U.S. Marines and 14,000 Guest Conquer Manchester

Manchester's 28th Annual Chicken Broil, sponsored by the Optimist Club, sets a new attendance record.

For one gala day Manchester's population exploded. The welcome mat was out for the United States Marines and the 14,000 guests who came from all parts of Michigan and from 25 other states and five foreign countries to partake of a delicious broiled dinner, to enjoy our hospitality and to be treated by great entertainment by the United States Marine Band.

It was noon when Gale Koebbe and the members of his firemen committee lit the charcoal fires in the four 100 foot pits. From then until ten P.M. there was no rest for the dedicated 550 volunteers who year after year contribute their time and skills and work as a smooth running team to assure the success of this nationally famous event.

Cars streamed into Manchester throughout the day and evening, from north, south, east and west and filled the many parking areas in the village. Efficient control of traffic by Police Chief William Zsenyuk and members of his staff eliminated any possible traffic jams.

The horse drawn hay racks, prairie schooners and buggies which furnished free transportation to our out of town visiting guests from the high school parking lot to the Broil site at the athletic field and return were extremely popular. Wendell Reinhart had arranged to have eight vehicles, driven by their owners, available for this service but the demand overtaxed their carrying capacity. Next year he plans to expand this service.

The 35 member United States Marine Corps Band, from Parris Island, South Carolina, under the direction of William M. Clemons, thrilled spectators as they marched down flag decked Main Street to the athletic field. After enjoying their chicken dinner the band members treated the thousands of guests on the field to an hour long inspiring and entertaining concert.

The program opened with the presentation of the colors by the Marine Corps Color Guard. Band Director Clemons led the pledge of allegiance to the flag and Robert "Fat Bob" Taylor, the singing plumber from radio station WAAM, captured the audience with his rendition of our national anthem. For the next hour the band held the thousands of onlookers spellbound as they entertained with patriotic renditions, including John Phillip Sousa's marches, and modern numbers. Tears, chills, goose pimples and smiles were commonplace.

The appearance of the Marine Band was made possible through the efforts and cooperation of Dr. Eugene Thompson.

Gene Bentschneider, General Chairman of our Annual Broil, extends his sincere thanks to all of the citizens in the Manchester area who are so generous in exhibiting their hospitality to the thousands of visiting guests, and he especially commends the hundreds of volunteers, office and factory workers, doctors and lawyers, merchants and bankers, farmers, retirees and boys who turn out year after year to serve on over thirty working committees.

Let's not forget the efficient weather committee. Again they gave us a perfect Broil day - not too hot, but especially no rain as usual. The Red Cross first aid station, manned over the years by volunteer registered nurse Mrs. Stanton "Kay" Roesch, had a slow day.

Where do we go from here? The strategists, under the direction of Gene Bentschneider, are already in session, scratching their heads and laying plans for Manchester's big day next year on the third Thursday in July.

HIT OR MISS

by farley

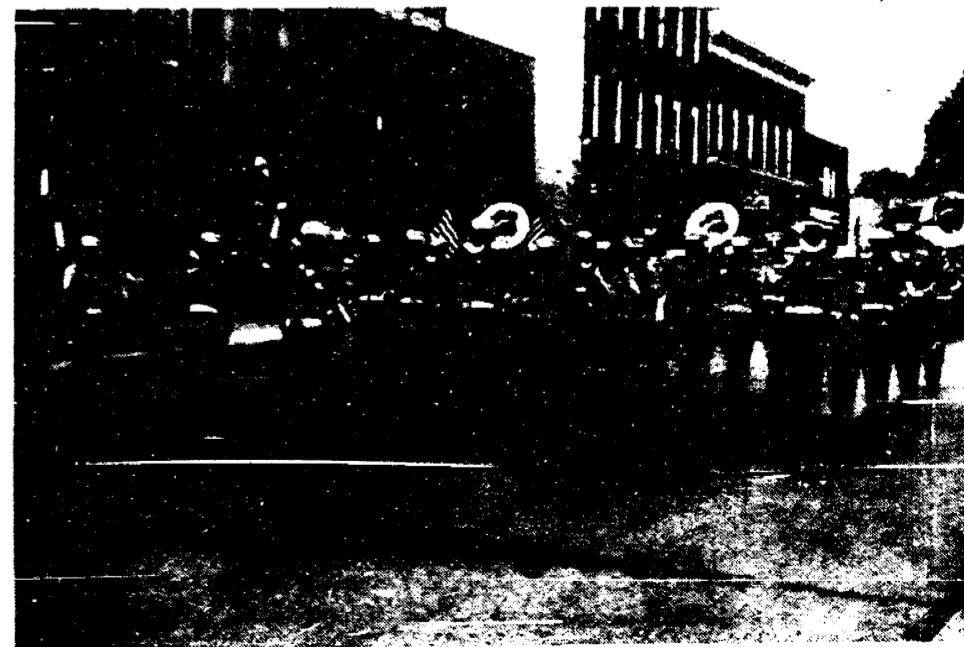

While looking the other day for an item which had been stored carefully away for so many years, we came across a newspaper, the Bear Lake Beacon dated January 29, 1926, in which there appeared my first attempt at being a columnist. It's tale of combating with a winter storm might be rather appropriate reading for a hot summer day and so we are reprinting it.

Too, this tale points out the vast difference in life in northern Michigan 55 years ago and now. Then there were no rotary snow plows to keep the roads clear and as we remember it, most of them north of Ludington and Manistee were then snowed in for some time after a severe snow storm, several of which occurred each winter.

Then too there were not then very many automobiles on the roads at that time. Horse drawn cutters and bob sleds were the main sources of transportation and they could serve only after a severe storm when the roads were plowed out with teams and the old fashioned V-type plows and a lot of horsepower. Some folks put their autos up for the winter and those left were mostly model T Fords.

How many of you have driven a Model T Ford with its three pedals on the floor, the left one the clutch, the middle one the reverse and the right one the brake with the hand emergency brake way over on the left, which when pulled back and engaged in its notch, put the car in neutral. When you proceeded to start the car forward down the road you put your left foot on the clutch and held it in position while you released the brake, then pushed in on it and as you did so, the car moved forward.

Men In Service

Pvt. Harry A. Wishon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Janofski of 17046 English Road, Manchester, Mich., has completed One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Manchester Village Planning Commission

June 9, 1981

The regular meeting of the Village Planning Commission was held at the Village Hall, with members present: Hinkley, Leeson, Alber, Smith, Grossman, Krauss, Tracy, and Bond.

The meeting was called to order at 7:33 P.M., by Ch. Hinkley. Minutes of the meeting of May 5 were read, a word was corrected, and on the motion by Bond, seconded by Smith, were approved.

Announcement was made of the resignation of Sue Bond, effective as of the close of this meeting, because of her moving away from Manchester. Coincidentally, Council President Schaffer has named Mary Kallewaard to replace Mrs. Bond for the term ending March, 1982.

Mrs. Bruce Hunt was present to request a variance in requirements for rear and side yards, in order to allow them to build a garage at their home, 327 Schaffer Court. She submitted drawings showing orientation of their property in the neighborhood, and schematic layouts of anticipated placement of the garage, including access and pertinent dimensions. It was recommended that they follow the established procedure for such an application.

Mr. Gene Smith, of Pinnacle Engineering Co. was in attendance to make a second request to expand his building in order to provide a stockroom at the present site, 617 City Road. He again showed schematics and elevation views of the building as it would be, including preliminary landscape plans. Mr. Smith states that the addition of the enclosed space would enable him to continue operations within the village. The existing concrete slab was placed by the former owner, but now causes a drainage problem. Opinions were voiced by citizens in the audience. It was moved by Bond to table further discussion, and that Chairman Hinkley, Mr. Smith, Village Manager Zsenyuk, Council President Schaffer, and Member Alber meet as a study committee to evaluate the situation and formulate a recommendation with regard to procedure to be followed from this point. The motion was seconded by Smith, and the roll call vote: Leeson, yes; Alber, yes; Smith, yes; Grossman, yes; Krauss, no; Tracy, yes; Bond, yes. The motion was declared passed. Other members plan to visit the plant, on Mr. Smith's invitation. A second motion was made by Bond, to include Mr. Don Limpert in the study committee. Seconded by Tracy, a voice vote gave approval. Ch. Hinkley set the time for the meeting to be Tuesday, June 23, 7:30 p.m. at the Village Hall.

"Industrial Park": On the broader subject of providing a specific site for the location of industrial plant, Alber reported that the investigation of the potential industrial Park, located adjacent to the southeasterly village limits, has reached a stage where the involvement of a commercial developer may be needed.

Mrs. White, of 236 Grove St., had asked to make a proposal with regard to her mobile home, but was not in attendance.

Reference: Manchester Village Apartments, Mr. Leo I. Stein: a summary review was made as to what has been done on this subject. Letters were read from John M. Amberger, Deputy Executive Director, Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, and from Patrick N. Sheridan, Assistant District Director, Farmers Home Administration, U.S.D.A., explaining the procedures which are followed in granting approval for housing projects. Further action on our part will not be undertaken prior to future application through channels.

Village Attorney Mark Gistingher has recommended that we give favorable consideration to a revised Mobile Home Ordinance, based on the model proposed by the Michigan Mobile Home Commission.

It was moved by Bond to table any action on the Model Mobile Home Ordinance until we have a chance to study the Supreme Court ruling on mobile homes, and to provide an opportunity to confer with the village attorney on this matter, as well as to further review the model ordinance. The motion was seconded by Tracy, and unanimously passed.

The Planning Commission is entitled to have three members on the Village Zoning Board of Appeals. Chairman Hinkley will nominate Members Alber and Tracy for Council's consideration to replace Bruce Daniels and Sue Bond, respectively. Leeson will continue as the third representative.

Reference "South Washington Street": Leeson reported that investigation, including search assistance by staff members of the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission, into the status of ownership, easement, or otherwise dedication of right-of-way for completion of the street Territorial and Wager Streets has been indeterminate. Leeson's suggestion is that the matter be referred back to Council for further action.

The meeting was declared adjourned, at 9:55 P.M.

AFTER TAXES

Mortgage interest rates look much better!

Due to the impact of income taxes, the actual amount of interest you pay on your home loan is considerably less than the rate we quote. That is because the interest is deductible from your taxable income. For example: If your income is between $24,600 and $29,900 and you pay 15.5% annual percentage rate* on your mortgage, your net annual percentage rate* is just 10.54%.

CHECK YOUR INTEREST RATE AFTER TAXES. Instructions: Find your taxable income in the left hand column. Locate the rate you are paying on your home loan in the screened top line. Read down and where the two meet is your net percent interest rate.

HIT OR MISS

When it had attained a speed of 12-15 miles an hour you quickly pulled your foot off the clutch and this put the car in high gear or direct drive—there was no gearshift. When you backed up you held the clutch pedal steady and pushed on the reverse pedal and so backed up. Further adventure was offered by the early model T's which has no starters and which you had to crank by hand from in front of the radiator while manipulating the choke wire with one hand which stuck through the radiator on the left side.

Perhaps the story of a 16 mile trip over and through snow blocked roads will be interesting to present day motorists for the contrasts were many. So we present its story herewith:

Another item in the same paper notes that the winter's worse storm grips that the M. & N. E. train coming in Saturday got stalled at the bend before entering town. The section crew went ahead shoveling out and the engine went on ahead bucking the drifts before hooking onto the rest of the train and pulling it to its destination.

"One month has passed since the first real storm of the winter swept down upon us and, since, with Farley at the wheel of the plunging, panting, protesting and snow covered "Kiddie Car," we made that memorable "little journey" to Manistee. And still the story remains untold. It is a story well worth the telling, or at least it seems so to us, and since a sudden drop in the thermometer and the threat of snow in the air today brings back the memory of that other storm quite vividly we may as well try our hand at telling it.

It was the morning after Christmas and the light snow which had been falling for two days or more had been piled into drifts of considerable depth by the northwest wind which had played with it during Christmas night. The wind was still sweeping in across the lake as we blew into the office and began to stamp the snow from our feet. In the regions below we encountered "the boss." Said he: Do you suppose you can make it to Manistee with the car today?" Optimistic as always, we replied in the affirmative. "All right," said he, "take this proof down and have it corrected and hurry back." And with those few simple words the great adventure began. Many a man has begun an even greater adventure with fewer and simpler words than those for that matter. "You had better take someone else along with you," was the parting admonition from "the boss." Farley immediately volunteered for the "period of emergency" and after much persuasion on our part we succeeded in getting the car out of her comfortable stall in the barn and headed south on M-11.

Before we were out of town or even out of sight of the office our troubles began. Something was wrong with "Lizzie's" footgear and she halted abruptly in the midst of the first drift. Investigation showed that the wheels were spinning inside the chains which needed tightening. With this looked at and fixed and a little work with the shovel we got under way again but already the old bus was feeling the strain of over-exertion and calling for drink. So we paused at the village limits and filled her up again.

Be sure to catch the conclusion of this snowy excursion in the next edition of the paper. Many problems happened and had to be solved. So, until next week....

Manchester Mill Run Winners

The first annual Manchester Mill Run took place on Saturday, July 18, 1981, and it was a big success.

There was a 2.3 mile race and a 7 mile race. They started at the high school and went through the village and both ended at the high school.

The co-sponsors Tom Fitzgerald and Jim Brink report that there were 25 runners in the 2.3 mile race and 56 runners in the 7 mile race.

First place in each age division in the 7 mile race earned a trophy, second and third place earned medals.

The female trophy winners were Trisha Schuler, Laurie Fitzgerald, Nicki Kennedy, Kris Clark, and Pat Sahakian.

Laurie Fitzgerald from Manchester placed first over all the women with the time of 47 min. 50 sec.

In the male division, Steve Pike placed first with the time of 34 min. 15 sec. The other trophy winners in the men's division were Craig Mallag, Scott Betzoldt, John Prescott, Donald Kleenow and Ladd Houdek.

In the 2.3 mile race, first place was Richard Colom with the time of 15 min. 38 sec.

The first female runner to finish who was in eight place over all was Linda Rose with the time of 17 min. 58 sec.

The success of the race would not have been possible without all the help of each individual who donated their time for this cause.

Jack Zaborowski Appointed Assistant Vice President

Robert L. Condon, President and Chief Executive Officer of The National Bank of Jackson, today announced that Jack Zaborowski has been appointed Assistant Vice President and Manager of the Manchester Office effective July 31, 1981. This is the date that the merger of the Union Savings Bank of Manchester into The National Bank of Jackson takes effect. Zaborowski, age 40, comes to NBJ with nineteen years of banking and financial experience. He has spent the past eight years at First Merchants National Bank in Michigan City, Indiana, as Manager of their Main Office. Prior to that, he was Assistant Manager of Branch Offices for the Wells Fargo Bank in Los Angeles for five years and, before that, spent five years as Training Officer for Household Finance in Orange County, California. Zaborowski received his education at Los Angeles College, Los Angeles.

California State University in Fullerton and the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin. He has had additional courses at the National Installment Credit School, University of Oklahoma, and the Fidelity National Bank Commercial Lending School at Temple University. Zaborowski is married and has two sons. He and his family have relocated to Manchester.

In making the announcement, Condon stated that by the July 31st merger date, total loans for the Union Savings Bank are expected to be $10,589,000, with total deposits of $13,971,000 and total assets of $21,949,000. Together with NBJ's expected total loans of $107,345,000, deposits of $215,637,000 and assets of $257,059,000, the combined loans of the two banks would be $117,934,000, with total deposits of $229,608,000 and total assets of $279,008,000.

The addition of the three Manchester offices, Downtown, Drive-In and Pleasant Lake, when added to the sixteen neighborhood offices of NBJ, will bring the total number of NBJ offices to nineteen. Condon further stated that NBJ looks forward to being a part of the Manchester community. One of the important benefits to the residents and businesses in the community will be additional services that NBJ will provide, such as complete trust department services.

NBJ Approves Dividend

Robert L. Condon, President and Chief Executive Officer of The National Bank of Jackson, announced that the Board of Directors has approved a 45c cash dividend to be paid August 14, 1981, to all shareholders of record at the close of business July 31, 1981. This third-quarter dividend represents a payout of $456,742 based on 1,014,963 shares. The Shareholders' Meeting of April 15, 1981, was reconvened July 15 to receive the report that the Comptroller of the Currency had approved the merger of the Union Savings Bank of Manchester into The National Bank of Jackson, after which there was final adjournment of the Meeting. No objection to the merger has been received from the Department of Justice and the Office of the Comptroller has been requested to issue Certificates of Authority effective at the beginning of business, Friday, July 31, 1981.

Manchester Day Camp - A Success

The Manchester Day Camp was quite successful last week. All the children enjoyed the many activities offered throughout the week.

This year the day camp wishes to gratefully acknowledge the assistance from the following businesses. Without their donations, or discount prices, the day camp would not have been able to keep the cost so low while offering so many exciting options for the girls.

S. & G. Grocers, Inc. donated 2 gallons of juice concentrate; Apperose donated 2 gallons of apple juice; Eden Foods donated 5 cases of fruit juices along with selling wholesale additional items we needed in food preparation. Frog Holler sold us 2 cases of fruit at wholesale prices; Asconie Brothers donated a case of bananas; Country Farm Meats donated 20# of hamburger; Kappl Packing Company donated 10# of hot dogs; Manchester A & B IGA sold us club sods at a discounted price, and Tri-County Logging donated the wood we needed to cook the fires.

This year when prices are so tight for everyone, the businesses willingly "cinched in their belts" to assist the Girl Scouts. The winners were the girls, their enjoyment cannot be diminished.

Day Camp Creative Writing

Many activity choices were available to the girls who attend Day Camp. One of Julie Hamilton's choices was Creative Writing. Following is the story she wrote.

THE BIRD WHO FLEW TO DAY CAMP

by Julie Hamilton
One day I was flying through Manchester. I am a BlueBird. I made a nest in a tree. And I saw some girls hiking, cooking, doing crafts and making mosaics. And they were making knots. And in the park some girls were weaving with straw. And the day I was there, they were having Shish-ke-bobs, and for dessert they had doughboys and fruit.
Later they were singing songs. The songs were too loud! Some girls were weaving on paper plates. The girls were nice girls. One of the girls saw me and said, "Oh, there is a pretty bird!"

ALCOHOLISM

How does a drinker know if he or she is alcoholic? A few questions might reveal the answer.

Does he or she need a drink at a certain time each day or the morning after a party? Does the person drink alone or try to hide the drinking? Has there been a loss of memory or control while or after drinking? Does he or she deny, or become upset, when criticized for excessive drinking? Are family or friends harmed by or worried about the problem? A "yes" answer to even one or two questions could indicate that professional help is needed.

Some people see the family doctor or clergyman. Others go to counselors to delve into the cause and effect of drinking. Many join Alcoholics Anonymous (AA), the nationwide self-help organization of recovering alcoholics who help one another.

Look into the Yellow Pages in your telephone directory under "Alcoholism", and you'll probably find Al-Anon for families and friends of alcoholics, and Alateen for youth 12 to 20 years of age with alcoholic relatives or friends. There are also Alcoholism Information Centers, sponsored by the National Council on Alcoholism, as well as our Substance Abuse Centers throughout the state.

If you have an alcoholic in your family, urge him or her to get help; but don't cover up for his or her problems, and don't punish or threaten. Moreover, don't take over his or her responsibilities, and never join the drinker in his or her bouts. You could end up with a problem, too.

Alcoholics can be youths as well as adults. Our Office of Substance Abuse Services reports that alcohol is the most frequently used drug among teenagers.

Living with an alcoholic is like waiting for Pandora's Box to open and release all the human ills of the world. When the box opens during a drinking spree, you may experience disappointment, despair, humiliation, frustration, betrayal, and sometimes fear. However, when the alcoholic finally gets professional help, try to be compassionate, patient, and supportive. If there is an occasional lapse, don't be discouraged; alcoholism CAN BE successfully treated. There are tens of thousands of Michigan citizens who have recovered from alcohol problems.

Alcoholism is a national problem. In Michigan alone there are about 600,000 people with alcohol problems.

Do you know an alcoholic? The questions above could give you the answer.

BILL TO SPUR SAVINGS

Mary Keith Ballantine
Twenty-Third District

A Republican bill exempting the first $1000 invested in savings institutions from the state income tax introduced in the Michigan House of Representatives is aimed at capital formation through savings.

The bill would provide a stronger incentive for saving which in turn will provide funds for capital expansion.

Lending institutions are making fewer loans to business because we have failed as a society to encourage savings. If we hope to get out of the economic crisis we're in right now, we have to realize that we must make money available at reasonable interest rates for business and industrial expansion in order to provide more jobs.

Exempting the first $1000 in a savings account from state income tax is a step in the right direction.

According to recent statistics, savings in the United States has dropped to an all-time low. Both Germany and Japan far outpace us in per capita savings, and both have strong economies, as well.

The Reagan Administration is also interested in getting people to save more through proposed tax cuts. I think this bill complements that approach quite well, and I hope it will be adopted by the Legislature.

As a state suffering from the highest unemployment and gravest recession in the nation, we would indeed benefit greatly from it.

Our state ranks fifth in wine production in the nation, and our wineries earned nearly 150 state and national awards in the last three years for the quality of their products.

Tours, offered by all the wineries, are immensely popular with visitors. During the summer months, you'll see busloads of tourists every day. Michigan vintners are proud of their art, and delight in explaining this ancient craft to their guests. Visiting the wineries, you'll learn how grapes are pressed, how fermentation is controlled, what determines the dryness of a wine, and other interesting information.

News Of Good Things Growing

By: Margaret G. McCall

Looking for something different to do on a lazy summer day? Visit Michigan's wine country, where good things are growing in some terrific scenery. Autumn is the harvest season, but last year's crop has been processed and is awaiting you in distinctive bottles and varying flavors.

Vineyards marching across the rolling hillsides of southwestern Michigan tell you this is wine country, and the foliage is thick and verdant green.

According to the Michigan Department of Agriculture, our state has about 15,000 acres of commercial vineyards, with acreage increasing each year. In 1960, those vineyards produced almost 100 million pounds of grapes, worth about $12.5 million. Most of the crop goes into jams, jellies and juice. But about six percent is processed by Michigan's wineries.

HIT OR MISS

(This is a continuation of the story from last week's paper)

She (Lizzie, our car) repaid our kindness by making at least four rods in high. Then one cylinder came up missing and as if discouraged with her efforts she slowed down and began a slow nerve-racking crawl and threatened at any time to stop entirely and for good. Occasionally we did have to stop and back up for a short distance to get a fresh start. Steam from the radiator streamed back against the windshield, condensed and frozen there. And then it began to snow again. We tilted the windshield open so that we might see the road and plugged along. At the foot of Briske's hill we caught up with a truck headed in the same direction and "Lizzie," with a grateful snort, slid into its tracks and nearly made the hill without any help. But near the top she faltered again and, as Farley jammed in the clutch with extra emphasis, her radiator began to boil with indignation. We pushed her on to the top of the hill and filled her up for the third time.

Down the hill and on through to Norwalk was a little easier going and she did it without complaint, though the hill just beyond the tracks gave her another long, hard battle. We'll say this for Farley, he handled her with a master hand, and he did all that could be humanely expected of any car on such a road and with one cylinder missing. Just beyond Smazel's garage the car track we had been following came to an abrupt end in the middle of the snow bank as if the car had suddenly taken wings. We were wishing for a pair ourselves, but fortune failed to smile upon us and we took the advice of a passing pedestrian and back up to the old road. Here the going was a little easier, though still slow, and we crawled along until we were within sight of the pavement again. Then "Lizzie" began to cry for water again. We urged her forward hoping to make the pavement before we stopped but she went into a dead faint and stopped. Desserted farms were all about us but we had to have water so we struck off on foot toward the nearest one. Luck was with us. A pump in the front yard yielded water after a little coaxing and we filled a basin, kicked up from under the snow, and staggered back toward the car. When we reached it we discovered that about half of "love's labor" had been lost for a hole in the bottom of the basin was stealing the water we so badly needed. After three trips back and forth "Lizzie" showed signs of being refreshed so we were off again. At the end of the pavement we encountered better roads and actually made a mile or more in high. But our enthusiasm over this sign of better times was short lived. At the foot of Merritt's hill we encountered the worst snow of the trip. The storm, which had been growing, had now reached the proportions of a blizzard and it filled the tracks behind us almost as fast as we made them. Three hours by Farley's somewhat erratic watch had been consumed in making the 18-mile trip.

Rather proud of having bucked the storm and beaten it, we proceeded to make the calls which had brought us through the storm and to satisfy the appetites which had grown steadily since we neared the city. Then we held a council of war to decide whether or not "Lizzie" could make it back thru the storm. We decided to let her try it even tho the blizzard was sending pedestrians along River street scurrying to shelter and the roads were becoming hourly more impassible. We can come back if we can't go clear thru, we reasoned.

So we loaded up and turned "Lizzie's" tired eyes toward home. To our surprise we had little trouble though the going was

Lewis Majors Saves 4 Year Old

On July 27th Lewis Major saved a 4 year old girl from falling to her death after she had climbed upon the escalator handrail in the J.C. Penney store in Briarwood. The unidentified girl was talking to Lewis while standing next to the escalator, when she turned around grasped the escalator belt and pulled herself up upon the handrail. The escalator started pulling her down the stairway and as she was sliding over the edge Lewis grabbed her and tried to pull her off. Charlotte hearing the girl scream, saw that Lewis was losing grasp on the girl and that she was sliding sideways, over the belt, ran over and pulled the girl off the belt. The girl unharmed, though upset, was returned to her grandmother, who did not thank Lewis for his quick thinking and courage. THANKS LEWIS.
