Pilot Project Grants Awarded

Utilizing the guide lines established by a Board of Education Resolution submitted by Trustee JoAnn Okay, the Professional Council of the Manchester Community Schools has awarded Pilot Project Grants totaling $1,000.00 to seven classroom teachers.

Okay's proposal established a line item in the budget of $1,000 to be used for special teaching projects. The intent of the proposal was to encourage creative efforts on the part of the Manchester staff.

Thirteen different proposals were submitted to the Professional Council by staff members. Seven separate grants were awarded. The teachers and the topics which were awarded grants are as follows: Sheryl Hall, Business Education teacher at the Manchester High School for materials and textbooks to teach Acta processing in the business world; Janice Little and Theodora Groeb, teachers at Klager for Math Education materials; Carol Savage, Klager teacher for the Parent/Teacher Reading Project; Gay Williams, Middle School teacher for Elective Horticulture class; Patricia Smith, Speech Therapist for materials to develop a pre-school speech program; and Meinda Trout, Art teacher at the Manchester High School for her Fiber Arts class project.

Members of the Professional Council which is made up of equal members of administrators and teachers indicated that there was a high degree of agreement regarding which proposals should be approved. The only regret expressed was due to the fact there were not sufficient funds to award all projects.

HIT or MISS

JY FARLEY

One of the older natives who said that he enjoyed reading the column about the Manchester merchants of some forty years ago informs us that we missed one important business structure that was located a bit north of the Chevrolet garage on Adrian Street - the "Red Bird".

This was a rather small structure that sat on the river bank and was built for and occupied by a shoe repair shop. It fronted on Adrian street and the rear of it was built on a frame which rested on and was supported by three or four vertical posts driven into the ground at the back. I, and others, cannot remember the name of the shoe repair man but the place was frequented a considerable portion of the time by "man about town" Charlie Stringham. You might say he had his office there. Charlie, as most of you remember was the chap who was available for any and all odd jobs and in so doing filled a need for the town.

Community Lenten Services

Manchester Christians met at the Sharon United Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, March 2nd for the second of 1983 Lenten worship services. Rev. Howard Ashford, Chaplain Intern at Adrian College, preached on the topic "Put up thy Sword", John 18:11.

Rev. Ashford was born in Chataway County, Mississippi, received his college degree at Wilberforce University in Ohio, and is presently a member of the United Methodist Detroit Conference under appointment to attend Garrett Theological Seminary. He is the head of a single unit family, and enjoys fishing, hunting, reading and preaching.

The next Community Lenten Service will be held at the Emanuel United Church of Christ and will be a choral program of the individual and combined choirs of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Manchester United Methodist Church, Sharon United Methodist Church and Emanuel.

morning disaster struck. This happened along about 1927 or thereabouts.

Shattering the peace of the morning, there came the sound of falling timbers and the crushing of lumber. A considerable number of folks from Main Street rushed out and saw that the "Red Bird" was missing from its usual spot and above that spot there rose a cloud of dust. When the spectators rushed over to see what the cause was, they discovered that the poles supporting the back of the building had given away and the whole affair - building and contents - had slid down the river bank and landed in a heap below, but by the time the early arrivals had started down the bank to ascertain what conditions were down below, through the shattered timbers and dust there

College Planning Seminar

Are you aware that: 1) Tuition at many colleges is already more than $10,000 per year. 2) getting into most colleges is much easier than most people think. 3) a college diploma doesn't guarantee a job. 4) getting into college is more than just having high test scores. 5) with proper planning anyone who wants to can go to college.

The Manchester High School guidance department and Eastern Michigan University cordially invites parents and students in grades eight through eleven to attend an evening seminar on these and other aspects of college planning. Topics to be covered will include what classes to take in high school; the hows and whys of financial aid; the role of grades and test scores for college acceptance; availability of scholarships; application procedures; and the future job market for college grads. A time will be provided for questions and answers.

Conducting this seminar will be Mr. Ralph Cowan and Mr. James Olsen, experienced members of Eastern Michigan University's admissions department and Mr. Richard Parson, high school guidance counselor. The seminar will be held in the high school study auditorium on Tuesday, March 8 at 7:30 p.m.

Educational Audit Approved

At its regular meeting on February 21, the Manchester Board of Education directed the Superintendent to proceed with negotiations with the firm of Educational Systems Technology, Inc. for an audit of the educational programs in the district. Noting that an audit of the district's financial procedures is conducted annually several board members indicated that they felt an independent review of the district's primary purpose was extremely important.

Another business item the Board received was a report of the Computer Education Program presented by Mr. William Symons. Superintendent Thompson indicated his pleasure with this program and reported that he intended to include it in his proposed 1983-84 budget.

Additional business included a review of the teacher's health insurance program, amendments to the 1982-83 budget and a re-naming of the district's Gifted and Talented Program with will now be known as the TEEM Program (Thinking, Exploring & Enriching Minds).

The Pre-school Fellowship and Kindergarten-Fourth Grade group of Bethel United Church of Christ, Manchester, met February 12 for their annual Valentine's party. Highlighting the event was the appearance of Trix's the Clown of Ann Arbor who made up his face and delighted the children with magic tricks, juggling, and puppet acts. A miniature "post office" was set up by Nancy Haeussler for the children to buy stamps and deliver their valentines. The Pre-school Fellowship is a group of mothers of pre-schoolers who meet monthly. Often, speakers are invited to speak on topics of special interest relevant to the pre-school age. Every other month, activities are planned with the children such as holiday parties, swimming, or seasonal outings. In January, the Pre-school mothers met at Eleanor Beitelsbee's home in Saline, where the project began of making valentine heart pins for the residents of the Saline Evangelical Home and the senior members of the Bethel Church. Our outgoing president, Carol Colby, made over 75 hearts. Officers elected for next year are: President - Patty Hense, Vice President - Phyllis Morauk, Secretary - Anita Acree, Treasurer - Pat Wilson, Bulletin Boards - Susan Mann, Reporters - Jennine Chapman and Kathleen Jefferson.

Our march activities include sewing children's clothing and stuffed animals as contributions to the women's church mission. Mrs. Clare Reck was contacted about contributing baby clothing and other baby items to the Manchester Social Services. "Eat, Drink and Be Ware" is the theme for the March 15th meeting to be held at the home of Anita Acree at 7:30 p.m. We will be looking at current eating trends and their effect on our family.

Klager PTO

Klager's Elementary PTO will be meeting Monday, March 7 at 7:30 p.m. Business will consist of coming events, including hobby day, young authors day, and spring sing. We invite the public.

Again, it's that time of the year...PTO members want nominations for next year's board. We will be losing 6 members this year. If you are interested, please contact a board member or come to our meeting. If you are not interested in serving, we always invite you to come to our meetings and share with us your thoughts or to listen.

Important dates to remember are March 28 and April 11. On March 28 at the Klager school, Dr. Hammond will be presenting a slide show. Throughout the year, she has been busily taking lovely slides of our children during activities or studies. The public is invited for showings at 7:00 and 8:00. On April 11, we are pleased to have Dr. Okey speak at Klager to all interested parents on Reproductive Health - How to teach your children.

Wrestler Places In Regional Competition

One Manchester wrestler placed in Regional competition at Dundee last Saturday. Van Talcott, 98 lbs, will advance to the State Class C finals this Friday and Saturday, March 4 and 5. They will be held at Thornapple Kellogg High School in Middleville, near Grand Rapids, starting at 11:00 a.m.

State finalists are the top four placers in each weight class at the Dundee, Hart, Montrose and Bronson Regionals. These 16 wrestlers will be competing for medals awarded to the top six placers. Van wrestled three matches

Saturday, and was assured of a berth at state after he beat Kris Barrett of Addison 8-3. Kris was L.C.A.A. and District champion this year.

Middle School Delegates Attend Convocation

The Nellie Ackerson Middle School has been invited to send representatives to the Washtenaw Area Science Convocation. The Convocation is a two-day, intensive study in an area of science. The topic that the representatives will be addressing is "Human Experiment: In Search of Science Goals for Tomorrow".

This is the first time the schools in Washtenaw County have worked together to put on a Science Convocation of this type. It was initiated by the Washtenaw Intermediate School District and Eastern Michigan University. W.I.S.D. brought the schools together to set up the Convocation and the guidelines to be followed. E.M.U. is allowing the Convocation to be held on campus and is providing their instructors to run the workshop sessions that the students will be attending.

The Convocation will take place on March 2 and 3 starting each day at 8:45 a.m. and ending at 3:00 p.m. Our middle school will be taking four students-two eighth graders and two seventh graders. The students participating are Brendan Lenaki, Robert Gillow, Jackie Miller, and Dan Desarov. Mr. Wes Gall will be in charge of our representatives.

This will be a unique experience for our students. We hope that it will be the first of many Science Convocations to come.

It refers to a program to return to farmers surplus commodities in payment for land taken out of production.
PIK applies to wheat, corn, sorghum, rice and upland cotton and is in addition to the acreage reduction program already announced for those commodities.
The sign-up period runs until March 11, and farmers are currently putting a pencil to PIK to determine if it fits their operations.
Over the past few years, there have been several attempts to reduce production, some very successful, perhaps because neither the government nor farmers were fully convinced it had to be done.

What's Cooking in Michigan?

by Margaret G. McCall
Michigan Department of Agriculture

The popularity of baked potatoes is clearly illustrated by the number of fast-food restaurants specializing in baked potatoes with a wide variety of toppings. When you bake potatoes at home, choose Michigan Russet Burbanks, which are excellent for baking and frying.

Our state's farmers harvested more than 860 million pounds of potatoes last year. The Michigan Department of Agriculture values the crop at $66 million, and reports that Michigan ranked 11th among the states in production. Although baked potatoes are probably the leading choice of most diners, French fries are a close second. Because potatoes are such a versatile food, there are many good recipes for preparation. Besides scalloped potatoes, another favorite, here's a formula for baked potato balls which can be prepared ahead. It's especially nice if you're expecting a crowd for dinner and want to avoid a last-minute rush in the kitchen.

Prepare mashed potatoes using your favorite recipe. Season with salt, pepper and butter. When cool, shape into balls of uniform size, roll in crushed cornflakes, and place in a shallow greased baking pan. Cover the pan and refrigerate until needed, up to 24 hours. Then bake at 375 degrees about 20 minutes.

If you prefer fried potato balls, combine mashed potatoes with beaten egg yolk, grated Parmesan cheese, a pinch of nutmeg, and 1/4 teaspoon of baking powder for each cup of potatoes. Roll in flour, shake off excess, roll in beaten egg white and then in fine dry bread crumbs. Fry in hot oil until lightly browned, drain well on paper toweling before serving.

ROUNDBALLERS SPLIT

Dave Malcolm totaled 30 points in this weeks battles

by Jon Hardenbergh

In the Tuesday contest, Manchester hosted the Vikings from Dundee. We were out to avenge our earlier loss in Viking land and we did. The game stood knotted after the first period but in the next stanza we poured in 17 points to their 9 to lead at halftime, 33-25. Again throughout the following 8 minutes we out-scored them 19 to 10 to hold a comfortable cushion. Dundee continued to fight and with some 25 seconds left pulled with-in one. The next play saw Mark Ball step to the charity stripe and sink one. The Vikings fouled Mark again, needing the ball. He hit both freebies then down came the Vikings in a hurry. Yes, they scored but it was too late. The Dutchmen stood victorious 60-56. Dave Malcolm canned for 16 and Mark Ball hit for 11. The final meeting of this season against our arch-rival Clinton was Friday. Tempers were really on fire as we beat them earlier and they wanted revenge. Most of the verbal battle stemmed from the article Mike Lefort of the Ann Arbor News put in the Clinton Local. If you didn't read it - don't - it's not worth it. Mr. Lefort told two untrue stories - one about Clinton being our only win last year and saying goodbye to Clinton. It is my feeling a responsible journalist should be factual and not turn a high school basketball game into a blood bath. The war got going and the Skins led by 2 at the intermission. They did assume a comfortable edge but the Dutch came back to tie with about 4:30 left. Victory was not to be ours this night as Clinton won 68-56. Dave Malcolm gunned for 15 as Mark Ball had 11.

COPING...

Challenge of the 60's

Whether we're 6 or 60, we need a balanced diet -- every day. That means getting the basics: fruits and vegetables, bread and/or cereal, milk and other dairy products and proteins from meat, fish, dried beans or peanut butter. It may be even more important at 60 to follow those rules -- and more of a challenge. We still need vitamins, minerals, calcium and so on, but also fewer calories, less cholesterol, more fiber and less sugar and salt. Sometimes we have other diet restrictions too, limited budgets; and we're usually cooking for one or two people with less robust appetites than youngsters. Getting to the store itself may be a challenge.

But eating is still one of the pleasures of life, and challenges are to be met, no matter what they are or what our age. And Coping is here to help. Planning - The first rule of any project is planning. That means a menu and a shopping list. Plan meals for a couple of weeks or more, and don't forget snacks. Check the cupboards. Remember the basics. Plan for emergencies such as bad weather, unexpected company, illness. Coupons. There are coupons everywhere for buying almost anything. They're in magazines, the mailbox, newspapers (usually there's a "Best Food Day" issue when a whole section may be devoted to food stories, recipes -- and coupons). There are flyers in most grocery stores listing the store specials, and some of them have special senior citizen coupons just for the older shopper. Coupons are the food industry's way of giving you a bargain and encouraging you to try new things. Use some of those savings to splurge a little and try something new -- using a coupon for it, of course. Nutrition. The magazines and newspapers are full of stories these days about what's good for you to eat, and what's not good for you, like too much salt, or fat, etc. Read the labels on food you have at home so you will be prepared for coping with what's on the labels of items you're buying. Call your local Home Extension office or any similar agency, and look in your local library for books on nutrition.

Emergencies. There's an old saying about Michigan weather; if you don't like it, just wait a little and it will change. So we always need to be prepared for weather emergencies, especially in the winter time, when we might not be able to get to the store. Powdered milk should really be considered a staple on our shelves. And remember the basics? Canned fruits and vegetables should be kept on hand for times when we can't have fresh. Snacks. Who doesn't like to snack? Fresh fruit, of course, or nuts or raisins, cookies, ice cream, or whatever is your preference. But keep it in mind when making out the list. (See recipe for Homemade Cranola.)

Too much in a package for you? Large economy sizes are just as the label says, economical. But when you're not cooking for a big family, they may not be very economical after all. Or aren't they? If it's something that can be divided and put away for a later time, repackaging and put part in the freezer. Or you might want to go co-op; share with a friend when large quantities can save you both money. Since most meat these days is prepackaged, you may find all the packages too large for you. Ask the butcher (ring the bell at the meat counter) to get you only what you need. Or you might ask him to slice it for you, if it's something like ham, so you can put it in small packages when you get home.

Getting there. Not everyone has their own transportation. If you have to depend on someone else for a lift, the more advance planning you do the better, so you can pace your shopping time to theirs. At the store. If you are shopping in a store that's very familiar to you, you might write out your list in the same order you will come to each item as you make your way through the store. If you can't find what you need, ask a clerk; there are usually store personnel stocking shelves or somewhere about the store and willing to help. Or ask a checker to find someone for you. Store personnel are there to serve you. Mostly they do that by keeping the shelves filled, the store neat and clean and by ringing up your purchases when you're done. But they're also there to help you when you need it, and don't hesitate to ask them. One other thing about your shopping list. Make a note of things you might want to mention to your grocer, suggestions that might make shopping more convenient for you. You're the customer and they want you to be satisfied.

Home again. Once you're home, take care of your food as soon as possible. Now is the time to repackaging economy sizes into serving sizes. Small plastic bags are fine for wrapping up individual servings, like one pork chop. Next list. Now is the time to start the next shopping list, not on the next shopping day. Watch for specials, coupons and recipes that suit just you. Coping with challenges can be fun, especially when it has to do with food.

HEARTY HAM SANDWICH IS QUICK, EASY TO MAKE

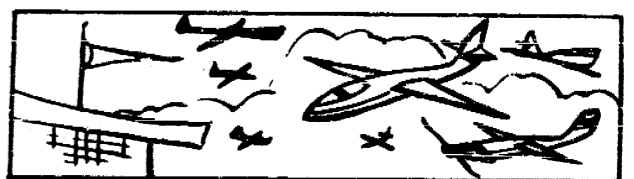

When busy schedules leave little time to cook, serve something quick-to-make, like Ham 'n Swiss on Biscuits. The hot, hearty sandwiches are so good tasting and easy to prepare, they'll become a favorite standby. Refrigerated flaky biscuits enclose chunky ham and Swiss cheese to make these big, round sandwiches. Accompany them with tomato wedges and fruit for a well-rounded meal.

HAM 'N SWISS ON BISCUITS

- 6 3/4-oz. can chunked ham, drained and flaked
- 1 teaspoon instant minced onion or 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon poppy seed
- 2 tablespoons margarine or butter, softened
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 10-oz. can Hungry Jack refrigerated flaky biscuits
- 5 (4x4-inch) slices Swiss cheese
- Poppy Seed

Heat oven to 375°F. Combine ham, onion, poppy seed, margarine and mustard; reserve about 1/3 cup. Separate dough into 10 biscuits; press 5 biscuits to 3 1/2-inch circles on ungreased cookie sheet. Spoon scant 1/4 cup meat mixture onto each flattened biscuit. Fold cheese slices into quarters; place on meat mixture; press slightly. Divide reserved 1/3 cup meat mixture over cheese. Press remaining 5 biscuits to 4-inch circles; slightly stretch each over meat mixture. Do not seal edges. Sprinkle tops with poppy seed. Bake at 375°F. for 10 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. 5 sandwiches.

CALIFORNIA AVOCADO BEAUTY BOOK

The Aztec, Mayan and Inca beauties believed the avocado fed the skin from without as well as within. What they discovered hundreds of years ago by trial-and-error has been rediscovered by today's beauty experts, who recommend the golden-green fruit for skin and hair care. California avocados are rich in vitamins and essential minerals and unlike most fruits, they also contain protein. Skin and hair respond wonderfully to this treasury of nutrients.

If dry skin is a problem, try this avocado masque: beat the yolk of an egg until light and frothy and blend with the mashed pulp of half a California avocado. Apply this mixture to your clean face and neck and relax for 20 minutes before gently washing off. For a rejuvenating finish, follow with a rinse of cold water or a mild skin lotion.

For oily skin, try the same method with a whipped egg white, one teaspoon lemon juice and the mashed pulp of half an avocado. Finish the treatment with a cold splash of water or skin tonic.

To help revitalize dull, unmanageable or hard-to-comb hair, blend a mashed avocado half with a half cup of your favorite shampoo and a half cup of warm water. Apply the avocado shampoo to wet hair and massage vigorously. Rinse your hair thoroughly and shampoo again with a small amount of regular shampoo. For oily hair, follow the shampoo with a lemon juice rinse.

Pamper yourself all year long with California avocados. It's a practical, inexpensive and fun way to a lovely complexion and shiny, healthy hair.

Saline Valley Project Awarded For Clean Water Efforts

Saline Valley Project Coordinating Committee Chairman Earl Doletzky and Ron Struss of the Cooperative Extension Service accept the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association's 1983 Clean Water Award from the group's president, Frank Mainville, of the Lansing State Journal. The Saline Valley Project was honored for its efforts in controlling agricultural water pollution in Washtenaw and Monroe counties, Michigan.

For outstanding efforts in preserving clean water, the Saline Valley Project received the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association's "1983 Clean Water Award".

Each year the Writers Association presents this award to a community, industry, business, group or individual for helping clean up and protect Michigan's waterways. In receiving the award, the Saline Valley Project became the first agricultural clean water effort to be honored by this group of Michigan outdoor journalists.

Project Coordinating Committee Chairman Earl Doletzky accepted the award from Frank Mainville, president of the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association, at the group's February 5 meeting in Cadillac, Michigan.

Combining federal dollars with funds of participating farmers, the Project, through educational, technical and financial assistance, helps reduce cropland soil erosion and controls fertilizer, pesticide and manure runoff. The 2.4 million dollar program covers 200,000 acres in Washtenaw and Monroe counties and includes portions of the Saline River, Mill Creek and River Raisin watersheds, all of which empty into Lake Erie. It is one of 21 similar projects funded nationwide under the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Clean Water Program.

According to Ron Struss, Extension Agricultural Agent and Project information coordinator, funds are still available to farmers in the Saline Valley Project area for such conservation practices as chisel plowing, no-till planting, waterways and manure storage facilities. Mr. Struss can be contacted at the Washtenaw County Cooperative Extension Service Office, 973-9510, for more information.

TAX TIP

by H&R Block

DIVORCED TAXPAYERS

Generally, the parent who has custody of the child for the greater part of the year is entitled to claim the exemption. There are two exceptions to this rule. The noncustodial parent is entitled to the exemption if he or she:

1) contributed at least $600 toward each child's support during the year and the divorce decree or other agreement specifies that this parent is entitled to the exemption. Any agreement must be in writing. OR

2) provided $1,200 (or more) support for each child during the year and the parent having custody cannot prove that he or she provided more support.

Child support payments are neither deductible by the payer nor taxable to the recipient. If the decree does not specify an amount as child support, the entire payment is alimony. Alimony payments, generally, are deductible by the payer and taxable to the recipient. Deductible alimony is claimed as an adjustment and is deductible regardless of whether deductions are itemized.

Editor's Comment

Reprint from the Manchester Enterprise dated July 4, 1982

The editor has been asked why the Enterprise carries the state seal of Michigan in the front page headline? Well, there are several reasons, but the principal one is because almost every state in the union has its Manchester, and wherever the paper goes, whether in other states or in foreign countries the great seal of Michigan in the center of the heading tells that Manchester, Michigan is where the paper is published. We have contemplated putting the word "Michigan" in the heading and date line over every page. The Enterprise pays much attention to the selection of state news, has a representative at the capital at Lansing, especially during sessions of the Legislature. It gets very important farm and other news from the State College at Lansing which is of special interest to the farmers, which comprise a large majority of our regular subscribers; the State University with its school of music, medical and law school and the always interesting athletic association and the state normal college at Ypsilanti claim the distinction of our boys and girls, especially after graduating from our Manchester High school, and the Manchester Enterprise is proud to give necessary information regarding them. We like our dear old state and are not ashamed to carry its seal in the heading of the Enterprise.

People who take the day off to go fishing are complaining of their poor luck in catching even what the law allows, contrasting their experience of today with what it was several years ago. The trouble is, we are never satisfied and never were. We know how we used to stay and stay as long as the fish would bite and often brought home so many that the whole neighborhood was supplied, as well as the cats and chickens. Did you ever stop to think that such conduct was enough to deplete a small lake of its supply of fish? And we are as greedy now as in those good old days.

service will be held at the Sharon United Methodist Church on Friday, March 4 beginning at 1:30 p.m. All area church women are invited to attend and join together in prayer. A fellowship time will follow the service.

The service for 1983 was written by Christian women from the island countries of the Caribbean on the theme, "New Persons in Christ". The service reflects joy in the new-found independences of their nations and the new opportunities opening up to women socially, politically and within their own churches.

An offering will be received. World Day of Prayer offerings make possible the mission of Church Women United, including the Inter-continental Grants for Mission program that funds national and international projects in support of the empowerment of women, human rights, justice and peace.

World Day of Prayer At Sharon United Methodist

World Day of Prayer is celebrated this year on March 4, 1983. Sponsored in the United States by Church Women United, this annual observance unites women of faith in 170 countries on six continents around the globe. 1983 marks the 50th consecutive year in which untold thousands of women will gather to be part of this worldwide prayer witness.

came crawling up the bank. Charlie and the proprietor, unhurt in spite of it all, but badly shaken and breathless from the catastrophe.

Evidently all that was seriously injured was the occupants' pride. The contents of the building were salvaged but no attempt was made to rebuild the shop, and the event became a minor classic in Manchester's history.

The other day I ran across the following clipping stored away where my wife had put it between the pages of a book. She evidently thought it appropriate and mibbe saved it for my benefit. Here tis: Lord thou knowest that I am growing older.

Keep me from trying to straighten out everybody's affairs.

Keep me from reciting endless details.

Give me wings to get to the point. Give me grace to listen to the tales of others' pains.

But help me to endure them with patience.

But seal my lips as to my aches and pains.

Teach me the glorious lesson that occasionally,

It is possible that I may be mistaken.

Keep me reasonably sweet, make me helpful but not bossy.

I want a few friends at the end.

Consumer Guidelines For Over-The-Counter Tamper Resistant Drug Products

This quick guide to tamper resistant non-prescription drug packaging may help you know what to look for when you buy over-the-counter drugs.

- On cartons, look for unbroken end flaps.
- On bottles, look for a secure plastic barrier or sleeve around the top of the cap.
- Bottles may also have an inner seal that should be unbroken.
- The foil backing on blister packs, containing tablets, should be secure.
- If a product has a plastic shrink wrap completely covering it, be sure it is intact.
- Be sure the exterior of the package is intact.
- In the case of tablets or capsules, be suspicious of unusual particles or discolored powder.
- If bottles contain cotton under the cap, it should be smooth and tight.
- Be wary of any unusual odor.

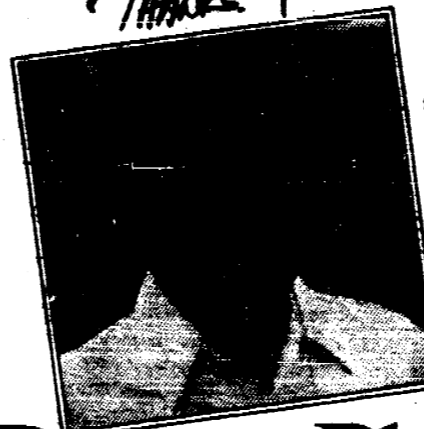

Major drug companies are trying to protect you from products being tampered with. One, for instance, offers new aspirin free tablets for adults

A special safety packaging system protects headache tablets. The carton has glued flaps and tamper indicators, making it very difficult to open it without tampering being evident. In addition, each of the 40 tablets inside is in an individual blister package with foil backing.

in glued cartons with die-cut tamper indicators. Each carton contains 40 tablets individually safety-sealed in blister packs with foil backing. The new pain-reliever is St. Joseph Aspirin-Free tablets for adults, maximum strength, in tamper-resistant packaging. It's made by Plough Inc. All of that company's ingestible products are now produced in tamper resistant packaging. New Food and Drug Administration rules require tamper resistant packaging for all ingestible and certain other over-the-counter drugs. Non-prescription drugs will be required to carry a clearly visible message disclosing the type of tamper resistant feature they have. This helps you know where to watch for signs of tampering.

The safety razor is said to have been the biggest innovation ever in the cosmetics industry. Monday is the worst day of the week and Saturday is the best, but for mediocrity Tuesday is the best.
