Manchester Area Historical Society
New Activities Center

Manchester Area Historical Society will meet Monday, April 19, at 8:00 p.m. at their new activities center, 324 East Main Street. The program under the direction of Mrs. Loring Ebersole, will be "Manchester Clubs and Lodges: Past and Present".

The historical background of the twelve or fifteen societies to be presented will touch practically every old time family in the area. Attendance is also of prime interest to the new resident who wishes to really become part of his present environment. Come and meet Manchester history.

The old blacksmith shop at 324 East Main, now museum-activities center for the Society became the property of the Manchester Area Historical Society as of February 1982, after its purchase from Don Limpert. Mr. Limpert, Manchester's key rehabilitator, had purchased the

Library Board Seeks New Trustee

At its April meeting the Manchester Township Library Board accepted with regrets the resignation of Trustee Mary Kalleward. Manchester Township registered voters who are interested in filling the unexpired term are encouraged to submit their names to Georgia Willson at the library before April 30. Nominations of other registered voters of Manchester Township are also welcome. The Board, an elected body, meets on the first Monday of the month and is responsible for determining the policies of the library and accounting for its funds. Vacancies are filled by appointment of the Board until the next township election.

building several years ago and had partially restored it. He is responsible for much of the restoration of Manchester's Main Street including the Black Sheep Tavern and is now redoing the historic Feed Mill.

William Neebing, a manufacturer and repairer of carriages as well as a blacksmith opened the original frame shop after the Civil War. Mr. Neebing came from Wurtemberg, Germany in 1850 and had served in the Ninth Michigan Cavalry during the war.

On October 30, 1877, the frame building was moved aside. "It was replaced by a one story brick building, 60 x 28 feet. A gang of masons went to work and in eight days had the building ready for the carpenters", according to Manchester First Hundred Years, 1897-1967. The shop had three forges and all the latest improvements including good lighting and ventilation.

Later the blacksmith shop was owned by Theodore Morshhauser, John Schneider and Carl Schaffer. Schneider was the last to operate it in the village that once had busied eight blacksmiths. He learned the trade in the same shop where he worked for 41 years until his death in 1962.

One forge has been restored and will be used to demonstrate blacksmithing and horseshoeing. Howard Parr, Society President says. Most of the original tools except the anvil are in the shop to date.

Former Governor John Swainson is chairman of a year long fund drive to pay for the building. Loring Ebersole is treasurer of the fund. Anyone interested in assisting in the restoration project and the Society may call John Swainson at 428-8009, Mrs. Ebersole at 428-9246 or Howard Parr at 428-9263.

Substance Abuse In Manchester-Is It A Problem?

Does Manchester have a substance abuse problem relating to alcohol, drugs, and tobacco? What is the relationship between substance abuse and crime in the Manchester area? How can we as parents identify such abuse within our own families? What makes a person turn to alcohol, drugs, and tobacco?

Qualified speakers will address these questions and others at an informational meeting sponsored by the Manchester Substance Abuse Awareness Committee (SAAC). This meeting will be held on Thursday, April 22, at the Manchester Middle School Gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. After the presentations the audience will break up into smaller groups to discuss concerns and solutions related to substance abuse. It is the hope of the Committee that topics for future meetings will be identified from these discussions.

The April 22 meeting will be for adults and parents only; for those parents who find it necessary to bring their small children, babysitting services will be available. In addition, refreshments will be provided at the meeting, compliments of The Baker's Dozen.

The Substance Abuse Awareness Committee appreciates your support and concern. We are looking forward to seeing you at this important first meeting on April 22.

1982 Sweet Adelines Competition

The Ann Arbor Chapter of Sweet Adelines (women's barbershop chorus) is the 1982 champion of Lake Erie Region 17. Twenty-two choruses from Ohio, northern Indiana, and south-central Michigan gathered in Lansing at the Civic Center Saturday, April 3 for the first contest to be held in Michigan.

The Ann Arbor chorus has competed in three previous contests, and had placed sixth, fifth and second since they were chartered less than four years ago.

Directed by Jack Herr, of Warren, the Ann Arbor chorus took seventy-two singers to Lansing, and won first place with a package of "Who'll Take My Place When I'm Gone" and "Alabama Medley". Herr said "The addition of more than twenty new members was a decided factor in winning - coupled with hard work and dedication by the whole chorus. I truly enjoy working with Sweet Adelines, and these ladies are quite special to me. The challenges presented with barbershop harmony make for an exciting and satisfying experience."

Awards were also picked up by two quartets: "Top Priority" featuring Sharon Hoover, Manchester; Sue Richardson, Saline; Sylvia Onascheck, Warren; and Diane Cateilane, Roseville won the third place ribbon, and "Classic Rendition" featuring Jean Plaus, formerly from Manchester, now from Saline; Wendy Winkelman, Saline; Carol Flintoft, Chelsea; Diane Harmer, Dundee won the Novice Quartet and Showmanship awards. Both quartets are coached by Jack Herr.

In addition to Ann Arbor, other Michigan choruses also did well with fourth place honors going to Mason Chapter, Hosts of the competition, and Small Chorus award was won by Livingston Lakes chapter of Howell.

Ann Arbor's Sweet Adelines will now prepare to represent their region at International competition to be held in Detroit late in 1983. They will present a joint program with Toledo Seaway

Chapter, current Regional champion, to be held May 23 at Pioneer High School. Proceeds from the performance will be used to benefit the Toledo chorus who will go to 1982 International competition in the fall at Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Rehearsals for the Ann Arbor chorus are held every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Glacier Way church on Green Rd. Guests are welcome. For membership information call 485-7276, and for engagements call 663-0064.

HIT OR MISS by farley

There are many interesting items that, being rather small, sneak into the daily papers down in the corners of the pages and which I'll bet a great many of our readers never even see, so when we see one that strikes our fancy we cut it out and chuck it into a nearby cigar box for future reference—to fill a column when we are not particularly inspired. So here goes:

The tale was told about the seven year old who asked her mother the other day what had happened to her aunt who had recently become quite plump particularly across her abdomen. Now the seven year old's parents had been trying to break her from stuffing herself with potato chips and here they saw a chance to impress the youngster and so her mother said, "She's going to have a baby".

The youngster paused and soberly said "What caused that?", to which her mother replied in kind "Eating so many potato chips."

A few days later this child's folks were having a card party and the little girl was allowed to stay up for a while with a glass of soft drink and all the potato chips that she could hijack. She became interested in watching one of the guests who was doing all right for herself with the drinks and the chips, and after some time the little one ventured to remark to this woman that "If you don't quit eating so many chips you will find that you are going to have a baby".

The rather astonished woman quickly told the youngster, "They don't cause anyone to have a baby, who told you that?" "My mother" was the reply, "and if they don't, what does?"

It is reported that everyone was silent for a time after that.

Heywood Broun was sent to interview a bald headed man who had risen from rags to riches and did not hesitate to publicize that fact.

"I'm a self made man," he bragged, "Everything I own I made with my own brains and hands".

Broun looked up at the other's shiny scalp and said:

"I think you forgot something".

How come it takes a half hour for the last two minutes of a football or a basketball game?

Lines which might be attributed to Rodney Dangerfield: "My tooth fairy left an IOU". "The dogcatcher ran away with my wife". "Dial-a-prayer calls me collect". "Reform school doubled my tuition".

You're an old timer if you can remember when you could date a girl without having a car.

Easter Fun At Nursery School

The Easter party was an exciting time for the nursery school children. Besides being visited by a live bunny (personal friend of John Bihlmeyer), the class made some very creative Easter projects. The Easter baskets the children made were filled with real grass they had grown from grass seed and eggs the children colored during nursery school. The children also enjoyed an Easter Egg pinata that they had spent several days making prior to their party.

Get A Line On Michigan Fishing

Anglers planning to go for steelhead in Michigan this spring can find out where they are biting, what they are biting, and even if they are biting by calling the Michigan Travel Bureau's Toll-Free, recorded conditions report line.

Within Michigan, fishing buffs can dial 800/292-5404. Out-of-state anglers dial 800/248-5708.

The recorded message will give you the current fishing conditions, popular bait information, "hot spots" throughout the state, and a word or two about festivals and events taking place in Michigan. The report is updated as often as conditions demand and available 24 hours a day.

And, when the smelt runs start and the trout start jumping in Michigan, you'll hear about it first on the Travel Bureau's Toll-Free line.

6th District Congressman Jim Dunn

Congressman Jim Dunn today announced details of an art competition for high school students in Michigan's Sixth Congressional District, which includes Ingham and Jackson counties and the western portions of Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

The winning competition will be displayed later this year in a national exhibition in the corridor leading to the United States Capitol in Washington, D.C.

The art competition is part of "An Artistic Discovery," a nationwide activity initiated by members of the U.S. House of Representatives to recognize the creative talents of young Americans, Congressman Dunn explained.

"I believe that no group of Americans is more creative, expressive and curious about our society than our young people," he said. "This competition enables us to encourage and recognize their rich and diverse artistic talents at a time when the budgets of our local arts organizations are being curtailed."

Congressmen will conduct local art competitions for high school students until May 31 in order to select artwork to be displayed in the national exhibition, Rep. Dunn said.

The competition, to be conducted at no expense to the federal government, is open to any high school student in the Sixth District, the mid-Michigan Congressman said. Artwork must be two-dimensional and no larger than 30-by-30 inches in size. Eligible categories are paintings, drawings, collages and prints. Each high school may enter two works of art.

Final decisions regarding suitability for exhibition in the Capitol will rest within the discretion of a panel of qualified persons headed by the Architect of the Capitol.

Students should contact their high school

Good Nutrition Beats Fad Diets

Saline Community Hospital gave a boost to the principle that good sound nutrition beats fad diets every time with a special nutrition program called, "Feel Nutritive". Among the information presented by Marlene Gustara, R.D., from the Dairy Council of Michigan, was a comparison of the current fad diets on the market and an analysis of the way in which each robs the dieter of the basic nutrients essential to good health. Pictured are: Marianne Wolfe, R.D., Saline Community Hospital's Dietitian; Betty Dobson who was awarded the doorprize, and Marlene Gustara, R.D.

If people were forced to live in a climate like this, there would be a revolution.

DANGER TO BABIES: THE SMOKING PARENT

Pregnant mothers who smoke can injure their unborn children. How and why a mother's smoking can harm the fetus or threaten the baby's respiratory system after the child is born is explained in the booklet "Smoking and the Two of You" published by the American Lung Association.

When a pregnant mother smokes, harmful gases from the smoke enter the blood and pass through the placenta directly into her baby's circulatory system. These gases narrow the baby's blood vessels and those in the placenta, and they force oxygen out of the red blood cells of mother and baby—cutting down the amounts of badly-needed oxygen and food that are delivered to the developing child.

Women who smoke while pregnant have a higher percentage of stillborn babies, spontaneous abortions and premature deliveries than do women who don't smoke, and their babies are more likely to be born undersized or to die soon after birth.

After birth, breathing smoke-filled air can cause a baby's tiny airways and lungs to constrict, blocking or impairing the child's breathing. And because babies and young children breathe much faster than adults, they inhale more pollution in proportion to their total body weight. For a copy of "Smoking and the Two of You," and for more information about smoking and pregnancy, call the American Lung Association of Michigan toll free at 1-800-292-5979. In the Greater Lansing area call 484-4541.

CHECKOUT NUTRITION BETTER BUY

With today's high unemployment, combined with inflation, many Michigan families have had to severely cut back on their budgets. For most of us this means less money available for food. And this makes it more important than ever to shop carefully and wisely. Fortunately, a limited food budget doesn't necessarily mean less nutritious food for you and your family. Because, believe it or not, more nutritious foods can actually cost less than higher-priced choices.

To help you in getting the best food buys, the state health department and Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan

State University have cooperated in a statewide effort to help you with your food budget. A booklet called "Checkout Nutrition - Buy Better" has been developed and is available free from your local health department or Cooperative Extension Service office. It's yours for the asking. You'll find that it contains sixteen pages of helpful hints on food buying and nutrition. One of the suggestions, for example, sounds obvious but is often overlooked. That is, always use the unit prices listed on the grocery shelves and carefully figure out the cost per serving. This is the most meaningful figure to use because it represents the cost per person in your family. Often you'll find that what may seem to be an expensive choice will actually be cheaper when figured on a cost per serving basis.

Some foods don't have a cost per serving but you can still figure it out for yourself. For example, if you buy chicken, it will usually pay to buy at least a whole chicken of at least 3 1/2 pounds. This will give you more lean meat than a smaller bird. Let's assume the chicken is on special at 59 cents a pound. At that price, a 2 1/2 ounce serving will cost about a quarter - and you can use leftovers in soups and casseroles.

So as the title of the booklet says, "Checkout Nutrition - Buy Better." We're confident the booklet can be of real help to people watching their food budgets. I hope you'll pick up a copy for yourself.

billions dollars again in 1981. With addition of the costs of processing, transportation and marketing services, total cumulative value to Michigan's economy is estimated to be more than 16 billion dollars.

According to the Michigan Department of Agriculture, our state leads the nation in five crops - dry edible beans, blueberries, red tart cherries, pickling cucumbers and Eastern soft white winter wheat - and ranks fifth or higher in a total of 19.

Wherever you live in our state, MDA inspectors are busy checking grocery stores, processing plants, bakeries, warehouses and soft drink bottling plants to be sure the food and beverages you buy are pure, safe and wholesome.

In addition, weights and measures, from grocers' scales to gas pumps, are routinely inspected to determine accuracy.

Michigan has the strictest comminuted (ground) meat laws in the nation and it's the responsibility of MDA food inspectors to assure consumers are offered only pure, wholesome ground meat products.

Our state was the first in the nation to adopt Grade A fluid milk laws. MDA inspectors continually check farms and dairy processing plants to insure safe, wholesome dairy products.

For further information concerning our state's more than 50 commercial crops, write for the free brochure "Fun Facts About Michigan Foods," available after April 15 from MDA's Communications office, P.O. Box 30017, Lansing, 48909.

Sharon Valley 4-H Club

"Spring's a'poppin'! And it certainly was on Saturday at the Saline High School in Saline, scene of the annual 4-H Spring Achievement show and style revue.

The morning began with the judging of leathercraft and woodworking projects. Demonstrations continued throughout the morning. In between times, those Personal Appearance members succeeded in getting their garments judged and some practice time in modeling on the stage in anticipation of the afternoon and evening style revues.

Nineteen Sharon Valley 4-H Club members took an active part in the day's events.

In the Woodworking Department, Dan Blumenauer, Tim Cox, Scott Dibble, David Weidmayer and Greg Weidmayer, all received "A" ratings. Receiving "B" rating ribbons were Doug and Jon Bristle and Maryann Salyer. In addition, Dan Blumenauer and Tim Cox received honor ribbons with Dan being awarded a nice folding rule, one of the Fingerie Awards, in the Apprentice Division for this club.

In the Handyman Division, "A" ratings were won by Shana Burke, Patty Fuller, Anna Heath and Jeff Horning. This same group received honor ribbons with Patty Fuller taking the Fingerie Award, a steel tape, in this division for the club. Karen Kuebler was awarded a "B" rating ribbon in this same division.

Exhibiting in the Arts, Crafts, Hobbies Department, Leathercraft Division, were Kelly and Shana Burke, Rick and Scott Poet, Sara Rigg and Dawn Spiegelberg. All these members were awarded "A" ratings with purple honor ribbons going to Kelly Burke in the Handyman Division; Shana Burke and Rick Poet in the Craftsman Division; and Sara Rigg in the Miscellaneous Division. Two of the four Tandy Leather Company awards available were won by the Burke girls.

Coming to demonstrations, there were five members who did some really fine jobs presenting their demonstrations. An "A" award went to Shana Burke for her presentation of "The ABC's of CPR". Patty Fuller also received an "A" ribbon for her demonstration of "Weave It Or Knot", showing the techniques of loom weaving. This was Patty's first try at giving a demonstration. Also doing a demonstration for the first time, was Dawn Spiegelberg. Her subject was stained glass ornaments and how to make them. Her title suggested, "Catch a Rainbow". Dawn received a "B" rating ribbon. Scott Poet chose a very difficult subject. His demonstration entitled, "It's In The Bag", was a study in absolute concentration and courage as this ten year old demonstrated how to make bread in a plastic bag. He even served samples of the finished project, which deserved an "A", after the demonstration was completed. Scott was awarded a "B" ribbon. Using a live model, Kelly Burke showed everyone how easy it is to French braid someone's hair. A red "B" rating ribbon was given on this demonstration. Hopefully, all of these young people will continue to shine in this department as evidenced by honor ribbons and top honors going to Shana Burke and Patty Fuller.

Vickey Allan, Shana Burke, Patty Fuller and Maryann Salyer were busy in the Clothing Division of the Personal Appearance Department. All these young ladies won blue "A" rating ribbons on their garments which included a jacket and dress made by Vickey; Shana's plaid wool A-line skirt; a night gown and matching robe topped by a night cap made by Patty and a neat A-line jumper sewn by Maryann. An Honor ribbon went to Patty for construction.

After the afternoon style revue, Maryann Salyer, much to her surprise, was selected as one of 30 models to return and model again during the evening style revue. All the practice in the afternoon must have done some good as Patty Fuller was one of the top ten models from the Junior Division selected during the evening's style show.

Two of the narrators for the afternoon style revue were Judi and Rick Poet. Rob Poet was one of the narrators for the evening revue. Rob also served as an usher along with Jeff Horning and David Weidmayer.

All of the honor ribbons and top awards were presented to the winners after the evening style revue. The 4-Hers are aware, usually, that they have won honor ribbons, but when their names are announced as top winners, there are always a lot of surprised members and even more surprised and proud parents.

Already many 4-H members are starting to look toward the next show, the next demonstration, the next project, the next goal, etc. This certainly keeps the leaders busy.

Again, well done, everyone. Thanks, too, to leaders, parents, members, and especially to the judges. We look to another successful year.

HIT OR MISS by farley

Another group of investigators has discovered that our children can't read and of course, they can't write either.

While in school we had to learn gobs of poetry by the famous authors, by Longfellow, Tennyson, Whittier, Kipling, and others, but such is not the case nowadays. They called this learning by rote and it is a practice now frowned on by educators who believe in filling the children's cranial cavities with their own hot air. They believe in letting the kids write poems who don't know what a poem is.

This inability to write, this new age of illiteracy after a century of compulsory education lately is worrying our keepers of the cultural flame and the Florida legislature, for instance, is considering a bill that would require high school students to submit at least one written work each week and along with this $15 million to hire enough English teachers to read what they write.

Considering the fact that Yale and Harvard and other Ivy League colleges provide special classes and tutors to teach the modern generation of students how to write, the Florida lawmakers deserve encouragement in grappling with the illiteracy problem.

Of course these same students can't spell either. We just found out the other day that they don't even try to teach spelling in our high schools. This was made evident to us the other day when we received a note from a high school graduating class of 1982, stating that their class colors were "champain and carmain". At first I thought this was a trade mark name and then it dawned on me that it was just what the kids might call "phonetic" spelling.

Most kids today have great memories. They can faultlessly recite TV jingles and complete comedy routines. They can give you an endless list of sports statistics. It's a shame none has urged them to upgrade their mental input.

No matter what the ages of their children, parents should start their own "Head Start" program in writing at home. It's not difficult in a warm, friendly atmosphere around the dining table at home.

You begin first by pushing the button on the TV for an hour per week. The Glen school has decreed a "No TV Week". A lot of learning can be gammed into a TV-free hour if tact and guile are applied lovingly.

Have the children write a letter to grandma or grandpa. Have them read the daily newspapers and tell what are the best and the worst things that have happened to the world in the past 24 hours. Give them pen and paper and have them write out their own ideas that they would put on TV to fill the screen. Have them come up with a new type of show for TV. Have them use their minds and memories as much as you can. Assign parts and read a play aloud. There are hundreds in the library. You will find that most kids yearn to develop writing skills. Have them write modern parodies on Mother Goose, or on other famous literary bits.

You remember that it is better to light one little candle and perhaps write something with chalk on a slate board than sit in front of a TV screen until the brain turns to silly putty.

Did you ever stop to think that a chicken's son never sets?

Emanuel Church To Kickoff Anniversary Celebration

Emanuel United Church of Christ, this coming Sunday, April 25th, will be celebrating the first of four major events in its Anniversary Year. Dedication of Pledges will highlight the Sunday morning worship, which begins at 10:30 A.M. An Anniversary Capital Funds Campaign has been instituted, to help with major building renovations, along with special outreach giving to help start new churches and winterize its camping facility at Camp Talahi.

Guest speaker for the morning will be the Rev. John Fischer, President of the Wisconsin Conference of Churches, who will help us understand where the local church is in the mid-80's, and what the possibilities for ministry in the future might be.

Along with the Dedication of members Pledges for the Campaign, we will also dedicate new Pew Hearing Aids, as well as a fine Memorial Book Stand, made by Willard Mann from oakwood from the original Church chancel of 100 years ago.

Two major renovation projects are already underway for the year. The Church Secretary's Office has been fully outfitted with cabinets, desks, paint, rug, and equipment, in memory of Mr. Arthur Emanuel Gauss, through his generous bequest. Also, the Church Steeple is now in the process of being refurbished, with new shingling, aluminum siding, the shoring up of inside timbers, and repainting of brick.

Heading the Emanuel Church Anniversary Committee are Mr. and Mrs. Roland Grossman, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Mann, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Boutel, and Mr. David Little as Treasurer.

Preliminary Qualification Of Bonds For Schools

The application dated March 15, 1982, received from Manchester Community Schools for Preliminary Qualification of Bonds in the amount of $1,400,000 is for the purpose of erecting, furnishing and equipping an addition or additions to, remodeling and partially re-equipping existing school facilities and developing and improving sites.

The main thrust of the bond issue is for renovation and rehabilitation of the Elementary, Middle and High Schools to provide for energy efficiency. At the High School there will also be additions of 2 classrooms, a serving kitchen, gymnasium, offices and storage areas.

According to MSU projections the District will experience a decline of approximately 100 students within the next five years, with only ten being lost at the High School level.

The ratio of debt to valuation will be 2.5% if the bond issue is successful. Two previous attempts at passage of similar issues met with defeat in 1974 and also in 1981.

The proposed bond issue meets all of the requirements of Public Act No. 106, as amended, for the qualification of school bonds, and it is The Michigan Department of Education's recommendation that Preliminary Qualification be granted so the District may hold its election on June 14th, 1982.
