Wonderful Talent

A reprint from the Manchester Enterprise, dated March 21, 1878

An amusing and very suggestive incident in medical (?) practice came to our knowledge a few days ago. A person calling himself Van Riper has for some years past been scouring the country around, both here and elsewhere in the State, introducing himself as a Doctor of Medicine, and craving the pleasure of contributing to the happiness of all chronic invalids, by simply making them well and strong again. It matters not what the disease, even the most incurable, are always removed by the wonderful skill of the Dr. This is what he says. Of course the community so benefitted would be very ungrateful indeed if they allowed such a benefactor to waste his own property for the purpose of favoring said invalids. So when the Dr. (?) had sufficiently enlarged upon his merits by a free expenditure of his valuable GAS, he has but to hint at the propriety of a small advance, in the form of a $20 greenback, more or less, according to the science he must expend in perfecting a cure.

Sometimes, however, the Dr. meets with an invalid of a peculiar temperament, whose ideas can hardly be got up to the exalted standpoint where they can see great gain in plastering the Dr. with greenbacks, on the principle that one good turn deserves another.

Such a patient, in the person of Mr. Sammucl Antcliffe, a well-to-do farmer residing in the southern part of this town, had the Dr. to contend with a short time ago. The doctor smelled him out by a process known only to himself, and as an act of philanthropy (to himself), searched for and found him, and made the discovery that his, Antcliffe's, liver was missing, - gone, no one knew whither. A melancholy state, truly, for where was he to get bile from without a liver? Now, as Antcliffe was in happy ignorance of his lamentable condition, the Dr. (?) thought that as ignorance was said to be bliss, he would leave his anticipated patient in a state of blissfulness till he had brought back the truant liver. So having persuaded Mr. A. to partake of his liver manufacturer, he went on his way rejoicing, in anticipation of the glorious surprise in store for Mr.

A. when he again found himself well and in full possession of a new liver. Dr. (?) called again in a few weeks, - patient not so well as he wished, but upon a hint from the learned Esculapins, dropped a five-dollar greenback into his hands. Dr. left, and in due time called for more money. Antcliffe could not see the point, and said he intended to quit, as he felt no better. Then the Dr. (?) exploded, and explained Antcliffe's delicate condition, making the statement that twenty-five dollars would satisfy him (the Dr.,) for his liver the medicine had already formed, which he declared was about the size of his two fingers, and that if he had continued the treatment fifteen months longer, he would have completed the entire organ.

Antcliffe demurred, and called upon Dr. Hyndman to whom he stated the case, and wanted to know if the Dr. could make him pay so large a sum for the little liver he claimed to have made. Hyndman replied that he was no lawyer, but he was of the opinion that neither Van Riper nor any other man could make a finger, a nose, or an ear, if they were missing, neither could they make Carol reports that the Substance Abuse Awareness Committee is currently involved in developing a drug education curriculum for use in the community schools. Among the goals and objectives of the Committee is to provide facts and current data concerning substance use and abuse, along with exploring the reasons why people may abuse drugs. The Committee is planning to develop positive alternatives to drug use and is dedicated to informing students of the various community persons and agencies that they may turn to for assistance.

HIT or MISS by farley

We were talking with a chap the other day who had recently been in the Galveston and Houston area since the hurricane that struck there not so long ago. He spoke highly of the people and the fortitude with which they contended their loss of electricity, phone service and other modern conveniences for some time after the storm and their haste to overcome the obstacles that Mother Nature had placed in their way. Most folks were sure that they could return to normal quite soon.

In this connection may we tell the tale of the area along the east coast that was paralyzed by the severe wind and snowstorms of last winter.

The teller of the tale, as a foot patrolman was assigned to a desolate intersection to provide security at the scene of a downed wire. It was 12:40 a.m. when he relieved the guardian of the danger area. It was also two below zero in the swirling snow, but he tightened his scarf and placed himself in position to protect the public.

Finally, at 5:40 a.m., a utility truck arrived. The linemen checked the wires, let out roaring bellows and continued laughing as they descended toward me. "Well, mate," one of them said, congratulations. You've successfully guarded a frozen kite string all night."

It's about time that we shared with our readers some of the gems of information and advice which we ran across here and there and which we thought interesting and which we hope you will too.

A scholar who studies personality traits contends you can judge most about a person by said person's hobby. A bowler he says, can be expected to be a person of highly social bent who likes people. A fisherman tends to be analytical as you might expect. Timely problem-solvers they. Card players are more competitive than most. A woman who plays a dandy game of bridge should do well also as a corporate chief executive of the economic wars.

Sweden is campaigning mightily against cigarettes. They cost more than $2 a pack there now. It's against the law to peddle them in vending machines and soon it will be against the law to sell them in food stores. The high-and-mighty of the country want to be rid of them altogether within the next 20 years.

Hoover Universal Open House

Hoover Universal has scheduled an open house for members of the local community, its employees and the families of its employees for Sunday, September 25, 1983 between 1:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. The event shall include tours of its production facility, a dedication ceremony for the renovated Ford Building (which now serves as Hoover Universal's Marketing and Technical Service Center), tours of the new building, refreshments and a band.

The dedication ceremony shall commence at 2:00 p.m. and shall include comments by Robert V. Lucke, Vice President and General Manager of Hoover

Universal's Plastics Machinery Division, comments by Professor David L. Lewis of the University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration and Mayor John Hinkley. Mr. Lucke will be commenting on the future of the Plastics Machinery Division in general and what that future could mean to the Village. Professor Lewis, a Professor of Business History, will comment on interesting historical facts with respect to the renovated Ford Building and its relation to and effect on the Village. At the conclusion of the ceremony Mr. Lucke will present to Mayor Hinkley a new base station radio system for the Village Police force as an expression of Hoover Universal's appreciation for the Village and its fine assistance and cooperation in insuring the continued success of the Division.

In preparation for the event Hoover Universal has received assistance and donations from local businesses and groups. Bakers Dozen and Alber's Apple Orchard are donating the refreshments, ARA Services is donating the paper serving products, The Manchester Senior Citizens Group is donating their buses for shuttle services and The Manchester Explorers will assist in traffic and logistics.

Secondary School Principals to be a member of the associations "Publication Committee".

The committee is responsible for reviewing and selecting articles for the Association's quarterly publication, Secondary Education Today. This magazine is read by junior and senior high school principals throughout the State of Michigan.

Bushaw indicated that he is excited about serving on the committee. "The articles that appear in the journal are written by educators from around the state. Often they explain how other principals have solved problems which Manchester currently faces or may possibly face in the future. There is no question that it will be an excellent learning experience for me".

Gene Thompson, Superintendent of Schools stated, "I know Bill has had articles published in this journal prior to his arrival in Manchester and I find that very commendable. However, his new role as a member of the publications committee will enable Bill to gain new insights on how other school districts currently operate. This will unquestionably help the young people of Manchester High School."

Agriculture In Action

In January of this year, President Reagan, before the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting participants in Dallas, Texas, unveiled his intention to back a different sort of government farm program. This program was basically aimed at reducing those wheat and feed grain stockpiles which had grown to the point where they were hanging, like a heavy cloud, over the marketplace.

First sent up as a trial balloon in the later part of 1982, the Payment-in-Kind (PIK) program has been picked at since the beginning. Vocal critics have called PIK a poor excuse for a government farm program. Others have said the program was too expensive. Still others have cited that the program has done little to raise prices farmers receive. The long and the short of it is: if you want to find fault, you usually don't have to look very hard. Such is the case for PIK.

Is the Payment-in-Kind, or "crop swap," the answer to the farmers' problems? The answer to that question, in the strictest sense, is NO.

Farming, by its very nature, involves risk. Any government program that attempts to wipe all the risk off the slate will also wipe out the opportunities.

The best of all worlds is a market-oriented agriculture with farmers taking production signals and making marketing decisions based on the real world of supply and demand.

The PIK program is not the end-all and cure-all for farmers. It was never intended to be. Constant picking at PIK won't change the way things are, and cries for more government involvement only opens the door for more political games.

The sooner we realize that price comes from the marketplace and not from Washington, D.C., the better off agriculture will be.

New to Fall Festival will be a horse show on Saturday. Also on Saturday and Sunday we will be having an Antique Car Show. Our GRAND PARADE will get underway at 2:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon. In January of this year, President Reagan, before the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting participants in Dallas, Texas, unveiled his intention to back a the restoration process. Farm volunteers have been busy preparing the clothes for viewing. Many of the dresses are covered with beadwork, lace and ribbons. Ordinary repair methods are inadequate.

Cobblestone Farm is looking for additional pieces of clothing to be borrowed for the showing. Anyone willing to loan clothing should contact the farm office at 994-2928. Tickets to the showing are available at $4.00 for adults, $2.00 for seniors/youth from Kathy Sutton (994-5196) or at the farm office, 2781 Packard Road, Ann Arbor.

Cancer Information Service Recruiting Volunteers

The Cancer Information Service, housed at the Michigan Cancer Foundation (MCF), is recruiting volunteers to become Information Specialists for the toll-free telephone information and referral system. The training schedule will entail 6 sessions of 4 hours each, beginning October 4, 1983, and continuing through October 13, 1983. Upon successful completion of the course, volunteers will be asked to commit to a minimum of 4 hours per week as Information Specialists.

Potential trainees do not need prior knowledge of cancer, although it is helpful. Throughout the training, the volunteers will acquire a number of useful skills: "They will learn cancer medical knowledge, research trends, interpersonal communication skills, as well as referral techniques for community resources and services," Jane Hoey, coordinator of the program, explains.

The Cancer Information Service (CIS) is part of a national network of cancer information centers funded by the National Cancer Institute (NCI). The phone lines, accessible to all Michigan residents, are open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays. The volunteers provide accurate cancer information and assistance to the lay public and health professionals.

Persons interested in becoming part of the volunteer effort should call Volunteer Services at the Michigan Cancer Foundation at (313) 294-3655.

Holiday Traffic Death Toll Down

Increased officer awareness and use of the new roadside prearrest breath testing instrument is being credited by State Police for a 39% increase in drunk driving arrests which helped hold the Michigan holiday weekend traffic death toll to 15. Twenty-one persons lost their lives over the 1982 Labor Day weekend.

Col. Gerald L. Hough, director of the State Police, stated that "273 motorists were arrested for drunk driving during the 78-hour Labor Day weekend. This compares with 196 for the same time period last year."

Operation C.A.R.E. (Combined Accident Reduction Effort) which provided nearly 2,900 hours of overtime for traffic patrol, and the assistance of 55 volunteer groups which conducted traffic safety breaks throughout the state helped bring about a safer driving environment.

"The support of the Michigan Army National Guard in providing four helicopters, pilots and support personnel, played an important role in holding accidents down," Hough said. The helicopter patrols were responsible for directing troopers to the assistance of 75 troubled motorists and issuing 170 traffic citations. In addition to the 273 drunk driving arrests, troopers issued 9,238 traffic citations and assisted 2,268 troubled motorists. The 15 traffic deaths the result of six one-vehicle accidents, six two-vehicle accidents and three pedestrian accidents. Four accidents involved motorcycles.

Nine of the accidents were reported to involve drinking drivers. Colonel Hough added, "Again as an all too familiar factor in fatal traffic accidents, not one of the victims was wearing a safety belt!"

During the American Revolution, many brides did not wear white wedding gowns; they wore red as a symbol of rebellion.

Beware The Toxic Plants

In the late summer and fall when pastures are getting short, the Michigan Veterinary Medical Association warns, grazing livestock will search out and eat alternate feeds including the more coarse and less palatable grasses, various weeds, leaves of small shrubs and even the woody, yet relatively tender, branches from the previous spring.

Several of these alternate feeds will cause toxicity and perhaps death. Some plant types require large amounts to be ingested while others require only very small amounts.

Brackenfern is the most frequent cause of fall poisonings in grazing livestock. Brackenfern is also quite deadly. This plant will cause toxicity if large amounts are consumed over a short period of time or if small amounts are eaten over a prolonged period of time. An interesting thing about this plant is that some animals will start "picking" at brackenfern even when there is ample good pasture.

These "pickers" will actually become addicted. Over a period of several weeks, toxicosis will develop. The disease symptoms observed might be depression, off their feed, and fever. Cattle may pass large clots of blood in their stools and/or show respiratory distress because of swelling in the throat. Horses might be uncoordinated or stand crouched with feet wide apart and neck arched. The horse may or may not have a fever.

The problem can be prevented using an alternative grazing plan. The cattle are allowed on a bracken-contaminated pasture for three weeks, then on a bracken-free pasture for three weeks. The fern growth is retarded by close grazing and/or trampling. The stand in a pasture can gradually be brought below dangerous levels using this three-weeks-on/three-weeks-off grazing plan.

Success of treatment is related to the condition of the animals, duration of poisoning and the amount of fern ingested. As many as 90 percent of the affected animals may die.

There are several other plants that can cause toxicity if the livestock are forced to graze them. Some of these include wild carrot, goldenrod, sweet clover, pigweed, and milkweed.

To avoid toxicity in grazing animals maintain as high a quality pasture as possible—the better the grazing, the better the raising.

A mole can dig a tunnel 300 feet long in one night.

Letters to the editor...

Our village is a place of beauty that many just visit but wish that they could stay. Those that do remain here and are proud that they call Manchester their home have probably noticed many improvements made by the Village that help to keep our town so special. These residents may also have noticed, as I have, that there is a real need for someone to devote some time to the Rose Bushes located in Kirk Park. This park is finally being developed. Much time and money has already been allocated to make it another active center for the enjoyment of all the community. (My thanks to all involved in helping to make Kirk Park a reality.) Isn't it a shame though, that the 100 exquisite gifts of beauty from Jackson-Perkins, in the honor of Mrs. Kirk, should be treated with such little respect. Surely the "Village" is responsible. But do they know about Rose Bushes and who really is the "Village" anyway? I don't know much about Roses but I know that I can weed out that area and I would like to learn about pruning those Roses from someone that does know. There must be some other villagers who would like to see this impressive summer sight improved and looking as though this Village cares. Let us work and learn together.

Help Wanted!

If you've got a strong back, a grubstake of $200-$300, a pick-up truck or small camper trailer, don't mind roughing it, and need a job, try the Superior Forestry

Service of Arkansas. The service is looking for treeplanters and will pay 3c per tree planted. A promotional flyer describes the job: "You carry about 500 seedlings in a tree bag, which weighs about 40 lbs., around your waist. You take them out one by one and plant them with a hoedad. You swing your hoedad and sink it in the ground about 10 inches. If the ground is hard or there is clay or rocks, you might have to swing two or three times. You then bend over, open the hole to accommodate the root, close the hole, straighten up and stamp the tree tight."

According to the service, experienced planters average between 2500-4000 trees per day and new planters should hit 2,000 after about a week or so. Last season top planters made $10,000 or more, they report. Generally, planters get one day a week off to get to town for groceries and, hopefully, a shower. You might get sent to states in the southwest, midsouth or southeast (furnish your own transportation, of course). The season generally begins around the first of December and runs to late March or early April. You're expected to stay the full season; if you cop out—no bonus!

No tents are allowed. "No water, no hookups, no nothing," the service promises, and you are expected to provide yourself with all the necessities of life, such as food, water, and heat. You're advised to bring a good pair of boots, rainwear, enough containers for a one-week supply of water, a heat source and an alarm clock. One more thing: in addition to your grubstake to get you through to the first pay day, bring $75 for your tool set which includes a hoedad and a planting bag. Sound like a put-on? Not so,

Remember the field trips to galleries and places of interest that began last winter? Following a summer break, the Manchester Art Guild is ready to begin these jaunts again.

Ideas for places to visit can be brought to the September General Membership Meeting. On Monday, September 26, persons interested in eating out, or just visiting with Guild members, are invited to meet at the Woodshed Eatery in Chelsea at 6:30 p.m. In addition to field trip ideas, the group will discuss other plans for the upcoming year and election of new officers. Most of the time will be open for conversation, however.

Reservations for Monday evening should be made by calling Maureen at 428-9286 by Friday, September 23. Let her know if you're interested in carpooling.

Dutchmen Stumble

By Jon Hardenbergh
We seem to have a problem getting our offense rolling as its now been 2 games with no points yet for the Manchester Dutchmen. Ida again showed us a tough running back and they took the victory 14-0 last Friday evening. Unfortunately, 16 seconds into the contest the Blue Streak man motored 80 yards for paydirt and as it turned out, that was enough point production.

The defense for us was led by Steve Vicek as he recovered a lost pigskin, grabbed an interception and was our leading tackler. Mike Agin also turned in a solid job as our defense has yet to permit a completed pass. Again what hurt was Ida's back who rambled for 225 yards.

We now trek to East Jackson for Friday's game as we open play in our new Cascades League. On Friday, East Jackson downed Hanover Horton 14-0.

Bike-A-Thon At MIS

On Saturday, September 24 at 10 a.m. the wheels will roll at Michigan International Speedway, but it will be a different kind of race from the ones usually held there.

The wheels will be on bikes and for anyone who has wanted an opportunity to "do the track" at MIS, this is it. The speedway has offered use of its two mile test road course for a Bike-A-Thon to benefit St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tn.

Volunteer workers and riders are needed for this event to raise funds for the world-famous research center and its battle against childhood cancer and other catastrophic diseases.

Riders enlisted sponsors who donate a sum for each mile completed, states Bike-A-Thon chairman Al Dailey. A bicycle will be the first prize for the rider bringing in the highest amount in sponsorship, and other prizes will be announced later. Any rider who raises $25 will receive a St. Jude T-shirt, those raising $75 will receive a barrel tote bag, and there will be refreshments for all participants.

Dailey says, "We are looking for people who will contribute some of their time and energy to help people live. We really need bike riders, since they are the ones who can make this event successful." St. Jude hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas, and operates primarily from public contributions.

Sponsor forms may be obtained at both Brooklyn offices of Comerica, ERA-Kerr Realty and The Exponent. For any further information regarding riders, sponsors or work volunteers, contact Dailey at the village office of Comerica or phone 592-2191.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. September 24 at the US-12 entrance to MIS, beside the speedway's offices.

American Heart Association Presents Exercise Program

We've become so good over the years at finding ways to save time and energy in our daily chores, and have developed so many machines to help us, that the average person now needs 600 calories less every day to maintain body weight than people did in the 1930s.

No wonder TV exercise programs are so popular and there are so many exercise books on the best seller lists!

"Getting the Most out of an Exercise Program," to be presented by the American Heart Association of Michigan on Saturday, September 24 at the Hyatt in Dearborn aims to help people do just that.

The program is open to the public and will offer practical information that you can use immediately to start exercising.

For instance:
-How much and how often do you have to exercise to lose weight and benefit your heart?
-How do you take your own pulse, and how do you find out what your "target heart rate" should be?

-What kind of exercise is best?
-Practical tips on how to increase activity during your daily routine.

Some of the myths about exercise will also be dispelled-for instance, the one that says that exercising increases your appetite, and therefore won't really help you lose weight. Exercising actually decreases the appetite, and people who don't exercise actually tend to eat more than those who do.

Another interesting fact: When you exercise, you also decrease the percent of body fat. Exercise may also help you reduce stress and sleep better.

Included in the program will be information on how to make exercise fun, exercise for older people, and how exercise can help reduce the risk of heart attack, and delay aging.

Speakers will include Dr. Kenneth Cooper, internationally known author; Dr. Rudy Dressendorfer of Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak; and John McPhail, director of the wellbeing program at Ingham Medical Center in Lansing.

Jill Tosoian of the Fitness Factory in Southfield will give a demonstration of aerobic dance, and exhibits will also be available.

The program will be informal, and those attending should wear comfortable, casual clothes, as breaks for stretching exercises are planned between talks.

Registration will be held from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00. The program will run from 9:00 a.m. to 3:25 p.m.

Cost of the program is $12.00 in advance or $15.00 at the door, which includes lunch and the booklet "Are You Ready to Exercise?" To register contact the American Heart Association of Michigan, 16310 W. 12 Mile Road, P.O. Box 160, Lathrup Village, MI 48076, phone 557-9500.

Two cups of water weigh about one pound.

Thirty-two members and guests attended the annual meeting of the Manchester Area Historical Society at the Blacksmith Shop last Monday evening. In addition to hearing reports by Treasurer Hazel Clark, Finance Committee Treasurer Loring Ebersole and several committee chairpersons, the following officers were elected: President, John B. Swainson; First Vice President, Ann Fowler; Second Vice President, Gail Kellum; Secretary, Carolyn Sauter; Treasurer, Hazel Clark; Directors, Loring Ebersole, Dorothy Mann and Tom Walton.

Following the business portion of the meeting, Mrs. Robert Chapin, one of the persons involved in the formation of the Society, reviewed the history of the Manchester area from 1800 to 1840. She set the context by summarizing events that occurred at both the national and territory levels. However, it was the Indians that lived in the area for most of the period. The Pottawatamie and Sauks were peaceful agriculturists and left the white settlers alone. By the 1830s the white population had increased to the point where a saw mill was built, a library started and Manchester Township organized. Interest in the talk was evidenced by the many questions and comments from the audience.

Cider Sippin' Season Is In Full Swing

Carmel-dipped apples, fresh cider and a pick of plump pumpkins and apples are among the many fall treats awaiting visitors to southern Michigan's 120 cider mills, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan. "Besides relaxing in a rustic setting with a glass of cider, visitors also can go antique-hunting, board a hayride, sing along with live country music or enjoy a pony ride at many of the mills, stated Auto Club Travel Operations Manager James Drury.

The 120 mills listed on the Auto Club's 1983 guide are now open and range from a 150-year-old antique pressing mill with an operating water wheel to modern streamlined facilities.

Many mills offer such craft demonstrations as candle making. Some have children's playground equipment while others have a small working train for tours.

The Michigan Apple Committee predicts that 18 million bushels of apples will be plucked from Michigan orchards this fall. The total is down 22 percent from last year's 23 million bushels, due to a mild winter, the heavy snow the first day of spring, a freeze in May and less rain this summer.

"While this year's apple crop is slightly below the five-year average, there still will be plenty of cider available at prices comparable to last year," Drury said.

A gallon of cider this fall should be priced from $1.50 to $3.50. A dozen donuts will be priced from $1.50 to $3.20.

"Some mills allow customers to bring their own jugs which can save up to 50 cents per gallon," Drury added. "This year 47 mills allow custom pressing for those who bring their own apples."

While most mills allow customers to view pressing operations and many give tours or demonstrations, visitors interested in watching should call ahead for pressing times and dates.

WINNERS & LOSERS

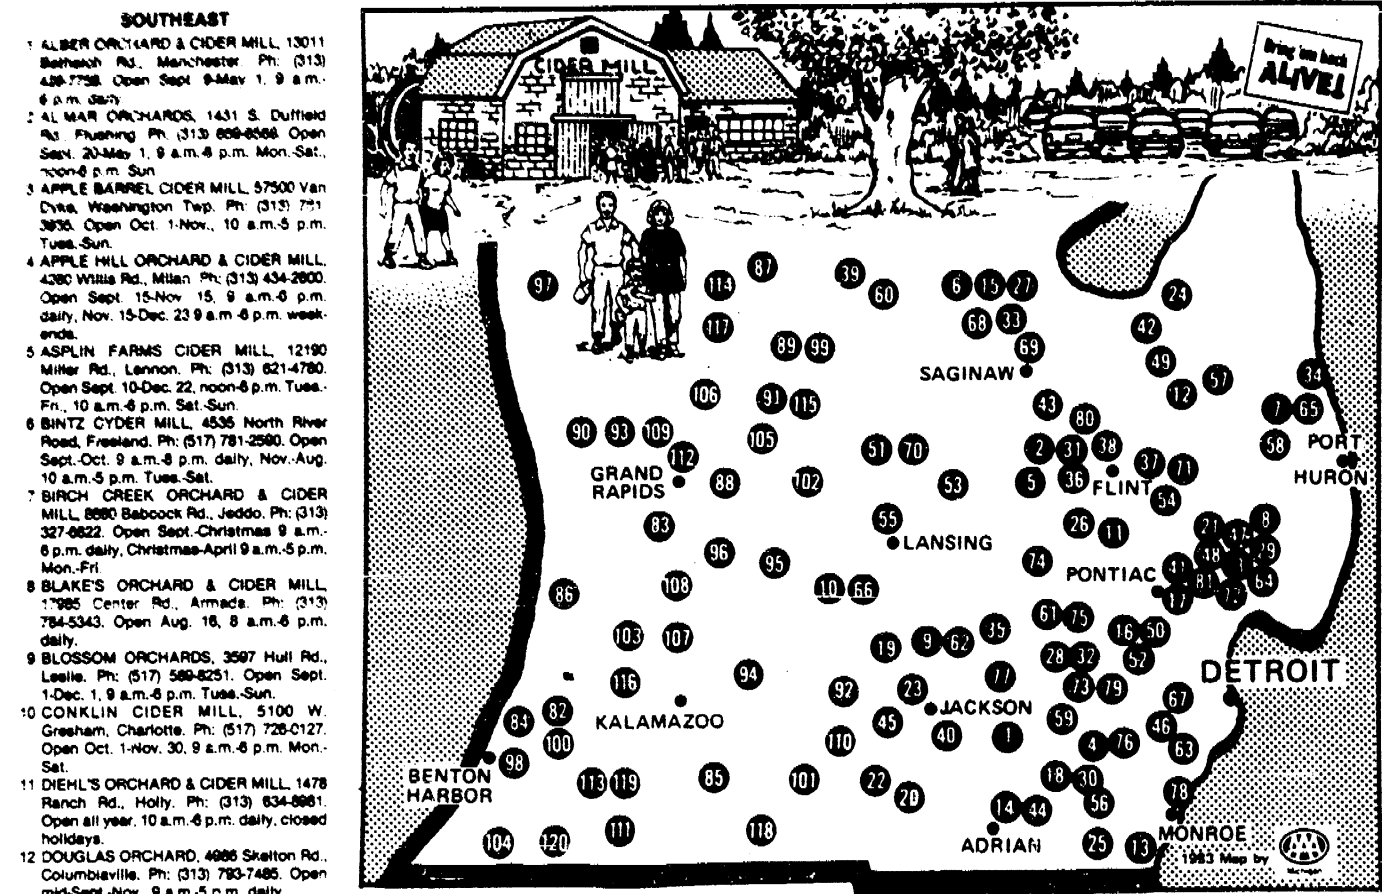

Americans are real winners when it comes to inflation, lately. As measured by the Consumer Price Index, it was only 3.9 percent for 1982. Many experts attribute this to our having a strong President with an effective fiscal policy.

Americans were losers by inflation under the last administration. In fact, the rate reached 13.3 percent in 1979. Many Americans want to keep winning the fight against inflation.

Council Of Catholic Women

The Council of Catholic Women of the Lansing Diocese sponsored a Leadership Day at St. Joseph Church in the beautiful Irish Hills, Monday, September 12th. Ladies, from Manchester, who took part in the program are: Mrs. Christopher Lentz, Mrs. Doris Bersuder, Mrs. Marvin Kirk, Mrs. Ardis Schied, Mrs. William Schwab and Mrs. Sig Baran. Mrs. Kirk, chairman of the day, introduced Mrs. Keith Skidmore of Charlotte, President of the Lansing Council of Catholic Women, as main speaker for the morning program. Mrs. Skidmore stressed that leaders must be willing to serve and that when planning a program the organization must take into consideration the interests of all the people who want to belong. The speaker also explained that the Council of Catholic Women is a federation which includes many Catholic Women's organizations under one hat. At the top is the National Council which works through commissions at all levels. The commissions are: Church Communities, Organizational Services, Family Affairs, International Affairs and Community Affairs. Mrs. John Brendall of Lansing, Council parliamentarian, stressed important factors that insure a successful meeting.

"He who does not know the force of words cannot know Confucius"

There comes a time in your life when you have to go out on your own. That's what Michigan Bell will be doing in January of next year, when we separate from AT&T and become a part of Ameritech, a new holding company for five midwest communications companies which include Illinois Bell, Indiana Bell, Michigan Bell, Ohio Bell and Wisconsin Telephone.

Frankly, a change like that could be unsettling, but we welcome the challenges it presents and the opportunities it provides to serve you even better. We've had time to think about it, to plan for it, to make sure that when you pick up your phone on January 1, 1984, you'll make those calls just as you always have. And you'll get the same reliable Michigan Bell service you've come to expect over the years.

Sure, there'll be some changes, but nothing we can't easily handle together. For instance, AT&T will be leasing you the phones Michigan Bell now provides you for a monthly fee. You may continue to lease them if you wish, or you may buy your own. The choice is yours.

There could be some changes in how your telephone repair needs are met... depending upon whether the problem is with the service or the equipment. Not a big thing for the most part, except for the possibility of new phone numbers to call if you need help.

As we said, changes and choices... some now, some later... but nothing you can't take in stride with a little assistance. That's where we come in. In the weeks ahead we'll be keeping you up to date with more detailed information on the changes as they take place.

We mean to make this transition as easy for you as possible because we want to be on the best of terms with you for a long, long time. After all...

IT'S AT&T WE'RE SEPARATING FROM... NOT YOU.

Facts down the line. Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal, day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. We also suggest that you watch for our informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. 1 800 555-5000
