Historical Society Educational Meeting

Monday, March 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Blacksmith Shop the Manchester Area Historical Society will host another meeting of reminiscing and education. Three Manchester residents, Ed Kirk, Laurin Leeson, and Floyd Parr, with assistance from the audience, will reflect on our village as it was and how it has changed during the period from 1920 through 1960. For many who are relative newcomers it will be educational - for example, do we know how many times the business establishments have changed owners and functions? For long-time residents and natives it should be most interesting to compare memories and add to the presentation - for example, how did the war years affect the habits of village residents?

Mrs. Rolland Grossman and Mrs. Tom Walton will serve refreshments during the social period following the formal meeting.

A Womanless Wedding, Funny

A reprint from the Manchester Enterprise, dated February 20, 1930.

Greeted By Two Crowded Houses
With Much Mirth And
Laughter Galore

Rarely have the people of Manchester been entertained as were those who were privileged to attend The Womanless Wedding at Emanuel's Church hall on Thursday and Friday evenings. Quite as happy as the audiences were the actors and actresses (?), all of who took their parts in an excellent manner.

From the appearance of the pompous butler in the person of O.M. Way, who announced the arrival of each member of the wedding party to the closing chorus, each moment of the two hours was packed with rollicking, roaring fun, marred only by the heart-rending sobs of the bride's weeping mother, Wm. Kulenkamp, Sr., whose grief was tenderly assuaged by the Comforting Father, R.C. Merithew.

Clyde Gieske, the imposing bride of six-foot-five, was attired in a beautiful gown of ivory satin, with veil and train and wore a bridal wreath of orange blossoms, while Mr. Weed, the modest groom of five-foot-three, "wore the conventional black."

O.E. Dunckel as Matron of Honor was beautiful in black lace gown and picture hat. Attending the bride were numerous stunning bridesmaids, with Arthur Gillett and Clayton Parr as dainty little flower girls.

The Ring-bearer, in the person of Fred Lambright, in his pretty little suit of white knickers and blouse with slippers and hose to match, and carrying the ring on a

Authors Conference to be held on Saturday, March 17. Beach Middle, Chelsea Public Schools, will serve as host site for this year's conference.

The conference, co-sponsored by the Washtenaw Intermediate School District and the Washtenaw Reading Council, is designed to recognize promising young authors, to provide opportunity for interaction with writing professionals, and to encourage and support continued interest in fiction, non-fiction, and poetry writing.

The conference day will begin with a get-acquainted activity. Students will then meet in small groups to share and discuss their original manuscripts which they will bring to the conference. Teachers will attend a workshop session led by Richard Koch, Associate Professor of English at Adrian College, on "Helping Students Write: A Look at the Writing Process."

Following refreshments, the keynote address will be given by Andrew Carrigan, published poet and teacher at Ann Arbor Huron High School.

Participants will then select from among several workshop sessions. These include: "Ways to Improve Your Writing" led by Eunice Jordan, Associate Professor of English at Eastern Michigan University; "Writing for the Newspaper" conducted by Jeff Mortimer, Arts and Entertainment Editor for the Ann Arbor News; "Writing for the Stage" with Ann Arbor poet and playwright Simone Juda Press; "Fantasy and Science Fiction Writing" conducted by Eric Rabkin, Professor of English at the University of Michigan; "Poetry Writing" with Andrew Carrigan; and "Cartooning: A Way to Illustrate Your Story" with writer and illustrator Tom Tobias, teacher with the Ypsilanti Public Schools.

Dramatic interpretation of student writing submitted at last year's conference will be performed at the closing session by Tom Mull and Carrie Parkins, students at Chelsea High School.

Selected writings submitted by young authors attending the conference will be included in an anthology of student writing to be published by WISD. A copy of the publication will be given to each participant and to his/her school.

Six students from Nellie Ackerson Middle School will be among those participating. Nondus Buss will be Manchester's teacher representative.

Dutch Spikers Close Their Season

By Jon Hardenbergh

Our spikers faced a tough league this year (3 of Cascades squads in top 10 rankings) and despite losing 9 league games in a row did rally to win their last 3. We were 6-10 overall and had a 3-9 record in the Cascade Conference. In our last 4 contests we took care of Grass Lake 8-15, 15-5 and 15-1. We then faced non-league arch rival Clinton and shut them down in 2 games 15-9 and 15-2 to be victorious. East Jackson was next to fall as we played them in a doubleheader and won 4 straight (15-5, 15-2, 15-5, 15-3). Unfortunately this is where the cookie crumbled as Addison downed us in the districts.

Members of our varsity squad this year were: Julie Gebhardt, Sara Platt, Teresa Rose, Carmen Hopkins, Lisa Ricklemann, Jenny England, Betsy Royal, Renee Yetter, Mari Yabok and Charlene Steele. Coach Kathy Rose had this to say "we had a difficult season but the girls played hard each game. They always hustled and never gave up as evidenced in their winning the last 4 scheduled matches".

Putting all the statistical information together we come up with 3 main team totals. In service we had 7713 attempts with 599 of these being good, giving us 359 points. Secondly, spiking saw 655 slams and 498 of these got over the net with 118 being kills. Thirdly, the team total for sets were 423.

Spouse Support Group

The Turner Geriatric Clinic is forming a group for husbands and wives whose spouses require a great deal of attention and care. It will begin on March 15, 1984, and will meet weekly for six sessions on Thursdays from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. at the Turner Geriatric Clinic, 1010 Wall Street. Participants will have an opportunity to express feelings, to develop skills, and to learn about resources applicable to their situations. Through the empathetic sharing of experiences, participants can provide and receive support. Some of the topics that might be dealt with are changes in relationships, time for oneself, community resources, legal issues, and financial aids. Anyone over 60 who is caring for a dependent spouse is invited. There is no fee.

Child and Family Services of Washtenaw County, Older Worker Listings, 971-6520, can provide someone to stay with a spouse during the meeting times. Child and Family Service Adult Day Center, 996-0407, can provide care on a regularly scheduled basis (please note that a medical history and intake in advance with Cynthia Lockman are necessary). There is a fee for both of the above services.

For further information and registration, please call Nancy Moldenhauer at 764-2556 (leave your name and telephone number if necessary).

Washtenaw County Agricultural Banquet

The 1984 Washtenaw County Agricultural Banquet, sponsored by the Washtenaw Dairy-Livestock Council will be held Thursday, March 29 at 7:00 p.m. at the Chelsea High School, Chelsea, Michigan. The dinner serving line will open at 6:45 p.m. for those early arrivals. The dinner will feature two meats and all the trimmings. Providing dinner music will be two of the RFD Boys. After dinner, the group will convene in the auditorium for the program. This year we are fortunate to have secured Edgar A. Guest, Jr., better known as "Bud". For 36 years, the warm, friendly down-home voice of Bud Guest was heard throughout the midwest over the NBC affiliate radio station WJR in Detroit. His program, "On the Sunny Side of the Street", has brightened the morning of thousands of listeners as they did chores, drove to work, or enjoyed that second cup of coffee after getting the rest of the family out of the house.

Bud has also been generating laughter among banquet audiences for over two decades and his popularity continues to grow each year. He has delighted audiences from Toronto to Chicago to Albuquerque to Atlanta, as well as those in virtually every city, village and hamlet throughout Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Ontario, Canada. Hearing him has been described by many as a warm, wonderful, inspiring experience.

The night will be topped off with the awarding of the many door prizes donated by the agribusinesses in Washtenaw County. Tickets are available from the following area council members: Manchester - Willard Blumenauer, Harold Hauesler; Ann Arbor - Leonard Burmeister, Ken Hieber; Saline - Stan Poet and Dave Gordon. If you have questions please contact Bill Ames at the Washtenaw Cooperative Extension Service, (313) 973-9510.

Brochures Available For The Physically Handicapped

A new brochure has been published by the Library of Michigan/Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped (LM/LBPH). The purpose of the brochure is to make the general public more aware of the unique library services available to the blind; visually and physically handicapped.

The Lansing "Host" Lions Club, as part of its ongoing public service effort supporting the blind community of Michigan, has underwritten the preparation and printing costs of this brochure. Over the years, the Lions Clubs, nationwide, have generously donated time, effort and money in helping the blind and visually impaired help themselves in overcoming their handicaps and LM/LBPH is very grateful for this active support.

LM/LBPH and its network of twelve subregional libraries provides free library service to anyone who is unable to read normal print. Disabilities include blindness, visual handicaps, reading disability which is a result of an organic dysfunction or any physical handicap which prohibits holding a book or turning pages. Books and magazines are available in braille or recorded on cassette tape or disc. Playback equipment is provided at no charge and all materials are mailed to registered borrowers postage free.

Copies of the brochure may be obtained by writing: LM/LBPH, P.O. Box 30007, Lansing, MI 48909 or by calling: (517) 373-1590 or toll-free 1-800-992-9012.

HIT or MISS by farley

The other day I was given, by a friend of mine, a copy of the Ewart, Michigan Review dated January 10, 1964, just twenty years ago, and he thought that I should be interested in it, particularly in the food store ad prices, so here are a few of them. (Don't forget however, that wages and salaries in those days were also a great deal different than they are nowadays too.)

The A&P store offers the following specials for that week: Shrimp, 2 lb. package, $1.99; Roasted Sausage, lb. 49c; Miracle Whip, quart jar 45c; Cherry Preserves, 3 lb. jar 59c; A&P Coffee 2 lb. can $1.49; Cheer Detergent, 3 lb. 5 1/2 oz. pkg. 79c; Ajax Cleanser, 2 1/4 oz. cans, 33c; Baking Potatoes, 20 lbs. 79c.

Tam Lauded By Local Sheriffs

A revolutionary new educational program to teach barroom personnel the clinical effects of alcohol, how alcohol reacts with other drugs and what they can do to prevent abusive drinking in their establishments is being applauded by sheriffs around the state. Techniques of Alcohol Management (TAM), an 8-hour seminar being conducted throughout the state by the Michigan Licensed Beverage Association, has been well attended by those in the industry. Participants learn not only what not to do, but also learn what they can do to prevent senseless tragedies on the road and elsewhere. The most recent TAM seminars were held in Ypsilanti, February 14 and 15. Washtenaw County Sheriff Thomas Minick said he was very pleased with the attendance and thought the seminar provided a good exchange of problems and information between local law enforcement and licensees. For more information about upcoming TAM seminars and how to register, call the MLBA office at 517-482-0803.

$225,500 grant to the Charter Township of Bangor; in Bay County, to help finance construction of a water main to provide safe drinking water for 161 households. A new water main will be constructed and connected to the existing Bay County water system. The project will cost a total of $550,000 and will take approximately 12 months to complete. The $225,500 was awarded under the Small Cities program. "This project is an excellent example of how federal, state, and local resources can be combined in a cooperative effort to improve the health and quality of life of our citizens," the Governor said. $125,000 grant to Manistee County, which will loan the money

President Asks For More Money For Michigan V A Programs

Domestic spending for Veterans Administration programs in Michigan will increase $12-million in the 1985 fiscal year budget submitted to Congress by President Reagan this month. The President has asked for $737,188,000, up from $725,144,000 for 1984. This year the amount was increased some $8.4-million over 1983. Compensation and pension programs will increase $460,000 in direct payments to veterans. GI Bill and other readjustment training programs will drop some $8.8-million. With most Vietnam Era veterans now in their late thirties, either their 10-year delimiting date has expired or they have already used their benefits for education. General operating expenses for VA office in the state will increase by $566,000. Medical and construction programs at the state's five medical centers will increase by $19,383,000. Insurance and indemnities will increase by $497,000.

$300,000 grant to Bridgewater Township in Washtenaw County to help finance establishment of a harness horse racing training complex. The effort will retain and create 70 jobs in the first year. The grant will be loaned by the township to Hickory Farms, Ltd., located east of Manchester. A 60-acre area will be divided into five separate training farms surrounding a racetrack. When completed, the center will have boarding and training capacity for nearly 150 horses, and is expected to begin operations this year. The loan will be used for working capital. "The state grant is the final piece of a public-private financing package totaling $1.6 million to establish a high quality training facility in southeast Michigan," the Governor said. "This cooperative effort will mean at least 70 jobs during the first year of the training center's operation."

PREVENTING ACCIDENTS IN LATER LIFE

Accidents seldom "just happen," and many accidents can be prevented. Attention to safety is especially important for older persons, because accidental injuries happen more often and are usually more serious in later life. Several factors make older people prone to accidents. Poor eyesight and hearing can decrease one's awareness of hazards. Arthritis, neurological diseases and impaired coordination and balance can make older people unsteady. Often, mishaps are expressions of mental depression or of poor physical conditioning. With age, many women develop thin, brittle bones, which may cause seemingly minor falls to result in serious fractures of the hip, wrist and other bones. Increasingly, older adults are protecting their health by exercising, eating a balanced diet, reducing their alcohol consumption and not smoking. And I applaud their initiative; they're definitely on the right track. But most people who change their life styles for the better give little thought to a health-promotion measure that is perhaps the easiest and most effective of all. They forget to cultivate good safety habits. Falls are the most common cause of fatal injury in the aged. Here are some steps that you can take to reduce the risk of falls in your home: * Light all stairways and provide light switches at both the top and bottom landings. * Be sure both sides of stairways have sturdy handrails. * Tack down carpeting on stairs and use nonskid treads on uncarpeted stairs. * Remove throw rugs that tend to slide. * Arrange furniture and other objects so that they are not obstacles. * Install grab bars on bathroom walls and nonskid mats or strips in the bathtub. * Keep outdoor steps and walkways in good repair and free of ice in the winter. Burns are especially disabling to older people, who do not recover as quickly as younger people from this kind of injury. By being safety conscious, however, you can do a great deal to protect yourself from a burn injury. For example: * Never smoke in bed or when you are drowsy. (The best advice, I should add, is to give up smoking entirely.) * When cooking, don't wear loosely fitting flammable clothing. Bathrobes, nightgowns and pajamas catch fire easily. * Set water heater thermostats at moderate levels, so that hot water does not scald the skin. * Decide which emergency exits you would use in case of a fire. Plan your escape route, in other words. Can you think of any other fire safety measures? Here's a good one. Install a good lock on your front door, just one good lock that can be opened from the inside quickly. Many older people trap themselves behind multiple door locks that will be difficult to open during an emergency. Motor vehicle accidents are the most common cause of accidental death in the 65-to-74 age group and the second most common cause (next to falls) among all older persons. Your ability to drive safely may be impaired by such age-related changes as increased sensitivity to glare, poorer adaptation to the dark, diminished coordination and slower reaction time. You can compensate for these changes by driving fewer miles at a time, driving less often and by driving less at night, during rush hours and in the winter. If you ride on public transportation, remain alert and brace yourself when the vehicle is slowing down or turning. Have your fare ready when you board, so that you don't have to fumble for change and risk losing your balance. Similarly, don't carry too many packages; leave one hand free to grasp railings. And when you leave the vehicle, watch for slippery pavement and other curb-side hazards. Give yourself extra time to cross the streets safely, especially in bad weather. At night, it's wise to wear light-colored or fluorescent clothing and to carry a flashlight. Many of the health problems common to older people are difficult to treat and cure, but attention to safety, especially in later life, can help you avoid a lot of those problems and keep you on the go. So, give some serious thought to accident prevention before a serious accident has a chance to occur. Good safety habits and good health go hand-in-hand.

Senator Barry Goldwater's 1964 election slogan was AuH2O—the chemical symbols for gold and water.

Paul Marshall performed the duties of Best Man and various other friends acted as ushers. Laurel Brietenwischer as Bishop, solemnly pronounced the vows uniting the happy pair in matter-o'-money.

etc., while among the celebrities were Fritz Kreisler, Sir Harry Lauder, Colonel Lindberg, Gen'l Pershing, Theda Bara, Mary Pickford and others.

The gifts were numerous and beautiful including a can of oil, the gift of John D., and a grand birdcage containing a beautiful golden bantam canary from the maiden aunt.

Charley Chaplin was very ably impersonated by Ed Kirk, who entertained throughout the evening, while Ikey Rosenstein ("Bill" Lindberts), not dismayed at being evicted by the irate butler, persisted in displaying his wares to the guests.

The Bad Little Boys, Elmer Blaisdell and Lawrence Kappler, kept the audience awake and their father "in hot water" by their mischievous antics.

Sis Hopkins, acted by Harry Burns was a scream, while Tosselo Knorpp as Theda Bara vamped every man in the house.

George Bowins, the Country Cousin, succeeded admirably in his persistent wooing of the Village School Marm; Lowell Parr, while Seth Parker, Clayton Gieske and his quartette, composed of Bert Knause, Fred Grossman, Frank Dresselhouse and Arthur Gauss presented several musical selections.

Space forbids individual mention of the 115 men who gave themselves in generous cooperation, but each part was taken exceptionally well, and the men of the M.E. church, under whose auspices the play was given feel well repaid, socially and financially.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mr. Steele,

You print the words, we read the words. Unfortunately some read between the words. Dr. Hammond asked me to come to the office Friday because of a statement in the Enterprise. It read as follows:

"The school and the teachers have their hands full trying to teach the 3 R's." Dr. Hammond said that the teachers read this as a criticism to their capability. I explained this at the board meeting but I will clarify it again.

After having helped in different schools I have seen and understood the limited time and the restrictions placed on teachers so that they may not always accomplish their goals for the children. Never did I underestimate the ability of the teachers. It is hard to be a good child, a good parent or a good teacher. Why make it any harder?

Dr. Hammond went on to say that the school personnel must be in support of the school and the teachers; therefore I would not be able to help in the 1st grade class as before. Although I had heard and not believed that school personnel should not voice their opinions against the sex program, I was surprised that they would rather have a comfortable atmosphere over the help for the children.

My responsibility to God and to the children and their parents will not allow me to lie about or cover up something, especially about "sex education in the schools."

Thank you, Nicole P. McGarry

Dutchmen Nipped In Overtime, 67-65

By Jon Hardenbergh

It seems all good things must come to an end—that's what Onsted did Tuesday in the districts—closed our season.

The Wildcates felt we would be an easy win but as Coach Bartels says "our kids played an excellent game. In fact, it was the best game we played all year. We deserved to win."

In the opening 8 minutes of play we held a small edge but the Wildcates rallied to tie 14-14. We kept pressing and shooting well to outscore Onsted 19 to 16 to have the advantage at the intermission.

Bartels said "we didn't do anything special. We just played hard and with confidence. We certainly weren't intimidated".

The Cats kept clawing and although never led, did draw within a single point to set the stage for the last period. With minutes left Onsted did lead but not for long—they did complete a 3 point play with 9 seconds remaining, to go up 2. Mike Agin then dribbled down the floor and put up an unbalanced prayer from 17 feet—swish so overtime came. Unfortunately the extra period swung in Onsted's favor, giving them the victory.

We again had balanced scoring as Mike popped for 14 and John Blumenaur hit for 13. Ron Melcher canned 12 as Pat Ridenour added 10. Mark Ball and Tom Lockridge dumped for a combined 16, 8 each.

We now take our 16-5 record and hold it proudly. One final statement from Coach Bartels, "we've done some exceptional things this year. Nobody even picked us in the league, and we won it".

In closing, there are several

Bills Provide Health Care Protection

News from State Representative Perry Bullard

Legislation has been introduced to require all health insurers, dental insurers, and Health Maintenance Organizations to give a one-month notice before cancelling a person's health-related insurance. The sponsor of the health insurance measures is Representative Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor).

"Health insurance has become so absolutely essential that people must receive advance warning if their benefits are going to be cut off. With today's sky-high health care costs, being without insurance is like being left outside in the winter without a blanket," said Bullard.

According to Bullard, some health care insurers do not send cancellation notices to their customers. "It's an outrageous situation," Bullard said. "Your insurance can be cut off by some computer, and you don't even know it. If you don't have insurance, you won't even be admitted to some hospitals," Bullard stated.

"You don't have to be a health care expert to know that hospital and doctor bills can be financially devastating. So, it's just a matter of basic fairness for every health insurance company to give fair notice before cancelling a policy," said the Ann Arbor legislator.

Bullard said that the notification requirements would not place any noticeable burden on insurance companies "since they have to process the paperwork of a policy cancellation anyway. It just requires a twenty cent stamp," he said.
