Judge Refuses Petition Looking To Change From Present Consolidated Plan

Napoleon's consolidated school district is upheld by Judge Benjamin Williams in an opinion given Thursday in the Jackson county circuit court. The judge denied the petition of Frank A. Giles, Parker R. DeLand and John T. Weeks for a writ of mandamus ordering the board of education of the rural school districts of Napoleon village, Napoleon and Columbia townships to submit to the electors the proposal of turning the present consolidated district back to the former status. The opinion cites the act under which three or more rural schools may be consolidated into one grades school, where the school year will be longer, agriculture will be taught and where the building and equipment will be much more complete and used as a community center.

"It is evident," says Judge Williams, "the legislature contemplated a distinct raising of country school standards. This is a commendable purpose. The little red school house of song and story is a relic of the early days of pioneers and their attendant stern necessities. It served its purpose well for those times, but is there any good reason why a child born and raised in the country should not have equally as good free educational opportunities as the city child?"

"The prevalent system of scattered units of primary schools, each frequently attempting to teach, with only one teacher, nine different grades without modern buildings, sanitation, equipment or facilities for the best work, be the teacher ever so competent and conscientious, is far from as efficient and adequate for modern educational methods. It may be assumed fairly that the legislature knew and appreciated this and by this it hoped to make possible for the country pupils the same type of schooling that previously only the more fortunate city pupils had enjoyed."

The opinion says that time is required to form such a school and holds the legislature did not contemplate the termination of such newly formed school district in a year and before a proper trial. For such a consolidation, the act calls for a pro rata distribution of property, funds and equipment and authorizes the issuance of bonds. The opinion holds that the outstanding Napoleon school bond issue of $27,000, the dismantling of former buildings and the

Board Of Education Borrows $1,100,000

In action taken at the regular Board of Education meeting on August 15, 1983, the Manchester Community Schools will borrow $1,100,000 from the Monroe Bank and Trust.

Such borrowing is action carried out annually in order to maintain even cash flow through the school district until tax revenues are received during the winter. The borrowing this year will cost the school district approximately $43,000. Six bids were received from various financial institutions for the school district notes. Monroe Bank and Trust submitted the low bid of 6.67 percent.

Superintendent of Schools Gene Thompson commented, "We were pleased to receive six bids for our notes this year. Three or four years ago we were receiving two or three bids. This is a general indication of the financial credibility of the school district as well as improving economy."

School Bus Routes Remain The Same

Mr. Rusty LeFurge, director of transportation/maintenance for the Manchester Community Schools has announced that school bus routes and pickup times are unchanged from the previous year.

Kindergarten parents will be contacted directly by Klager principal Janice Hammond by the end of the current week regarding pickup times and locations.

The entire Manchester School bus fleet has been completely overhauled during the summer. Final touches of paint are now being applied in anticipation of the first day of school on August 29.

HIT OR MISS

by farley

A columnist, Bob Swift, recently drove south on a vacation trip and when he returned home he reported on his trip as follows, and his observations were similar to mine and, I am sure, to many of yours. Perhaps we're a bit bitter but we sympathize with him. Many of our more enjoyable trips have been made on those little blue lines on a road map-hooray for Shunpiking. Bob says:

"We barreled along the interstate fudging on the speed limit only now and then.

"Other cars passed nose to tailpipe charging furiously to their destination and semitrucks growled and whuffed impatiently at my bumper until they could pass in a hurricane of disturbed air.

"Ahead as far as the eye could see was more of the interstate. On either side were barbed parkways or groups of carefully planted trees.

"We were really eating up the miles.

"These interstates have really changed the way that people move. I remember when I was a kid we had to drive through every tank town in the land.

"We'd get gas at a two-pump station where they said 'how y'll today?' and wipe your windshield and check your tires and ask you where you were from and told you to look out for the detour.

"Signs reared up ahead on the interstate like the necks of dinosaurs. Stop and Gas, Burger King, McDonald's, Econo-Lodge and a smaller sign which said- This exit fuel, food, motels.

"Wheeling off the interstate I filled my own tank at a computerized pump. It flashed digital numbers at me. At the fast food place we ate identical shakes in an identical booth.

"Back on the freeway the miles and the minuses flew.

"Boring isn't it, Evalsee said.

"But fast, I said.

"If we turn off at the next exit she said studying the map, "we can stop in the next town and get out and walk around, it's supposed to be quite scenic.

"That'll slow us down", I said.

"It slowed us down, but not by much. We had a marvelous time and that set the pattern for the rest of the trip.

"We got off the interstate at odd times and took the back roads. We circled courthouse squares and stopped at cafes which promise such things as fried oysters, soup, salad, biscuits, potatoes, two vegetables, and homemade pie for $4.49 and the waitress said 'Now y'all come

Discussions Continue On Potential Reductions

The Board of Education at its regular meeting on August 15, 1983 reviewed once again the status of the finance committee work regarding potential program reductions.

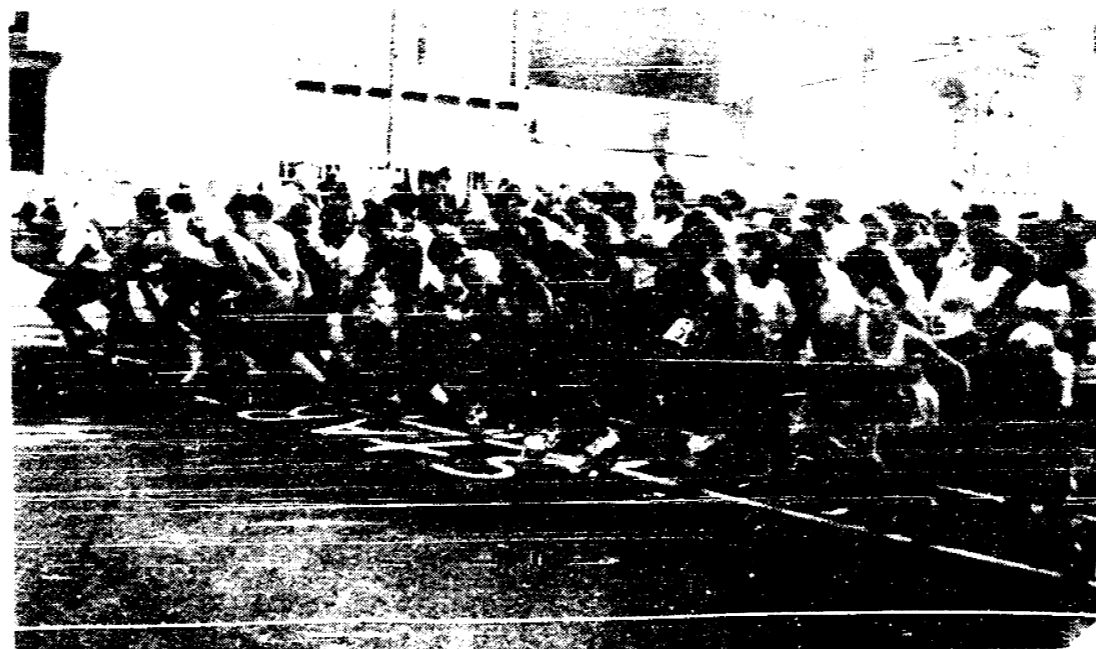

At the present time no decisions have been made regarding reductions in the event that sufficient revenues are not available. The Board of Education has scheduled a full review for the September regular meeting.

Superintendent of Schools Gene Thompson has delivered to the Board a list of possible program reductions for discussion. This list includes the following: Text books, athletics, computer literacy, gifted and talented, transportation, special education, elementary classroom, supplies and equipment, maintenance and custodial personnel, and reserve cash equity.

Voters in the Manchester School District will be offered an opportunity on August 31 to cast ballots on the question of whether or not the school district should continue to offer its current program. In the event that additional revenues are not forthcoming it will be necessary for the Board to reach consensus on a combination of budget modifications in order to maintain a balanced budget.

While the Board has directed the Superintendent to begin the school year with current program in place it has also taken the solid position that no program is guaranteed for the full school year. Consistant statements from the Board have indicated that all programs not legally required are eligible for review and modification.

And They're Off...

One Thousand Persons Declare "I'm For Kids"

At the present time one thousand Manchester residents own and are wearing buttons which declare "I'm For Kids". The buttons which have been distributed by the Manchester Community Schools are part of an ongoing community relations program designed to focus attention on the needs of the school system.

Most of the buttons were distributed at the recent Manchester Community Fair. At the Fair the Board of Education maintained a booth designed to provide information and to give community members a chance to interact with Board Administration, Pace volunteers and teachers. Buttons were distributed to interested persons at that time.

The Board of Education had ordered one thousand buttons believing that quantity would be sufficient. However, the demand far exceeded the supply. It became necessary to tell numerous persons requesting buttons that they were no longer available.

Laws For Moped Operators

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin expressed concern over apparent confusion of some moped operators who are operating on public highways without a license. According to Austin, all moped operators on public highways must have a driver license or a special moped license, be at least 15 years of age and register their moped with the Department of State.

Moped operators under 19 years of age must wear helmets. Austin said that a new law defines a moped as any two or three-wheeled vehicle that does not exceed 30 miles an hour, has no more than two brake horsepower and no transmission. Under the Michigan Vehicle Code, mopeds are prohibited from operating on freeways, must share a traffic lane with other vehicles and are prohibited from operating on sidewalks.

Austin encouraged all moped dealers to inform buyers of the requirements and furnish them with a copy of "What Every Motorcycle and Moped Operator Must Know", published by the Department of State.

PaulaRed Apples

PaulaRed apples arrive at the marketplace in August. The season extends through the middle of September. Although Michigan apple growers report a somewhat smaller crop of PaulaReds as compared to last year, the supply will be adequate to meet consumer demands. Over the last ten years, growers have increased the total number of PaulaRed trees planted. Consumer acceptance of this fairly new variety of apple has been excellent and thus fruit growers have continued to plant PaulaRed trees. As the PaulaRed tree grows, the bearing space increases yearly.

The PaulaRed apple was discovered in an apple orchard near Sparta, Michigan. Today, Michigan ranks first in the production of PaulaReds. This apple has all the fine characteristics as many other favorite apple varieties grown in Michigan. PaulaRed apples are filled with crispness and crunch and lean toward the tart flavor. They are hand picked and cooled in storages as quickly as possible to assure the consumer the best possible quality. Consumers not familiar with this variety will find the name clearly printed on the apple bag.

Paying off the mortgage is a joyous occasion that is often dampened by moving to a nursing home.

Many hands make light work

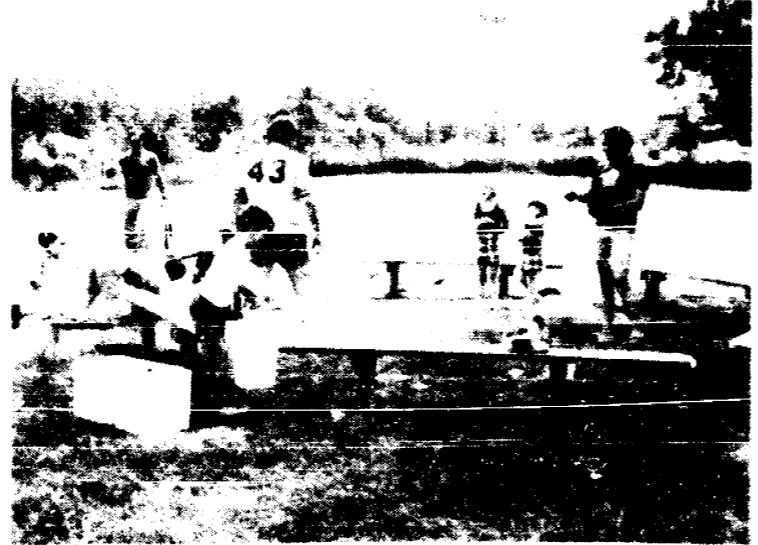

Brian Grothe and John Bihlmeyer begin the digging

Sunday, August 14, a number of Klager Elementary parents and their children spent the afternoon making the school playgrounds nicer places.

The Middle School playground is now brightly painted and awaiting the new kindergartners who are in Mrs. Hankamp's class. A new sandbox was built at each school and an outdoor classroom awaits Klager students.

The volunteers were: Doug Nosbisch, Diane Pietrowski, John and Nancy Bihlmeyer (who organized the event), Brian Grothe, Bonnie Mitchell, Gene Thompson, Don DuRussel Jr., JoAnn Okey, Steve and Jeanne Chapman, Janice Hammond and all of their children. Gerry Mann donated his pole digger.

Thanks to all the builders and painters.

Clouds hung to mountain tops as we read historical markers beside stately mansions of brick and wrought iron. We saw stilt houses perched with the gulls on Carolina beaches.

"There were a few messy moments between pilot and navigator.

"This isn't state route 211. You missed the turnoff. I missed it. You've got the map. Well turn here then. Here, not there. No matter, it was worth it. Hey, the real America is out there, just as it used to be. It's there among the moss-hung oaks, a bit past Mary's Main Street Cafe, near the hill with the split rail fence, beside the arbor abloom with honeysuckle...just beyond the interstate."

The way to see America is just not from the toll roads nor the freeways nor the interstates. If you're trying to get from here to there, that's just fine but if you want to see any part of America you must go shunpiking, which is becoming an increasingly popular sport. It's surprising what one can discover on the by-ways.

And you don't have to go south or east or west very far to get to know America's heartland. Right here in Michigan if you will look, there are many narrow blue lines on the road map which will lead you to a great many nostalgic areas.

Again, hooray for shunpiking.

Immunization Protection

The first day of school is close at hand. It is time to update student immunizations for protection against seven childhood diseases: measles, mumps, rubella, polio, diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus.

According to Michigan law, new students, including transfer students in grades 1-12 as well as kindergartners, must present records with dates of all necessary vaccinations. In addition, all children attending child care centers and preschools must submit immunization records.

Special attention should be given to students entering grades 5-12. Students in this age group (10-18) may need a measles, mumps and/or rubella shot to qualify for school entrance and to assure their protection against these diseases.

Recent outbreaks of measles in neighboring states affected college students; therefore, many teens and young adults remain susceptible. Serious complications can result from both measles and mumps.

Rubella immunity, although important for both young men and young women, is crucial for young women approaching childbearing years, as the disease, if contracted by a pregnant woman, may damage the unborn baby.

All required immunizations may be obtained from your private physician, clinic of your choice or through the Washtenaw County Health Department clinics.

In late August and early September the Health Department will hold a number of special clinics at various sites around the county. A number of these are in cooperation with Catherine McAuley Health Center, as the clinic will travel to several sites on Catherine McAuley's Health Promotion Van. These special clinics are open to all infants - 18 year olds and TB testing is available for adults and children except on Thursdays.

Clinics will be held at: Chelsea - Beach Middle School, Mayer Drive - Thursday, Sept. 8th - 9:00 - 11:30 a.m.

Manchester - Klager School, 406 Ann Arbor St., Manchester - Thursday, Sept. 8th - 1:30 - 4:00 p.m.
REGULAR CLINICS
Ann Arbor, County Service Center, 4101 Washtenaw - Wednesday, Sept. 7 - 1:30-4:30 p.m. West Stadium Annex, 2355 W. Stadium - Wednesday, Sept. 21 - 1:30-4:30 p.m.
Ypsilanti, Eastern Subcenter, 555 Towner - Wednesday, Sept. 14 - 1:30-4:30 p.m.

There is no charge for services and no appointment is necessary. Parents should bring immunization records if they have them and be sure to save them for school entrance.

For more information please call the Washtenaw County Health Department, Health Education Office, 978-1488.

School District Fair Booths Receive Prizes

The exhibit booths maintained at the Manchester Community Fair by the Board of Education and the Community Education Program were awarded exhibitor display prizes.

The community education program designed and prepared by Ms. Anne Eckert won first prize for the organizational display category. The Board of Education Booth earned a second place finish for its efforts.

Ms. Eckert who is now supervising the Manchester Community Education Program under a cooperative agreement with the Chelsea Schools was present each night of the fair and discussed with many persons the opportunities available in Community Education including the classes being offered for high school completion. Persons interested in this program should contact Ms. Eckert at 475-9630 in Chelsea or 428-7904 in Manchester.

The Board of Education Booth was staffed by members of the Board, administration, community, and teaching staff.

for the buses will be in approximately 4-5 months. At that time they will be fully equipped with radios, radial tires, disc brakes, and all safety equipment.

The total cost of each vehicle will be $26,183 which will be financed over a period of seven years. This purchase maintains the superintendent's policy of purchasing two new buses annually in order to replace one-seventh of the fleet each year.

"Our bus fleet is in excellent condition," said superintendent Thompson. "The reason for this is the outstanding maintenance program, the care exhibited by our drivers and the fact that for the past several years we have made certain that adequate funds were invested in new vehicles. After our buses have been on the road for a period of seven-nine years they are pretty well worn out due to the quality of the roads over which they must travel in addition to the long distances. I feel that it is extremely important that the school district maintain the quality and safety of the transportation fleet."

that our schools have done so well considering that in 1978 we received over $509,000 in state aid, and the last 3 years it has averaged less than $64,000. Also, income to our schools will be less than last year due to the decrease in total property values in the district.

Don't think the much publicized State Aid Act of 1983 will help, for we are no longer "in-formula." We have not received state aid based on pupil count for several years.

It's certainly tempting to vote against taxes when we have the chance, because most are foisted on us against our will. Please remember though, that the school millage portion of your property tax does not go to Ann Arbor, Lansing or Washington. It stays at home to benefit our children and grandchildren, and they are our future.

Dear Voters:

As President of P.A.C.E. (Positive Action For Community Education), I want to thank everyone for their support and encouragement for our upcoming "Millage Election" on Wednesday, August 31st. We are reassured by the positive responses we've had and look forward to seeing all of you at the polls on WEDNESDAY of NEXT week.

It is totally unrealistic to think that $165,000 could be cut out of the school budget without hurting kids.

It's nothing short of amazing

Board Of Education Accepts Bids For School Buses

At its regular meeting on August 15, 1983 the Manchester Board of Education accepted bids from the McFadden Corporation and Power City International for two school bus bodies and chassis respectively.

The bodies to be provided by the McFadden Corporation are designed and manufactured by the Wayne Company. The cost for these two bodies will be $20,638.

Power City International of Jackson was awarded the bid for two chassis at a cost of $36,628. It is anticipated that delivery belief. Manchester schools provide for and foster academic excellence where students and their families desire. They are currently well directed by the elected school board and the administration. Manchester teachers are, for the most part, dedicated to their profession, eager to teach students who want to learn, not overpaid, and deserve community support.

teacher yet, I sure hope I get her this year!

So you see, the point is this: Without your "Yes" vote, me and a lot of other kids might not get the opportunity to experience these classes and other worthwhile ones. So, PLEASE vote "Yes", and make Manchester a fun and educational place to be. Thank you.

Sincerely,
 Michelle M. Cartier

Dear Editor,

As members of the Manchester Board of Education, we have unanimously endorsed the millage resolutions to be voted upon on Wednesday, August 31, 1983.

We urge the community to support the Manchester Community Schools so the educational opportunities presently offered Manchester students can be continued.

Community education relies on community support. Your vote counts! William Broucek, Paul DuFresne, Earl Horning, David Little, Ronald Mann, JoAnn Okey and Kent Talcott.

To the voters of Manchester:

With the millage proposals swiftly approaching, I have one plea: "Vote Yes!"

Though I may not fully understand the issues, I do realize that if these proposals do not pass, Manchester's educational facilities will take a sharp decline. Not only will programs have to be cut, but teacher's salaries might suffer also.

I, for one, am looking forward to the start of school this year. As a Junior, I realize that time is running out, and with college looming ahead, I need all the classes I can get. THAT is where I need your help!

I feel that Manchester has many dedicated teachers that are willing to take the time to help Manchester students make something of their lives. For example, as a Sophomore, I learned a lot from my German teacher, Mrs. Susan Davis. She made the class fun to be in, yet very educational at the same time. Because of her time and effort, I'm continuing my German instruction this year also. Another class I look forward to is Advanced Comp. One of the teachers for this class is Mrs. Donna Vehar. Most of the kids I've talked to think she demands too much, and has too strict of a grading scale. But that's what it takes for a student to learn!

Though I have not had her as a

To the Editor:
 Mr. Whittington seems to have hit the nail on the head. We have to live within our budget. Why does the school seem to want an unlimited amount of tax money? It seems that some of those whom are on 116 or an attorney money means little when all one has to do is to raise fees or sign up under 116 and worry not how much taxes are raised. We will someday wake to the fact the amount of taxes raised will become prohibitive. When those who are at present living on Social Security will some day have more people in the same shape as some of us. Sharon Township in Manchester school district had delinquent tax of more than $86,000.00.

The Social Security tax in 1983 did not go up at all. Schools do not seem to realize that if everyone was given a new car to drive with credit cards to operate it, there would not be a reason for anyone to need a raise which is questionable at this time. Vote No August 3rd.

I attended a board meeting, at that time all that went on was controlled not by the board but by the superintendent. There was no discussion at the meeting but what was recommended by the superintendent.

If those of you whom think yes vote is in order now, attend next board meeting and think twice before voting.

Vote no on these propositions at this time. Before another addition to vote yes, please attend the board meeting to find out what goes on.

Vote no at this time.
 Sincerely,
 Herbert Jacob

Food Stamp Notice

People in the Manchester area who will be needing transportation to Ann Arbor to get their Food Stamps because of the new ruling by the State Department of Social Services should get in touch with Claire Reck, chairman of Manchester Family Service by calling 428-8852 before the 4th of September.

Special arrangements have been made with the Manchester Area Senior Citizens Council to use their bus facilities one or two days a month to transport Food Stamp clients. The service will be free, but donations will be welcome. The bus will leave from the Emanuel United Church of Christ parking lot on Madison Street at the back of the church which is located at 324 W. Main Street. The time of departure will be determined after contact has been made with those wishing to go.

Riders must make appointments and if enough are interested there could be two buses - one on the 5th working day of the month and a second on the 9th working day of the month. These days are distinguished by the last digit of each Food Stamp cardholders claim number.

Food Stamp clients can not get their stamps before the date designated to each holder, but they can get them anytime during the remainder of the month.

Reservations for the trip are necessary because the driver must know whether to bring the van or the bus as well as to decide whether it is practical to have the two runs per month. The trip schedule will be different each month and it will be announced in the Enterprise and given out when reservations are made at 428-8852.

Pace Makes Election Plans

The PACE Committee (Positive Action in Community Education) will have an election day headquarters for the convenience of voters who need a babysitter or a ride to the polls. The phone number, for Wednesday, August 31st only, will be 428-8370.

Committee members are heartened by the financial and other support shown by the community. PACE mailings have stressed that cuts will be necessary in the current K-12 program if Proposition I fails. State aid has dropped from over $500,000 in 1978 to an average of about $64,000 the last three years. Furthermore, the total property value of the district has decreased, meaning a drop in tax revenue to the schools this year. Proposition II is for solely needed maintenance for the buildings.

The polls will be open from 7:00 A.M. to 8:00 P.M. at the High School. Call the above number if you need a ride or a sitter; assistance will be offered to those who need to apply for emergency absentee ballots due to sudden illness.

To listen to a tape, call TEL-MED and ask the TEL-MED operator to play the tape over the phone. TEL-MED phone lines are open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. Phone numbers are 668-1551 (Ann Arbor), 434-6120 (Ypsilanti) and 548-2832 (Howell). Call TEL-MED also to ask for a brochure listing all available tapes.

After that people can register at the Chelsea Community Education Building (475-9830) or on the day of the race. For more information call Peggy Alford at 764-8010.

Sixty-five members of the Michigan Campbell Clan gathered at the home of Andrew and June Campbell, 14340 Schleweis Road, Manchester for a family reunion on August 14. The Campbells have held reunions nearly every year since 1922.

Following a potluck picnic and barbecue, the President, Peter B. Fletcher, asked a representative from each family to introduce his family and tell how they are related to Robert and Anne Muir Campbell, the first Campbells who came to Michigan from Scotland in 1842 and settled in Augusta Township near Ypsilanti.

Foster Fletcher, who has the distinction of being the oldest clan member present, brought to display many photographs from past reunions and a secretary's book that records those in attendance and finances for the reunion gatherings since 1922. The attendance lists include signatures of many members who attended this year's reunion. In 1952, money collected to defray reunion expenses totaled $12.50. Expenses that year were $6.30, for ice cream and $1.16 for postage.

To replenish the reunion treasury this year, an auction was held during the afternoon. Items were donated by members and auctioned by Elizabeth Campbell Katz with help from her brother, Dan Campbell, her sister, Garnet Campbell Miller, and her cousin, Emily Laatsch. Among the items auctioned were household goods, books, a maple-leaf begonia plant, a castle (child-scale model), a large bag of homegrown waxed beans, a photograph of Anne Muir Campbell which showed a serious and determined pioneer spirit, and a juice pitcher that looked like a large-sized can of Campbell Tomato Soup. The auction generated $54 for the treasury.

The youngest members to attend this year's reunion were Nathan Raymond, two months, son of David and Elizabeth Campbell Raymond, Ann Arbor, and Constance Elizabeth Coons McNeil, six months daughter of Charles and Constance Campbell McNeil of Grass Lake. Members who came from furthest away were Hubert and Mary Fletcher Bristol from Hot Springs Village, Arkansas. Other members who came from beyond Michigan were Anna Campbell Kemp from Oak Park, Illinois, her daughter, Martha Kemp from Hinsdale, Ill., and Tim and Susan Barber and Barbara Bristol from Downers Grove, Illinois.

Others in attendance from Ann Arbor were George Campbell, Mary Campbell, David Katz, From Ypsilanti: Foster Fletcher, Peter Fletcher, Clifford and Frances Matevia, Patti Cartwright, Jack and Margaret Campbell, Georgia Campbell, and Alice Woods. From Saline: Arthur and Elizabeth Katz, Daniel and Jean Campbell. From Tecumseh: Judy, Darlene, Delyne, and Kay Elwartowski. From Northville: Ralph and Jeane Foreman. RABIES

Michigan Department of Public Health-Office of Communications

Although our state has recorded only one human death from rabies in the past 35 years, the Michigan Department of Public Health remains active in the areas of rabies surveillance and research.

Our Virology Division Laboratory has recently reported three cases of rabies in animals, all involving bats. As a precautionary measure, we are urging Michigan residents to consider all bat bites as exposure to rabies until the bat is tested and found not to be rabid. We are also advising victims of animal bites to wash wounds thoroughly, seek immediate medical attention and report all bites to local health departments.

If it becomes necessary to destroy an animal that has bitten a person or another animal, it is best to avoid any injury to the head since the brain must remain undamaged in order for the laboratory to make appropriate tests for rabies.

Our laboratory in Lansing has developed and is testing a new vaccine designed to create immunity to rabies. Rhesus Diploid Rabies Vaccine (RDRV) is proving an effective, economical and a viable alternative for patients allergic to the currently standard anti-rabies vaccine.

Historically, victims of bites inflicted by rabid animals have been subjected to 26 injections in the abdomen and thighs. The new vaccine appears to be equally effective with just six injections. RDRV also seems less likely to produce unpleasant side effects associated with anti-rabies inoculations.

We have made great progress in controlling rabies during the past 35 years as a result of our health education efforts, speedy reporting of bites, the development of increasingly effective vaccines and conscientious enforcement of state laws and regulations. This often fatal disease remains a dreaded public health hazard, but one that we are better equipped to deal with than ever before.

'No instant, magical answers,' says ex-energy secretary

America's energy problems aren't over yet, but former Energy Secretary James B. Edwards says solutions are coming into focus that promise great hope for the future.

"The energy crisis is not over, but we can put the siege mentality that it spawned behind us," says Edwards. "We are in the midst of a long, sometimes very painful transition to new forms of energy. There are no instant, magical answers. There are no universal energy truths awaiting discovery. Our only tools are hard work, devotion, prudence and creativity."

America must realize it is not running out of energy, he says. But it is running out of cheap energy.

Edwards' comments on America's energy future appear in the current issue of "FOCUS: Views on Energy", a magazine published by Consumers Power Company. A former governor of South Carolina, he was the nation's top energy official during 1981-82.

Edwards expects electricity to supply an increasing share of the nation's energy in the future, with coal as a major fuel to generate the power. But he also cautions that the country can't rely solely on coal.

"It was counterproductive to advocate reliance on a single energy source to be our salvation, or to rule out particular energy sources," he says. "We need a mix of energy sources. We need to split wood and atoms and everything in between."

He says nuclear power must be an important part of that mix. "Nuclear power is still the safest, cheapest, cleanest form of thermally generated electricity known to man," he says. "We have 600 years of reactor operating time in those big plants, and there has not been one death or injury due to nuclear radiation. Nuclear power is safer than nearly any other large-scale form of energy generation."

Edwards defends the decision by America's utilities to build the generation of nuclear plants coming on-line during this decade.

"Demand for electricity was growing at about 7 percent (when the decisions to build were made)," he points out. "Nuclear power plants were, by any calculation, the cheapest investment. At the time of the oil crisis, utilities had about 95 gigawatts of new capacity on order. That was only slightly more than what would have been needed."

"Had utilities not ordered that much new capacity, they would have been guilty of dereliction of responsibility. No one could have foreseen the oil crisis and its impact on demand for electricity."

THE SEARCH FOR HEALTH

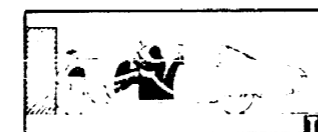

A Report from
The National Institutes of Health
Bethesda, Maryland

TRAFFIC CRASHES: A PUBLIC HEALTH PROBLEM

If you are between the ages of one and 44, you are more likely to die in a motor vehicle collision than from cancer, heart disease, or diabetes. Over a lifetime of driving, Americans have one in three chances of suffering a disabling injury as a result of an automobile crash.

Every year this public health problem causes about one million serious or disabling injuries and almost 50,000 deaths. In a crash or a sudden stop, unprotected occupants may career around, striking the car's interior or even being ejected out of the vehicle.

If these deaths and injuries were caused by an infectious agent, their recurrence would be considered an epidemic. The human and the dollar costs of these losses to our health care system are staggering. Yet the means for preventing much of these losses costs nothing and is already available in most of the cars Americans drive: safety belts. Safety belts improve by 50 to 60 percent the chance of avoiding serious injuries or death in traffic crashes. Child safety seats, properly used, are 60 to 90 percent effective for young children. Child seats and safety belts work so well that over 35 States and the District of Columbia have enacted laws requiring their use for young children. To help parents comply with these laws, child seat loan programs have been developed by local health departments, hospitals, civic and service organizations.

A recent government survey indicates an increase in belt use among drivers across the nation from 11 percent to almost 14 percent. This is significant because it is estimated that for every one percent increase in belt use, 180 people are alive who might otherwise be numbers in fatality statistics.

What types of people are most likely to use occupant protection? Recent research suggests they are people who feel they have more control over their lives, people who take positive steps to maintain good health.

In short, people who wear safety belts consider belt use right along with other preventive health practices such as proper diet, not smoking, exercising regularly, and watching their weight. This behavior is consistent with a recent report in the New England Journal of Medicine indicating that, among physicians polled, using a safety belt was ranked third among 28 health behaviors considered important in promoting health. Safety belts and child safety seats have many advantages and few drawbacks. They are a practical, inexpensive, effective way to prevent serious injuries and save lives.
