HIT or MISS by farley

Statistics 'tis said, show that the greater percentage of laid off workers are those that are unskilled. We heard the other day through the reporting talents of Art Buchwald the sad tale of one of those unfortunates who had gone back to school and had finished, with honors, a course in welding as follows: He went back to his former place of employment and said to personnel:

"You laid me off from the company six months ago because I was unskilled labor. Well, I just completed a course in welding and am ready to go to work."

"Sorry son, but since you have been gone the company has decided to invest in robot welders. I don't believe your welding skills are necessary any longer. Now if you knew anything about Robotics."

"I don't sir, but I'll retrain myself and become a robot serviceman. I'll see you in six months."

"That's a good idea. Come back when you know something about robots."

"Hi there, here's my certificate from the Commercial Robot School. It says I can repair any kind of robot on the market."

"This is very impressive but according to your file you were in the office last July seventh. Since you were here the company has invested in a state-of-the-art computer that can repair any robots that we use. We're no-longer hiring people that take care of the robots."

"But surely you need someone to program the computers?"

"As a matter of fact we do. Have you any experience in this field?"

"I don't at the moment, but I know I can be retrained to become a company expert. If I do well in school can I have a job with your company?"

"Of course you can. You show the spirit this corporation is always looking for."

"Hi there. Long time no see."

"As I live and breathe, it's you again. What have you been up to for the past two years?"

"I've been going to advanced computer programming school, sir. I am now fluent in BASIC, PASCAL and FORTRAN and can work with any soft wear on the

E.M.U. Awards Scholarship To Karl Riley

As a result of Manchester High School's outstanding performance at Eastern Michigan University's Foreign Language Day held in early March, Senior Karl Riley has been awarded a scholarship by the University.

Thirteen Manchester High School students participated in the day's activities which included standardized tests in German. The competition was very intense and included German students from Ann Arbor Pioneer, Plymouth-Caton, Ypsilanti and Saline schools.

Senior Chris Opal tied for third on the third year German test and Martha Moore took fourth, Melissa Bunney placed fifth, Dawn England sixth, Kari Riley seventh and Mike Stimson eighth. Manchester High School Junior Katie Miller placed second on the second year German test.

According to Susan Davis, Manchester High's German teacher, the scholarship has been awarded to Kari who plans to attend Eastern next year where she will combine her further study of German with a degree in business. Mrs. Davis said, "I am quite proud of the results our students achieved at Eastern. It is real proof that Manchester High students are not afraid of academic challenge."

LAST DAY OF SCHOOL AT RIVER RAISIN

The most of the schools in our township have closed; the one here at River Raisin, on Friday of last week, finished a very pleasant term of four months. In the evening the scholars gave an entertainment on a small scale, consisting of declamations, readings and songs, and all did much better than their teacher anticipated, but some deserve special notice.

"The Old Brown School House," by Libbie and "Tomorrow," by Lena Sites followed by "A

Assessment Rates Decline in Manchester

According to information recently received by Superintendent Gene Thompson of the Manchester Community Schools, the value of property in the school district has declined by 1.13 percent according to County Equalized Valuation. This decline represents a $31,000 decrease in revenue for the school district.

Thompson has indicated that this decrease will contribute significantly to previously anticipated budgetary problems. "Our first draft of the budget called for expenditure increases of approximately seven percent", said Thompson. "We had hoped that the value of property would remain about the same. Unfortunately, it appears that it will be virtually impossible to offer the same program to Manchester students with the 1982 millage rate. We have had a few exceptional years here in Manchester. We have been able to update our text book program, introduce computer education, begin to restore roofs, and to attract high quality personnel."

The district is in the process of redrafting the budget in order to provide a similar program for 1983-84. Board of Education members have indicated their distaste for eliminating basic programs. Thompson has indicated that in order to provide a continuation of programs in existence in the Manchester Schools additional millage will be required.

"The feedback we have received from the community is that there is a great deal of satisfaction with the quality of the program we have provided for the last few years. It will be impossible to maintain that program without additional funds. As an "out of formula" school district the citizens of the Manchester Schools literally control its destiny and are at liberty to design its program," said Thompson

"Thanksgiving Idyl," by Myrtle Poucher and "Loving Hearts," by Minnie Hess, touched an echoing chord in the hearts of all present; while who could help sympathizing with "Miss Anabel McCarty," at her "First Party," by Ettie Grinnell, or being convulsed with laughter at the "Ten Little Grasshoppers," by Fred Poucher, or "A New Version of Cassibianca," by Webster Martin.

Many others deserve notice, but time and space forbid mention. The songs "Mable Clare" and "List the Music Stealing," by the trio, Ettie, Nettie and Ida, were fine. As a close to the exercises, the following Chronicles were read, being suggested by a beautiful motto, "God Bless Our School," which was placed in the schoolroom on New Year's day, as a surprise to their teacher, by some of the scholars:

Now it came to pass during the reign of Ulysses the silent, that certain people of Michigan (whose country borders on the River Raisin,) were called Centerites. And it came to pass that they desired the youth of their land should be instructed in

Manchester Board Votes On Millage Proposals

At a special meeting of the Manchester Board of Education on Monday, May 9, action was taken regarding issues to be placed before the voters at the annual school election on June 13.

Following extensive discussion and debate carried over from the previous week's work-study session, the Board reached unanimous agreement regarding the need to continue to renovate both instructional programs and buildings.

By unanimous roll call votes the Board of Education has placed before the voters the following propositions:

I. A renewal of the current 18.78 mill levy for a three year period.

II. An additional 1.8 mills for instructional programs for a three year period.

III. An additional 1.5 mills for a five year period for the maintenance and renovation of buildings.

Noting that declining assessments had helped to propel the school district into financial difficulty every Board Member expressed the belief that the voters should be offered the option of retaining programs such as computer education, gifted and talented education, athletics and music. The budget presented to the board by Superintendent Thompson indicated a significant deficit meaning a need for

Letters to the Editor...

Dear Friends:

It was with some excitement and great pleasure that Geoffrey, Robin and I greeted old friends, members of the touring Manchester High School Varsity Choir and their conductor, Roger Morrison and his wife today. The Choir's performance at Glen Lake Community Schools was superb; the very enthusiastic response of their audience attested to that. They also conducted themselves in a way that was a credit to Manchester High and their community. You would have been proud of them.

We hope they will return again. Yours sincerely,
 Harold (Hal) Settles
 (former Manchester-ite)

Five M.H.S. Students Attend Conference

On Tuesday, May 5, five Manchester High students attended the day-long Washtenaw County Student Leadership Forum held at the North Campus Commons of the University of Michigan. Sponsored by the Washtenaw Intermediate School District and the Michigan Department of Education, it was attended by approximately 150 students from ten school districts.

Manchester's delegates were Juniors Jon Chapman and Sarah Platt, Sophomores Kelly Bristle and Beth Fahey, and Freshman Kevin Creech. Beth Fahey and Jon Chapman served on the Advisory Committee which helped plan the conference. Sarah Platt served as the leader of a student discussion group on school spirit and Kelly Bristle was the recorder for a discussion group on drug abuse.

The day was filled with meetings on topics ranging from student stress, improving public confidence in schools and finding a job in difficult times. The conference concluded with a panel discussion of questions submitted by the various student discussion groups.

Middle School Writers

An anthology of the selected writings of nineteen students from Nellie Ackerson Middle School is being printed this year. Many of these students have taken part in the weekly Writers Workshop which is part of the middle school TEEM program.

Some of the poetry in the book is the result of a day's visit by Connie Billings, a resident of the Manchester School district, who teaches at Emerson School in Ann Arbor. Mrs. Billings worked with the Writers Workshop students and the fifth grade English classes on Tuesday, March 29. She donated a day of her spring vacation to do this.

The actual typing and copying of the book was done by another middle school parent, Bonita Kothe. Mrs. Kothe's donated time and effort made this book possible. Collection and coordination of the selections was done by Nondus Buss.

Students who have writings in the book are: 8th grader Michelle Kuhl; 7th graders Kristin Vedder, Linda Pierce, and Alice Swanberg; 6th graders Erika Schaitzner, Laura Meister, Amy Major, Chase Chapman, Kristin Houck, Julie Post, and Molly McGuire; 5th graders Jamie Hall, Jamie Weid, Chad Randall, Maya Pucasc, Chris Spaulding, Karin Fasing, Kellie Wagner, and Ryan

SUBSTANCE ABUSE AWARENESS WEEK

The week of May 2 to May 6 was Substance Abuse Awareness Week at Manchester High School. During the week, the entire freshman class received an extensive program in their health and physical education classes. The topics of study included: drugs and their effects, alcohol and its effects, addiction and recovery, and decision-making as they relate to drugs and alcohol. The physical education teachers, Jane Pitt and Greg Otis were assisted by the Washtenaw County Council on Alcoholism and Dawn Farms, an adolescent treatment and recovery program.

On Tuesday, May 3, the entire school heard Dan Brown, the director of the Adolescent Treatment Program at St. Vincent's Hospital in Toledo, Mr. Brown's presentation included everyday situations which he must deal with at the treatment program. Gail Temple, a counselor at St. Vincent's shared her own problems as a recovering alcoholic. Her personal experiences as a teenager were also presented.

On Thursday, May 5, Ben Harrison, a substance abuse counselor from Ann Arbor, led a panel discussion which included various points of view from people which have either experienced alcohol and drug problems themselves or have had problems arise within their families. The central theme to the panel discussion centered on the chronic nature of alcohol and drug abuse and how organizations like Al-Anon and Al-Teen can help people deal with their problems.

Board Of Education Prepares To Send District Survey

The Manchester Board of Education will soon be mailing to all postal box holders in the school district, a copy of a questionnaire designed to gather community feelings about the school district. Developed by an ad-hoc committee of the school board chaired by JoAnn Okey with Ron Mann and Superintendent Gene Thompson, the questionnaire asks members of the Manchester community to write the school district in various areas of the curriculum in addition to selected management procedures.

The target date for distribution of the questionnaires is Friday, May 13. It is expected that community members will receive the materials early the following week. A business reply envelope will be included with each questionnaire for the convenience of the respondents.

During a discussion with Mrs. Okey regarding the questionnaire she stated, "The Board of Education is vitally interested in receiving information from the community. We really want to know how we are doing. This information will make it possible for the Board and Administration to take a look at the strengths and weaknesses of the school district at least as they are seen by members of the community. We are hopeful that most members of the community will take the 15 minutes or so to respond to the questionnaire. If anyone has any questions about the survey they should feel free to contact me, Ron Mann or Superintendent Thompson."

DIOXINS Michigan Department of Public Health

In the past few months dioxin has been the subject of numerous stories in the newspapers, on radio, and on television. As is often true, there is a lot of confusion about the effect of this chemical on health. So I'll try to tell you a little about what we know - and don't know - about dioxin.

First of all, dioxins are a by-product of the production of such chemicals as hexa-chlorophene and certain herbicides. One of them (TCDD) is extremely toxic in experimental animals. However, its health effects have been studied for a relatively short time because only in the past 25 years has it been possible to accurately measure dioxin at all.

Studies in animals indicate that dioxin is toxic at levels ranging from 0.6 parts per billion up to 3000 ppb. The studies also suggest that it has a cumulative effect. It has caused skin lesions, liver damage, general wasting, ulceration of the stomach, degeneration of the immune system, birth defects, and cancer, in the experimental animals. Unfortunately, it is very difficult to extend, or extrapolate, these results to humans. Actual studies of health effects on humans have only been possible in terms of acute effects of exposure to high concentrations, up to several hundred parts per million.

Varsity Softball

Manchester's Varsity Softball Team is off to a poor start. They opened their season on April 24, against Clinton. Manchester lost 12-2. Manchester's only runs were scored by sophomores Mickie Jo Gehring and Karla Raab.

Manchester next traveled to Dexter, where they suffered another 12-2 defeat. Manchester's only runs were scored by Leanne Goodwin and Jan Coval.

On April 26th, Blissfield came to Manchester. The Dutchmen's pitching became a real problem and enabled the Blissfield team to score 15 runs on 7 hits and 9 walks. Manchester lost 15-3.

Manchester then traveled to Hudson. After walking 19 batters and plagued with injuries, Manchester lost 24-11.

Manchester returned home on April 29 for a game against Onsted. Both teams were looking for their first victory. Manchester showed a lot of improvement in this game but suffered a 16-6 defeat.

Manchester has a very young inexperienced team this year. Each game they are showing improvements. Members of the team are: Seniors - Leanne Goodwin, Tammie Honer, Natalie Walkow and Michelle Lamb. Juniors - Jan Coval, Julie Gebhardt, Chris Weirich. Sophomores - Karla Raab, Mickie Jo Gehring, Kim Stripp and Stephanie Struble.

ASPARAGUS MAKES AN ELEGANT SOUP

It's the season for fresh asparagus. Those tender green stalks are equally enjoyable unadorned except for butter, salt and pepper or when adding their delicate flavor to the most special recipes.

minced onion, dry mustard, black pepper and capers. Capers are buds from a bush which grows wild from the Mediterranean to India. The tiny, round buds are packed in salt and vinegar. Their delightfully pungent flavor is the perfect accent to this subtly flavored asparagus soup.

After blending, heat the ingredients to serving temperature and garnish each serving with chopped hard-cooked egg, strips of pimiento or shredded lemon peel. Serve for a luncheon entree or a dinner appetizer.

Foods Class Tours Airlines Kitchen

On Wednesday, May 4, the Manchester High School Advanced Foods class toured the kitchen at Metropolitan Airport in Detroit where American Airlines prepares its meals for all flights leaving Detroit. Included in the tour was the opportunity to see how special diet requests can be met and how computers assist in the operations and reservations processes.

Students were impressed by the cleanliness of the operation, the eye appeal and the taste of the food as well as the cordial reception the class received. The class was accompanied by Mrs. Judy Miller, Home Economics teacher.

market. I assume the company is still looking for programmers?"

"We were for a while but then we subcontracted all our programming work to a software company who specializes in improving robot production for our product. We no longer have a computer department of our own except for a small section that devotes itself to collecting data on our market and then makes economic predictions on how the company should expand."

"Do not worry sir, I will retrain myself to become an economist with an emphasis on long range product planning."

"Well, sit down. Since you've gone and gotten your economics degree, the company has moved its entire operation to Korea-South Korea. Since we don't do anything here except distribution we don't use economists."

"I understand and I don't blame you for going where you can make a better product for much less cost."

"What are you going to do now to obtain a job?"

"The same thing any American boy would. I'm going to retrain myself to be a South Korean."

Moderation Called Key To Fitness

Individuals who rush to become physically fit as soon as warm weather arrives usually get discouraged and quit exercising, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Persons who have been inactive during winter, weekend-only exercisers and individuals seeking overnight fitness often attempt to do too much too quickly and soon develop sore muscles and joints or even injuries," stated Walter Zeiler, Auto Club's Life manager. "Adults starting an exercise program should work up gradually to at least 20 minutes of cardiovascular exercise three to five days per week to improve heart and lung capacity," Zeiler said.

Cardiovascular exercises such as bicycling, swimming, running and brisk walking are the best summer activities for improving the body's ability to transport and use oxygen. These aerobic exercises are rhythmic, continuous and involve the large muscles of the body, such as the legs.

"Cycling five miles in less than 20 minutes has the same conditioning value as swimming 600 yards in under 15 minutes or running one mile in less than eight minutes," Zeiler added.

The Auto Club's "Guide to Summer Fitness" lists moderate and vigorous activities for improving the cardiovascular system and burning calories.

For weight loss, the length of exercise is more important than the speed. For example, running one mile will burn nearly the same number of calories whether it is run in six minutes or 12 minutes.

Moderate-paced exercises can be continued longer and performed with less fatigue, so more distance can be covered and more calories burned.

"People should choose exercises they enjoy and make time for that activity just like they arrange time for lunch," Zeiler said.

Before beginning any exercise program, individuals over age 35 or those with medical problems should seek the guidance of a physician or other health professional.

To know how hard to exercise, determine the minimum and maximum work the heart must do to improve fitness. Although a stress test performed under a physician's care is the ideal guideline, individuals can subtract their age from 220 and multiply the resulting figure by .6 and .9 for the minimum and maximum training heart rate. For example, a 30-year-old person would multiply 190 by .6 for a 114 beats-per-minute minimum and by .9 for a 171 beats-per-minute maximum.

To determine your exercise heart rate, place two fingers at the wrist or neck within five seconds of stopping the exercise. Count the pulse beat for 10 seconds and multiply by six for the heart beat per minute.

Individuals who have been inactive should exercise at the minimum level and gradually work up to the middle of the heart rate training range.

The Auto Club advises warming up and cooling down with 10-minute stretching exercises that use large muscle groups to avoid cramping, injury, and to gradually increase the body temperature and heart rate to a level that will fit into the exercise activity without strain.

Always exercise in light, loose-fitting clothes at a level at which you can talk comfortably and stop at the first sign of pain.

Avoid dehydration and nausea by drinking plenty of fluids, especially water, before and during exercise and by not eating for several hours before the activity. Protect against heat stress with early morning or evening workouts when the sun's intensity is less and humidity is lower. Otherwise, reduce the exercise duration and rest frequently.

Chart by

Exercise is essential to achieving physical fitness and managing weight. The best way to burn calories is to exercise moving total body weight from one point to another. The above chart shows that the number of calories used is determined by the distance covered and the speed. Automobile Club of Michigan's MemberLife area recommends beginning with a moderate activity such as walking and easing into more strenuous workouts. Before starting an exercise program, individuals over age 35 or those with medical problems should consult a physician or other health professional. When food calories equal calories expended through activity, weight should remain the same.
