of Manchester Tool and Die. The corporation grew to employ 18 people with sales of $1.5 million a year. Ted Stautz retired last year, and new owners, Wayne Hamilton, President, and Richard Govan, Vice-president, took over the first of this year.

In Retrospect

This is not a quiz program. The following questions are asked merely to prove a point and to make that point obvious to the average reader. Here are three questions that we would like to have answered:

1. What was the name of Adam and Eve's third son?
2. Who replaced Judas as the twelfth Apostle?
3. What was the name of Lady Godiva's husband?

If you know all three you are one person in a thousand. Yet everyone has heard of Cain and Abel, of Judas and of Lady Godiva.

Why? Because they made news. They were the sensations of their time. People who read the Old Testament forget, if they ever knew, that Adam and Eve had a third son, Seth. But Seth was a nice fellow who didn't kill anybody as did Cain and Abel.

New Testament readers would be hard put to name Matthias as the disciple selected by Jesus to replace his betrayer. He did nothing to become a headline and lived and died in obscurity.

Why did Lady Godiva make her famous ride through Coventry? To get her husband to lift the tax burden on the people. This act of a normally modest woman so impressed him that he did so and made her famous for all time. She lives as a byword in the English language as does Peeping Tom who was not invented for centuries later but who shares her immortality. But who ever heard of Earl Leofric, her husband who never rode?

New this proves that people not the media make the news. Some of the reporters may write a vulgar story about an event but they are only trying to satisfy an innate curiosity of their readers.

Nobody cares about Seth but he was a much nicer character than his brothers. Only Judas and Peter who is credited with having founded the church, stand out among the disciples, and the Earl of Coventry doesn't even get his name in the history books.

What is dramatic, shameful, shocking or gratifying to our secretly baser instincts is what we look for, talk about or remember. Nice people don't make news.

And it all simmers down to this: when people demand better government, entertainment or news they will get it, so if you want these things reformed you will have to start at home.

Someone pointed out to me the other day the following item from the San Francisco Examiner and Chronicle:

"The manager of a nudist park complains that a hole was cut in the wall surrounding the camp. Police are looking into it."

And then there is the sign reported last summer:

"All new sermons—No reruns."

Family Service Scavenger Hunt

The Scavenger Hunt will be Monday afternoon, December 17 from 3:30 to 6:00 p.m. The drivers and helpers should meet at St. Mary's Church before or by 3:30 to get their maps and directions from Mrs. Wm. Schwab, vice-chairman of Manchester Family Service. In case of a storm which might make the Hunt impossible the alternate date is Tuesday, December 18 at the same time. The collections will be made in the village area.

Anyone wishing to have a neighborhood gathering for this project in the country, on a rural school bus or whatever, please contact Mrs. Schwab (428-8976) or Mrs. Reek (428-8852) for pick-up and delivery instructions. Cooperation is needed to save gasoline and to help everyone.

The Hunt is to give EVERYONE WHO WISHES an opportunity to give a tin can or a sealed package of food, soaps, paper goods, etc.—something that will help make up the Christmas boxes which Manchester Family Service prepares for the thirty or more needy families in the area. The Catholic Church basement is the center of all this activity this year for the local United Way Agency. Names of needy families come to the agency from the Department of Social Services, the Salvation Army and the County Health Department, or area churches.
