SUNAIRE WOOD

There exists, we have recently found, one phase of the energy crisis which we didn't even know existed. It concerns the vast amount of water that we waste unnecessarily when using present model flush toilets—the kind that were invented by that well known Englishman, Thomas Crapper. So perhaps the old fashioned outhouse so well remembered by our oldsters is not as obsolete as we believed.

Recently several inventors have been working long and diligently on this problem but Senator Proxmire, as usual, has objected to the spending of some $1,500 appropriated to aid a Missouri inventor perfect an above ground aerobic, solar assisted composting toilet. It certainly will keep the ground water from being contaminated, it is said.

It's said that we use 45 percent of all the water we use to flush away a small amount of solid waste and after we thusly pollute it we spent billions of dollars to make it pure again.

Many other inventors are coming up with various solutions to the problem—there are waterless toilets that separate and freeze the wastes, and there are those that use the same water over and over again and some that use only .9 of a gallon of water. There are portables that can be used anywhere. And by the way, those that freeze the wastes, it is said, didn't work out because it was impossible to keep the seat comfortably warm.

Our cities are trying to keep up with our pollution problems and are spending stupendous amounts to keep up with the pollution problem. It is said that the waste problem costs us more than any other problem except our schools.

In the late 1950's a Swede invented a self-contained waterless toilet because of the pollution of the Baltic Sea and it worked by compounding even when kitchen wastes were added to its burden. The waste was stored in a container and once a year or so it was removed and used for fertilizer.

There are now about 1,800 of them now in use in the United States. The outfits cost about $1500.00 but the do-it-yourself parts can be bought for about $10.00 from the company in Deer Island, Maine.

An incineration toilet is also on the United Way Tops Goal For 21st Year

"Manchester has done it again" were the first words uttered at the combined meeting of the United Way Board and the 1980 Campaign Division Heads, which was held November 18th at the Manchester Township Hall. Indeed, Manchester has done it again - for the 21st consecutive year! Total campaign receipts in cash and pledges amounted to $28,311.73 which represents 103.5% of the campaign goal.

Closing Of State Offices

As part of its program to comply with Governor Milliken's directive to cut Department of State General Fund expenditures by almost 50 percent, the Department today announced the projected closing of 45 branch offices in 83 counties.

A Message From The Manchester Fire Department

Let's all have a safe winter heating season - We would like to give a special word of caution for people who heat with wood burning devices.

1. Make sure you have the proper chimney for a wood or coal heater (and keep it clean).

2. Make sure the heating device has been installed properly.

3. Make sure the firewood is dry - green (wet) wood doesn't give off as much heat. Green wood causes the build up of creosote in the chimney.

4. Keep a fire extinguisher that works and a water hose available at all times.

5. If you need help or information, call the Fire Department or our local Building Inspector.

TRI-CHURCH BAZAAR

Shown above is Karen Jenter with the hand embroidered/hand quilted "Songbirds" quilt from Emanuel Church. Approximately 10 ladies have worked for 2 years on this quilt which is Emanuel's raffle item for the Tri-Church Bazaar. This Tri-Church Bazaar, to be held Saturday, December 6, from 9:00 a.m. till 3:00 p.m. at the Emanuel Church Hall, will be the 11th Annual Tri-Church Bazaar co-sponsored by the Emanuel United Church of Christ, St. Mary's Catholic Church, and the Manchester United Methodist Church.

Again this year, there will be the delicatessen and baked goods section, the crafts and gifts section featuring many handcrafted gifts and Christmas ornaments, plus the raffle items and a silent auction. Also, for the convenience of shopping parents, a nursery will be provided.

The baked goods and delicatessen sections of the bazaar will be selling the traditional specialties of each church. There will be mince meat, homemade noodles, coffee cake, and apple pie from the Methodist Church; schnitzbrot (fruit bread), chop suey, and pretzels from Emanuel; pecan pies, fresh-baked breads (raisin bread, raisin-nut bread, and cinnamon bread) and stollen bread from St. Mary's. Besides these specialties, there will be a variety of other fresh-baked goods available from the three church groups.

The beautiful and expertly handmade quilt (shown above) will be the raffle item from Emanuel. St. Mary's raffle will include a hand-hooked rug, a 20" traveling wicker basket, and a 20" Paddington Bear. The large sized Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy dolls, a crocheted afghan, and a beautiful Fall wreath arrangement made by the Flower Cellar are the raffle items offered by the Methodist Church. Tickets for these items are available from many of the ladies prior to the bazaar and will also be sold the day of the bazaar.

While shopping at the bazaar, plan to stay for the luncheon served between 11:30 and 1:00. The menu will be individual ham loaves, sweet potato slices, molded cinnamon apple sauce salad, rolls, cake and beverages. Tickets for the luncheon can be purchased for $3.00 at the door on the day of the bazaar.

The co-chairpersons for this year's bazaar are Donna Stengel and Ernie Dettling from St. Mary's Catholic Church, Deneine Schaible, Dolores Bunney and Rita Huber from Emanuel United Church of Christ, and Marie Knorp and Patricia Post from Manchester United Methodist Church.

Married Martha Fielder Gary Bondy

Martha Elaine Fielder and Gary Lee Bondy were married October 25, 1980 in the Martha-Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village, Dearborn. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Fielder, and the parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. William Bondy, all of Manchester. The bride's gown was made of ivory silk organza featuring a Queen Anne neckline and fitted sleeves accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls. Her train was cathedral length which cascaded from the waist. She wore a derby hat trimmed with matching re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls. Mrs. F.N. Hanson of Westland was Matron of Honor. Ms. Denise Meaharg of Ypsilanti was bridesmaid. Each carried yellow roses with baby's breath. Randy Bondy, brother of the groom, served as Best Man. Bruce Fielder, bride's brother; Gregg Bondy, groom's brother and Mark Neugebauer, cousin of the groom were ushers. Immediately following the ceremony, a carriage ride was taken through the grounds of Greenfield Village. An evening reception was held at the Manchester American Legion Hall.

Saline Valley Rural Clean Water Program

The first contract in a 10-year, $2.5 million program, designed to aid Washtenaw and Monroe County farmers in controlling water pollution from their farming operations, was signed today by Earl and Diane Horning, 11834 Pleasant Lake Road, Manchester.

The Hornings became the first participants in the Saline Valley Rural Clean Water Program. The program provides federal cost-sharing funds to farmers to control runoff from livestock operations and to reduce soil erosion. The cost sharing is essential because it gives farmers a financial incentive to try farming techniques that will control their contribution to water pollution.

The Hornings run a 70-head dairy operation on 85 acres near Pleasant Lake. Horning says he has tried to use his land wisely. He uses a Glencoe Soil-Saver in place of a plow to till his soil. However, because his operation is relatively small installing a facility to hold runoff from his barnyard was too costly.

Horning suspected that runoff from his farm was adding pollutants to Pleasant Lake. He could see weeds and algae growing where a culvert that drained his land empties into the Lake. "We were doing a pretty good job of controlling the runoff except in a heavy rainstorm," Horning said.

The system Horning will install has a price tag of $30,000-$40,000. The Saline Valley Project pays 75% of the cost of the system-Horning is responsible for the remaining 25%.

The runoff from Horning's barnyard will be contained in a lagoon. The manure can then be pumped through the farm's existing irrigation system. "We expect to save a good bit in fertilizer costs with this system," Horning said.

According to Clark Eacker, district conservationist for the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation Service, "This is only one of many practices that are eligible for cost sharing under the Saline Valley project." He explains that, "In the Mill Creek area in central Washtenaw County our problems stem primarily from feedlots, while in the southern portion of the project, around Saline, Milan, and into Monroe County, the biggest problem from soil erosion, particularly from wind."

Because the program is voluntary, the landowner must first approach the county Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office. The applications were attacked first by Eacker's crew or their counterparts in Monroe County.

Eacker says, "This program offers us a major advantage over other programs. The difference is the amount of money that a landowner can receive from the project-$50,000 as compared to $3,500 under the ACP (Agricultural Conservation Program). This is important to a farmer who needs an animal waste treatment facility that costs $40,000."

The Saline Valley project is aimed at alleviating poor water quality conditions in Mill Creek and the Saline River. Sampling done by the U.S. Geologic Survey in Mill Creek revealed that levels of local coliform, a bacteria that comes from animal waste, made swimming in the creek unsafe and in violation of state standards.

The problems don't remain in the area, of course. Mill Creek flows into the Huron in Dexter and the Saline flows into the River Raisin. Both eventually flow into Lake Erie.

The end result of the Saline Valley Rural Clean Water project will be cleaner water which will benefit all users-farmers, the City of Ann Arbor, fishermen, swimmers, and industries. It will also demonstrate to farmers like the Hornings that they can follow good conservation practices, protect water quality, and still profit from their farm.

Farmers and interested individuals are urged to contact the Soil Conservation Service or the Cooperative Extension Service office in Washtenaw or Monroe Counties for more information.

Klager School News

Another year has rolled around and we are reading and thinking about Pilgrims and Indians. Here we see the children in Mrs. Blossom's room gathered around their Indian tepee which they made out of "deerskin". However, before it was deerskin, it looked very much like a brown paper bag from the grocery store.

Mrs. Little's first and second graders have been busy making totem poles.

The first graders in Mrs. Henry's room made a Pueblo Village. The apartment type houses were made from cardboard boxes. After they were painted and received windows and ladders, the model seemed to come to life. In the picture we see Amie Foley, Katena Armstrong, Ryan Macomber and Johanna Rodenbeck putting on the final touches.

THE HARVEST

"While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease."
Genesis 8:22

The harvest each year should remind us of God's great promise to man. This promise was made right after the great flood, from which only Noah and his Ark survived. Just prior to the flood, all men lived so evilly that it grieved the Lord that he had made man on the earth.

Today the churches stand as a bulwark against evil. Attend regularly so that never again would man grieve the Lord as before.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His Love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

THANKSGIVING TURKEY

Some people think the turkey, not the eagle, is our national bird. Both are symbols of this country, but they represent different ideas. For example, you'd never find an eagle lying in a sea of giblet gravy, surrounded by mashed potatoes and candied yams. That's the turkey's job. The eagle has loftier things to do. You who cook the Thanksgiving turkey have a job to do, too. First and foremost, be sure it's fit to eat. Although instructions are printed clearly on frozen turkeys, ignoring them can wreak havoc on the festive spirit. A few turkey tips are easy to follow. If your turkey is frozen, keep it in the original wrapper and allow two days for thawing birds weighing 18 pounds or less. Add another day for heavier birds. And thaw them in the refrigerator, never at room temperature. If time is limited, you can thaw the bird partially in the refrigerator, and finish the thawing by placing the turkey under cold, not warm, running water.

Cook the turkey within 24 hours of thawing it. If you don't plan to cook it immediately, cover it loosely with waxed paper and place it in the refrigerator, but never refreeze it.

Clean the turkey by washing it thoroughly inside and out with cold, running water. Drain it, and do the same thing with the giblets. As you're cleaning it, be aware of stickiness in three places: under the wings, at a point where the legs and body join, and on the upper surface of the tail. That means the turkey is beginning to spoil. If the wing tips are turning a darker color and if there is a bad odor, throw it away. Don't risk food poisoning on the day you count your blessings. When in doubt, throw it out!

When the bird is cooked, keep it hot or in the refrigerator. Never let it stand out for serving or nibbling for more than two hours. When dinner is finished, cover it with waxed paper and put it in the refrigerator.

Although preparing the Thanksgiving dinner is a flurry, don't take short cuts with cleanliness. Never use the cutting board or knife that was used for the raw bird to serve up the cooked turkey. Wash all utensils and boards with hot soapy water after you prepare the raw bird. Poultry spoils easily, so follow directions for a safe and hearty meal. It doesn't matter if you get your "national birds" confused. The important thing is to celebrate the holiday, the time when not only the turkey but also the family makes it a day of Thanksgiving.

There will be an Overeaters Anonymous meeting Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Emanuel United Church of Christ. The group meets every Wednesday.

Manchester Schools Receive Employees Safety Award

The Michigan Association of School Boards recently recognized the Manchester Community Schools because of the exceptionally good employee safety record during the 1979-80 school year. Signed by Norman P. Weinheimer Chairman of the Board of Trustees the MASH award was presented for the efforts the school district, employees, supervisors, and administration for the exceptional record of employee safety during the previous year.

Superintendent Thompson commented that it was through the efforts of all employees we were able to earn this award and as a result obtain improved insurance premiums. The overall benefit is to the taxpayer who rightfully expects that the major share of his school tax dollar will go toward the instructional program. I am proud of the school district and each of our employees, concluded Thompson.

We've always hoped that a doctor is more accurate with a scalpel than when writing a prescription.

News Of Good Things Growing

With the season of holiday traditions approaching swiftly, there is one three and a half century American tradition we should be reminded of - popcorn. Although maybe somewhat less significant than turkey and pumpkin pie this time of year, historians say puffed corn was one of the many foods served at the original Thanksgiving dinner.

Popcorn is one of the good things growing in Michigan! Our state's farmers planted 5,400 acres in 1979, yielding a crop of more than 18 million pounds, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture. This was twice the acreage and more than double the 1978 harvest. Michigan moved to seventh rank among popcorn producing states, up from ninth place. Farmers received an average yield of 3,400 pounds of popcorn per acre for the $1.6 million crop.

Popcorn's popularity in this country began to surge after the invention of the popcorn machine in 1885, and the idea of providing movie-goers an added treat in the early 1920's. Americans now consume almost 400 million pounds of popcorn each year. About 85 percent of this is popped at home.

Popcorn has become a favorite snack for dieters and penny-pinchers. One cup of popcorn contains only 55 calories and, compared to other snack foods, popcorn is economical. The entire family can enjoy a four-quart popperful for about 30 cents, including salt, corn and oil.

For a special treat this holiday season, serve popcorn snacks decorated with festive colors.

Pop four quarts popcorn and keep in large pan in oven at 200 degrees. In medium saucepan, combine one and one half cups sugar, one half cup light corn syrup, two tablespoons butter, one half teaspoon salt and one quarter cream of tartar. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Cook to 250 degrees (hard ball stage) without stirring.

Stir in three to four tablespoons of any flavor gelatin dessert. Continue cooking about one minute, to 260 degrees. Remove from heat and add one teaspoon baking soda. Stir in quickly but thoroughly. Pour at once while foamy over warm popcorn. Mix. Return to oven and bake, at 200 degrees one hour. Remove from oven and stir two or three times. Cool and separate into small pieces. Store in tightly covered containers.

A BUDGET WITH NO NEW TAXES:

The entire House Republican Caucus has unanimously approved a resolution which pushes the Legislature to pass a full-year 1981 budget with available revenue. The resolution also calls for an immediate reform of the state's antiquated Workers' Compensation Act.

The Workers' Compensation Act, adopted in 1912, is cited by many business, government, and labor leaders as a major factor in deterring possible economic expansion, and consequently, job opportunities in the state.

The resolution urges the Legislature to work extraordinarily long hours in order to complete the tasks of passing a budget and making progress on the workers' compensation issue before the end of the year, when the 80th Legislature concludes.

The full text of the resolution reads: "The House Republican Caucus calls on the Michigan Legislature to proceed immediately to adoption of a full fiscal year 1981 budget with available revenue and to reform of the Workers' Compensation Act, and to those ends to meet Mondays and Fridays and whatever times are necessary and to stay in session until the tasks are completed."

Democratic leaders have indicated that they prefer to raise certain taxes to balance the budget, but House Republicans have steadfastly refused to go along with tax increases. Our caucus position is to make cuts where necessary with revenue that will be available to us.

We believe that the message voters sent to Lansing in early November is that they want less government, not more. Before the election, House Republicans vowed not to raise taxes after the election, and we are sticking to our word. We believe we are being responsive to the people's wishes.

Obviously it's not going to be easy to agree on a budget with existing revenue, which is drastically down due to the depressed state of the Michigan economy. The cuts will be felt in one way or another by every Michigan citizen. The trend toward less government must begin now.

A SHORT-LIVED DECISION: "Let those who ride decide" has been the battle cry of motorcycle riders who believe mandatory helmet laws are an infringement on their freedom. Last week it became a victory cheer when, after years of lobbying, the state Senate finally approved legislation repealing the state's law for everyone over the age of 18, as well as a bill prohibiting local ordinances that require helmets.

But the victory may be short-lived. The House, tied up with deliberations overbudget bill, may not get around to considering the measures before the end of the year, in which case the motorcyclists would be forced to take up their standard once again and plead with the Legislature to "let those who ride decide."

market for somewhat over $1,000 and several state and national parks are adopting them. A Norwegian company came out several years ago with outfits that solidified the wastes for future disposal.

It is now pointed out that it is somewhat foolish to use 13,000 gallons of water per person per year to carry away the five gallons of waste, and so maybe the old fashioned outhouse is here to stay.

Publicity is what people who want it while claiming they don't want any.

When a woman stands up and yells at a basketball game she's got on a new coat.

Zsa Zsa Gabor once said "I never accept gifts from a perfect stranger, but then, who's perfect."

Overheard: "Did your father leave your mother much?" "Oh, about twice a week."

Jackie Gleason once said: "drinking removes warts. Not from me, but from those I look at. Everyone becomes more beautiful."

The telephone is a wonderful invention. It enables teenagers to go steady without holding hands.

At least inflation takes the worry out of having money.

And then I wish I'd have had a dollar for every time that I said "Money isn't everything."

One chap once asked Michael Arlen the best way to start writing to which he replied "From left to right."

Popcorn and pop will be sold during the film. So remember to come on down Thursday, December 4 at 6:30 p.m. or Saturday, December 6 at 10:00 a.m. and see a great film for only $1.00.

Shakespeare Reading Club

The Shakespeare Reading Club met in the lounge at Emanuel Church on November 18, 1980.

Dorothy Hamilton gave a paper on Scotland. Mrs. Otto Timmerman told of some famous Scots. Mrs. Timmerman introduced a guest, Susan Gleason, who demonstrated Scottish dancing and showed Scottish costumes and the bagpipes.

The next meeting will also be in the lounge at Emanuel Church of Tuesday, December 2, 1980.

College Financial Aid Meeting

On Tuesday, December 2, 1980 a college financial aid meeting will be held in the high school library at 7:30 p.m. All seniors who are planning to attend a college or vocational school next year as well as their parents are invited to attend.

A filmstrip on financial aid will be shown, the entire application process will be gone over, and all questions will be answered. The actual financial aid forms will be handed out and explained in detail. The financial aid process has changed somewhat since last year so even if parents are experienced in this area it is a good idea to attend to find out the new regulations.

It is estimated that 86% of this year's high school seniors who attend college next year will receive some type of financial aid. Each year the laws have become more liberal as to what income levels qualify for financial aid. Just because a family applied in the past and did not qualify doesn't mean they won't qualify this year, especially if they will have two students in college next year rather than one. For these reasons, if at all possible, try to attend this meeting.

Middle School Says Thanks And Please

Students and teachers from Manchester Middle School send a big thanks to all who have helped us save Campbell and Franco American labels during the last few years.

We particularly want to thank the Manchester A & B store for their help in advertising this program and in acting as a collection point.

The Campbell Soup Company, through their Labels for Education program, allows us to exchange these labels for much needed Audio-Visual equipment. Last year we earned an overhead projector and listening center.

This year's collection ends in February and we are asking you to help us again. Please save labels from all Campbell's Soups and Beans, Campbell's Tomato Juice, all V-8 Vegetable Juices, all Franco American Gravies and Pasta Products, and all Swanson Canned Products.

These labels can be given to any Middle School student or teacher, or turned in at the office of any Manchester School building to be sent to the Middle School.

Memoriam
In loving memory of Mable J. Loucks who passed away one year ago November 27, 1980.
We miss your kind and smiling face Your thoughtful and loving care The happy hours we all enjoyed How great the memories are But God saw you growing weaker So He did what He thought best He came and stood beside you And whispered "Come home with Me to rest." So many precious memories Of many happy years.

"HIT OR MISS" by farley

It's always nice to see and hear about the nice things that the teenagers of today are doing. It seems however, that the "media" stresses stories about the youngsters who get into trouble—who commit crimes both minor and major; who are picked up for drug and intoxication charges, or who may be the cause of a fatal automobile accident.
Rare indeed seem to be the stories about the youngsters who are accomplishing many worthwhile things. These stories seem to be tucked away down in a corner of an inside page under a rather small heading.
When one looks carefully however, there seem to be many of these accomplishments taking place which certainly refute the unfavorable things one hears and reads. There's but a small part of the group on the wrong side of the law.
This reflection was brought about by comparing the damage done on Halloween this year to that of some like observances of years past. The youngsters of bygone days hadn't heard of "trick or treat", just of "trick" but nowadays most of them show their appreciation for the "treats" offered them by the public as they appear in costume. Very little damage was done hereabouts.
And when we picked up our papers that evening we searched it diligently for examples of worthwhile accomplishments and we soon came across two reportings that a contest had been held to select the

LETTERS TO SANTA

Christmas is almost here. So it's time for all you boys and girls to write your letters to Santa. You have until December 15 to write and let me know what you want for Christmas. My special mailboxes are located at the Post Office, Pleasant Lake School, and Klager School. Be sure to have Mom or Dad check for the correct spelling of your name and address.
Be good boys and girls and watch for my letter soon.
I'll be seeing you on Christmas eve.
Merry Christmas to all!
Love,
Santa, North Pole

Protest Meeting Delayed

Because of a number of conflicting factors and inaccessible data, the planned meeting of concerned citizens to protest the decision to cut back and close the Chelsea branch of the Michigan Secretary of State office has been postponed until Thursday evening, December 4. The meeting will still be held at the Ann Arbor Trust Meeting Room but will begin at 7:30 p.m.
The Assistant Secretary of State and State Representative Mary Keith Ballantine and Senator Ed Pierce are expected to attend.
We are again reminded that the closure of this office will force residents to travel a considerable distance to conduct business formerly handled at the convenient branch office facility on Main St.
All interested parties are encouraged to attend in order to voice their anger and dissatisfaction resulting from the Michigan budget cut.
