LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Due to a misunderstanding, Mrs. Christine Reichert's name appeared as a signature to last week's Letter To The Editor. Our apologies.

Pam Post

These last two weeks of letters to the editor of this paper has spurred my thinking into action. I wish to make it quite clear why I resigned from the Manchester School system - indeed, the reasons are exemplified by the tone and contents of those letters.

These are stressful times and this has been a particularly stressful year for the Manchester Schools. When a community places such a heavy burden on one institution as its source of recreation, topics of conversation, and hopes for the future, the results can be, and have been, overwhelming - unless the stress is understood, shared, and lightened by relevant laughter and aid.

This is a fine school system. That's the last time I'll say that; I'm getting tired of repeating myself. Prior to coming to Manchester, I worked for two years throughout the schools of Oklahoma as an Indian youth leader. Then I coordinated the Learning Disabilities Clinic at the University of Florida Medical Center for 2 1/2 years where we dissected and remediated products of various Florida schools. I've talked at length with other social workers from the other schools in the area. I know of what I speak. Whether by comparison or through standing on its own individual merits, this is a fine school system. A., for sure. Thank God.

Your school staff is industrious, caring, and self-reliant - even to a fault. Mrs. Spencer scrubs her hands off after every Halloween night. Your secretaries work on time uncounted - hell, we all do; you can't run a school within a set time slot. We're in the "business" of helping to raise the next generation every year. I can't think of anything more important and time consuming except full-time parenting.

Most of your teachers find it hard to accept the "special" programs because they personally want to keep the full-time responsibility of your kids. Your administrators and school board members take the brunt of the s--- for us and still come back the next day...usually.

There's only so much you can take. After hearing your personal quota of misinformed, non-doer talkers, you become affected yourself. Perhaps it was only coincidence, but the last scene of the excellently done high school play this year (Plaza Suite) ended with mind-joggling clarity for me. The bride-to-be, after finally being rousted from hiding from her imminent wedding, explained her fears to her claws-out parents: "I didn't want to become like you." I saw myself start to change this year into a bitchy, non-caring, stamping-heads social worker - a reflection of those feelings around that I couldn't seem to affect. Is this how you really are, Manchester? Why is it that those are the voices that I usually hear?

It seems to me that you have a job to do as a town: it is to stop the eroding talk that is becoming pervasive. I have a few suggestions: Those who can't stop their mouths from bitching and picking out faults can at least offset them by making sure they comment positively, or better yet do something positive, about the schools. I'd personally like to see some perennially flowering bushes and plants around Klager and the High School - they look so barren.

I'd like to hear those words of respect about Dacia Daniels spoken loudly to her instead of muttering them to me when I visit you in your homes. I'd like to see a big turn-out in person and in money for Mrs. Kime; she stands for a lot that has to do with the educational and social history of Manchester Schools. I'd like to see Joe Ellison who's fought so hard internally and externally these past two years continue his fight for our mutual benefit. I'd like a lot. I'd like you to know our good intentions, respect our battle-scarred attempts, acknowledge our many successes, help with our fewer failures, and extend courtesy and trust, not only because it's justly deserved, but also because it's just the right thing to do.

I resigned because I didn't see that you wanted to follow these types of suggestions. I resigned because you keep forgetting why you stay here and why you came to this town in the first place. I resigned because you as a town seem resigned to let the negatives carry the day. But I love to be surprised. Oh, well...

Letter to the Editor:

Open reply encouraged from Dr. Thompson, Supt. Manchester Public Schools.

The following was a proposal Dr. Thompson presented to the school board on June 16, 1980.

Mr. Benedict has been ill again. As of the current date he has been off work approximately 10 days. We are once again experiencing the transportation problems we went through last winter when he was away for an extended illness. Mr. McGuire has met with him and been advised that his doctor has assigned him to bed rest until Thursday, June 12th. I have concluded that we cannot continue to operate our transportation department in this manner. Mr. Benedict is an excellent employee who has worked far above and beyond the call of duty. However, his continued periods of extended illness leaves us in a vulnerable position. My plans are to visit him and ask that he visit the U-M Family Practice Center at Chelsea for a physicians written prognosis regarding his continued full time employment as chief mechanic. Based upon this physicians recommendations I will make a decision regarding the future organization of the transportation department and will advise you accordingly.

It concerns me, to say the least, that you would consider the above action at this time. It is most inappropriate. Spike spent many extra hours getting the buses back in order after we had the problems with vandalism. The only part of the above proposal that makes any sense is

Letter To The Editor
When you refer to Spike as an excellent employee, I'm sure no one is complaining because his absence has put undue work on them. If it's a matter of funds I'm sure you are capable of coming up with another plan. Spike has served this community loyally and to the utmost for many years. This is no way to repay him for everything he's done.
With all the other concerns we have now with our school system, especially since the millage was defeated, I'm sure the above proposal is not the answer to a balanced budget. At least Spike lives in our school district and has supported it through property taxes for a good many years. Can you say this of yourself? In fact I believe it was a condition of your employment that you had until June 30, 1980 to reside in our district. Do you intend to move here, or ask the present board for an extension on that clause? In which case if you don't than any increase in our tax millage wouldn't affect you, would it. Mrs. Mick was criticized because she was on the school board and her children didn't go to school here. At least she paid school taxes in Manchester.
Your main concern over this letter will probably be how I found out about your proposal. If that is to be your response, let me remind you that you were appointed Supt. over Manchester PUBLIC Schools and that the PUBLIC should know what's going on. Instead of increased taxes I think we need increased attention paid to operating the system within the present budget without the threat of cancelling activities such as sports or attacking Spike's current illness or putting us in a vulnerable position. I'm sure if you would put the same effort into looking for excessive areas of spending, possible excess manpower & unnecessary pro-broadly and said "Absolutely nothing."

That reply encouraged us sufficiently so that we said "We have a confession to make. We have in a box on the back seat a very small puppy which we picked up on the road, nearly dead of evident starvation and exhaustion."

At that she brightened up and asked "Is he all right? Have you fed him?" We assured her that we had and she said "Bring him in, let's see." So we did and put the box on the counter, by which time she had disappeared and reappeared bearing a saucer in which was some warm milk.

The puppy managed part of this and proceeded to go to sleep, so we turned to her and said "We thought that we had better tell you for if he whined we didn't want all four of us, to be evicted."

"Oh, that's all right she replied. Take good care of him", and so off we all four went to bed and to sleep.

In the morning we all resumed our trip and the puppy alternated in half hour tours of investigation and half hour naps. This went on all during our trip until we arrived home. Along the way he investigated the waves on the Lake Michigan shoreline and various frogs and other vicious grasshoppers and the like.

The two girls stayed with me that night as did the puppy and the next day they all left for work as nurses in a convalescent home, but the granddaughter's friend was by this time in love with the little fellow but as she lived in an apartment she was sure that she couldn't keep him so they set forth to see what they could do for him.

Rather than leave him in the car for their shift they snuck him into the ambulatory part of the institution and the supervisor did not find him therein for all of the occupants cooperated in keeping him hidden but at the same time they all played with him until the end of the shift when he was smuggled out and into the car again and the girls brought him back to me.

Of course I already possess a jealous cocker spaniel so I too couldn't keep him, but while we were discussing his fate the phone rang and a nurse who had been on the shift the night before said "I can't get that little guy out of my mind. We have two children six and eight and a couple of years ago had an unfortunate experience with a dog and the kids, but I guess it was the children's fault, not the dog's and this little fellow has such an ingratiating temperament that my husband says he wants to see him and if he is all I say he is we will give him a home," so we checked him in the car and took off for Ann Arbor.

Arriving there he proceeded to charm the husband and so we left him there with he and the children having a great time.

The next afternoon our phone rang and the nurse said "I heard your granddaughter jokingly call that puppy Fred-well it's not Fred K's Daisy, so named because we can't seem to keep him out of the flower garden, nor the kids either-I don't know who's tiring who out and I just want to also report that Daisy has been to the vet who says that she is border collie and cocker spaniel, has hook worms and pin worms and a rash on one leg, but she has been dewormed and has a bandage on the rash and has for herself a half acre playground with the kids and all five of us are all well and happy."

All of which proves that this old world isn't such a bad place after all is it? And if you will remember Mark Twain on one of his bad days remarked that "The more people he met the better he liked his dog." We can't wholly agree with that statement but we do like dogs, don't you?

June Is Dairy Month

This month is the 44th Annual Celebration "saluting" the dairy farmer, his products and his industry. It seems that some special honor should be paid to dairying. Dairying is a $28 billion a year industry. Isn't it ironic that the word "substitute" or "imitation" doesn't bother people in an era of natural products? Why do substitutes appeal to people who are caught up in changing lifestyles including "How to improve one's self, diet, figure, future, etc.?" So why not go along with the "tried and true" food groups which of course includes dairy products? Dairy foods are important and we all want to get our moneys worth and make our dollars go further. Dairy products are the answer when foods are expensive. Dairy foods have no wastage, nothing to peel, bone, or throw away. Total value ounce for ounce. They are "nature's own convenience foods" and are "ready to go" anytime. It's simple pour, slice, spread or scop right from the carton.

June is Dairy Month and serves as a reminder of the importance of milk and its many by-products.

Bridgewater Bunnies 4-H Club

The Bridgewater Bunnies 4-H Club started off their summer show season with The Bunny Bunch 4-H Club's third annual Rabbit Show. The show was held June 8 at the Forbush residence in Inkster and was judged by Karl Ehnis Sr. and Jr. of Whitmore Lake. 4-H members in the rabbit project from Washtenaw and Wayne counties were invited to attend.

All of the members of the Bridgewater Bunnies who participated represented Washtenaw County well and should be proud of the job they did. Jim Hansen won three firsts and one second with his French Lops. One of his Lops went on to take Best of Breed. Jim's younger sister, Peggy, fared just as well by winning a first and Best Opposite of Breed with her Siamese Sable Netherland Dwarf Doe. Karen Hansen, a cousin of Jim and Peggy, won a first with her Castor Rex Buck and Best of Breed. Her rabbit was the third best rabbit at the show.

Susan Klager won a first with her Black Satin Senior Doe. Mike Meister won a second and a third with his Chinchilla Satin Does. Both Susan and Mike competed in Showmanship for the first time. They did well even though they were nervous but did not place.

Susan Moessner had the best day of the group. She won two first, Best and Best Opposite of Breed with her two White English Angoras. She received three firsts with her Chinchilla and Copper Satins. She then won Best and Best Opposite of Breed with two of her Chinchilla Satins. Her Chinchilla Satin Senior Doe was awarded the trophy for the Best Rabbit at the Show. Susan also entered Showmanship and was third out of eighteen exhibitors participating.

manship class. Lisa was fourth, only one point behind Susan. Lisa also won a first and a second with her Chinchilla and Copper Satin Does.

The Bridgewater Bunnies have many plans for the summer including participation in the Washtenaw County 4-H Show, the State Judging Contest at MSU, and a club rabbit barbecue. The club would also like to enter a float in the Manchester Fair Parade and are selling Watkins products and looking for sponsors to raise money. Anyone interested should contact a 4-H member of the Bridgewater Bunnies or call 429-5184.

Observations

It has been a week now since the special millage election at the Manchester school has failed to pass. Just what this failure has meant or just what our total package at this time is I have not been able to ascertain or found anyone who knows. The campaign presented by the school just prior to the election was so ill received and so sloppily presented that it was difficult to make head or tails out of it. No doubt the school will try another election in August or later, however, it is very doubtful, after such an overwhelming defeat, that other elections will be much better.

It has always been our sorrow that high schools usually do not present to their students a course on economics. Practically all colleges do and for some degrees it is even a required course. Obviously many of our school members have not taken the course or believed in it. Some 20 years ago an English economist by the name of Keynes proposed the theory that prices varied with demand and supply. If supply is low and demand is high, prices are high and supplies are large and demand is low, price is low. This holds true for all products except when a substitute is available. Unquestionably our members are well aware of this for in the spring when strawberries are sent in from other states and the public is tired of only apples and oranges as fruit supplies, demand for fresh strawberries is high, supply is low, and strawberries are sold at 99¢ or 99¢ per pint. Then when the home market comes in supply is large and strawberries are soon selling for 39¢ or less per quart. In the case of substitute items butter is high priced and usually margarine is purchased because it is much cheaper. Notice, however, that butter has only doubled in price in the last 10 or 15 years while margarine has

Jaycee Auxiliary

The Manchester Jaycee Auxiliary held their annual installation meeting on May 14 at the home of Pat Bertke. There were several guests in attendance including Connie Macomber who was installed as a new member in a lovely candlelight ceremony and April Bertke who was installed in a similar ceremony at our June meeting.

Janet Avery announced some very good ideas for a membership drive to increase our membership during the coming year. Chairman Barb Dunlap reported that the April 26 Treasure Hunt was enjoyed by all, as usual.

Members received awards for their efforts during this past year. Top awards went to Rita Culp, Outstanding Spokette; Sandy King, Outstanding Jaycette; and Janet Avery, Key Woman.

Our new officers for the 1980-81 fiscal year were installed by the outgoing officers. The new board is as follows: President, Evelyn Panches; Vice President, Jean Riley; Secretary, Sandy King; Treasurer, Rita Culp; Directors, Pat Bertke and Cheryl Bunn; and Past President, Janet Avery.

Outgoing President, Janet, thanked everyone for their support during the past year. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served.

The new fiscal year began with our June 11 meeting also held at Pat Bertke's home. New President Evelyn took over the gavel with the new business portion of the meeting where we discussed our new planned year's program, and set up committees for some upcoming projects. Dues were also collected at this meeting.

Again, we all enjoyed the refreshments served at the close of the evening. Congratulations to our new officers, and welcome to our new members as we begin another year of serving our community!

Michigan's New 'Essential' Insurance Law

Michigan has a new ESSENTIAL INSURANCE ACT. It was approved by the Legislature and Governor Mikhon late in 1979. Most parts of the law take January 1, 1981. What will it do? It will make it easier for certain people auto and home insurance. Also, it will lower premium rates for some. To make these changes possible, most Michigan residents will pay more.

QUESTION: HOW WILL THIS LAW MAKE IT EASIER TO GET CAR AND HOME INSURANCE?

Under this new law, regular insurance companies will be required to provide auto and home policies for many people who were previously insured through "high-risk pools."

Today, a small percent of Michigan's insured drivers have to get coverage through the MICHIGAN AUTO INSURANCE PLACEMENT FACILITY (MAIPF) because of factors such as their driving record. And, some persons do not have their homes insured with a regular insurance company. They buy coverage from the MICHIGAN BASIC PROPERTY INSURANCE ASSOCIATION (MBPIA). The MAIPF and MBPIA are often called "high-risk pools." People insured through these "pools" generally pay higher rates.

QUESTION: WILL THERE STILL BE 'HIGH-RISK POOLS'?

Motorists with unusually poor driving records, for example, and some homeowners will still have to get coverage through the "pool." However, the ESSENTIAL INSURANCE LAW will LIMIT the amount those people pay for car and home insurance—regardless of how many collective accidents or other losses they have.

QUESTION: IF THE 'POOLS' LOSE MONEY, WHO PAYS FOR IT?

They do. It is paid by all people who buy coverage for their cars and homes. A "pool" pays out more money than it takes in, this financial loss is added to regular insurance companies. This cost is then included in the price you pay for YOUR coverage.

In recent years, the Michigan "high-risk pools" have had large financial losses—MILLIONS of dollars. During the past six years, for example, Michigan Property Insurance Association had net financial losses of more than $1,000,000. Because of the ESSENTIAL INSURANCE ACT, "pool" losses are expected to increase in the future.

QUESTION: WILL THIS LAW REDUCE INSURANCE COSTS?

It will only shift costs. Some people will pay less. Most will pay more. Premium rates cannot be reduced OVERALL unless claim costs are lowered. The law will NOT lower claim costs.

QUESTION: HOW WILL THIS LAW SHIFT INSURANCE COSTS?

Insurance companies base rates on numerous factors which predict losses and claims. If drivers in group A are likely to have claims which cost more than those in group B—group A drivers pay more for their coverage. This new law changes the use of such factors. For example, sex and marital status will no longer be used to set auto rates. And, rate differences based on where a driver or homeowner lives (rural, suburban, urban), will be arbitrarily limited.

QUESTION: WHO WILL BENEFIT FROM THIS COST SHIFT?

For auto insurance, young single males and people who live in the largest metropolitan areas. For home insurance, people living in the largest metropolitan areas.

QUESTION: WHO WILL PAY MORE?

Most Michigan drivers will pay more for their auto insurance. Young single males and young married couples will probably get the biggest increases. Residents of most rural and suburban areas will pay higher rates for auto AND home insurance.

QUESTION: DOES THIS LAW AFFECT NO-FAULT COLLISION INSURANCE?

Yes, the LIMITED and BROAD types of collision insurance have been changed to cover more accidents. Before, if you had LIMITED coverage, it paid for damage to your vehicle only if you were totally free from fault. Now, it will pay if you were 50 percent at fault or less. BROAD coverage pays for damage to your vehicle regardless of who caused the accident. Before, however, it paid for deductible amount ($50, $100, etc.), only if you were totally free from fault. Now, your deductible is paid if you were 50 percent at fault or less. This part of the law took effect March 1, 1980.

Of course, this change will raise claim costs and premium rates for collision coverage.

QUESTION: WILL THIS LAW ALLOW ME TO SUE THE 'OTHER GUY' FOR COLLISION DAMAGE?

Yes, you can recover up to $400 if the vehicle damage is not covered by insurance. Beginning July 1, 1980, you can sue the other driver—if you were no more than 50 percent at fault in an accident. If you were partially responsible for the accident, however, any court award in your favor would be reduced accordingly. These lawsuits will be handled in Small Claims Courts by the individual motorists involved.

QUESTION: WHAT ELSE WILL THIS LAW DO?

Policyholders will receive more detailed information about underwriting and rating procedures—plus auto collision coverages. The law also sets up a formal procedure for those persons who want to challenge an action by their insurance company.

This information is provided as a public service by the following area insurance agencies. We want to help you understand the new law—and let you know what to expect.

BILLBOARDS STILL FALLING - More than 30,000 signs and billboards have been removed from the state highway system since Michigan's billboard control law was enacted in 1972. These photos taken on US-127 freeway south of Lansing last fall and this spring show improvement in roadside scenery when billboards are removed. The program has slowed considerably since federal funding for the program ended last September. It paid 75 percent of removal costs.

Gene Bentschneider, General Chairman, says plans are well underway for this forthcoming big day. He expects that more than 12,000 guests will be served on the athletic field and through take outs from four P.M. on. That's more than fifty a minute.

Mayor Schaffer has proclaimed this year's Chicken Broil day, July 17, as "BUD GUEST DAY". Bud was heard for some thirty six years throughout the midwest over W.J.R. His program "On The Sunnyside Of The Street" brightened the days of untold thousands of listeners. He is now active as ever spreading laughter among banquet audiences across the country. Bud and Betty have adopted Manchester as their home away from home and sing the praises of our famous Chicken Broil wherever they are.

Bud and Betty, along with other radio and TV personalities, will again be with us on Chicken Broil day.

Again this year free transportation will be available to visiting guests who park their cars at the high school parking lot. There will be no buses, just good old fashioned horse and pony drawn vehicles. Wendell Reinhart has arranged the transportation. Wendell will be driving a sixteen seat wagon. Lloyd Hughes will furnish two vehicles, a covered wagon and a hay rack wagon. George Macomber will be driving his old fashioned farm wagon and McCalla Feeds of Chelsea is making available a covered wagon. Andy Poet will be with us with his ponies and wagon. Jim Hone is furnishing a flat farm wagon and Jake Hague will have a covered wagon.

This colorful shuttle service from the parking lot to the athletic field and back has become very popular and entertaining for the young and old.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO MANCHESTER ON JULY 17.

Township Library - A Happy Riddle

Which came first, the chicken or the egg? If you know the answer, you can tell us whether patrons of our Library spurred circulation to increase over 35% in the past year, or whether new Library procedures, acquisitions and services lured more users into the building. Whatever the cause, it's the kind of double-digit inflation we can all be proud of!

Here are a few impressive statistics: Over 27,000 items were circulated during the past year - from books to records and films - to over 2700 area card-holders. Nearly 100 books were acquired for short-term loan circulation. There has been a marked increase in our use of the inter-library loan system. The Library applied for and received two grants, one to buy a microfiche viewer and the other to update our collection of law, medical, self-help, agriculture and Michigan books. A Savin 755 machine, bought with money borrowed from the Franklin Reck Memorial Fund, has produced an average of 80 copies a week since its installation in late April. And finally, well over $200 in gifts and memorials, plus numerous donations of books, have enhanced our collection.

The Library has also served various local groups. Four classes from the Manchester Nursery School visited the Library as a learning experience, and many are now regular users. A senior citizens group from Saline toured the Library and was greeted by Board President, Elizabeth Grossman. We were honored by a visit from our guest Mayor and officials on Mayors Exchange Day. The building was used for meetings by the Manchester United Way Committee and the Manchester Family Service. And special reading programs for youngsters, one during the summer and a new holiday program during the fall, were skillfully planned and supervised by Barbara Korth and Margaret Goodrich.

During National Library Week, the staff selected three Patrons of the Year: Harvey Gregerson, Lenore Steele and Heidi

HIT OR MISS by farley

'Tis said, that the sport of kings is horse racing. Maybe so, but there's a lot of other people in the world besides kings and I have, after considerable research, come to believe that the sport of the common woman, and man too, is Garage Sales.

They are a phenomenon that has become popular in comparatively recent years and have developed into a national pastime, at least in the densely settled parts of the country and I'll bet that the disease has spread to all parts of the country. A friend of mine tells me that he was driving through a sparsely settled part of the midwest when he drove some miles without passing a house. And when he did pass one, there nailed to a tree at the driveway entrance was a familiar sign "Garage Sale".

The universal appeal of the Garage Sale seems to be that somewhere therein, among one man's junk there may lurk another man's fortune. It's just like buying a lottery ticket. You never win anything but you often hear wild tales of those who do, so you keep on trying.

I have resisted manfully, until recently, going to garage sales for they seemed stupid to me—just a bunch of junk offered for sale by one person which is bought by another person and carried from one garage to another where it rests until there is no more room in that garage for anything but this accumulation of junk. Then it is piled up in the middle and a sign duly stuck up in front of the house, whereupon passers by stop and purchase most of the pile of junk and take it home to their garage and pile it up until there is no more room for the lawn mower and the car when they repeat the above
