It's Tri-Church Bazaar Time Again!

As you have driven through the village of Manchester these past few weeks, you have probably seen the lights burning brightly far into the night from the windows of Emanuel, St. Mary's and the Methodist Church, for the women have been busy baking, sewing, canning, gluing, and planning for the 14th Annual Tri-Church Bazaar to be held this Saturday, December 3rd, at the Emanuel Church Hall. The hours are from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. with lunch being served between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. The cost of the luncheon will feature individual ham loaves, sweet potato slices, molded vegetable salad, holiday cake, coffee and tea.

Each church will offer its own food specialties and each church has items which will be raffled off the day of the Bazaar - these items are on display this week in the window of Great Lakes Federal Savings Bank on Main Street. Please take note of the beautiful Rose Trellis Pattern Quilt designed by Irene Kemner and quilted by the women of Emanuel Church; also, the crocheted plaid afghan made by Mrs. Hazel Walker from the United Methodist Church. St. Mary's Catholic Church has a lovely hand-hooked rug and a Paddington Bear. These are just a few of the items being raffled.

The Tri-Church Bazaar, by now a tradition in Manchester is a large bazaar, so come early, enjoy our coffee bar, and then plan to stay for lunch. The doors open at 9:00 a.m. sharp!!

Of Ann Arbor People Over Ball Games

Ann Arbor was certainly a lively town Saturday regardless that it was the thirteenth of November, three football teams went forth "to do or die," demonstrating in their victory that the ill-omened Superstition is out a myth. The Ann Arbor high school and the Grand Rapids teams played on the old fair ground; The "U. of M." freshmen and Alma college were on Ferry field, while Coach Yost and his valiant eleven were wrestling laurels from the Pennsylvania team which had thrice before defeated them in combat.

There were big crowds at the home games and they were in excellent spirits, as the plays from the very first presaged a victory. As the games progressed excitement ran high, and when in the midst word came over the wire that Yost's men had won in the Quaker city there was an uproar, and the teams renewed the play which ultimately resulted in an all around victory for Ann Arbor. Straightway there was a cessation of business, cars did not run, in fact the city from thenceforth was in the hands of those who owned the show. In truth if Billy Shakespeare of old had mingled with the throng, he might have said, forsooth here would make a mad man stare. As evening drew on there was just one mass of celebrators, as man, woman and child were impelled by a like enthusiasm. Bon fires burned, cannons roared, while the shouts of the victors filled the air. Last year the Star theatre was damaged by such a crowd, so on this occasion the proprietor and his wife stood at the entrance pistols in hand, while the boys seemingly oblivious to the fact passed on.

The battleship Michigan was harbored in Chesapeake bay at the time our team was to play with Pennsylvania, so the men, some four hundred strong, witnessed the game making the welkin ring with yells for Michigan. When the conquering heroes returned to Ann Arbor Sunday afternoon they were drawn through the streets by the admiring populace. It is said if a letter were just post marked Ann Arbor, and sent out on its journey it would ultimately return to the place from whence it started, for there is but one Ann Arbor. So I might say that in no other city in the world are like enthusiasms so often enacted.

High School Graduation Committee Considers New Requirements

The high school graduation committee has been meeting during the last few months on a weekly basis. Members of the committee include High School Principal, Bill Bushaw; Counselor, Richard Parson; Teachers, Leonard Hastings, James Fielder, Susan Davis; Student Ron Milkey and Community members Carolyn Sauter and Bob Miller.

The committee has reviewed a number of topics and is attempting to put together a series of recommendations which will be made to the Board of Education. The committee began its work by reviewing a series of documents addressing the issue of high school graduation requirements. Included in these documents are "The Carnegie Report on Secondary Education, the National Commission on Excellence in Education, report titled "A Nation At Risk", The Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals' Report, "Striving for Excellence" Surveys of Manchester High School Alumni, and the "Educational Audit" written for Manchester Community Schools by the Accountability Group. After reviewing these reports and others and considering the best interests of the students of Manchester High School, the committee has agreed on some preliminary recommendations. To begin with, the committee

High School Graduation Requirement Committee

proposes that the math, science, and English requirements for graduation should be increased. The committee however feels that two considerations must be addressed before this recommendation is adopted. First, the school day should be increased from six periods to seven. Adding these requirements without adding another class period to the day would severely limit many students from taking elective courses such as band, foreign language, drafting, and world geography. Second, if we require students to take two years of science at the high school, then a new science course must be in place for those students who traditionally have had difficulty with science. The same applies to the math and English department.

Next, since the number of credits a student can elect in high school would increase from 24 to 28 with a seven period day, the committee recommends that students be required a minimum of 25 credits in order to graduate. This increase in credits would become effective on a gradual basis.

In addition, the committee would like to address the problem of students attending vocational programs at Saline. In the past, these students have been penalized because they could only take five credits instead of six as a result of the time spent being transported from Manchester to Saline and back. The committee will recommend to the Board that the graduation requirements be reduced by one credit for every year that students successfully complete vocational classes at Saline.

The committee also spent a great deal of time discussing the requirement of a computer literacy course. After much discussion the committee agreed that students should have computer literacy skills before they reach high school. The committee continues to meet on a weekly basis and is wrestling with such topics as; how quickly the new requirements should be implemented, an applied art/fine art requirement, and the issue of minimal competency testing. The committee encourages all individuals of the community to contact its members to discuss issues and topics and to ask questions.

now support non-profit emergency food programs designed to meet the nutritional needs of the state's poor. These programs are usually sponsored by churches and other voluntary groups with the support of local health departments and other governmental agencies. Recent studies indicate that, both locally and statewide, existing emergency food programs are unable to meet the basic needs of Michigan residents at or below the marginal poverty levels. Despite the donations of thousands of civic-spirited citizens, food bank resources are exceeded by the great demand for basic dietary staples.

We, at the Michigan Department of Public Health, recognize the critical importance of proper nutrition in safeguarding the health of the population. We are proud of the efforts made by so many local health departments to support and contribute to community food banks. At the state level, departmental employees here in Lansing have held their own successful food drive in conjunction with the Lansing Area Food Bank.

Even a modest contribution can help to alleviate the suffering of those whose nutritional needs are acute. If you are able to donate either non-perishable food items or a tax-deductible dollar amount, please join with others from all segments of your community in providing healthful nutriment for needy persons in your area. If you are uncertain about how to contact your local food bank project, your local health department or department of social services may provide an appropriate referral.

FOOD BANKS

As the seasons change and cold weather approaches, many Michigan residents, especially those who are unemployed or otherwise suffering personal hardships as a result of the current economic climate, will face the dilemma of having to choose between heating their homes or maintaining adequate diets.

Those of us who are more fortunate have an obligation to do what we can to ease the burdens of our poor and disadvantaged neighbors. One way we can be of assistance is through participation in local food bank projects. Most Michigan communities

News From The American Heart Association

Most parts of Michigan had only a small amount of snow last winter.

Will it happen again this year, or will we really get dumped on? Nobody knows.

Whichever way it goes, we do know the snow will arrive sooner or later. And with it a lot of people will go out for winter sports—hunting, cross country or downhill skiing, snowmobiling, skating, ice fishing. Michigan has it all in the winter.

"Winter sports are not only a lot of fun, they can contribute a great deal to a year-round program of physical conditioning," said Dr. Seymour Gordon, co-director of the division of cardiology at Beaumont Hospital and president of the American Heart Association of Michigan.

"That is, they can if you go about it right. If not, you could be risking a heart attack. So keep the following in mind before beginning your winter activities."

"First of all, don't throw yourself into any sport—even hunting—unless you're in condition and have your doctor's permission. Remember that cold weather itself can put an added strain on the heart. In an effort to preserve its heat, the body constricts the blood vessels, and your heart may be asked to do four times the work it has to do in mild weather.

"Second, dress properly. Several light layers of warm clothing will keep you a lot warmer than one heavy layer, and you won't be carrying around all the extra weight besides.

By all means wear a hat. As much as 85% of body heat may be lost through the top of the head, especially if you are bald.

"Don't smoke outside in cold weather. Of course, it's bad for your heart to smoke at any time, but since smoking also constricts the blood vessels, it's even worse in the cold.

"Always take a buddy on activities like hunting, hiking or skiing. It's much safer in case something should happen," Dr. Gordon said.

"Finally, know the warning signs of heart attack, and get help immediately should they occur. They are:

1. An uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of the chest, lasting two minutes or more.
2. Pain may spread to shoulders, neck or arms.
3. Severe pain, dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath may also occur.

"These symptoms may subside and then return," said Dr. Gordon. "If you or someone you're with experiences these signs, make the person stop activity immediately and lie down. Call EMS immediately or get the person to a hospital in the quickest way possible.

"Remember, too, that all these warning signs apply to other winter activities like snow shoveling—which you should never do without your doctor's permission, especially if you already have a heart problem. Also, digging or pushing out a car that's stuck. That can put a tremendous load on the heart.

"So, take care of yourself, enjoy all your winter activities, and for more information on heart attack, or any aspect of heart disease, contact the American Heart Association of Michigan," Dr. Gordon said.

The American Heart Association of Michigan is a United Way agency.

Hoover Announces Two Staff Appointments

The Plastics Machinery Division of Hoover Universal, Inc., has named Mark B. Ponski as new Business Development Manager and John J. Granata as Development Engineering Manager. The two positions are part of the new planning and business development function in the Division.

Ponski comes to Hoover Universal from Cummins Engine Company where he was controller and director of administration of Holset Engineering Company engaged in turbo chargers and fuel injection systems. Previously, he was business planning and administration manager for a division of Bendix Corporation. He received his BS and MS degrees in civil engineering from the University of Michigan and an MBA from the University of Chicago.

Granata comes to Hoover Universal from Owens-Illinois, where he was most recently superintendent of the blow molding evaluation center. He has previously done extensive work in evaluation of the properties and process characteristics of major thermoplastic materials. Granata received his engineering and business administration degrees from the University of Toledo.

Displaced Homemaker Program Extended

Michigan's displaced homemaker program has been extended to 1985 and eligibility requirements have changed to allow persons with children at home to qualify for services.

Displaced homemakers are generally women over 35, who, because of death, divorce or disability have lost their sole source of income—their spouse.

The program was first established as a pilot in late 1978 in the Michigan Department of Labor, Office of Women and Work. Displaced homemaker centers were established in Marquette, Macomb County and Grand Rapids.

During the last two years seven additional centers have been established throughout the state.

"During the first two years of the pilot program, 1,077 persons applied for services at three centers and, of that number, 310 were determined not eligible because they had children younger than 16 in the home," said Patricia Curran, director of the Office of Women and Work.

Currently, she said, there are four or five persons a month being turned away because they have a 12 or 13-year-old child, but meet all of the other requirements.

To be eligible a person must have spent at least 10 years as a homemaker; lack adequate skills to secure gainful, full-time employment; be unemployed or underemployed for three months prior to application; have been supported by government aid which is no longer available or have been dependent on the income of another family member for one-half or more of support and the need to become self-supporting as the result of death, divorce or other loss of the provider.

Curran said that by removing the "no children" requirement the new law is not providing an alternative to Aid for Dependent Children (ADC).

"Those who can get ADC will do so," Curran said.

While there is no prohibition against ADC recipients participating in the Displaced Homemaker programs, Curran said those who do not qualify for any other type of assistance get first priority.

Emphasis is placed on education and job training and developing job seeking skills.

"Since most of the people who come to the programs for help have not sought or held a job for several years, and sometimes not at all, they either have no skills or the skills they had are obsolete," Curran said.

In addition to providing emotional support, the displaced homemaker centers direct participants to adult education and community college programs as well as federally subsidized job training programs.

The centers also provide information on obtaining educational loans and grants and conduct job seeking skill training such as resume writing and interviewing.

For the 1983-84 fiscal year the legislature has appropriated $374,000 for 10 centers, the same amount that was appropriated last year.

The 10 centers and their funding levels are:

- Women's Resource Center, Grand Rapids, $37,000;
- Latino Outreach and Community Service Center, Detroit, $37,000;
- Center for Women in Transition, Grand Haven, $37,000;
- Everywoman's Place, Inc., Muskegon, $37,000;
- Human Development Commission, Caro, $36,880;
- Marquette-Alger Intermediate School District, Marquette.

Mr. Phil Mains and members of his class

SEVENTH AND EIGHTH GRADE ELECTIVE PROGRAM

Revolutions and Newspaper have been selected for this week's spotlight.

REVOLUTIONS

This elective deals with three of the major revolutions in world history. We discuss the political, social, and economic causes that drive people to the final desperate act as a solution to change the way in which they are ruled and live. The nine-week class is divided into three three-week sessions. The first is the French Revolution and the rise of Napoleon. The second three weeks will deal with the Russian Revolution and Stalin. The final three weeks will be: Hitler- Revenge to Ruin. We study the differences that come about when people support violent change and change that comes about when a leader emerges and becomes a dictator and enslaves the people. Several films are used to show conditions that existed before, during, and after the revolutions in the countries involved.

Mr. Phil Mains, middle school counselor, is responsible for developing this elective course.

NEWSPAPER

The newspaper elective involves those students expressing an interest in creating a Nellie Ackerson Middle School Newspaper. During the nine-week period they have the opportunity to publish two editions. Actual newspapers serve as guides. The newspaper class is taught by Mrs. Dacia Daniels. The following objectives are implemented in this elective:

1. To develop proper newspaper terminology.
2. To be able to recognize job offerings related to newspaper work.

3. To become familiar with the sections of a newspaper and types of materials found in each section.
4. To lay out a paper.
5. To become familiar with the techniques of good journalism such as the use of the 5 W's.
6. To develop the proper format of creating articles with an introduction, body, and summary.
7. To understand the difference between general-specific and opinion fact.
8. To gain writing experience by creating articles for their own newspaper.
9. To be able to intelligently read the newspaper.

Letters To The Editor

Open Letter To The Manchester Board of Education

With the highest regard for the teachings of Elmer and Nellie Dettling, we are proud to state our feelings concerning the proposed addition to the curriculum.

If your parents had taken the sex education classes that the educated Dr. Thompson is trying to cram down our throats, it's possible you wouldn't be alive to read this letter!

It was very evident from the public board meeting of November 7, that neither the school board members nor the citizens of the community know the intent—or the total content of the proposed curriculum. However, we do know from observing some of the proposed movies and texts, that abortion—if not openly advocated—is at least offered as a viable alternative to our teenage daughters. This same material is used in dealing with premarital sex. Is this the morality you want instilled in your children?

As the educated Dr. Thompson explained, he is concerned with the number of teenage pregnancies in Manchester. We commend him for his concern, but statistics have proven that the more money spent on sex education, the more teenage pregnancies. So we ask the educated Dr. Thompson to concern himself with more and better academics and leave the sex education of our children to our parents, where it belongs.

The educated Dr. Thompson is asking you, the board members, to approve this curriculum largely on trust, since all of you admittedly have not seen all of the material to be used. (4 of the movies are not yet available.) We ask you, should you trust a man who, on at least 2 occasions, has illegally brought in guests to lecture our children on sex and birth-control methods? We think not! Besides infringing on our rights as parents to be aware of what our children are being taught, the educated Dr. Thompson has, by example, taught a total disregard for the law.

Some of you board members seem to favor the proposed curriculum on the grounds that it requires parental permission before a student may attend. We ask you—did you learn everything you know in a classroom? Did you not acquire any of your knowledge from friends and associates? Wouldn't non-participating students learn from their peers? Would they not be exposed to their peers' perceptions of those lessons—which may be far different from what was intended in the classroom? With that in mind, what would be the next logical step for the administration to propose? Make the classes mandatory for all students so everyone received first-hand information! Result—Parental permission circumvented!

We would also like to ask Dr. Thompson and the board members how, along with teaching the children the mechanics of sex, you propose to teach them the sense of responsibility, the loving and the caring that must accompany those mechanics to raise them above the level of animals?

Education is the cultivation of intelligence. Don't make your decision based on a small plot of highly cultivated land. Listen to the acres of minimum tillage. A NO vote by you board members may be denying Dr. Thompson a greater yield from HIS Manchester field of endeavor, but a YES vote for this type of sex education could be the poison that permanently damages OUR entire crop.

Dear Editor:

It was certainly nice to have Santa visit Manchester on Sunday. The man seemed genuine and appeared to be sensitive to each child as they sat on his ample lap.

I wish to thank Santa for coming to the town of Manchester. And thank you Manchester merchants for being open on that day.

Santa — if you would like to come to my home for a visit before Christmas, we would be happy to have you.

Sincerely,
Francine Hugel

Dear Editor,

We, along with other people enjoy lights at Christmas time; however, this year we are very upset.

Our Grandpa has put lights out for years, but this year he will not. Last year somebody wrecked his lights. They pulled the lights off the bushes in front of his house. When our grandpa woke up he saw the cords on the side of the road, his lights were smashed and his nativity scene was tipped over. The shed was pushed back and the figures were thrown around. That's why he won't put Christmas lights out this year.

Our parents have taught us to leave things alone that don't belong to us. Why haven't other people learned that?

Thank you,
Tony and Heather Punches

Buy Your Smoke Detector A New Battery For Christmas

Warning that the Holiday Season is traditionally a time when there is an increase in home fires, the Michigan State Firemen's Association (MSFA) again urges, as they have in past years, all homeowners to make certain that their smoke detectors are in good operating condition.

MSFA president Marvin Dowe suggests that homeowners buy new batteries for their smoke detectors for Christmas. According to Dowe a fresh battery each year is required for proper operation even if the existing battery appears to still be good. He recommends that batteries which are removed from smoke detectors be used in toys, flashlights, radios and other small appliances—"one your life does not depend on".

Smoke detectors provide the household with two benefits according to MSFA officials. First, they help reduce death and injury from fire by getting the inhabitants up and out of the home to safety. Second, because a smoke detector responds early to a fire, damage to the home is often minimized because the alarm is sounded before the fire has a chance to spread.

Hints for Holiday Entertaining

A holiday Christmas Angel treat...a cake that will delight family and friends.

Here's a festive dessert for the holidays that can be made well ahead of time and tucked into the freezer till serving. It's a cake, light yet rich in flavor, which is simple enough to serve a large gathering of family and friends.

Along with it is a recipe for an easy-to-prepare holiday drink, a hot, spicy swizzle.

These delectables owe their distinctive flavor to America's new favorite, the first liqueur to offer the richness of cream, the flavor of chocolate and the spirit of fine Irish whiskey.

It's the secret blending in the marriage of these ingredients that has made Baileys Original Irish Cream Liqueur an unprecedented success since its introduction in 1979. It is enjoyed both before and after dinner, in hot weather or cold. Despite the fact that it's made of real cream (only two hours old), it need never be refrigerated, thanks to the Irish whiskey preservative action.

BAILEYS CHRISTMAS ANGEL 1 fully-baked angel cake 1/2 to 2/3 cup Baileys Irish Cream 3 cups heavy whipping cream

Manchester wrestlers open the 1983-84 season this Thursday, December 1st, at Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard. On hand for the 7:00 p.m. meet will be returning sophomores B.J. Lee, Joey Deacons, Mike McLennan, Tom Neff and Brian Waldron, juniors Van Talcott and Steve Vleck, and senior co-captains Bob Curley and Jeff Daubner.

New to the team this year are freshmen Danny Platt, Paul Duvall, Scott Whiting, Chris Pagel, Corey Schmitt, sophomore Matt Mazurek, junior Todd Gillies and senior Jim Schook.

Coach Dan Jordan hopes to have all of the 13 weight classes filled this year. It's not too late to come out for the team if any high schooler is interested.

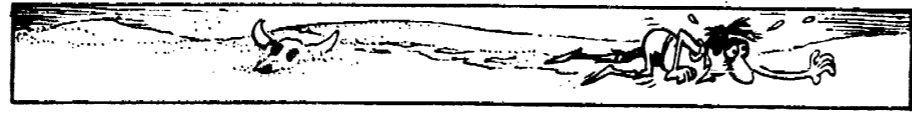

Next week the Dutchmen will wrestle at Clinton on Tuesday evening, December 6th. On Saturday, December 10th, we will compete in the Dexter Invitational. We had four medal winners there last year, with a first, a second, and two fourth places. A tri-meet with Dexter and Jackson County Western on Thursday, December 15th, completes the pre-holiday action. To kick off the new year we'll compete in the Clinton Invitational on Saturday, January 7th.

HIT or MISS by farley

While hunting here and there for items with which to fill a column of trivia we ran across a number of items which we think will be of interest to our readers so here goes:

"Where seldom is heard a discouraging word..." This line did not wind up in the song "Home on the Range" by accident. It's a matter of record that the composer of that ditty, Dr. Homer Croy, went west to Kansas to get away from his nagging wife.

Many a federal employee in Washington D.C., now - in keeping with the current fad - has a lop-eared rabbit for a house pet.

How old were you when you first got married? Average age of first-marriage brides and bridegrooms changes from decade to decade. Now, it's 22.3 years for the brides, 24.8 years for the bridegrooms.

Believe one of the most extraordinary laws of all time was written into the books of the Massachusetts Bay Colony in the 1640s. It decreed that juveniles over age 16 who cursed or physically abused their parents could be put to death.

A living breathing eight-pound horse? You bet. "Fantasy," a foot-tall filly, merited that description when born recently at the Hobby Horse Farm in Bedford County, Virginia. World's smallest horse.

Q. How did the composer Stephen Foster die?

A. Story is that he accidentally gashed his throat when he fell on a broken whisky bottle. Whatever really happened did happen in a New York City Bowery flophouse. At age 38, Foster died in a pool of blood with a penny in his pocket for every year of his life - 38 cents.

George Burns at age 87 has written a book called "How To Live To Be 100 - or More." Its dedication reads: "This book is dedicated to the widows of my last six doctors."

One afternoon, when the New York Yankees were on the road, they were leading 3-0 when the home team came to bat in the ninth. The first three men hit safely and filled the bases.

The Yankees manager called in a relief pitcher. He threw one ball, a fast one down the middle, and the batter hit it out of the park, ending the game. As the Yankee players, in a somber mood, made their way to the clubhouse, the pitcher fell into step alongside Lefty Gomez, the team's star southpaw.

"Tell me, Lefty," he said. "How would you have pitched that ball?"

"Under an assumed name," Gomez told him.

A "Teasel" is a prickly little flower that grows in Oregon, New York, and France. Textile people use it to raise the nap on wool cloth. To "tease" your hair comes from that.

Why the ancients for centuries thought a scalp massage of hippopotamus fat would restore human hair I do not know. It certainly doesn't grow hair on the hippopotamus. But it stood as a medical belief longer than almost any other - except maybe the notion that wine eases pain. The first medical prescription of record was that of hippo fat for baldness.

Village Officer Election

The Village Officers up for Election will be PRESIDENT, CLERK, TREASURER, ASSESSOR and TRUSTEE (3) - 2 year term. TRUSTEE (1) to fill vacancy - 1 year term.

The Nominating Petitions are now available from the Village Clerk at the Village Hall, 120 S. Clinton Street, Manchester, Michigan between the hours of 9:30 A.M. to 1:30 P.M., Monday thru Thursday.

Funding Of Public Libraries

If library service is important to you and your family, you will be interested in knowing that a bill to provide full funding to state aid for libraries has been introduced in the Michigan House by Representative Nelson Saunders (Dem., 7th District) along with fifty-five co-sponsors. Since 1980 the State of Michigan has not been living up to its obligation (Public Act 89 of 1977) to provide full funding of public libraries. House Bill 5051 would designate six million dollars in supplemental funds for public libraries in Michigan during the current fiscal year.

Since 1977 the average price of a book has risen from $9.76 to $16.50. Other library costs have also increased substantially, while state funding has amounted to just over half the amount needed.

Those of you who feel libraries are important in local communities are urged to write your legislator to encourage a vote for this bill. The local representative is Margaret O'Connor, State Capitol, House of Representatives, P.O. Box 30014, Lansing, Michigan 48909. Letters from individuals carry more impact than letters from those who work in libraries. Write, and get a friend to do the same!

Outdoor Holiday Sing

Washtenaw Community College will host an outdoor holiday sing in the Community Park on the College's campus Thursday evening, December 22 from 7:00 until 8:30 p.m. Singing groups from area organizations and churches who would like to present a carol or holiday song are invited to participate. Such groups should contact Diana Glushyn at WCC (973-9665) by Monday, December 12 if they are interested in performing. Please be prepared when calling to give a preference for the song to be performed. Participants will be acknowledged in the program and introduced by the event master of ceremonies.

The sing is open to the public. Events for the family are planned. Details will follow.

YOUR BACK & YOUR HEALTH

DR. W. ATKINSON
DIRECTOR

When Do You See A Chiropractor?

A common practice is to visit a chiropractor when there are back problems. This is good, of course, but it's really too limiting. The advantages of maintenance chiropractic care are largely overlooked.

An all too frequent pattern is that people will ignore a back problem "Until it goes away." Then at a later date (it can take years), still another health problem, seemingly unrelated to the first problem, occurs. Actually, the first problem has led to the second.

When a vertebra is moved out of alignment, the nerves it surrounds can be affected, often hindering them in their work of serving, directly or indirectly, the body organs. Unless the "offending" vertebra is restored to its proper position, an increase in stress and a change in the body balance can result, and the musculo-skeleton (most directly involved are the spine, pelvis, shoulders and rib cage) can become distorted. So the original "little" problem can grow into something much bigger.

This is the reason so many doctors of chiropractic recommend to patients the preventative visit, to maintain back health. Keeping the back in its normal state, the way nature intended, can easily eliminate many of the larger problems that can develop in the future.

When do you see a chiropractor? Certainly when you have health problems - but also before unseen problems grow to major proportions.

Safety Alert!

Dead vehicle batteries are just as much a part of Michigan winters as sub-zero temperatures, snow and ice. The Michigan Department of Labor, Safety Education and Training Division reminds everyone that jumping a dead battery requires safety precautions to avoid serious injuries due to explosions. The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness says nearly 21,000 persons were injured by batteries in 1979, a 30 percent increase over the previous year.

 When jump-starting a vehicle the Safety Education and Training Division suggests these guidelines:
Before Attaching Cables:
 • Put out all cigarettes and flames. A spark can ignite hydrogen gas from the battery.
 • Make sure vehicles don't touch. Set parking brakes and put automatic transmissions in park; manual transmissions in neutral; turn ignition off.
 • Add battery water, if needed. Replace caps, cover with damp cloth. Don't jump-start if fluid is frozen.

 • Do not jump-start unless both batteries are the same voltage. Batteries can be either 6-volt or 12 volt. Check owner's manual.
Attaching The Cables (do in order listed)
 1. Clamp one jumper cable to positive (+) pole of dead battery. Then clamp cable's other end to positive (+) pole of good battery.
 2. At good battery, clamp second cable to negative (-) pole. Then clamp cable's other end to dead vehicle's engine block on side away from battery.
 3. Start vehicle with good battery - then start the disabled vehicle.
 4. Remove cable from engine block and other vehicle's negative pole. Then remove cable from positive poles.
 When jump-starting vehicles avoid standing between vehicles and be sure to stay a safe distance from traffic.
