Thanksgiving Open House At Blacksmith Shop

When you bring the children to see Santa, Sunday the 28th, come down to the Old Blacksmith Shop, 324 E. Main, so they can see the blacksmiths working at the forge and anvil and get a miniature candy cane. The sparks will be flying from 1 to 4 that afternoon. Too bad Santa didn't come with his reindeer so he could have had them shod for the long Christmas haul while he was in town!

Speaking of Christmas, the blacksmiths will be forging iron items of all sorts for Yule gifts. Old fashioned hard candy and the Manchester Blacksmith Shop T shirts will also be for sale during the Thanksgiving Open House.

Mrs. Dorothy Stockbridge, a portrait painter from Ann Arbor, will be at the shop from 1 to 4 with her easel ready to do quick charcoal sketches. This is one of the oldest and much loved techniques used by talented portrait artists. Mrs. Stockbridge has been commissioned to do portraits, oil and charcoal, for many Michigan legislators, judges, and well known persons - President Ford, Teddy Kennedy, Governor Milliken and many others. Her portrait of "Bud" Wendell hangs in "The Grand 'Ol Opera House". Finished quick sketches are under $20 in price.

A piano is still listed among the needs of the Historical Society. A donor need not worry about the moving as the Society will take on that problem. Call John Swainson 428-8009 with your offer.

Christmas Coast To Coast

The Black Sheep Theatre will present Christmas Coast to Coast for seven performances December 10 through 12, and 16 through 19 at the theatre, located at 138 E. Main, Manchester, Michigan. Performances will be at 8:15 Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, and Sunday at 4 p.m.

The play follows writer John Lannon through a hectic and fantasy filled Christmas Eve: hectic because a local television station has made plans to film a "normal" Christmas with Lannon's family at their apartment in New York city that evening.

The light humour is excellent family entertainment featuring traditional and not-so-traditional music and humour. Be sure to bring the whole family to the Black Sheep's Christmas Coast to Coast.

The play, adapted and arranged by Mathew Thornton, will be directed by Manchester's Robert Mann, and will feature some veteran Black Sheep actors in Alene Blomquist, Mathew Thornton, Leslie Duncan, Jennifer Okey, Michelle Gould, and many more.

HIT or MISS

BY FARLEY

I've heard for many years about "night people" - folks who didn't want to go to bed at night nor get up in the morning. I guess I'm one of them. I always said that was so because there were so many interesting things that happened after dark that I didn't want to miss all of them but frankly I have always despised those bright eyed, bushy tailed folks that you meet early in the morning - the ones I met when I had to get up and go to work. But now science has proven that there are legitimate night people who come alive only when the sun does down.

Some people make their living during those hours when the stars are seen in their glory and who sparkle majestically against the velvet of the heavens. (Now how's that for a descriptive sentence?) But some nights people just don't seem to be able to be alone after dark so they aren't really night people. Many of them seek the bright lights and music. A friend of ours recently came back from Pasadena, Texas, where they have a night club that can seat

New Gift Shop Opens In Manchester

by Lucy Feldkamp

Manchester has a gift shop again. Joann Wait has opened "Down By The Old Mill Stream" in part of what used to be Mann's Feed Mill. The shop will offer hand-made craft items of all kinds.

These items include pottery, dolls, needlework, and woodworking. The shop will also carry counted crossstitch kits and wildlife prints from Dexter's Wildlife Art Gallery. There will be a variety of Christmas items for sale, in particular egg shell tree ornaments, which Waits makes herself. She plans to hold several craft classes, including one on making these same eggshell ornaments, and coming in March, one on Easter baskets. For information on classes, call Waits at the shop at 428-9480. Store hours are 10:00-5:30 Monday through Saturday.

Waits, who lives between Manchester and Chelsea, decided to open her new business in Manchester because she likes the town and especially the old mill. The windows on the back wall of her shop have a good view of the Raisin cascading over the Main Street dam. Waits has hung a selection of stained glass sun-catchers in these windows. She has never operated a business of her own before, though she was a partner in an antique and reproduction operation in Plymouth some years ago. When she decided to start this venture, she ran ads in several local newspapers requesting "quality crafts". Waits says she was impressed with what people offered in response, and many of these items are now in the shop. Waits is still looking for more, and will be glad to handle any fine crafts on consignment. She is also interested in handling antiques. Anyone with an appropriate item he or she would like her

COPING a,b,c's of nutrition

Nutrition has always been important to the food shopper, perhaps more now than ever. Pick up almost any magazine and you'll find articles on the dangers of too much salt or sugar, need for fiber, as well as articles on diet, exercise and physical fitness.

With this emphasis on health and fitness, most shoppers are not only looking for food bargains that save them money but that give their families top nutritional value, too.

It really all boils down to the basics we were taught back in grade school health classes -- build your diet around the four food groups: milk and cheese; bread and cereals; fruit and vegetables; and meat, poultry, fish and eggs.

Today's shopper, though, has lots of help in determining what's good nutritionally. Almost every box, can or package on the grocer's shelves lists the ingredients, calories per serving and the percentage of our daily need of minerals and vitamins each serving provides. Even generic labels usually contain this information. (There are a few products which are standardized by law to contain certain ingredients; those items may not have them listed on the wrappers.)

In addition, grocers, processors and others in the food industry are continually increasing their efforts to provide this nutritional information for consumers.

The trick is deciphering all this information and relating it to the weekly food budget as well as the daily menu.

First of all, it might be well to define just what we mean by nutrition. The dictionary says it is "the process by which an individual takes in and utilizes food material." So, it's not only what we eat, but what we eat that makes of it that's important.

Fiber, for instance, is needed for the bulk it provides in our system more than for its vitamins and minerals. Cereal manufacturers, such as Kellogg's in Battle Creek (which has an excellent little booklet about fiber and how to figure your intake), spend a lot of time and money disseminating information to consumers about the need for fiber.

On the other hand, most cans and packages contain information about the nutrients ("a nutritive substance or ingredient") along with weight and number of servings. To interpret this information to your own use, when Vitamin A is listed as 10 percent, it means one serving of this particular product will provide 10 percent of the average adult's daily needed intake of Vitamin A. Other ingredients such as colorings, flavorings and additives are also listed.

Decipher contents in the order in which they are listed; the first ingredient listed is the major ingredient in any particular product, the second one is the second in amount of content, etc.

And don't forget, sugar is sugar, no matter what the ingredient name. Look for dextrose, lactose, sucrose and fructose, as well as molasses, honey and corn syrup.

Salt, too, is sodium, so when you see sodium saccharin, sodium nitrite, monosodium glutamate or any other sodium ingredient listed (baking soda, too), it means salt or containing salt. So, in keeping track of salt intake, don't forget to count these in, even though they may be in infinitesimal amounts. And labels that say "no salt added" mean only that there may be sodium already in the product but no more has been added in processing.

Fortified or enriched means something has been added -- vitamins, for instance. Such ingredient listings weren't always on cans and packages but are today as a result of both legislation and the food industry's growing awareness of consumer concern with nutrition.

Says Mary Abbott Hess, president of Hunt & Hess, Inc., a new nutrition education and communications firm in Chicago, "Nutrition is becoming a priority for many in the food industry," citing this growing awareness as a need for providing clear, concise information.

And Dean Peterson, director of economics for Nabisco, says that "scientists, nutritionists, educators, farmers, food processors and retailers have all contributed by expanding our knowledge of sound nutrition..." Nabisco, and other companies, he pointed out recently at the 5th National Food Policy Conference, are continually striving to provide such new products as no-cholesterol egg substitutes and margarines, low-fat margarines, sodium-free and sodium-reduced products and other nutritionally sound products.

The government gets into the act, too, and is probably the largest producer of nutritional information. Any local extension office can help. Ask about a publication called "Nutritional Value of Food," Home and Garden Bulletin #72, which can be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. It costs $2.75 and is highly recommended by extension agents as an excellent source of nutrition information.

When figuring nutritional needs for your family, it's necessary to take into account a few other factors. For instance, smokers need extra Vitamin C (smoking destroys some of what you take in), women on the "pill" need extra B vitamins, and if you live in a polluted area, get some extra Vitamins C and E.

The "Coping..." column is made available as a public service of Michigan Food Dealers Association, Lansing.

Groundbreaking For VA Center

A ground breaking ceremony for a new $5.1 million Nursing Home Care Unit was held at the Ann Arbor VA Medical Center on Friday, November 19, 1982.

Construction of the new 120-bed facility "is part of the VA's continuing effort to meet the needs of the aging veteran," said John T. Carson, medical center director. "The VA estimates that 9.2 million veterans will be 65 or older by 1990. As they age, they are more likely to develop complex and severe health problems."

The two-story unit will provide these veterans with high quality, continuous medical care, Carson said, and with a wide range of medical center support services.

Unit residents will be housed in 58 one-to-four-bed rooms in the L-shaped brick-and-limestone building. Dining, recreation and patient care areas will be located centrally at the intersection of the unit's wings.

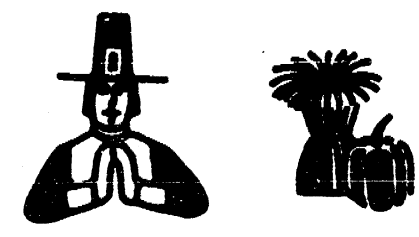

Design of the facility "minimizes the institutional feel that nursing homes can have," said Joseph Underkofler, chief of Engineering Service. On the second floor, for example, rooms are grouped around two lounges, to promote the development of communities within the facility. Warm earth tones will help "create a pleasing environment for residents."

The facility will be located in the southeast corner of the medical center grounds and will adjoin the main building via a corridor.

"This direct link to the medical center will allow us to provide a wide range of services not ordinarily available to a nursing home resident," explained John Sheagren, M.D., chief of Medical Service and a planner of the unit. "Most importantly, it will allow us to care for the resident more quickly if an emergent health problem arises."

Construction of the unit is expected to be completed by the spring of 1984.

Burn-Out

A Manchester area family was the victim of a house fire last week that completely destroyed their home and all its contents. Mr. Jerry Hunget, his wife, a 16 year old son and 11 year daughter were left homeless and without insurance at their 3820 Rens Road address.

Zion Lutheran Church, Roger's Corners Extension Group, The Red Cross and dozens of neighbors have been assisting with the immediate needs including clothing, bedding, food and rebuilding. Since the family is now living in a house trailer on the property until they can get the house rebuilt, there is not an instant need for furniture.

With this in mind Manchester Family Service and Zion Lutheran Church are compiling a list of furniture donations to be ready when it can be used. People who have things they can give to help refurbish the burnt-out home may call Mrs. Wm. Schwab, 428-8976, Mrs. Franklin Reck, 428-8852 or Zion Church, 475-8064. Donors will be called when their offers can be accepted and housed, which may not be before the end of the year.

serving Roast Pork and Dressing, Vegetable, Fruit, Bread & Butter, Dessert, Coffee, Tea and Milk.

Make reservations for meals a day before, if possible, by calling Linda Hartmann at Emanuel United Church of Christ office 428-8859. The meals are served promptly at noon. Home bound clients may get meals by arranging for someone to pick them up for rural delivery or by having them delivered in town.

Two shopping trips are on the schedule—one to Jackson on the 29th and one to Briarwood, December 13. If a van load is interested, there will be a trip to the Chelsea Travelog, December 11 for Dennis Burkhardt's "Wilderness Trails of Alaska". Call Helen Braun 428-8966 or Charlotte Timmerman, 428-8190 for reservations and details.

Sportsman Club Christmas Party

Everyone is asked to bring a passing dish, their own service, a $2 gift exchange and a gift for their own children.

Meat, rolls and drink are furnished.

During recent years much information has become available with respect to reducing the cost and use of energy in the home as well as on the road.

The Manchester Township Library has purchased quite a few volumes and, of course, maintains files of magazines with timely articles about conservation of all kinds. Energy Savers Catalog by the editors of "Consumers Guide" has instructions for saving money and energy by insulating, weatherstripping, caulking, using storm doors and windows, installing solar panels, covering windows (with shades, blinds, draperies, awnings), maintaining heating equipment properly, installing heat pumps, using appliances efficiently, conserving water and gas by the use of various gadgets; there is also a chapter about energy emergencies (what to do when disaster strikes). Solar Energy, A Biased Guide, written by William Ewers, contains reports on research, recommendations to the government for future projects, detailed descriptions of solar energy systems (including water heaters, space and swimming pool heating and other appliances), predictions of future solar developments, and a list of suppliers of solar equipment. Bruce Anderson, in The Solar Home Book, writes about recently built solar homes, the fundamentals of using solar energy, detailed plans for new or existing home use of solar heat, and includes many charts and other information needed in various locations for efficient use of the sun. How to Make Home Electricity from Wind, Water, and Sunshine by John A. Kuecken is "a complete guide to using nature's forces to make your own electricity" and has many articles devoted to specific suggestions and detailed illustrated instructions. The Library also has copies of the Garden Way's Harnessing the Wind for Home Energy, Harnessing Water Power for Home Energy, Making Your own Motor Fuel (with home and farm alcohol stills), and Home Energy for the Eighties (which includes a complete catalog on alternate energy systems). Patrons will find these books very helpful. For those who plan to obtain or have already installed a woodstove, Jan Adkins has written a useful book The Art and Legitimacy of the Woodstove. This is beautifully illustrated with many suggestions and some charming anecdotes about cooking and heating with various types of wood-burners from ancient to modern times.

MFDA News

Michigan consumers are redeeming more price-off coupons at their neighborhood grocery stores than consumers in other states, according to the Michigan Food Dealers Association.

"Grocers are redeeming 25 percent more of their customer's coupons through our redemption center than they redeemed in 1981," said Charles "Chick" Chandler, executive director of the Michigan Food Dealers Association (MFDA). "That figure represents a nearly 50 percent increase in the dollar value of coupons."

As a service to its 1,600 member grocers, MFDA serves as the "middleman" between the grocer and the manufacturer who issues the coupons, providing grocers with immediate reimbursement for redeemed coupons.

design and safety problems, following the presentations, class members were able to ask questions.

Maynard Blossom, Manchester High's Government teacher who accompanied the group, said he thought the trip had been a worthwhile experience for students and a good way for them to see how government works at the County level.

"Statistics show that shoppers in Michigan are redeeming coupons at a 16 percent higher level than those consumers in other states," said Chandler, who estimates that nationally 4.9 percent of all coupons are redeemed. This year, he adds, it is estimated that some 115 billion coupons will be distributed by manufacturers. Chandler said coupon usage extends across all socio-economic classes because these days everyone is feeling the pinch. He attributes the dramatic increase to the sagging economy and the increase in the value of individual coupons.

"Because of the prolonged downturn in the state's economy, consumers are resorting to any means that will help them save money," Chandler said, "and coupons, if used properly, can do the trick. People in the middle-income range, in particular, are using more coupons than ever before."

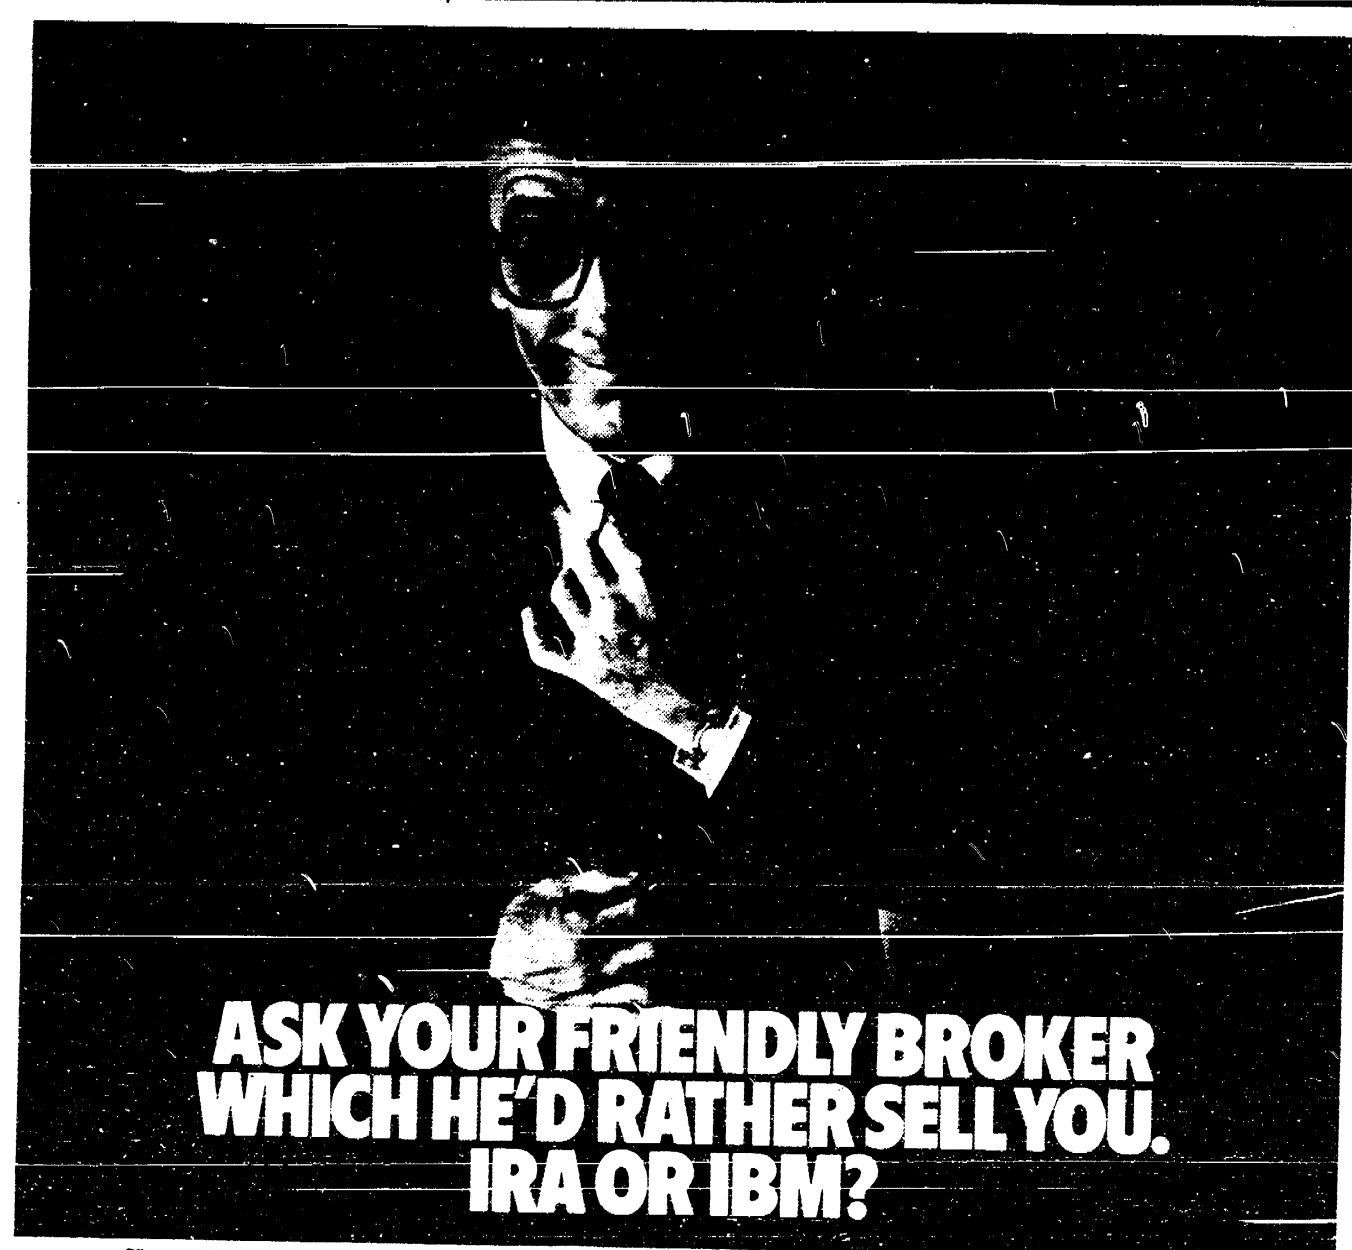

"Manufacturers have also provided consumers with greater incentives to use coupons by raising the value of the discount and making it more profitable for shoppers to clip and store coupons," continued Chandler. Chandler said it's not uncommon to find coupons worth 25 cents to $1 and more.

Besides more value, coupons are being offered in concentrated sections of weekly newspaper ads and in special newspaper inserts. Chandler says statistics show that more than half the coupons redeemed are clipped from these two media sources.

Chandler offered these tips to consumers looking for ways to use coupons effectively:

1. Use coupons for the products you typically would buy or for what you can happily and readily substitute as an alternative.
2. Remember your shopping list and stick to it using coupons for only those items on the list.
3. Don't be afraid to use coupons for convenience foods. U.S. Department of

ASK YOUR FRIENDLY BROKER WHICH HE'D RATHER SELL YOU. IRA OR IBM?

He may be selling Individual Retirement Accounts on the side. But believe us, he's not called a stock broker for nothing. That, of course, is our point. Lots of people in other businesses are suddenly getting into IRAs—brokers, insurance salesmen, even retailers—but few of them, if any, have as much business being there as we do.

We're your First American Bank, and we're uniquely qualified to help you plan an IRA.

Besides our vast experience with retirement accounts (we've offered them for years), we also offer one of the most competitive IRAs around. And when you set up an IRA with us, you'll have the convenience of dealing with someone you know at a bank down the street, not some obscure address on Wall Street.

You'll also have the security of FDIC insurance, which is something no brokerage house or insurance company can say. Let's get together soon. Since an IRA is a combination tax shelter and high interest savings plan with considerable long and short-term tax benefits, there are lots of details and investment options we'd like to discuss with you one-on-one.

IRA Information 1-800-222-1983

For information on IRAs or any other financial service, drop by your nearby First American Bank or call toll-free. Member FDIC. A substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal.

Of course, if you want to talk stock, whole life or refrigerator-freezers, that's another story. But if you want to talk IRAs, you'll know you've come to the right place.

ALL-AROUND TRUCK PARTS STORE!

That's what A&L Fleet Supply is — Jim Giles, Fleet Counter Supervisor, says that "Being so much to so many people is a big responsibility. We carry a lot of product lines — and are quite complete in most of them. We can take care of most requests — from our single-truck customers to the large fleet owners/operators.

"You don't have to be behind this counter long to know that when trucks aren't running they aren't making money. We have to anticipate — figure out what's going to be needed, how much of it, and when.

"Some things are a bonus. For instance, A&L recently became the area distributor for Korody-Colyer. That means that we have the widest in-stock selection around here of parts for Detroit Diesel engines. It's been estimated that one-fourth of all heavy-duty diesels manufactured in the U.S. are GM (or Detroit Diesels), so you can see how important having this line is to us.

All these things, plus the professionalism of Jim and the rest of the counter and sales staff, have added to the reputation of service and quality at A&L. Try it!

NBJ Presents
Who's Not Who and What's Not What,

Part IV.

What does this woman have in common with NBJ? A name change.

Before dressing up her Hollywood career with a fruit salad topknot, Maria Do Carmo Miranda Da Cunha changed her name to Carmen Miranda.

And while our career is based in Jackson and topped off with almost 50 years of banking innovations, we've changed our name, too—to Comerica Bank - Jackson. You see, we've joined Detroit Bank and Trust and its family of banks in Ann Arbor, Muskegon, Midland, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Kentwood, Shephard and West Branch, and its bank-related companies in Florida, Canada, Mexico and England. And we decided, as wise families do, to unite under a common "surname."

Our new family gives us more financial "clout," too—throughout Michigan, the nation and even the world!

But our name change doesn't mean vast changes in style, service or people. In fact, it doesn't mean even a little tiny change. Because all the things our customers have liked about us for almost 50 years will always be the same.

No matter what our name.

MIS-NAMED

A firefly isn't. It's a beetle.

India ink doesn't come from India. It's from China and Egypt.

A bald eagle isn't bald. It has flat white feathers on the top of its head when it's mature; dark feathers when it's young.

YOUR FUNNY FACE

We hope you enjoy our name changes. And just to make the event of our name change a bit more fun for our customers, we've invited a caricature artist to visit some of our offices and draw some "funny faces" for you. Stop in at any NBJ—sorry, Comerica Bank—office, and ask your Personal Banker for details.

A new name for the National Bank of Jackson.

Comerica

BANK-JACKSON

The sign of things to come.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ WHO DID WHAT? ★

What bank in Jackson:

- |  |   |
|--|---|
| 1 Was first to open a consumer loan department? | 7 First to offer a debit card?   |
| 2 First to introduce drive-in-windows?          | 8 First with a "Personal Banker" system—allowing office managers to approve loans. |
| 3 First with bank credit cards?                 | 9 Introduced the new Comerica Money Market Account?                                |
| 4 First with Saturday hours?                    | 10 Joined Comerica—becoming bigger and better?                                     |

If you answered NBJ to 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 you are absolutely correct. Our name is different now, but our commitment to innovation—to make life a little easier for you—is the same.

All seventh and eighth grade students have the opportunity to participate in a woodshop activity. The activity runs for nine weeks which coincides with the duration of our marking periods at the middle school.

Woodshop is offered twice a day as a elective and is a very popular course. Class sizes are limited to fifteen students in order to assure safety and time for the instructor to work with each student.

Creativity is encouraged and displayed in the finished products.

Safe Holiday Turkey Tips

Thanksgiving is the day Americans will gobble up approximately 30 million turkeys, or almost 20 percent of the 1982 national turkey crop.

This crop—estimated at 163.6 million turkeys nationally—is 4 percent smaller than the 1981 crop. The Michigan turkey crop of 1.4 million birds is also down slightly from a year ago. Allan Rahn, MSU poultry economist, says individual turkeys are larger, however, because of lower feed costs and more heavy breed strains being raised this year.

These larger birds are a good deal for shoppers. Larger turkeys cost less per pound and yield a higher proportion of meat to bone than turkeys weighing 12 pounds or less.

Most shoppers will choose frozen turkeys. Frozen stuffed turkeys and frozen turkey rolls go directly from the freezer to the oven. Other turkeys require thawing. Proper thawing is necessary to avoid food poisoning. Keep the turkey solidly frozen until the thawing procedure begins.

To thaw, leave the turkey in its original wrapper and use one of the following methods. Place the turkey on a tray in the refrigerator and thaw. It will take three to four days, depending on the frozen temperature of the turkey, the size of the bird and the temperature of the refrigerator.

The faster brown-bag method involves putting the frozen turkey on a tray in a tightly closed brown grocery bag. Let it sit out at room temperature for the required amount of thawing time—about one hour per pound. The heavy bag keeps the outside of the turkey from getting too warm before the inside is thawed.

The cold-water method is the fastest but least desirable because it results in a greater loss of moisture. That means the turkey will be less juicy, especially if it's roasted rather than steamed. To thaw a turkey in cold water, cover the plastic-wrapped bird with cold running water. It

And for those operations requiring a self-propelled unit, large capacity Knight Spreaders can also be truck mounted.

Respectfully Submitted: Kent P. Talcott Secretary, Board of Education

October 18, 1982

The meeting was called to order by President, Paul DuFresne at 8:00 P.M.

Members Present: Broucek, Horning, Talcott, DuFresne, Mann, Okay, Little. Members Absent: None.

Communications: Dr. Thompson reported that a letter had been received from Dr. Harry Howard, Ann Arbor Public Schools Superintendent requesting from the Board of Education support for a resolution adopted by his Board which would request the Michigan High School Athletic Association to return to the practice of having the high school principals decide athlete eligibility questions. The Ann Arbor position is that the newly adopted rule which automatically makes an athlete ineligible for participation for one full semester following transfer is arbitrary in that it does not allow sufficient consideration of individual problems. Dr. Thompson advised the Board that the Manchester schools had experienced no problems to date with the new rule but that the previous practice had been very successful. After discussion it was moved by Little and supported by Okay to accept the following resolution:

Whereas, the Michigan High School Athletic Association has adopted a transfer rule that denies athletic eligibility for one semester to all students who transfer from one school to another without a corresponding change of address, and Whereas, said transfer rule was designed to prevent athletic recruiting, but in practice unfairly denies athletic eligibility to hundreds of students in the State who transfer schools for completely non-athletic reasons, and Whereas, the Michigan High School Athletic Association has refused to grant waivers from said rule and has announced that it will continue to deny to grant waivers from said rule, even where proof positive is given that the transfers in question are for completely non-athletic reasons, and

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Manchester Board of Education do encourage rather than discourage student participation in athletics and other extra-curricular activities.

Shakespeare Reading Club

The Shakespeare Reading Club met November 18 at the home of Dorothy Hamilton. The quote for the day was by Marcus Cicero, "History is the witness that testifies to the passing of time — and brings us tidings of antiquity".

Dorothy Hamilton had the topic Adventure in Archeology. The Smithsonian Magazine from 1979 was used with illustrations of the very large excavation in 1974 in China, of a chariot, an army of men and horses all made to scale.

made of clay. There were 11 parallel trenches.

Readings from Shakespeare Play Othello were done from Act I Scene II. The part of Iago was read by Lenora Parr, Othello by Jannette Kirk, Brabantio, Annettee van der Schell, Cassio by Dorothy Hamilton.

Roll Call was a famous Dig. Among those mentioned were those in Freedom, and Sharon Townships. Current Events were numerous.

Notice to Members: The next meeting will be at the home of Emma Marx, November 30th, with a change in time, 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Max Walter Named 'Mason Of The Year'

Mr. Max Walter, 19827 Boetger Rd., has been named the 1982 Manchester "Mason of the Year" by Manchester Lodge #148 Free & Accepted Masons of Michigan.

Max, who was cited for outstanding and dedicated service to the lodge, will be honored at a special dinner on January 14, 1983, at which time a citation will be presented. This honor qualifies Max for a statewide contest for the title of Michigan Mason of the Year.

Max has been a member of Masonic Lodge for 21 years, having served as Worshipful Master in 1966. He is currently serving as the Lodge's Junior Deacon. Max served as the Secretary of this Lodge for 11 years.

Max has accepted the responsibility of many committees and served as their Chairman on the Visitation & Sick committee and Audit committee.

Max furthered his Masonic knowledge by joining the Royal Arch Masons, of which he served as their High Priest. Max also joined the Knights of Templar in Ann Arbor where he received his 32 degree.

Max is married to the former Arlene Ahrens. They have 4 children, Richard, William, Linda and Jane.

Upon retiring from Michigan Department of Transportation, Max enjoys gardening, trailer camping, and traveling.

Masonry first came to Manchester in 1864 with the formation of Lodge #148. An ancient fraternal society for adult men, it has over three million members in the United States and another three million in most countries of the free world. In the United States alone, an average of one million dollars a day are contributed by Masonic members for various charitable, health, educational and civic projects.

We hope everyone will join with us in congratulating Max for receiving this honor.

"About 36 of our citizens accepted the opportunity offered by Landlord Crow, and ate their thanksgiving dinner at the Freeman House. The menu was elaborate and the guests did full justice to it. The handsome dining room never saw a jollier or more appreciative company and Mr. Crow was the recipient of many compliments. The preparing of a special thanksgiving dinner at a hotel is quite a new thing for Manchester, and Mr. Crow showed considerable courage in inaugurating the custom, and now that the ice has been broken we trust that our citizens may enjoy frequent opportunities of meeting together at the Freeman, there to discuss the elegant dinners served on Sundays and holidays."

HIT or MISS

BY FARLEY

Many folks who write for a living—columnists, reporters, etc., are always perusing the dictionary looking for new and more expressive words than they are used to and threatening to use them in their writings. We find that there has been recently published a Dictionary of Unusual, Obscure and Preposterous Words, Gathered from Numerous and Diverse Authoritative Sources which is a treasure for all folks who have a deep feeling for words.

Where else, for instance, can you find a definition of giddom (a frantic galloping movement made by cows when plagued by flies.) and onimancy (fortune telling with the fingernails), and omphaloskepsis (meditations while staring at one's navel), and sapid (well-flavored). Where can you find in a dictionary to tell you that hirc means armpit hair and that hircismus means "stinky armpits or that cruriphilous means "liking legs" (I don't know whether they mean chicken or feminine), between, which means indecisions. What other book will authenticate sapid, "well flavored or bumfodder, toilet paper or a collection of documents", or illth, "the opposite of wealth."

And then there are many phrases gleaned from various famous or infamous people such as "Wise men make proverbs but fools repeat them", "Go and never darken my towels again" attributed to Groucho Marx, or "I'm not afraid to die. I just don't want to be there when it happens", Woody Allen, or "For three days after death, hair and fingernails continue to grow, but the phone calls taper off" said Johnny Carson, or "Listening to the Fifth Symphony by Ralph Vaughn Williams is like staring at a cow for forty-five minutes" said Aaron Copeland.

And then S.J. Perlman said "To err is human, to forgive supine". While a very popular Irish proverb sez "It's better to be a coward for a minute than dead for the rest of your life". And to proceed: "I know not sir, whether Bacon wrote Shakespeare but if he did not, it seems to me that he missed the opportunity of a lifetime." And then James Berger says, "why do writers write? Because it isn't there". William Faulkner said "if a writer has to rob his mother he wouldn't hesitate", and that "Ode to a Grecian Urn is worth any number of old ladies."

There are many more of these. Among them: "Studying literature at Harvard is like learning about women at the Mayo Clinic," says Roy Blount, Jr. W.C. Fields said "Inflation has gone up over a dollar a quart" while California Governor Jerry Brown remarked that "I see the world is very fluid and very contradictory. I just don't feel the need to say what is going to happen or will not happen." Tarkakov, the chess master, sez that "The mistakes are all there waiting to be made". "Tis said that "A closed mouth gathers no feet." Miss Piggy said "Never eat more than you can lift." Tony Burgess said that "Laugh and the world laughs with you, snore and you sleep alone," while "man is the only animal that laughs and has a state legislature," while only the other day Yogi Berra remarked that "Toots Shores restaurant is so crowded that nobody goes there anymore."

Various authors have said "Casey Stengel said the other day that," they say you can't do it, but sometimes it doesn't

1983 Fair Date Changed

The 1983 Manchester Community Fair will be held August 9-13, 1983, a week earlier than previously planned. The change in dates was approved by the Board after a discussion with representatives from Michigan State Amusements concerning the dates their carnival would be available. Michigan State Amusements is a carnival we have not had before. They have 15 rides available and a fun house, as well as video games and food wagons.

In other business Mary Cousino, treasurer, reported a balance of $1,881.83. President Kopka reminded members that the Michigan Association of Fairs and Exhibitions Convention will be held January 13-15 at the Hyatt-Regency in Dearborn.

There will be no December meeting of the Fair Board. All meetings are held the second Monday of the month at 8:00 p.m. and are open to the public.

Manchester United Way Reaches Record $28,040

Citizens of the Manchester area contributed a record amount to the 1982 United Way campaign according to Dr. Glenn C. Lehr, Jr., Campaign Chairman. Lehr reported contributions and pledges total $28,040.31 which is 92.4% of the $30,358.00 campaign goal. The campaign total of $28,040.31 is $615.28 more than the previous record reported last year.

Dr. Lehr said: "The citizens of the Manchester area have again shown their concern for those in need by their generous support of this year's United Way campaign. In these times of an economic downturn this new record of giving is another fine example of Manchester's community spirit."

"I want to sincerely thank the 100 plus volunteer solicitors, captains and division leaders who gave of their time and talents to assure the success of this year's campaign. And a special thank you to T.V. Ludwick, member of the Board of Directors and Secretary, for her guidance and cooperative assistance during the campaign."

"This year, in these troubled times, the citizens of Manchester truly did REACH IN-THAT WE MAY REACH OUT."

Chairpersons for the seven campaign divisions were: Industry - Clarence Fielder; Rural - Sallie Anderson; Village - Maryann Koebbe; Business - Thomas Kalleward and Harvey LeBeau; Schools - Dr. Eugene Thompson; Organizations - Janice Little and Outside Business - David Little. Clarence Fielder, President of the United Way, stated that this year's campaign goal was increased to $30,358.00 primarily because of the addition of a new member agency, Hospice of Washtenaw. Hospice was allocated $2,000.00. He said the Board of Directors voted to approve the transfer of $2,317.69 from the emergency and stabilization fund to this year's campaign fund, the difference between the $28,040.31 raised and the $30,358.00 campaign goal, thus assuring that all member agencies will receive the amounts allocated.
