1877 Class History

This is a reprint of the Manchester Enterprise dated July 28, 1877

According to our promise last week, we herewith publish the History of the "Class of '77" of our Union School. To those of our readers who reside in this vicinity, and have an interest in our school, it will be found splendid reading.

By Alice Richmond

Since in the course of human events it has become necessary for us to sever the ties which have so closely bound us to this temple of learning, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal stations to which the laws of nature, and natures of God entitle us, a deep respect for the opinions of mankind, and the people of Manchester, requires that we should present to you to-night, so far as we can, the causes which have led us to this separation.

All modern history, at least of a very recent date, goes to show that the years from 1865 to 1860, inclusive, witnessed the greatest events in the annals of time. For it was during that time that ten of the brightest stars of the constellation of Manchesterites were discovered, which were destined to play an important part in the great drama of life: three in the north, one in the west, four in the south and two in the east.

One named Lydia first dwelt among the short hills of Sharon. It was there that she acquired the first rudiments of knowledge, while attending the district school. Years passed by and she became a member of this school, where she has ever since followed the life of a student.

And another, Benjamin, who also resided not far from the hills in Sharon, was early taught that the knowledge of the cultivation of fruit trees and shrubs was one of the grandest achievements in the history of our nation. But he too heard of the fame of this temple of learning, and came hither to participate in the joys and sorrows in which a true student must ever share.

And from East Manchester, near the banks of the Raisin, we find D.W. Chadwick. The earnestness and zeal which have attended his whole course of study, are a good incentive to those who may follow in his footsteps.

And Lillie who dwelt in the south, beneath the brow of the mountains crest, was early taught the lessons of truth and unceasingly followed them since; and her mind ever searching for the beauties of nature has led her to embody her thoughts in verse, and stamp them forever on paper.

Near the short hills in Sharon we find Frank, who on hearing of the success of his cousin left the district school and came here, to pursue the uncertain path of a student. Notwithstanding the road to fame is a long one, and leadeth through many a dark and dismal place, and o'er hills that

Optimist Outstanding Students

Figured above are Superintendent Gene Thompson, April Citizen of the Month Janice Coval and May Citizen of the Month Collette Rickelmann

Janice Coval was honored by the Manchester Optimist Club as the Outstanding Citizen for the month of April. A Manchester High School Junior, Janice is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Coval, 9141 Textile Road, Ann Arbor. She is currently serving as a member of the High School Student Council.

She has been a member of the basketball team two years, on the volleyball team three years, and has one year of junior varsity and two years of varsity softball participation to her credit. Her hobbies are all summer sports including swimming and softball as well as the horses she raises. Janice hopes to attend

Washtenaw Community College after graduation to prepare for a career as a medical secretary.

Collette Rickelmann, a Senior at Manchester High School, has been named the Optimist Club's Outstanding Citizen for May. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rickelmann, she is planning to attend Eastern Michigan University beginning this fall to work toward a degree in business.

Collette has been a member of the National Honor Society chapter for two years and participated in volleyball four years and softball for three years. Her hobbies include sewing, swimming and coin collecting.

Rich Strenger Visits Klager School

See the happy smiles on our faces! The 6 ft. 7 in. man you see is no other than Rich Strenger - former tackle for the University of Michigan. He signed autographs for Mrs. Blossom's and Miss Kuyda's fourth graders. Rich has signed with the Detroit Lions. So we'll be looking for #71 this fall.

We would like to thank Jim and Kay Schook for arranging the visit.

Voters Approve Millage By Three To One Margin

At the annual school election on June 13 voters in the Manchester School District approved the renewal millage of 18.78 mills by a margin of 715 yes to 232 no. School officials have indicated that this renewal millage will enable the schools to continue to operate but will necessitate a reduced level from the current year.

Proposition II which called for an additional 1.8 mills for operating purposes was turned down by 15 votes. These additional mills would have permitted the school district to continue to operate at current year levels. Superintendent of Schools Gene Thompson commented, "without this additional millage the Board will be forced to reduce budget or to request a second election. Discussions which have taken place thus far have indicated that any program which is not legally mandated could be eliminated or reduced."

A 1.5 mill request for maintenance and renovation purposes was rejected by sixty eight votes. Thompson commented, "The fact remains that the high school especially is in emergency need of repair. The rejection of this ballot question does not change the fact that heating systems and roofs are breaking down."

When asked which programs which might be reduced or eliminated Thompson stated, "Without Board discussion it is virtually impossible, to state where reductions might take place. It is certain that each Board member will have his or her list of priorities and will argue strongly for these decisions."

"Our biggest disappointment

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:
I believe the property owners of Sharon Township should know that their Township Board voted 3-2 by Roll Call Vote to attach a 3% penalty to property taxes not paid by February 14, 1984. This was during the regular meeting of the board on Thursday, June 2, 1983. Exemptions will be granted to Senior Citizens and the disabled only. I am certain we all agree that property taxes are high enough without an additional 3%, if for some reason a farmer, home owner, or business man cannot meet the February 14 deadline.

I realize it is hoped this action will lighten the very difficult task of tax collection for the treasurer the last two weeks of February. This part of it I wholeheartedly favor, but not the 3% penalty. I question how much it will actually help in the end. It will perhaps move the schedule ahead a couple of weeks but may accomplish very little otherwise except, to inconvenience the taxpayers. The funds collected from the 3% penalty will remain 100% with the Township General Fund.

Sincerely yours,
Duane R. Haselschwerdt
Sharon Township Clerk

To The Editor:

I'm ready to send my girl back to class, it's only been three days, but I also feel she is entitled to a break, when I read that classes start once again on August 29th, however, I was upset.

Two communities close by, will be holding their fairs while our children are in school.

If one has a child into horses the only place they can show them, besides the 4-H fair, is Chelsea or Saline, our fair has only the pony pull. So this means days of missing school right in the beginning. At least Chelsea and Manchester should, for the sake of these horse people, start school the same, so they can show their horses at Chelsea, seeing we at Manchester don't offer them anything.

How about a vote by us parents and students? For years everyone always knew when Labor Day came we all went back to the grind of work and school, up to Labor Day, outings, picnics, reunions and amusement parks are all going strong, but all comes to a stop on Labor Day.

I'd be the first to agree that a good education is a MUST, but starting this early is ridiculous.

So lets put it to a vote and let our kids start when the other communities in the area starts.

An Upset Parent,
Gwen Clark

New Librarian Chosen

The board of trustees for the Manchester Township Library is pleased to announce that Nancy Burbridge has been appointed as our librarian, effective June 2, 1983.

Originally from Detroit, where her father worked for the Hudson Motor Company, Nancy graduated from Albion College. Later, she received her degree in library science from the University of Portland in Oregon, where she lived many years and where her three grown daughters and grandchildren now live. After ten years working in Oregon school, county and community college libraries, Nancy returned to Michigan to marry Gordon Burbridge, a widower with four grown daughters. They live in Ann Arbor where he works for Custom Counters and where she has been a substitute librarian for the public schools.

Nancy will be spending the first weeks learning about our library from the inside out. However, she expects to spend increasing time at the front desk to meet patrons, learn about our community, and making sure that the library's services suit our particular needs. Meanwhile, the board continues to be indebted to Sharon Day, Priscilla Haselschwerdt, Rosemary Hamilton and Cecelia Chapin for their excellent staff work in the absence of a regular librarian.

Wednesday, June 22. All Seniors in the area or their guests are invited to come.

The June Card Party at Freedom Hall is Thursday, June 23, to which the public is invited. The games start promptly at 8:00, so come early enough to get started on time. Transportation from Manchester is available to those over 55. Call Ray Gonyer, 428-7613 for information and reservations. For trip information, call Helen Braun, 428-8966.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLASS MAKES BOOKCASES FOR KLAGER

High School students Ryan Ahrens, Dorin Smith and Bob Dettling made very professional looking bookcases for the Klager Elementary library. The bookcases were made under the direction of Industrial Arts teacher, Jim Diedrich.

"The new bookcases have replaced some very old ones that were the wrong size for books. They improve the appearance and utilization of the library. We really appreciate their work" remarked Principal Janice Hammond.

JUDGE BRONSON RECEIVES BLAIR MOODY AWARD

Beth Mutchler of Manchester, court clerk of the 14th district court, admires the plaque awarded to Judge Kenneth Bronson by the Washtenaw Trial Lawyers Association. The Blair Moody Judicial Achievement Award will be presented annually, and Bronson had the honor of being the first recipient.

District Judge Kenneth Bronson has been selected as the first jurist in Washtenaw County to receive the Blair Moody Award for Judicial Achievement. The new honor, bestowed by the Washtenaw Trial Lawyers Association, follows the 1982 death of Justice Blair Moody, Jr., shortly after his re-election to the Supreme Court of Michigan. Moody's eminence as a member of the legal profession is to be memorialized each year. Bronson's selection as the initial honoree was acclaimed by fellow judges attending an award banquet this month at the Hotel Sheraton in Ann Arbor.

Justice of the peace in Manchester from 1965 through 1968, as well as serving as district judge in Manchester from January, 1979 through January, 1983. He was recognized for his outstanding service by William Zsenyuk, village manager, on behalf of the Manchester village council in a letter written November 23, 1982. Zsenyuk said of Bronson, "It has truly been a great asset to our proud village to have a judge with such feelings for justice, honesty, and a fair moral philosophy, serve our community."

Boysville Summer Festival '83

Fun and Festivities await you at Boysville Summer Festival '83, the weekend of June 25 & 26 on the Boysville of Michigan Campus in Clinton. Festival hours are from 11:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. each day, and both admission and parking are free.

Over 100 arts and crafts exhibitors from all over the state of Michigan will be selling and displaying their wares at the festival. There will be live entertainment on an outdoor stage featuring many area bands and musical groups. Other talented entertainers will perform as well.

For the children there will be a variety of kiddie rides and games. The adults can partake of bingo and monte cario, and treat themselves to the festival's famous chicken bake in the Campus dining hall. Other foods and refreshments will include tacos, hot dogs, kielbasa, delicious deserts and baked goods, soft drinks and lemonade. And don't forget the popcorn, cotton candy and caramel corn for snacking. The festival will be kicked off at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday morning with the popular "Boysville Festival Run," and will conclude on Sunday with the celebration of Mass at 3:30 p.m. in the Campus gym.

Spiderman, back by popular demand from last year's Boysville festival, will parachute into the grounds at 1:00 and 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, and again at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday afternoon. Other attractions will include clowns, Sesame Street characters, antique cars and locomotives, a model train display and small airplane demonstrations. So don't forget to bring your cameras.

The purpose of the Boysville festival is to invite Boysville's friends and supporters and the community, at large, to the Boysville Campus. It is a chance for people to view, firsthand, Boysville, and to meet the students and staff while enjoying the many events the festival itself has to offer.

Brother Francis Boylan, Boysville's Director, sums it up by saying, "The Summer Festival presents a once-a-year opportunity for our friends to share with us a bit of the Boysville experience. It is my hope that people will take advantage of this opportunity and join us festival weekend."

Last year's Boysville festival attracted some 15,000 people to the Campus. Brother Francis hopes that even more will visit this year.

Girl Scouts Weekend Trip

Junior Girl Scout Troop #343 traveled to Yogi Berra Jellystone Park in Traverse City on June 3rd to take part in the 2nd annual Girl Scout Mini-Olympics and Camp Out.

Members of the troop who competed are: Molly McGuire, Jennifer Bailey, Rhonda Eviszner, Valerie Bailey, Rachael Arney and Molly McGinn. Adults who accompanied the girls were: Dianne Schwab, Leader; Karen McGuire and Theresa Baran, troop mothers. Susan McGuire, a third grade Brownie was a big help to the troop.

The Saturday morning schedule of events included something for everyone. At 8:00 a.m. all girls were sent on a gold rush in the park. Tug-of-wars followed this event with 6 girls from each troop participating.

Despite the chilly weather all girls took part in the water events in the pool. The contests included a greased watermelon competition, penny dive, deep sea blowers and collection of sharks teeth (corks).

After a break for lunch the troops took part in individual events. Pin Ball, pool shark shoot out, mini-golf, shuffleboard, horseshoe pitching, broad jump, running jump, frisbee toss for accuracy and distance and 50 and 100 yard dashes. The events were new experiences for some and enjoyed by all.

After the individual events the girls paired up and took part in sack relays, three legged relay, combo relay and a park relay.

Leaders took part in a greased watermelon contest and a tug of war to help earn points for the troop.

Since the Manchester troop was small the Scouts invited 2 girls from St. Johns to help out in some of the relays. This was a neat way to make some new friends.

Saturday night all troops met to find out the winners of the day. Jennifer Bailey received a second place certificate for the penny dive. She collected 14 pennies from the bottom of the pool.

Valerie Baran was second in the pool shark event and Rhonda Eviszner received a second place certificate for the running jump. All girls worked very hard and had lots of fun. The trip was financed by the Girl Scout Cookie Sale in Manchester.

Pork Production From Barn To Banquet

Why does food cost so much? How much of my food dollar does the producer get? What can I do to get the most for my money?

You can get first hand answers to these and other questions about our food production and marketing system at Cooperative Extension's first "Farm to Table" event Thursday, June 23. This year's program which follows pork production from barn to banquet is co-sponsored with Washtenaw County Pork Producers.

Schedule for the day which begins at 9:00 a.m. and concludes at 3:00 p.m. includes a tour of a Washtenaw County pig farm, a visit at the Manchester Lifestock Exchange, a barbecued ham luncheon, and a pork carcass cutting demonstration. You will also learn about the nutritional contribution of pork and how to prepare pork in a variety of ways.

Cost for the entire day including lunch is $5.00. Call the Cooperative Extension Service at 973-9510 for more information, or to register. Registration is limited to 35 and will be honored in the order received.

Manchester Area Historical Society

The 3rd Annual picnic meeting of the Manchester Area Historical Society will be held beginning at 6:00 o'clock p.m., on Monday, June 20, 1983, at Sharon Mills, 5701 Sharon Hollow Road. Members and guests are being asked to bring chairs for their own comfort. Food and drink will be provided.

For those who have not had the opportunity to visit Sharon Mills in the past, it is possibly the quaintest of the old mills restored by Henry Ford I, in the 1930's. Many may recall how Henry Ford pushed the idea that a farmer could work in these small water powered factories in the Winter, plant and tend his crop in the Spring and Summer, harvest in the Fall, and return to the small factory in the Winter again. It was a good idea, but it didn't quite work for many reasons.

World War II came, people became more mobile, roads were improved, in many cases for military purposes. Society became more dispersed than ever before, and the demand for automobiles was soaring. The automobile manufacturing business became national in scope. The Ford Motor Company under the leadership of Henry Ford II, made plans for expansion and assembly plants were built where the market was located, and this meant doom for the cottage industry concept of Henry Ford I.

Lillian Martin, a member of the Manchester Area Historical Society acquired the property in 1968. It had been sold by the Ford Motor Co. to one other owner before Lillian Martin. The prior owner, in attempting to make a larger living room area, cut the main supporting pillar of the building and the mill almost collapsed. Lillian Martin, with the help of engineers, solved the problem of the "leaning" mill.

Come to the picnic-meeting of the Manchester Area Historical Society on Monday, June 20, at 6:00 p.m., and see how the problem was solved.

"I AM THE FAMILY FARM"

(Author Unknown)

I am the family farm. Deep, deep within me are the sweat and blood of that first young colonial who worked so hard to clear me of trees and brush. Seed planted in me by his hand, weeds pulled by his hand, harvests gathered by his hand: I remember it all.

Last night his great-great grandson walked over me and talked to me about his worries. His words soaked quickly into my heart. My bountiful harvest brings him less than he needs from the marketplace. The deep lines of worry on his face these days are real; he feels that his heritage for the future is truly threatened.

If his heritage is threatened, then I am threatened, too.

I watched him learn to drive a tractor when he was so small he had to stand to reach the pedals. Last year, I saw his son stand to reach the pedals. I remember, too, his grandfather trying to control a team of hardheaded mules.

I felt the pride of their accomplishments.

But now I sense his despair, his sadness and his fear for the future.

If he goes, will his place be taken by one who loves the land as he does? Or will I be ravaged by one who seeks only cash at the expense of my soil health? Will those in the halls of law care about me?

Where will it all end? Here is the cry from deep

Rev. Pauline S. Hart Elected To Deacon's Orders

The Rev. Pauline S. Hart was elected to Deacon's Orders, and received as a Probationary member of the Detroit Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church on Tuesday, June 7, as the 142nd consecutive annual session began in Dawson Auditorium on the campus of Adrian College, Adrian, Michigan.

On Saturday, June 11, she was ordained a Deacon in the United Methodist Church by Bishop Edsel A. Ammons, Resident Bishop of the Michigan Area of the United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Hart was graduated from Brandon High School in Ortonville.

She received degrees from Flint Junior College and the University of Michigan-Flint, and is enrolled in United Theological Seminary in Dayton, Ohio.

Rev. Hart is married to Rev. Thomas E. Hart, son of Howard and Catherine Hart of Davison, Michigan, who serves the Manchester United Methodist Church. They are the parents of one son, Andy, who is 11.

Rev. Pauline Hart taught school in Flint, 1963-1966; also in Fairfax County, Virginia, and Montgomery City, Maryland. She has served as Student Associate at Saine United Methodist Church and as a volunteer at Kresge Home at Chelsea Hospital.

was the low voter turnout", said Thompson. We believe that the passage of the renewal by a 3 to 1 margin indicates confidence in our programs. I do not believe that anyone voted against the schools. Members of the community simply must understand that we are a self supporting school district which is operating without frills. We are very proud of the programs which have been developed such as computer education and our co-curricular activities.

A total of 947 people voted and there were no spoiled ballots.

Two people were elected to the school board for full four year terms. Paul DuFresne received 496 votes and JoAnne Ohey received 557.

Schools of various kinds are much in the news this month. It is graduation day and the end of the school year for most of them and there is a great deal of news about their activities.

Another news item about the schools was the report that the state of Florida had put into effect a recently passed "literacy" test which compels the students to pass before receiving diplomas. If they do not pass this test they are given "certificates of attendance" rather than diplomas. However they will be given another chance to take the test at a later date if they wish. Some 1900 students failed this test this year.

At this same time President Reagan suggested that teachers should be selected on the basis of competency rather than length of service and this caused a storm of protest among educational organizations.

Ohio State Superintendent of Education Franklin Walker in a recent speech said that "high school graduation requirements should be strengthened" and he also recommended that we have "entrance examinations for teachers" and that school days be lengthened.

Most Michigan schools have given certificates of attendance for quite a number of years to those who could not or did not attain a satisfactory scholarship record. This was, in most cases, done quietly in order to eliminate the embarrassment on the part of the recipient.

In his recent remarks Dr. Walter applauded the recommendations of the National Committee on Education. Among other things that the Commission recommended was that high school graduation requirements be strengthened, that teacher preparation be improved and that more time be applied to learning.

Dr. Walter says prospective teachers in Ohio should take examinations comparable to those required to enter law or medicine to insure that they have basic skills in the subjects that they plan to teach as well as in teaching methods. He also suggested that school districts should establish "career" ladders that will allow good teachers to advance while remaining in the teaching profession.

He also urged school districts to consider appointing outstanding teachers as "academic coaches" who would be paid for their extra work the same as athletic coaches now are.

He also said he had recommended the expanding of the school day and the school year before the State Finance Commission. "Attention" he said "should also be given for better utilizing the time available for instruction and should consider reducing study halls and non-instructional classroom duties that are now performed by teachers."

He also said that state's minimum standards, adopted by the advisory committee include many of the changes recommended by the national commission.

Michigan figures are not available at this time but are not expected to vary greatly from Ohio's. Michigan's smaller high schools have, many of them, a better record for achievement than those of many other states and with the rapidly approaching "computer age" many changes in our high schools and colleges are surely going to be necessary for our students to keep pace with our technology.

It's going to be interesting to see what the coming months will bring forth.

BUTTON BATTERIES

Michigan Department of Public Health

Chances are good that you have in your home at least a few miniature batteries - the kind that look like small, metal buttons. They're used in such things as watches, cameras, hearing aids, and games. Now, we've been told by the U.S. Product Safety Commission that an estimated 500 to 800 of these tiny batteries are swallowed in this country each year.

I want to assure you that almost all of these button batteries, when accidentally swallowed, will pass through a person without any difficulty. The problem is that sometimes the battery can become lodged in the esophagus or intestine. When this happens the battery slowly leaks alkaline electrolytes and causes an internal chemical burn. Severe complications, even death, can result.

Battery ingestions can be prevented by following these simple rules:
 1) Keep button batteries out of your child's reach. Discard them

- carefully.
- Do not allow children to play with button batteries.
- Never put button batteries in your mouth for any reason...they are slippery and easily swallowed accidentally.
- Always check medications before swallowing them. Adults have swallowed batteries mistaken for tablets.
- Caution hearing aid users to keep hearing aids and batteries out of the reach of children.

Many of the major United States battery manufacturers voluntarily placed warnings on the battery packages, which are routinely sold in blister packing which forms an excellent child resistant closure. The success of this packaging is supported by the National Capital Poison Center study which shows that fewer than 2% of batteries ingested were obtained from the manufacturers original packaging.

If a button battery is swallowed, contact your poison control center, your physician, or the National Button Battery Ingestion hot line at 202-625-3333. As I said before, the vast majority ingested will pass through the intestine without any difficulty. In the absence of symptoms, an X-ray and laxative are usually all that is required. If symptoms are present or the battery is lodged in the esophagus, complications are more likely and immediate removal is usually indicated.

New Pastor At Sharon United Methodist Church

Announcement has been made by Bishop Edsel Ammons of the Appointment of the Rev. Evans Bentley to the Sharon United Methodist Church effective June 15th.

Rev. Bentley is a native of Bridgeport, Michigan, and a graduate of Michigan State University and Candler School of Theology at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia. For the past three years Rev. Bentley has served the Birmingham First United Methodist Church as an Associate in Educational Ministries. He was ordained an Elder at the 1982 Annual Conference.

His wife, Betsy, is from Annandale, Virginia, and Atlanta, Georgia. She is a graduate of Atlantic Christian College in Wilson, North Carolina, where she received her B.S. Degree in Nursing. She was most recently employed as a Mental Health Nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital in Pontiac. The Bentleys were married May 10, 1980, and have no children.

THREE GENERATIONS "SERVE" AT CHICKEN BROIL

Willard Mann is another of the Manchester citizens who could wear a "30 year pin", if it were issued at the 1983 Annual Chicken Broil. He was one of the original founders of the Manchester Chicken Broil in 1953. His son Ron, started to help in the serving line at age 10, and now Ron's sons, Jeff, age 13, and Tom, age 12, have been helping out their father and grandfather in the serving line for the past 5 or 6 years.

The "serving line", where three generations of the Mann family work, is one of the few assignments where the broil workers are able to meet all the guests. It was necessary to borrow tables from the local churches, and also "round up" all the available picnic tables that could be found in town. However Ron can recall many interesting stories over the years, and can remember driving back and forth to Lansing to pick up and return the grills that were designed and made here in Manchester by Earl Kosbbe.

When the John F. Schneider Blacksmith Shop is dedicated on July 21, 1983, the same day as the Chicken Broil, a State of Michigan Historic Marker will be unveiled. The marker will recount the history of the building and will be placed on the Northeast corner of the building as a permanent identification of the site.

grow, this sort of borrowing was no longer necessary.

In the picture, which was taken during the 1976 broil, Willard Mann, his son Ron, and grandson Jeff, are working together in the serving line—three generations of the same family carrying on the tradition. That's Ron behind the board.

When the John F. Schneider Blacksmith Shop is dedicated on July 21, 1983, the same day as the Chicken Broil, a State of Michigan Historic Marker will be unveiled. The marker will recount the history of the building and will be placed on the Northeast corner of the building as a permanent identification of the site.

are called Ann Arbor--yet, nothing daunted, we ever find him pursuing his course encouraged by the kind words and smiles of his schoolmates, until the plains are reached at last and all his efforts crowned with success.

And in the south two sisters dwelt, who by the names of Cynthia and Fannie went, the one a brunette and the other a blonde, and both for practical knowledge and virtue renowned.

At his farm home west of town, Mr. A.F. Freeman first realized that life is real, life is earnest; and, soon after, he began his first experience in the devious path of school life at the district school. But soon he too was counted among the pupils of the Union School, where he commenced in earnest the pursuit of knowledge.

Following in the footsteps of his brother and sister, we first find

George Field attending school at the old brick school house on the flat. Having exhausted the supply of knowledge in that institution, we next find him storing his mind with rolls of ancient lore, at the University in the beautiful village of Souleville. But on the erection of our Union School building, he was appointed one of the chairmen in one of the lower rooms. But his motto was "ever onward and upward," and at the close of each second year he was promoted to a higher position. He has held these responsible positions for ten years, and the past year his efforts have been crowned with success.

The earth is moving through space with the almost incredible velocity of 18 miles a second, and do not the mental faculties of the human mind, as compared with the great mass of the earth, progress equally as fast?

Time wears slippers of list and his tread is noiseless, and ere we are aware the days of our childhood have lengthened into years, and there is sadness even in these thoughts. But by these changes the simple thoughts and aspirations of our youthful minds have been strengthened, cultivated and directed, so that we may be better prepared for the duties that await us as we advance in years.

Passing over a few years, we next find our constellation of ten stars clustered around the Union School of Manchester, ever ready to defend the motto "That knowledge is power and understanding is wealth." But in order to become a member of this temple of knowledge, we of course had to be subjected to a severe examination, which was to test our ability as to becoming a member, or returning to our country school houses and pastures green.

Perhaps it would be interesting to some present to be informed of what said examination consisted, and to those I would say that the professor (whose name I will suppress) propounded to us the following questions: How far have you been in Arithmetic, Grammar and Sanders' Spelling Book? The progress made in said books determined the room which we were to occupy.

And here I will say it was an examination slightly different from the one we have recently experienced. Of the large number who sought for admittance, I do not know of one that was turned away in dismay.

We entered upon our Freshman year with an eagerness and zest that astonished both teacher and pupil. Nothing of much importance occurred during the year to mar our pleasure, except the appointment of guards that were stationed in the halls to report communications. But to our personal comfort, if not to our credit, the guards nearly always looked in the wrong direction, and the result was that very few were reported.

We passed the fiery ordeal of our examinations at the close of the term, and took our places in the High Room. For two years we nearly shaped our own course, studied what we wished, and for as long or short a time as we chose. But happily for us there was a change in the administration of affairs, which produced a like change in our future career, and from that time, to the present, our course has been one of diligent labor, which we trust is not without its reward. To be sure it has not been all work and no play.

And I presume the teachers distinctly remember, one morning last winter, of finding things about the school-rooms sadly displaced. While they were practicing for the exhibition, the young gentlemen of the class, with the exception of one, determined to have a little sport. So one pleasant evening, while the singers were practicing in the chapel, the young gentlemen were seen wandering down the street toward Mrs. Bailey's but, mind you, they didn't rap, for their object to her place of abode was to procure her old white cat. Having secured puss they returned to the school house, and waited in the basement until after the singers had departed. Now, taking the cat which they had almost smothered in their efforts to keep from joining in the anthem, they went upstairs, and placed her in Mr. Field's desk. They next turned their attention to the clocks and lamps; knowing that the clock in the high room did not keep good time, they thought they would try one from below.

The placed a stick of wood under the treads of the organ, but of course could not imagine the next morning what ailed the music. They next turned their attention to the books; but, mind you, not for study--as the examination the next morning showed, when the young ladies began to study Greek and Latin, and the young gentlemen--well, perhaps, the latest fashions. Their work of devastation over, thoughts of home their memories filled, with one last lingering look at the puss in the desk of Mr. Field. And in the morning as Mr. Allen came the house to warm and clean, what was his consternation, on finding there the "biggest cat that human eye had ever seen;" and to all his anxious inquiries as to who his work did plan, he never has, until to-night, found out a single man. Not only this, but more these boys have tried to do; you have heard of their pumping at Ann Arbor, well they have tried that too. Mr. Allen was their victim, but for them he was too slow-witted, and quickly to the bellows ascended and as quickly the ladder withdrew.

But not withstanding all this, and the hard work that we have done, we as a class can still boast of a net weight of 1240 pounds, which averages 124. The heaviest one of the class weighs 181 1/2 pounds, the lightest one 106. Our combined height is 84 feet and 6 inches; average height 5 feet and 10-17, groups of brothers and sisters, emotionally impaired children, pregnant teens, sexually abused children, and black children of all ages.

Foster parents work with the Department as members of a team. They need to be able to provide love, security, and patient understanding for children who are suffering the traumatic effects of being separated from their families. Foster parents arrange for the child's medical and dental care, work with schools, and plan recreational activities. They also provide transportation for visits with biological families and, when appropriate, work directly with the child's family in the interest of reuniting the child with his or her family.

Three orientation classes are offered to help prepare families for the foster care experience. The next series starts on June 29, 1983, from 2:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. at the Department of Social Services, 2850 W. Stadium, in Ann Arbor. If you would like to attend or know more about our program, please call Pat Ruby at 994-1694.

A Need For Foster Homes

Reported cases of child abuse and neglect have increased dramatically in Washtenaw County over the past two years. This has resulted in a corresponding increase in the number of children who must be placed in out-of-home care. The Department of Social Services is in need of more family foster homes to provide care for these children and to work with the agency regarding their return home.

Children who come into care are all ages and come from all racial and ethnic groups. We especially need families who are willing to care for children ages

1877 Class History

4 2-5 inches. The longitude of the tallest one of the class (Mr. Conklin) is 5 feet and 10 3/4 inches, while the diminutive stands before you, being only 5 feet and 1/2 inch. Notwithstanding our extreme old age which has reached the numbers of 188 years, 9 months and 17 days, we are still active and competent to do a little more study.

Our professions as near as we can tell at present, range as follows: For teaching, five; four are undecided, and one is going to see what health and prosperity may result from his practice. During the past year we have edited two periodicals. "The Wolverine" and "Centennial Gazette," which were full of news and items of interest, from all parts of the surrounding country.

The winners this year were: Bob Bunney, Alan Kuhl, David Pierce, Tim Schuler, Van Talcott and Joel Norgard. Congratulations to all of you!

Senators, Governors and Governesses, but their experiences has shown us that we need not think of going forth upon the world, with the expectations of ruling a nation, nor overthrowing a kingdom. The Faculty We have witnessed the inauguration of six principals who, with but few exceptions, have given general satisfaction, and have, by their untiring zeal and devotion to their duties as instructors, won the esteem of pupils and parents.

Long, long be our hearts with such memories filled. Like a vase in which roses have once been distilled, You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will, But the scent of the roses will hang 'round it still.

Safety Precautions While Using Fireworks

The Michigan State Police, in an effort to help clear up the annual confusion over what is and what is not legal so far as fireworks are concerned, offer some precautions, suggestions, and definitions that may help July 4th weekend celebrants have a safe and legal holiday observance. Not all "D.O.T. Class C" labeled fireworks are legal in Michigan for use by the consumer. The only fireworks devices which may be sold at the retail level and used by the general consuming public are restricted to the following: Toy paper, caps, wire sparklers (size #14 or less), fitter sparklers, toy snakes, toy smoke devices, toy trick noise makers, cone fountains, and cylinder fountains. Fireworks devices, other than those noted, are illegal for sale and use unless proper permits are obtained from the local governing body. Fireworks devices which send a projectile into the air, spin, twirl, or emit an audible signal (excluding toy paper caps and toy trick noise makers) are illegal. Local jurisdictions should be contacted to determine if there are ordinances which are more restrictive. It is suggested that when using fireworks, the following safety precautions be followed: Make sure that the fireworks devices are legal for use by local ordinances and state law.

Check for a manufacturer's label on all fireworks devices and instructions for proper use. Illegally manufactured fireworks rarely have either. Carefully follow the instructions for use. Provide adult supervision for children and do not allow very young children to handle fireworks. Light only one device at a time. Ignite fireworks only outdoors and away from buildings and combustible materials.

Do not attempt to alter the device or use in a manner not intended. In Michigan during 1982 there were 219 reported fires caused by fireworks which resulted in property loss of approximately $142,461. According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, during 1982 there were 8,500 fireworks related injuries treated at hospital emergency rooms throughout the nation.
